ISLAY

Almost at the doorstep of another year. Here is wishing all readers a brighter year. Well, after listening to Prime Minister Churchill one surely must feel like stirring his muscles and get ready for anything. Didn't you like the way he snarls out "Nazi gang?" And in today's speech the phrase "Mussolini flop" and "some chicken!—some neck!" in reference to some Italian generals leaders telling their people how soon they would destroy the Britons by ringing their necks like the neck of a chicken! It was a surprise to many of us to learn that Churchill's mother was an American of the city of Rochester, N.Y. A good man is Churchill!

The holiday was a busy one. Among those noticed home were Douglas Hunt, Margaret Martin, Ruth Hamilton, Jessie Robertson, Ken Stone, Bill Bothwell, Gordon and Milton Bell, Catherine Hall and others.

There were several soldier boys here too. A party in the hall for them Dec. 26 was well attended. Among them Wm. Easton and Frank Johnson.

In air force uniform, Verne Easton and Victor Torrance both here from Edmonton and Medicine Hat. Also Geo. Gaughan and Vincent Eliot was here for a day. Also Lawrence Gould and Roger Giller were home and a party was held in the Morrison school in their honor. We noticed Pat Baxter in khaki too.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Gallagher spent Xmas day under parental roof.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Purvis and family spent Xmas at Warwick.

Chas. Robertson was called to Vermilion owing to no less illness of his mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Bothwell and Bill, also Bill Muir spent Christmas day with Mr. and Mrs. Ashley Cooper and Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Millward in Vermilion.

A jolly gathering was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Bowser on Sat. Dec. 27. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. R.B. Gunn of P.V., Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Gunn, the Bothwells, Mr. and Mrs. John Malre.

Miss Eleanor Goodwin is spending the holidays in Lloydminster.

Yes Sir! Islay men are going to curl after all. They saw their town's name in the list of spiels so they just had to get ice and get out the brooms. If they would be as enthusiastic in the summer to the business part of town it would be great. Gordon Robinson is caretaker of the rink.

Miss Violet Beck left Sunday to join the W.A.S.C. Her sister Vivian had gone some time ago.

Knox church, Islay, looks very resplendent now that the Busy Bees have finished. A thorough redecorating job was done. A kind lady donated new shades for the lights and had the pulpit chair newly upholstered. We thank all those who contributed, with cash or labor.

The next W.A. of Knox meets on Jan. 8 at Mrs. Gallagher's.

There are many here who wish the Season's Greetings to a gentleman reader and wife from Glasgow! He lived here once.

WINTER WEATHER STARTS —

This Wednesday morning was the coldest of the winter to date with a low of 26 below being touched during the night and a north-west wind holding sway. Christmas day was mild with the thermometer well above zero all day. Boxing day saw the beginning of real wintry weather with steady sub-zero temperatures being registered since that time. Main country roads are open but described as difficult travelling. The snowplow has been operating on the highway.

FACTS ABOUT UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE COMMISSION

From inquiries received by regional and district offices of the Unemployment Insurance Commission it is evident that many workers think it will be necessary for them to contribute to the Unemployment Insurance Fund for two years before they can draw benefits.

Mr. Wm. Carnill, Manager of the local Employment Service office, Edmonton, explained today that this has an error. The Unemployment Insurance Act requires that not less than 180 daily or 30 weekly contributions be made. It is necessary, however, that these be made during the two years preceding the date on which a claim for benefit is made.

Another point concerning which there is some misunderstanding, has to do with workers who may be discharged because of misconduct or for cause as referred to a Court of Referee composed of representatives of employers and employees with a neutral chairman. The Court, after hearing evidence, the Court decides whether or not the insured person shall be disqualified.

An appeal from the decision of the Court to the Umpire may be taken at the insurance or an insurance officer, or an Association or Corporation of persons, on which the claimant is a member. The claimant himself may also appeal. Appeals against the decision of the Court is not unanimous, or if he obtains permission from the chairman of the Court. Appeals may also be taken by an Association, it is required that the claimant shall have been a member of the Association on the date of his discharge and have retained his membership until the date the appeal shall have been made. If the decision is favorable to the worker, he may be disqualified for a period not exceeding six weeks, before the benefit is continued to the Court. This Court is a semi-judicial body.

One clause in the Unemployment Insurance Act, specifically exempts from any charge of misconduct a worker who has been discharged as a result of membership in, or any lawful activity connected with, any association, organization or union of workers.

Activity in the Oil Field

Some drilling rigs have closed down for the Christmas season, while other companies have completed the year's per ram and will not recommence drilling until next spring. At the present time there is no drilling being done.

o o o o

The last completion of a very successful year in the Vermilion field was that of Acme No. 3, finished just the day before Xmas. Results of tests of this well are now being awaited with interest

o o o o

The big storage tanks at the oil refinery are now being filled with oil from the various wells. The track siding has been completed and all is being rapidly set for the first shipment of fuel oil.

o o o o

Marking the growing importance of the Vermilion oil field, with its steadily expanding area of proven wells, the Alberta Conservation Board has created the first Type Well Log prepared on that field, based on the drilling so far carried out. A typical well is logged on the scale of 100 feet to the inch from the Ribstone Creek formations into the lower Cretaceous, from which production is usually obtained, and on into the Devonian lime. The whole log is hand colored.

Evidence that the Alberta oil industry is lining up for one of the most active development periods in its history is seen in the recent issue of the Alberta Gazette, which lists no less than eight new certificates of incorporation closely associated with the new wave of development in oil. It is many months since a similar list was issued, and if the present volume is continued it may be taken as a good indication of increased drilling for the early future.

JANUARY 1 PROCLAIMED AS DAY OF PRAYER

OTTAWA, Dec. 29.—A proclamation was issued Monday declaring the first day of the New Year to be a national day of prayer. The same day has been set aside in the United Kingdom and the United States.

PROTECT FRUIT BUSHES AGAINST RABBITS—

Many fruit farmers are subjected to considerable loss each year by the depredations of rabbits. The experiment station recommends the following as an effective repellant:

½ gal. quick lime slacked in soft water until it forms a paste; 1 pint crude carbolic acid; 1 pint gas tar, (do not use coal tar); 1 lb. sulphur.

Mix well and apply to the tree with a brush, always brushing upwards, not down on the tree.

—V—

Many workers in that benefits are debe gained by "need" as in the case of relief. This is quite incorrect. Unemployment Insurance benefits are paid solely because the worker, while he was employed, paid the required contributions into the insurance fund and conformed to the other statutory conditions. He has paid for protection against unemployment. Benefits are his as a matter of right.

Canada To Float War Loan For Half Billion In February

OTTAWA—The fourth war loan of the second great War will be floated in February with an objective of about $500,000,000, Finance Minister Ilsley announced today.

The announcement came as the extension of war to the Pacific Ocean opened up new prospects of danger to Canada and brought, in the words of the Finance Minister, "a corresponding increase in the urgency of our financial requirements."

He disclosed a permanent "National War Finance Committee" is being set up to handle not only war loans, but the war savings certificate campaign. The committee will be headed by George W. Spinney, general manager of the Bank of Montreal, who headed the national committee for the Victory Loan campaign of last June.

Rates of interest and maturity dates for the new loan have not been settled, but Mr. Ilsley said it is probable bonds will be offered in denominations from $50 up. As in the

The Hawaiian Islands

Extension of the war to the Pacific Ocean, and the recent attack on Pearl Harbor, have brought the Hawaiian Islands into new prominence. Known heretofore largely as a pleasure land, and as a land between this continent, the Orient and our sister Dominions of Australia and New Zealand, this group of islands lies twenty-two hundred miles south of San Francisco, and four thousand eight hundred and ninety miles from Hong Kong. Known formerly as the Sandwich Islands, they were annexed in 1898 by the United States, and are now known as the Territory of Hawaii. Described by Hendrik Von Loon in his famous "Geography," as "those islands in the Pacific where people neither toiled nor spun, but lived just the same." They were discovered in 1542 by Gaetano, a Spanish explorer. In 1786 they were visited by Captain Cook, who was murdered by the natives there, when he was on his way home from one of his voyages.

Annexed By United States

Geographically they form the extreme northeastern group of Polynesia, and extend in a chain from southeast to northwest for four hundred miles. The entire area of the island is six thousand, four hundred and fifty square miles, and eight of the twelve islands are inhabited. They were governed by a succession of native rulers until January 1893, when a republic was organized, under the presidency of Sanford B. Dale. In 1898 the islands, at the wish of their new government, were annexed by the United States. In 1900 they were created a territory with Mr. Dale as governor. With good reason they are known widely for their charms as a holiday retreat, and their mild climate, wide beaches and natural beauties make them one of the most pleasant of the world's playgrounds. We are told that the thermometer seldom falls below 50 degrees or rises above 90, and that in the lowlands the average temperature is 78 in July and 70 in January. There are few hurricanes or thunderstorms and frost occurs only in the mountains, some of which are snow-capped throughout the year.

Volcanic Origin

The islands are of volcanic origin and were raised by eruptions from the sea. Coral reefs have added to their surface area and incidentally to the usefulness for defence purposes of many of their natural harbors. The climate and soil are suitable for the cultivation of a variety of plants. Sugar cane is produced in large quantities, and is the principal source of trade in pineapples and bananas, which are grown extensively. Several active volcanoes still exist in the mountains that ridge these islands. On the island of Hawaii, the largest of the group, the peaks of Mauna Kea and Mauna Loa rise to heights of nearly fourteen hundred feet, and Haleakala, situated on the side of Mauna Loa, is one of the most noted volcanoes of the world. The volcano on Maui, another island of the group, has the largest crater in the world. Honolulu, on the island of Oahu, is the largest city and is the capital of the territory. Pearl Harbor, situated a short distance from Honolulu, has extensive dry-dock facilities, and its importance as a naval base has been emphasized in all disputes in the Pacific. The population of the islands includes Caucasians, Chinese, Japanese, native Hawaiians and a large American element. The people of Hawaii elect a representative in the Congress of the United States, and is governed by an elected senate or house of representatives. The chief executive is a governor appointed by the President of the United States. For a time these picturesque islands must play their part in the struggle to defend the principles of freedom, but the mountains that now look down on ships of war, and whose tops resemble the white of the sails of battleships, will again some day see the pleasure boats of free countries come and go, and airplanes on missions of peace will again use it as a link between continents.

Three-Cent Bonus

For Grade "A" Eggs Purchased For Export To Britain

A bonus to producers of three cents a dozen on all grade A eggs purchased for export to Britain under the present agreement with the British food ministry has been authorized by order-in-council, the agriculture department announced officially.

An additional bonus of one-half cent a dozen will be paid for oil dipping such eggs, a process which helps retain quality and which now is specially requested by the ministry, the department added.

The department said payment of the bonus for the purpose of encouraging Canadian egg producers to supply the maximum quantity of the best quality eggs for Britain during the next year.

Existing contracts with the British ministry call for the delivery of 175,000 cases of eggs before May 31 next. Recently the British ministry has requested that this quantity be increased and also that the greatest quantity possible be placed in storage in Canada for shipment in the fall of 1942. The bonus money provided under the order-in-council is sufficient to cover a total of 1,372 000 cases of eggs.

It is hoped that with the incentive the bonus provides that Canadian producers will so organize their poultry efforts that they will be able to guarantee that quantities of eggs Britain is asking for," said the department.

Less And Less Freedom

French Institutions Being Made To Conform To German Pattern

Step by step the Vichy government, which has more and more become Germany's instrument for taking down prostrate France without the risks involved in a full military occupation, is remodelling French institutions to conform with the Teutonic pattern. It is done by decree. The people are not consulted, have no voice in framing the system that is being imposed upon them. The status of parties is now being "modified" to permit political considerations to govern the disposition of cases brought before the courts. The number of jurors is to be reduced. They are to be chosen in such manner as to eliminate the independent which hitherto has characterized their verdicts. The verdicts are to be reached "in the presence of the court."

The principle of retroactivity—a weapon the Nazis have found extremely convenient in Germany—has already been admitted by decree into French law for military courts. It has even been extended for these courts may order the confiscation of possessions "present and to come." Government ministers and prefects may direct internment or confiscation without any process of law whatever in our sense of the term. Liberty, fraternity, equality, have ceased for the moment to exist for Frenchmen in their native land.—New York Times.

Ceiling Prices Likely To Continue After War Is Over

R. F. Chisholm, national administrator of wholesale trade, told newspapermen that in all probability the Wartime Prices and Trade Board will continue to operate after the war until such time as the fear of any collapse in the Canadian economic structure is passed.

Edgar G. Burton, national administrator of retail trade, supporting this view, declared in any event it was likely the best features of the plan would be retained permanently.

Replying to a question, Mr. Burton said representatives from Washington were holding discussions with the Canadian board and studying the situation here closely.

"There is no doubt the United States Government will have to do something along the lines similar to those adopted by Canada," he said.

70-Year-Old Hobo Says His Tramping Days Are Over

A 70-year-old monocle-wearing hobo named Sandy J. Ledger, who has crossed the Atlantic 42 times and has held such jobs as circus peanut vender and typewriter for the Times of London, has announced his 56 years of globe tramping are over.

He is not a bum, but a hobo. A hobo, he said in a rover who works—a bum is just a bum. Ledger declared he has always worked—in his time he has been a weaver in Massachusetts, a longshoreman in France, a bull puncher on a cattle boat, a correspondent on the Times of London, The London Daily Mail, and the Paris edition of the New York Herald-Tribune.

"You can't go on wandering forever, not at my age," Ledger said as he remarked on the cold weather here in Miami which he described as "one of the finest cities in the world."

Ledger, who is a printer by trade, claims the distinction of being the first North American printer to print a newspaper at sea.

Hore-Belisha Says Japan Can Carry On For Fifteen Months

Leslie Hore-Belisha, former Secretary for War, in a speech at London, said a qualified observers believe Japan's stocks of all principal war-making commodities are large enough to support participation in major conflict for 15 months.

"A great part of the striking power of the world is still on the side of the Axis," he said, adding that natural resources now are overwhelmingly on the side of the Allies.

He declared that in the long run Japan must conquer sources of economic strength with her navy or "bleed to death."

The Individual Citizen's Army

A Weekly Column About This And That In The Canadian Army.

By Alan Maurice Irwin

It's easy enough to figure out for yourself why the Army applies the nickname, "Dusty" to Private Miller or Corporal Brodeur but it is a vastly different matter when you come to Sergeant Clark—or Colonel Clark—or even Lieutenant-General Clark for that matter. All "Clarks" in the Army are called "Nobby" or "Nobby", according to the erudition of the sponsor.

Don't ask me why. I don't know. Furthermore, I don't think even Rudyard Kipling knew.

All this looks beside the point. But it isn't. It plays a part in the explanation of the title of this column. You see the general idea of this weekly feature, which will come to you from the Units of Canadians are training to play their part as men, is to tell—in plain language all—and, especially all—about the Canadian Army.

"What do you mean, all about the Army?" asked a Brass Hat with whom I discussed the column. Never mind the rest of the conversation—the answer is in the preceding sentence and that answer is: "What is a Brass Hat?"

"A Brass Hat" paradoxically enough, does not wear brass hats (gold braid or leaves) on his hat at all. Generally speaking, though, a Brass Hat is a member of the staff. He may be recognized by coloured "gorget patches" on his jacket and a band of the same colour around his cap which varies according to the branch of the Staff to which he belongs.

The name dates for a title offered was "Your Army." True enough it is your army and it's my army—and every Canadian should realize our ownership and responsibility as much as we should. But one or two publishers thought that sounded too reminiscent of "My Day." So it followed several other suggestions into the discard.

Then a few nights ago, together with a dozen and a half other shivering reporters and cameramen, the Adjutant-General, the Chief of the Air Staff, some Air Force Officers, and ground-crews who have to brave the elements regardless of rain and sleet, I watched a transport aircraft descend in the darkness at Ottawa. It was the first time Canada's Defence Minister Ralston, back from England. I remembered the legend that even on a 45-minute flight Colonel Ralston sits right down at a desk and works from start to finish of the trip.

What he must have learned during on this time would be obviously, a speech to be made in the House of Commons a few days after his return he had missed, by the way, because of bad weather encountered on his crossing. But he had been busy on other columns and their vexatious titles I decided I would go to the "House" when, as the Free Gallery terms it, "Ralston is up" and listen to the kind of speech that is prepared on a plane.

I did. So, I noticed, did a number of members who had been absent from the chamber until Col. Ralston started to speak. What he said covered many columns in the daily papers. That is hardly to my point. But what he said to me was contained in one paragraph of Hansard —he gave me a title for this column. Here is the quotation which followed a reference to the work of civilian recruiting committees. Their work, he said, would "enable us all as citizens a keener appreciation of the fact that the army is the individual citizen's army, and not an outside organization of which they know nothing and care less."

There was the title—"The Individual Citizen's Army," and here, except for one more brief note, is your first column.

The brief note? Another paradox. All "Browns" in the Army are nicknamed "Bunny"—except, and this must prove the rule, Major-General B. W. Browne, D.S.O. M.C., Adjutant-General whose nickname is "Sam."

One of the ways in which munition workers are pepped up in the Motherland is instanced in the following dispatch from Glasgow:

Canada's Forest Area

Occupies About 55 Per Cent. Of Country's Total Land Area

Canada's total forested area now exceeds 1,220,000 square miles and occupies 35 per cent. of the country's land area, the Dominion Forest Service announced recently.

"About 450,000 square miles are not suitable for commercial operations," the report said, "but on 770,-000 square miles the trees are large enough for use now or can be expected to grow to usable size in future."

The service explained that because of Canada's great size, and the concentration of her population in the southern parts, large areas of forests of commercial quality are too far removed from centres of consumption to be economically operated.

The portion of productive forest now accessible totals about 430,000 square miles of which about 45 per cent. is merchantable timber and 55 per cent. is occupied by young growth.

Leave It To Headhunters

Japs Would Get Warm Reception In Interior Of Sarawak

The Ranee of Sarawak, wife of Sir Charles Vyner Brooke who rules the country, says the oil wells at Miri, Sarawak, were blown up recently when Japanese invaders appeared to be after them.

The Ranee, who was in New York, said:

"Everything the Japs want has been destroyed. They must need oil badly, because there is nothing else in Sarawak that they could use. To effect a landing they must have used suicide squads or parachute troops."

Saying it was virtually impossible to defend Miri except by sea, she added that should Japanese penetrate the interior, Sarawak's headhunters could handle them.

It takes 65 yards of the finest silk to make a standard R.C.A.F. parachute.

Dried peaches produced in Australia this year weighed 478 tons.

EPIC STORY OF BRAVE DEFENDERS OF HONG KONG

The word which came in the grey of Christmas twilight said:

"The governor of Hong Kong regrets that he has been advised by the military and naval commanders that no further effective resistance can be made and he is taking action in accordance with that advice.

"It will be remembered that the Japanese effected landings in strength at several points on the island on Dec. 18. To many it seemed that the end must be near; yet for seven days under relentless artillery fire not only from the mainland but from heights on the island the garrison fought on, refusing three demands to surrender.

"The water supply soon gave cause for anxiety. Important reservoirs fell into Japanese hands. Water mains were destroyed by bombardment. The public works department struggled bravely to effect a remedy but the enemy destroyed the pipes again and again.

"Two days ago there remained but one day's supply. Military and civilian casualties were heavy, but under the inspiring leadership of (Governor) Sir Mark Young the morale of all was admirable.

"So ends a great fight against overwhelming odds. The decision and determination of the Royal Navy and troops from Britain, Canada and India as well as local volunteer units, including many Chinese, will long be remembered."

"How ultimately Hong Kong was defended is apparent from the fact that its capture occupied a formidable force for all of two weeks," the official report said in a statement.

"Its resistance has spared the defenders of the Philippines and Malaya victorious efforts of overwhelming strength. Without those three months of action at a moment when to gain time was an all-important factor.

"Canada may indeed be proud that her sons have acquitted themselves so heroically in this supreme test," he said. "Our thoughts turn in particular to the people of Quebec and Manitoba whose regiments sustained the heavy struggle. The families and relatives of those who lost their lives will have the nation's sympathy and gratitude.

"The fact that our Canadian troops should first have seen major action on the far-off shores of China is a striking commentary on the nature and extent of the struggle. Without exaggeration, the hosts of evil are arrayed against the champions of freedom and justice throughout the whole world."

Defence Minister Ralston made this comment in a statement issued through defence headquarters.

Everything possible was being done to obtain particulars of casualties, the minister said.

It was feared here casualties were heavy.

"Particulars of the battle are meagre but enough has come through to know that in spite of incessant dive bombing, of constant shell fire, and of heavy odds in numbers, the garrison has fought on, meeting attack with counter-attack and taking advantage of every situation to make the invaders pay dearly for any advance," said Col. Ralston.

So stiff was the resistance of the Canadian and the Empire troops of the Hong Kong garrison that the colony's governor and the military commander were reported to be in a position to discuss terms for cessation of fighting, rather than to make an unconditional surrender.

"This circumstance in itself is striking tribute to the unflinching courage and unbeatable spirit of the garrison," said Col. Ralston.

Among the many Canadians who on this Hong Kong was known to have been engaged in the defence of Hong Kong was Lieut. Francis Gavin Power, son of Canada's air minister, Hon. C. G. Power.

Typhus In Europe

Serious Epidemic Is Reported To Be Appearing Behind Axis

London.—The Polish telegraphic agency reported the typhus epidemic spreading through eastern Europe now is approaching Berlin. The agency said that according to the Berlin correspondent of the Swedish paper Stockholms Tidningen, women employed in German labor camps situated in the Brandenburg forests near Berlin had to stop helping local farmers because of the presence of typhus in neighboring villages.

One country in the world, Honduras, celebrates a specific day in honor of newspapermen.

Charge Of The Cossacks

Big Army Now Operating Against Retreating Germans

Kuibyshev, — Against the background of the most highly mechanized warfare in history, hordes and Cossacks have galloped dramatically into the centre of the picture.

At the start of this war, many military authorities regarded them as romantic figures of the past, wholly unfit for battle with machines.

Then came the Red army's stubborn resistance to stand, its advances. And up there in front, across Russia's snowy, wind-swept plains and hills charged the Don Cossack of old.

Actually he hasn't changed much since the Czars first created him as frontier guards in the early 19th century. He has the same forelock, his hair hanging shaggy-like beneath his gay hat, which looks strangely like something out of a musical comedy; the same Turkish trousers, the same high boots.

His ashe—a weapon discarded by the Australian light horse not only a good fighter but a terrifying opponent to the Nazis. In some cases he still is carrying his old-time lance and putting it to plenty of use.

Twenty-three years under the Soviets have given the Cossacks only many changes, although a strangely seems the same—possibly because he is above all a fighter who has battle as become love home and peace.

The Cossacks were one of the chief dreads of the revolutionaries. They were deprived of time-old privileges, and for a period several of their immediate descendants followed the sinking by torpedo-carrying aircraft of the British battleship Prince of Wales and battlecruiser Repulse and the blows dealt the United States navy at Pearl Harbor that the whole military of Japan in the Pacific must be adjusted accordingly.

There are about 100 000 Chinese in the United States.

Canadian Tanks

Fifty Infantry And Cruiser Tanks Sent To Russia

Ottawa.—Russian armies may start the New Year with Canadian-built tanks part of their offensive equipment against Germany.

So far 50 have been loaned, more than 50 infantry and cruiser tanks have been despatched to the Soviet under the Mutual Aid agreement, undertaken to send 100 tanks to Russia before the year-end. A similar number have been completed and await shipment.

Whether they will be sent to the Soviet Red army before the Jan. 1 "deadline" depends on when shipping space is available.

Actual tank shipments by an undisclosed route was made almost two months ago. Government officials and other Canadians generally can now actually have arrived. Tanks from British sometimes make the trip in a month.

The first Canadian-made tank rolled off assembly lines in May. Armor plate and armament plate castings for their construction come from steel plants in Hamilton, St. Catharines and other Canada cities. Actual construction takes place at the Canadian Pacific Railway's Angus shops in Montreal and the Montreal Locomotive Works.

Netherlanders Executed

Put To Death In Holland For Aiding British Aviators

London.—The Netherlands East Indies news agency Aneta said that 24 Netherlanders had been executed by German troops in Holland for assisting British airmen.

The men were the first executed since September when five persons were shot for a like offence and three others for leading a sabotage organization.

There were reports anti-Nazi sabotage in Holland had increased since the German defeat in Russia, Aneta said. The agency said a Russian communique reported a German troop train was recently derailed, killing or wounded 50 men, and other Nazi accidents, including one outside the Amsterdam Central station, were reported by Netherlands newspapers. Explosives have been planted in the mailboxes of Netherlands Nazis, one Nazi paper admitted.

Execute Frenchmen

New York.—The B.B.C. said the Germans had announced the execution of three more Frenchmen in Paris "for activity in favor of the enemy" and possession of arms. The B.B.C. broadcast was recorded here.

SAYS SINGAPORE MUST BE HELD AT ALL COSTS

Canberra.—The federal war council has decided that for successful defence of Allied interests in the Pacific, the powerful, strategically situated area of Singapore must be held at all costs, it was made known here.

The council met to discuss the Pacific situation and an atmosphere of deep concern over developments in Malaya.

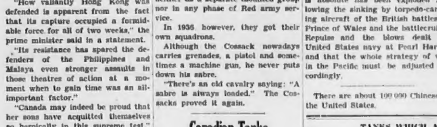
The government is pressing for immediate and major reinforcement of British air power at Singapore and in the Eastern Archipelago.

Prime Minister John Curtin has sent a long message to Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt, now conferring in Washington, in which he is believed to have outlined the Australian government's conception of the whole strategic problem of the war against Japan. He also is understood to have emphasized the increased self-dependence of Australia, particularly in Pacific affairs.

These decisions followed increasing disquiet over accumulating evidence that Allied defences in the Far East were seriously inadequate and that shortage of air equipment was responsible for the setbacks in Malaya.

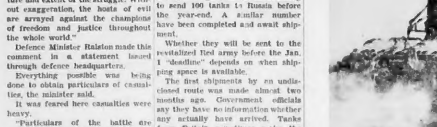
The war council also insists there should be a re-assessment of the value of airpower in relation to naval power. Members expressed belief the doctrine that naval strength at Singapore has been exploded following the sinking by torpedo-carrying aircraft of the British battleship Prince of Wales and battlecruiser Repulse and the blows dealt the United States navy at Pearl Harbor that the whole military of Japan in the Pacific must be adjusted accordingly.

There are about 100 000 Chinese in the United States.



TANKS WHICH ARE WINNING IN LIBYA

British land battleships are shown speeding into action in the early stages of the advance on Axis forces in Libya, which relieved the siege of Tobruk. In his latest speech to the Reichstag, Hitler admitted a British victory in North Africa, blaming it on tanks like these.



FAMOUS EXPLORER MARRIED

Although Sir Wilhalmur Stefanson, noted Arctic explorer, has been constantly in the public eye through his many expeditions, his private life has been carefully hidden from his many admirers. Few knew, until they read the information contained herein, that he was married on April 10, 1941, to his secretary, Mrs. William Baird, 28, in a quiet ceremony near Knoxville, Ky. At that time he gave his legal name, William Stefanson, which successfully kept the press at bay. He had been a bachelor for 62 years.

SUCCEEDS PATTULLO

John Hart, former minister of finance, who favors a coalition government for British Columbia, has been chosen leader of the B.C. Liberal party to succeed Premier Pattullo.

Action This Time

Complete Agreement Between United States And British Ensures Peace

Washington.—Winston Churchill, writer and lecturer, was in Washington in February, 1932, on a lecture tour of the United States.

In his talk here he asserted that: "A financial, economic, military and political agreement between the United States and Great Britain is the best guarantee for a solidly established world peace."

Now Winston Churchill, prime minister of Great Britain, is back to Washington to translate words into action.

Suffers Nervous Exhaustion

London.—The Moscow radio said in a broadcast heard here that Hitler recently consulted "the famous German Doctor Schuster" and was told he was suffering severe nervous exhaustion and inflammation of the eyes. Hitler's eyes have troubled him since he was gassed in the First Great War.

Nazi Failure

Hitler Will Have No Further Excuses To Offer For Reverses

London.—Moscow radio said in a commentary quoted by the British Broadcasting Corporation that Hitler will have "no further excuses" for reverses on the Russian front now that he has replaced Field Marshal Walther Von Brauchitsch as German Army commander-in-chief.

"Hitler needed an excuse for the failures at Rostov and Moscow," the radio said, "so he sacked the commander-in-chief as scapegoat.

"Actually there is no great change. Hitler ordered the campaign on the eastern front but it remained with the generals to work out the details.

"But there is this difference—Hitler will have no further excuse for his failures."

The broadcast ended by posing this question:

"Will Hitler remain at his headquarters on the eastern front—or is the Russian winter too cold for him?"

SEES TURNING POINT IN THE WORLD CONFLICT

Washington.—For the first time in history, a British prime minister and a president of the United States sat together for a joint conference—a tangible evidence in the White House of Anglo-American solidarity.

Prime Minister Churchill, seated at the side of President Roosevelt, told correspondents that recent events in the German defeat in Russia and the entry of the United States into the war—had produced a turning point in the tide of world-wide conflict.

It was impossible to describe his feelings, he said, speaking slowly in Red Mahon victorious days of Britain and the United States standing side by side.

Puffing a long, thick cigar, his quick, darting eyes surveying the whole scene, Mr. Churchill captivated with his charm and robust personality the 200 newspapermen and women who jammed the president's executive study.

He even stood up on a chair so that the rear rows of the big crowd could catch a glimpse of him—a gesture that prompted a roar of applause from what is generally regarded as the most hard-boiled newspaper crowd in the world.

Along with the president the prime minister expressed his complete confidence in an Allied victory over the Axis and spoke of the resolute manner in which all Allied people were throwing themselves into the struggle.

His chronic foe grew serious and last when he paid tribute to the fighting qualities of the Russian armies. Simply and quietly, he reminded one newspaperman that to anyone who stood through the dark and lonely months of 1940 when the forties of the Russian and the entry of the United States into the war was a matter for which God should be thanked.

Germany, the prime minister declared, had suffered a serious reverse on the Russian front from which Hitler's resources of equipment were undiminished and while there might be evidence of internal dangers in the reich, he personally believed that only an external knockout blow would avail Germany.

Like the president, he said the main purpose of the Washington conference was to establish a unified direction for the war but he turned down the proposition that a general high command was possible. Each unit was being fought in all sections of the world on the land, on the sea and in the air and each, the spokesman would have the energy or the time to handle a struggle so vast and so complex.

He said every effort would be made to hold Singapore and its approaches until the Pacific situation became more favorable for resumption of the offensive and that progress was being made in establishing unity of action in the southwest Pacific.

Joining The Air Force

Enlistment Of Canadians Of Ukrainian Descent Is Particularly Heavy

Edmonton.—Sharp increase in the number of Royal Canadian Air Force enlistments, particularly new Canadians of Ukrainian descent, was reported by FH.-Lt. Harry E. Jones, officer commanding the recruiting centre. "The number of enlistments now is greater than at any time in the past five months," FH.-Lt. Jones said. "This is due to the expansion of the war to the Far East."

Control Black Sea Ports

Moscow Radio Reports Varna And Constanza Held By Nazis

London.—The Bulgarian port of Varna and the Rumanian port of Constanza on the Black sea were reported by the Moscow radio to be in complete German control. The radio quoted Istanbul sources. Announcement of Bulgarian mobilization was expected shortly as Bulgarian navy preparations were reported increasing particularly along the Turkish border, the radio said.

Seventh Italian General

London.—The Vichy radio broadcast a Rome despatch saying that Gen. Guido Boromelli had died at Naples from wounds received in Libya. He was commander of the Trente division and was the seventh Italian general to lose his life in the war, the broadcast said.

Have Arrived Safely

Men Who Demolished Oil Wells At Sarawak Reach Singapore

Singapore.—Bravery ambassadors who scorched the earth and burned the oil of Sarawak and Brunei arrived safely from the Japanese invaded Borneo states with a stirring account of their escape under air attack.

Some of the men of the Royal Engineers said they began putting the torch to well pipelines pumping stations and refineries a few days after war broke out.

While they were systematically destroying the oil facilities, British and Indian troops, barefoot native volunteers and rangers manned defensive posts against the anticipated Japanese assault.

When satisfied that the Japanese would get no oil from the Miri area the British units embarked aboard three small vessels, one of them the white ensign yacht.

That was a few hours before the Japanese got there, but Nipponese airmen spotted them and kept them under attack for two days. No bombs hit their targets but the British commander was killed by machine-gunning.

WILL WIN WAR THROUGH SPIRIT OF SACRIFICE

London.—The King, delivering his third wartime Christmas broadcast to the Empire and the world, told the British peoples they would win the war through their spirit of sacrifice for the common good. At the same time he urged the young to train themselves to perform the tasks of the post-war years of peace.

The King dwelt at length on the absence of friends and relatives from celebrations of this Christmas, necessitated by the war, and said:

"It may well be that it (the war) will call for even greater sacrifices. If this is to be, let us face them cheerfully together."

"I think of you, my people," he said, "as one great family, for that is how we are learning to live. We all belong to each other. We all need each other. It is in serving each other and in sacrificing for our common good that we are finding our true life.

"In that spirit we shall win the war. And in that same spirit we shall win for the world after the war that lasting peace."

His Majesty declared that while the present generation must bear the brunt of the struggle, it "would say to the coming generation of boys and girls of to-day—the men and women of to-morrow:

"Prepare yourselves, body, mind and spirit, so as to be ready for whatever part you may be called upon to play and for the tasks which will await you as citizens of the Empire when the war is over."

"Lift up your hearts with thankfulness for deliverance from dangers in the past," he said. "Lift up your hearts to confident hope that strength will be given us to overcome whatever perils may lie ahead until victory is won.

"If skies before us are still dark and threatening, these are stars to guide us on our way. Never did heroism shine more brightly than it does now, nor fortitude, nor sacrifice, nor sympathy, nor neighborly kindness.

"And with them the brightest of all stars is our faith in God these stars will we follow with His help until the light shall shine and darkness shall collapse."

Happy New Year to All!

May we extend to you now a word of appreciation for the friendly courtesies we have enjoyed throughout the past year and at the same time wish you all the cheer of this Festive Season. May the happiness and pleasure of this time reflect great Joy, Health and Prosperity in the New Year, for you and yours . . . .

HERD BY-LAW INTRODUCED AT BUFFALO COULEE COUNCIL MEETING

Council meeting was held in the Gallaux school with Crs. Wear, Phenney, Ramsay, Donnesworth, Tod and Currey present and Reeve Phenney presiding on Dec. 13th.

The minutes of Nov. 8 were adopted as read; the monthly statement for Nov. was signed and hospital notices for the month were found in order.

Reeve Phenney made a personal settlement of the Mary Butters case. Since it is desirable that the matter be settled before the end of the year, the Sec'y was instructed to write to J.E. Brownlee and the Reeve authorized to pay the account if satisfactory.

Discussion re Prairie Farm Assistance bonus. It appeared doubtful whether 1941 would be eligible and so Cr. Tod was to investigate. Cr. Currey that the Sec'y is to make application to have part or it excluded in considering the eligibility of the Township for award, provided the investigations of Cr. Tod warrant same.

Correspondence with the H.B. Co. re the division at the N.W. 8-49-7-4 was again reviewed. The Council is still unwilling to meet their request and the Sec'y was instructed to write them again.

The Sec'y was instructed to write to Earl Kelly that he must apply for the Seed Grain before next meeting or steps will be taken to collect. Cr. Tod is to interview a. McMinis.

A letter was read from Veg. S.D. authorizing a reduction of $180 in their requisition. Cr. Ramsay ed. that the reduction should be taken the amount authorized and the Sec'y be instructed to pay $2542.50 to Veg. S.D. as full payment of 1941 requisition". With regard to the Board's request for payment of $15 on Creighton school account, the Sec'y is to advise that since no requisition has been received for a special levy on Creighton the Council do not see their way to pay this, but suggest that they requisition in 1942 for the amount.

A notice was presented from the Verdi School Trustees in which they gave notice of the termination of their contract. Crs. Wear and Currey were appointed a committee to interview them in the matter.

Report was made by the Sec'y on leases on Mun. lands and amounts owed on same.

Further correspondence was read re the accrued area at Philip's Lake. The Sec'y is to reply, explaining the circumstances and decision in the matter to be left to the new council.

By-law No. 11 was introduced. This is to provide for the restraining or our present stock by-law and thereby making the Municipality a refused area or introducing what is commonly called "herd law". The by-law is to six parts or is really six by-laws one for each division, and provides that such or any division can remain as they are or become a closed area by a majority vote or the proprietary electors residing therein. Cr. Wear ed. that these by-laws pass their first reading, Reeve Phenney ed. that they pass their second reading.

Discussion and report re amount of Santiago Certificates issued during the year. The amount was very much short or the $2000 authorized at last annual meeting. It was agreed that any of the Councillors who were in a position to do so shoul d get some gravelling done on their roads and pay for it in certificates, said certificates to be purchased before the end of the year.

Cd. by Cr. Wear that in case any Div. should be overspent that an additional apportionment be made to cover said overexpenditure.

A number of linesheets and accounts were passed for payment.

ISLAND HILL

The kiddies' Christmas concert held at the school Monday 22nd was one of the most successful in the history of the district. The program opened by all singing "O Canada" and "God Save the King" was sung at the conclusion. Mrs. Chas. Mig and Mrs. Gray accompanied at the piano. Mrs. Gray is to be congratulated for her work in preparing her pupils, who throughout the evening gave a fine performance. The singing of the kiddies was particularly good. One of the songs sung by all the pupils, "Tap Out a V for Victory", composed by Mr. Eliard, Vermilion, was highly enjoyed by the audience. The arrival of Santa caused a stir among the children and each child was he d a present from the beautiful Xmas tree—a new departure was that each mother of the district who attended was also the recipient of a present. Miss Eva Williamson acted as M. C. It was proposed by P. McBride that a hearty vote of thanks be extended Miss G. Gray The teacher, suitably replied. THE SINKING FUND BY-LAW

The Town Council is to be commended upon passing a Sinking Fund By-law with respect to Vermilion's municipally owned utilities. There has been an agitation going back many years for the adoption of such provision but its proponents were invariably met with the contention that the money was needed to pay the school teachers or help finance town obligations. The matter of fact was that the earnings of the plant were diverted into municipal channels to make up for a lackadaisical attitude towards collecting taxes. Mayor Morrison advocated the creation of a sinking fund in the early days of office and has kept the matter before the public since his return to the Council in 1936 and it must be a matter of satisfaction to him that his long-wished-for proposal has finally come into being. Had we had a sinking fund from the early days of the plant, at no time since would the town have been under the necessity of borrowing money on debentures to provide extensions or replacements; the necessary funds could have been had from the sinking fund. Mayor Morrison, and his council, who framed the by-law, are undoubtedly looking into the future when the plant will again have to be enlarged or rehabilitated and instead of borrowing on debentures or loans, borrowing will be from the newly created sinking fund. The Standard does not always agree with the policies of Mayor Morrison and his council, but reviewing the changes suggested from time to time in the administration of the plant within the past four or five years it must be admitted that very great contributions towards placing this highly prized utility on a sound financial basis have been made.

The intention and purpose of the By-law is to create a fund out of which payments or purchases may be made for installation or replacements by way of capital expenditures in connection with the said utilities, and for which the town otherwise would have to issue debentures or borrow the necessary funds to make such installations or replacements. Power is given the Council to borrow on the security contained in the said fund but such borrowings are repayable in one year with interest at the rate of not more than four per cent. Surplus funds from the town funds and not otherwise earmarked may be credited to the said fund. Investments from the said fund are confined to Dominion Government securities or securities guaranteed by that government. All income or dividends derived from such investments are credited to the said fund. The by-law is made to include a municipal water and sewer system

Betty Rochford; Mildred Scarth; Teddy, George and Ann Richardson; Ernie, Pearl, Dale and Dawn Fry; Bridge, Hugh and Frank McDaid; Arthur and Pearl Seddon and Robert Butler. Trustees Mix and Williamson greatly assisted in making the concert the success it was.

A personal note: Many thanks to numerous readers, some of whom I do not know personally, who were so kind as to mail me Christmas cards and many suitable presents. To these and all our readers we wish A Happy and Victorious New Year.

From The Far East

Young Men Coming To Air Training Camps On Prairies

Without fanfare or preliminary announcement of any kind, big passenger liners in battle gray have brought to the ports of Western Canada a steady flow of tough, bronzed young men from Australia and the Far East for the air training camps of the prairies.

Some of the boys recently arrived in Canada came from India, Hong Kong and the Malay peninsula. Typical of the group is C. H. B. Tulalla, a black-eyed Singalese, whose father gave millions of dollars to British war relief.

Determined to serve in the Battle of Britain as a flier, young Tulalla became a member of the Kwala Lumpur Flying club. After 100 hours in the air he joined the Royal Air Force in Malaya.

Over in Singapore a young Chinese, 27-year-old Tan Kai Hai, had the same idea. He put in 100 flying hours with the Singapore Flying club, then enrolled with the Singapore Volunteer Air Force and won his way into the R.A.F.

Tulalla and Kai Hai—Kai Hai—now boom pals in the sky service—arrived in Vancouver a few days ago with several hundred Australians and New Zealanders who had made the trans-Pacific passage to San Francisco and come north by train.

"China's cause is the same as Britain's, but I would rather fly for Britain," said Tan Kai Hai. "When I read about the battles over Britain I became restless. I wanted to be in the hell of it—and that's where I hope to be."—Charles Shaw.

SO YOU'RE GOING TO DO A PLAY?

All right. The play is chosen, and now the casting is the important consideration. Is it better to choose to type, you ask? If for community pleasure it doesn't matter, but for festival, decidedly yes. If you require someone to play the part of an elderly woman, get one, by hook or by crook, or if you have a villain assume someone who is tall and thin, and has a thin nose and tense lips if it is a competition. If your play is for entertainment, then secure a cast, let them read for parts, choose the ones they want to do, and take your time, to let them grow into the characterizations; that is real theatre.

All plays must give the illusion of naturalness. I have heard directors say "Be natural!" But my reply is "How can anyone be natural on a stage where everything is artificial, where you are facing two hundred people and where you are saying lines put into your mouth by an author, who doesn't know how you feel.

Suppose you must smell a flower and say "Isn't it gorgeous! Do you grow these in your own garden?" The flower is a paper one, smells dusty, is faded and came off the last time your brother bought it at that box social ten years ago and has been in the attic ever since. How is one to say that speech convincingly and as for the first time when for the past twenty rehearsals you have smelled it and it was dusty. Of course, you feel like a goose, and will laugh with your friends in the audience when they laugh at you, unless you have gone back in your memories...to a time when you made that remark to someone over a perfectly gorgeous bloom in an equally gorgeous garden. With that situation in mind, do this line, thinking, where did this flower come from? Why is it here? What is it's function in the play? Why am I smelling it? Then you will say your line with sincerity.

In your part, you should know where you were born, where you went to school, when you left school and why, where you got your first job, and how well you got along with the people and your fellow workers. When you had your first boy or girl friend, and how long it lasted and why it broke up, and a dozen other intimate things about yourself. If you do so as to make members of some of the cast write out a biography of their characterization and then I know that they know something about the person they are playing in the play. Oh, you can't find all those things in the play. Maybe not all, but a great many if you read it carefully. Scripts tell you many things as you study them. Write to Mary Ellen, Box 736, Regina, for further information. But enuf sed. Come again next week.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

THE SYNOPTIC GOSPELS: MATTHEW, MARK, LUKE

Golden text: Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners. I. Timothy 1:15.

Lesson: Matthew 1:1, 17; Mark 1: 1, 14, 15; Luke 1:1-4; Acts 1:1-5.

Devotional reading: Psalm 119: 33-40.

Explanations and Comments

How Matthew Begins His Gospel, Matthew 1;1-17. The first chapter of the Gospel According to Matthew traces the genealogy of Jesus back to David, the descendant of Abraham, and affirms that there were 14 generations from Abraham to David, 14 from David to the exile in Babylon, and 14 from the exile in Babylon to the birth of Jesus. Both in Matthew and Luke (3:23) Jesus' descent is traced through Joseph, his foster father, rather than through Mary, his mother, for the Jews disregarded female descent and his claim to the throne of David could be incontested through the male line.

"The genealogies are not inspired documents. They are believed to have been the work of Jewish pedigree-makers who did their best to fill the gaps of records which were frequently fragmentary. They were inserted by the evangelists as honest attempts to trace the family line. Their accuracy or inaccuracy does not affect the main point at issue; our Lord was born of the royal legal father Joseph, from David."

How Mark Begins The Gospel, Mark 1:1-15. The first verse of Mark's Gospel declares that here begins the good news concerning Jesus Christ, the Son of God. The word "gospel" is a compound of the two Anglo-Saxon words "god," meaning "good," and "spell," meaning "story." As used in the New Testament, the word refers to the message of good tidings, not to one of the first four books, to which it has been applied before the second century. "Christ, the Son of God"; this is Mark's confession of faith.

How Luke Begins The Acts His Continuation of His Gospel, Acts 1. Luke tells his friend Theophilus that his former treatise, our first Gospel, contains all that Jesus began to do and to teach, up to the time of his ascension. The Acts, will tell what Jesus continued to do and to teach through his disciples. The two writings together trace the progress of Christianity from Galilee to Jerusalem and from Jerusalem to Rome.

Hard On The Soldier

Battle Dress Got Him In Wrong With Bull Terrier

People in Birchfield road, Berry Barr, saw an amusing incident, says the Birmingham Mail. One of the men on the wall, his rifle lifted before him by the barrel, and the stock above his head, was an immaculately turned out member of the Royal Warwickshire Regiment. Five feet away, but entirely master of the situation, crouched a bull terrier of grim demeanor, his head forward, his feet firmly planted, ready to spring through the moment a weak spot in his adversary's defence showed itself. Meantime the soldier at bay was saying "Mary, Mary."

About three minutes before, the soldier had turned into Birchfield road, stopped at the entrance of a farm house, and a few seconds later had doubled through the door shouting "Back for Paddy's tea, duck, while I'm gone!" Paddy, black and white and full of dog, which, until he came to buy with his back to the wall, was always within arm's length of the excellent calves reared in the battle dress.

The inglorious end of the incident was the appearance of Mary, who captured and led away by the collar the enterprising Paddy. Said she to the still growling terrier, "And didn't he know his master in his new uniform?" and the cup of the unhappy soldier was indeed full.

Colonies Aid War Effort

Far-flung lands of Britain's sprawling Colonial Empire have poured £23,000,000 (about $103,500,000) into the British Treasury to help the war effort. Despite wartime restrictions which cut exports of primary products—their major revenue source—the colonies sent the money in unsolicited gifts and loans and gave further aid to the heavily burdened exchequer by increasing their contributions to local defence.

DIET AND EYE AFFLICTIONS

If your eyes tire easily, are watery and uncomfortable and you suffer from headaches, the trouble may be that you are not eating enough riboflavin, or vitamin B2, suggests Doctor E. Chasl-Robertson in the current issue of "Health," official organ of the Health League of Canada.

Recent investigations show that persons receiving an insufficient supply of this vitamin show changes in the small bloodvessels at the surface of the eyes, declares the writer, and this remedy is to eat more of such meats as liver and kidney, as well as of cheese, eggs, wheat germ, beans and peas. Milk also is rich in vitamin B2, she states.

White Coats Safest

New Zealand Held Tests To Find Limits Of Driver's Vision

White coats are safest for pedestrians, it was proved by tests in Wellington, New Zealand, to ascertain the limits of a driver's vision with restricted headlights. A white coat increased greatly the visibility of a pedestrian at night. Four cars were used. A man in black was visible from a stationary car 95 feet. A man in a white coat was seen 343 feet; those in grey could be threaded between 162 and 230 feet from each of the others. Even a white waist band added 40 per cent to visibility.

MICKIE SAYS—

REG'LAR FELLERS—A Wise Guy

"ALL THAT GLITTERS"

— By —

ANNE TEDLOCK BROOKS

CHAPTER II.

Dick Sheridan's complacency was shattered instantly.

He stared at his friend, Ransome Todd, his brown eyes assuming their boring look that was famous in the court room for ferreting the secrets out of lying witnesses.

"Of course, you mean the contract I drew up last night for Randolph and Major Towne. Why?"

In the next few seconds, Ransome Todd explained the situation that Dick Sheridan already knew too well.

"There's just enough wrong with your suggestion, and that is a paragraph to draw up contracts that can't be broken. I take a lot of pride in that, my friend!"

"I'd like to punch your nose for that tone of voice," Sheridan's own took on his gentlest, most persuasive shading. "You don't want to see Tam cheated out of her heritage, do you? As true Southern gentlemen, I vote we come to the aid of the lady in distress."

Todd looked the young attorney squarely in the eye. He could give him stars for effrontery. They hadn't shared room at Emory for nothing. Each knew the other would give no quarter, unless he chose to do so.

"As a matter of fact, I was just trying to think of a way out of it when you came in."

"Yes, I can see that you were. Like Uncle Jobias, when you sit down to think of your troubles, you 'jes' mechenikly falls asleep.'"

Dick grinned. "This Georgia sun's enough to put any one to sleep. Look out there!"

Ransome crossed to the window obligingly. Along the square on the old green wooden benches sat a row or so of men. With one accord they nodded their heads in the shade of the giant trees. In the heat now and then, a horse tied to the racks whinnied out in the stillness. A clopping team pulled a creaking wagon along the street, the driver asleep in the sun, and the load of white cotton barely staying within it.

Todd struck his fist on the mahogany desk. Dick stared at him, as the desk shook and the bottle of ink bounced in its container.

"I tell you the whole damned place and all of its people are asleep!" Todd crossed the room in giant strides.

Dick burst out laughing. "Honestly, I'd think you were playing the part of an ambitious young Senator if I didn't know better."

Todd sat down suddenly in the consulting chair. "Have a seat, Sheridan."

"Thanks," Dick grinned. "Nice touch of hospitality there, Old Pal."

"Cut it, Dick. Wipe that grin off your face and let's get down to business. Trouble with Tah-ahenka is that we have all the rest of our lives to accomplish things in, and there's never any hurry. Therefore, we never get anything done."

Sheridan could not forbear one more good natured jibe. "I hear that's the reason the bank is going under. All of the executives sleep at their posts."

The young banker rose to his feet, and Dick had the impression of a fleeting remembrance of Ranny with that expression on his face, when he smashed through the line of scrimmage for four old Emory and made a broken field run of 90 yards for a touchdown.

"Okay, Ran, let's hear your suggestions. Of course I don't know much about banking, but if I thought I could help you out of a tough spot, I'd be glad to offer you my services."

"I don't know anything about law, Dick. I guess you that. But you're a smart lawyer, and you know it. Break that contract somehow, and write in a clause giving the Randolphs a percentage of the yield."

Ranny got up and took another vicious round of the room. "That mother lode in the Cricket Hill—hell! Dick, there's a fortune there, as sure as you're born. I wouldn't be telling how much more! And you let it slip through to an outsider—a New Yorker, at that!"

Dick restrained the laughter that leaped to his lips at the scornful contempt of his friend's voice. He laid a restraining hand on Todd's arm. "All right, Ran, I just wanted to see how far you'd go. I'll draw it up, then, Dick won't you? I knew I could count on you!"

"I can't break the contract." Todd's face fell ludicrously. "But," Dick went on hastily, "I don't see why we can't get around it. There happens to be one little formality that throws a different light on the whole thing." He leaned forward.

"And that?" Todd caught at the straw like a drowning man.

"The unimportant fact that the contract has been signed by neither party."

"I've got a notion to beat the hell out of you for not saying so in the first place." Todd jumped to his feet, then his face broke into a reluctant smile. He clapped Dick on the back. A clap that made Sheridan wince.

"Let's go celebrate. This is on me," Ransome said, picking up his green straw hat.

Sorry, I have an appointment in exactly 10 minutes. I'll have to work like the deuce to get that contract ready."

"You mean——"

"I mean that the Major, his engineer, and Knox Randolph are due here." He rang the bell and the girl who served as his secretary entered the office. "Bring me that new set of contracts, Miss Sue," he said.

Ransome turned to the door. "Call me and tell me how it comes out, will you? And we'll celebrate tonight."

"Okay. Let's get the girls and drive out to the Roistan."

"We'll see." Ran thought: Tamar will not go. I guess I could ask Selby, Dick's sister. He glanced back at his friend. Dick was already thumbing through his papers.

Ranny went from the room, but paused for a long moment outside the office door. One thing bothered him: and that was the sense of honor that was possessed by men like Knox Randolph. He had given his word to the Major that he would lease the land to him. Now just because the Major had found out the richness of the ore that was taken out in such vast quantities, how could he ask for a new contract?

Well, that was Sheridan's worry. Let him attend to that little item. The important thing was to get him to see the injustice of the original plan.

Ransome took out his large white handkerchief and mopped his wide forehead. His hand touched the check that Tamar had stapped and he winced. It was not the first time that Tam had slapped him, but somehow this was different. This last slapping was not over an argument as to who had caught the most crawfish out of the Chestatee, or who had last played the part of De Soto, the Spanish explorer.

Ransome went down to his office, avoiding his father's inquiring look as he passed his desk. He sat down at his own private papers toward the Ranny sat looking at Miss Crane, not seeing her, but in her place: a girl with flaming red lips and red gentian colored eyes; a dimpled chin. . . .

"Did anything er—wrong?" Miss Crane asked anxiously, laying her pencil in her hand, and smoothing back her faded hair.

"Yes, of course!" Ran said. "Oh, excuse me Miss Edie, of course not! I'm sorry."

Miss Crane thought! I've never seen him look like that at me before. Why, he didn't even see me! I'll bet that Ransome Todd's in love!

The telephone jangled sharply, and Ran jumped for it almost snatching it from Miss Crane's extended hand.

"Yes?" shouted.

Miss Crane jumped. She eyed Ranny's ransoming face curiously. The Todds were among the finest gentlemen of her acquaintance: in fact, she would almost go as far as to say the finest.

"You white-livered chicken thief, get on with your story, and you'd better make it a good one."

Miss Crane stared as Ransome continued: "Wish I'd smashed your nose while I was in your office, Dick. Stop baiting me and tell me if you killed it."

Miss Edie's hand crept up to her mouth, and she took a vicious bite out of a finger nail. She had a sudden frightened look on her drab face.

Ransome's face broke in to a boyish grin. "That's swell. I knew I could count on you. Remember our plans for the evening. Guess I'll call your sister, Selby."

Miss Edie was smiling, too, now. All's right with Ranny's world. His voice froze her once more. "Yes what? Already made the arrangements with her? And say that last again," he demanded, incredulously "With Tam?"

Miss Edie got up determinedly, and measured the distance toward the outer door with her small grey eyes.

"So you're taking Tam, are you?" he demanded. "Well, I'll be damned! Telling you now, Tam's my girl!"

Deliberate Planning

Japan, Like Germany, Out To Conquer World

Not nobody think that Japan's attack upon Britain and the United States was any accident—Japan has been deliberate planning.

A Washington writer for the Overseas News Agency recalls that as far back as 1917 one General Tanaka, then premier of Japan, presented to the Emperor a document which became known as the Tanaka Memorial. Somehow the text leaked out, and although Tokyo claimed lotsly that it was a fake it seems to have been genuine. "In order," wrote Tanaka, "to conquer the entire world the conquest of China is a prerequisite. . . . If we wish to control China we must first defeat the United States of America as we have smashed Russia. . . . We have to fight America now or later."

Five years later another Japanese sage-writer, a general named Araki, said this: "Our country intends to enforce her national ideal through the world. If we succeed in that we can do it by war if necessary. We are the descendants of God and should rule the world."

These are not isolated specimens of Japanese eloquence—many other Japanese, and more recently, could be cited.

We should be making a mistake, therefore, if we assumed that Japan is the misguided victim of German intrigue. Japan is in the war because she wanted to be in it. It is her deliberate and cold-blooded choice.—Ottawa Journal.

Swedish newspaper dispatches have reported increasing numbers of Norwegians were fleeing their German-occupied homeland, slipping away to Britain in some instances by the boatload.

Paper Shortage

People In Britain Have To Supply Paper For Goods Wrapped In Stores

Inquiries at one or two representative stores revealed that shopkeepers are not worried by the provision in the new Paper Order that paper may not be used for wrapping goods other than foodstuffs.

The regulation seems, indeed to be welcomed, for the reason that it imposes on the public an authoritative reminder of economies which have long been necessary.

Most shops, for some time, have not been able to use paper for wrapping articles already packed in containers, or unlikely to be damaged by being passed straight from the counter to the shopping basket. In suburban districts many shops are already in the habit of displaying notices requiring customers to bring their own paper, or even, in the case of butchers and fishmongers, their own plates or basins in which to carry purchases away.

It is anticipated, therefore, that the order will tend to make the public still more careful although one shopkeeper expressed the view that the shortage of domestic paper supplies is likely to prove a more difficult task for ordinary households in the future.

But the practice of serving goods unwrapped has been more widely followed in some districts than in others. It has not so far applied to the purchase of draperies and of more expensive articles in the more exclusive establishments, and its general application should prove both a helpful and a salutary measure.—Edinburgh Scotsman.

To Fight The War

Britain Has Already Spent Thirty-Seven Billion Dollars

Sir Kingsley Wood, chancellor of the exchequer, told the House of Commons that Britain has spent £8,300,000,000 ($37,000,000,000) to fight the war so far.

The government will ask the House of Commons for another £1,000,000,000 credit for war expenditures. This credit would make a total of £4,000,000,000 for the war during the fiscal year which began April 1.

Sir Kingsley disclosed that the government would issue "a new special security" which can be taken up for such amounts and at such times as taxpayers find most convenient.

The securities will be issued in denominations of £25 and multiples thereof, and may be tendered in payment of certain taxes.

The new credit disclosed that Britain recently has been spending at the rate of about £83,000,000 a week.

He indicated that the total of £4,000,000,000 credits for the current year would include approximately £300,000,000 to be spent in the United States before March 31 for supplies not covered by the lease-lend program.

Might Be His Turn

Bret Harte Felt His Hoodache Could Be Falsified

Bret Harte was scheduled to deliver a lecture in Richmond, Virginia. Upon arriving in the city he had a terrible headache which almost blinded him with pain. Feeling that a bit of fresh air would do him good he went out for a stroll with the chairman of the evening. The latter, a proud relative of Richmond's leading lady and hard about the wonders of the city. Harte, occupied with his own troubles, paid scant attention to him. "Richmond," boasted his companion, "is one of the healthiest cities in America. Our death rate averages only one person a day." At this Harte slowed his walk perceptibly. "Tell me," moaned, holding his throbbing head in his hands, "has to-day's man died yet?"

Point Barrow, Alaska, is the northernmost habitation on the North American continent. In the world's most populous nation has increased from 330 to 363.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

CULTIVATION

The highest purpose of intellectual cultivation is, to give a man perfect knowledge and mastery of his own inner self.—Novalis.

Culture would not be culture if it were not an acquired taste.—John Cowper Powys.

That is true cultivation which gives us sympathy with every form of human life, and enables us to work most successfully for its advancement.—Henry Ward Beecher.

Nurseries of character should be strongly garrisoned with virtue. School-examinations are one-sided; it is not so much academic education, as a moral and spiritual culture, which lifts one higher.—Mary Baker Eddy.

That alone can be called true refinement which elevates the soul of man, purifying the manners by improving the heart.—Coleridge.

The primary indication, to my thinking, of a well-ordered mind is a man's ability to remain in one place and linger in his own company.—Seneca.

Stock Seed Potatoes

Among the methods of maintaining the stock seed of potatoes, mass selection of the tubers from the bins in the storage cellar, and from the field rows at digging time, is not recommended by expert growers, because too much is left to chance when the particular parent plants from which the tubers were selected are not known.

EVEN THE BUSIEST LADY CAN GROW THESE PLANTS

Decoration For All The House

You'd love to decorate your home with plants, but you haven't time to look after them? Then these beautiful plants take care of themselves. In almost any spot, or window, they will thrive.

Sprays of Chinese evergreen and philodendron grow in a low watter-filled bowl, make a lovely centre piece for your table. Asparagus fern, bird and fresh water once a week.

Dracaena, tall, with variegated foliage, does well even where there is little direct sunlight—near a fireplace or on a stairway landing. Rubber plant or a stairway landing. Rubber plant does aanseriena which grows for months without drainage.

Flowering plants, of course, require more attention, but are not too exacting. The satilite will put three masses of feathery pink blossoms if you just give it lots of water.

Jerusalem cherry, so colorful with its gay red fruit, asks only sunlight and protection from drafts and gas.

It's easy to lighten your home with plants! Our 82-page booklet describes simple care of many lovely foliage and flowering house plants, including azalea, flowering maple, begonia, Swedish ivy, rose vines, ferns, bulbs.

Send 10 cents in coins for your copy of "Making Plants and Flowers Grow Indoors" to Home Service Dept. Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 176 McDermot Ave. E., Winnipeg, Man.

Candidates For Legislature Had Same Idea To Get Votes

The race for the legislature had been very heated, and now that the two candidates had entered the home stretch, they were practically exhausted. However, one of them, anxious to please every possible vote, was making a last round of doubtful persons on his list. At one farm house, he watchful eye on, was to rest upon a considerable supply of wood that needed sawing. Immediately, he pealed off his coat, informing the housewife, "I'm always looking for work, whether I'm in the legislature or about the house." Finally he finished his laborious task. It was then that the housewife said with a disdainful sniff, "It's as hard to decide which to vote for—you, or Mr. Smithers. Why, right now he's out on the back porch churning."

Tests Standards

English Woman Does Accurate Work With Munitions Gauges

Precision is her forte and so Mrs. Constance Arregger has been called in to aid the Canadian war effort. A meteorologist in the physics division of the National Research Council Laboratories, Mrs. Arregger is a British mother who left England with her three children, John, 12; Marion, 11, and Susan, 7, in July, 1940. She has a M.Sc. degree from the University of Liverpool, England, and was awarded the Sir Oliver Lodge Fellowship for research work in magneto-optics. Now in the Metrology "lab" of the National Research Council, this tall, fair-haired woman looks down to inches of an inch. She works on standards of time, length and weight in munitions gauges.

TOLLAND

Mr. F. Van Wagenen suffered a painful injury on Monday, Dec. 22nd, when he cut an artery in his foot with an ax. This will probably take a long time to heal, but we wish you a speedy recovery as possible, Van.

Mary and Beverly Lewis are at home at present, from Islay and Vermilion respectively.

Marion McQuid is at home for the Christmas holidays from her school. Our teacher, Miss Long, has gone to her home in Edmonton.

Peter McQuid of Landonville, is visiting for a few days with his brother Andrew McQuid.

Mrs. M. Webber and Fred visited on Sunday with Mrs. H. W. Webber at Marwayne. Fred is spending the holiday at home from his teaching duties at Lindbrook.

Cliff Oldenberg is another holiday visitor at home. He is at present stationed with his unit in Calgary.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. Hanby Martin and family extend their heartfelt thanks for the many acts of kindness, expressions of sympathy and help given them during their recent bereavement.

VERMILION MEAT MARKET

A boy who formerly lived in the Thorncliff district has recently won coveted honors in the University of Washington. The boy is Hanken Lindjord who lived in Thorncliff from 1917 to 1925 at which time the family removed to Seattle when Hanken was nine years old. He was a nephew of Ole Lindjord and he attended the Thorncliff school so will be well remembered by numerous old school mates south of town. He recently received from President L. P. Sieg of the University of Washington the highest citation for scholarship that the University bestows, the President's medal. The medal is awarded to one of the utmost incredible scholastic feat or an absolute straight 'A' record through four years of college study. Lindjord also received a commission as 2nd Lieutenant, officer's reserve corps, army of the United States.

JUDICIAL SALE OF FARM PROPERTY BY TENDER

PURSUANT to an order of Mr. Justice Tweedie of the Supreme Court of Alberta, and of certain directions for sale, sealed tenders will be received by the purchaser of the following parcel of farm property situate near Vermilion in the Province of Alberta:

The South West Quarter (S.W. ¼) of Section Twenty-Five (25), Township Fifty-three (53) Range Four (4) West of the Fourth (4th) Meridian, reserving all mines and minerals and the right to enter upon the land and work the same.

subject to the conditions and reservations contained in the original grant from the Crown or in the existing Certificate of Title thereto, and subject to all taxes, rates and assessments imposed thereon subsequent to the 31st day of December, 1940.

The parcel contains 160 acres, of which 25 acres are broke, 20 acres are cultivated and 120 acres under cultivation. The land is all fenced. There are no buildings.

The sale of the land will be subject to an upset price of $2100.00.

Tenders covering the parcel being tendered on must be in the hands of sealed envelopes marked "Tender re The Conveyor and Manager of Administrators of England trading into Hudson's Bay Company, No. 20403" and addressed to the Clerk of the Supreme Court, Court House, Edmonton, Alberta, and to the Sheriff, Vermilion, and said Clerk by the latter than twelve o'clock noon on the 15th day of January, 1942.

TITLE AND OF SALE: Each tender must be accompanied by a marked cheque or cash for 10% of the amount of the tender, and the balance of the purchase price shall be paid into Court within 10 days after the acceptance of the tender, without interest, by the Purchaser to make his own arrangements for the money by way of loan thereof or otherwise.

The deposit of 10% shall be forfeited by the successful tenderer if he refuses to carry out the purchase after acceptance of his tender. Cheques of unsuccessful tenderers will be returned to them immediately after rejection. Unless the highest or any tender not necessarily accepted. In all other respects the terms and conditions of the sale will be the standing conditions of sale of the Supreme Court of Alberta as far as the same are applicable hereto.

DATED at the City of Edmonton in the Province of Alberta, this 2nd day of September, 1941.

BOWTELL BULLETIN

Christmas is over once again folks and we are standing on the threshhold of a new year. May God grant that 1942 sees the end of all conflict and strife the world over.

The concert on Tuesday evening, staged by the Bowtell children was very well presented, and must have represented a lot of work, energy and time by the teacher and pupils. Miss Karlok kindly played the piano during the intermissions for costume changing. We must say that our soldier boy, Sydney Risdale, made a fine Santa Claus, he was home on leave from the east.

After the presents had been distributed Mr. McClellan tendered a vote of thanks to the school teacher and this was emphasized by very hearty applause. The teacher, Miss Dorothy Taylor, also thanked all those who so kindly helped to decorate the tree etc., and for the loan of wonderful costumes from Hollywood.

Supper was served by the ladies of the district.

Mr. and Mr. McLaughlin of Calgary were Christmas visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gow. The boys are Mrs. Gow's nephews.

Everyone is pleased to have Mr. Garnier back in our midst.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sherwood and family went to town on Christmas Day where a family re-union was held at Mrs. Sherwood's sister's home, Mrs. Kent. Mr. Kling arrived on the Tuesday evening from his R.C.A.F. station and left on his return trip Sunday morning. Also at the Kent's Harland, their daughter and son-in-law from Edmonton, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Weldon, topped the day off by coming to for a visit during the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Dederly were dinner guests at the Perkins' home on Xmas Day.

Donald Harrison was reported on to be sick in bed over the holidays but is fully recovered by now.

Clifford Shepherd had the misfortune to burn one finger severely at his sawing recently.

Don't forget the dance in the school on Jan 9th.

Another can-not-be-forgotten date is January 8th when the Busy Bees hold their next meeting at the home of Mrs. Alex Morrison. Lunch will be served by Mr. Walker and Mrs. Debrd.

Frank Robinson has gone to Frog Lake to spend an indefinite time with his brother.

The card parties, it is understood, will be resumed after the dance next week.

The men folks are planning to flood a rink again at the school for the kiddies.

Kenny Risdale deserves thanks for shovelling a car track into the school yard.

Mr. Morrison certainly looks a lot better, and thank Uncle Hugh for the present, it was very much enjoyed.

MAIN STREET VERMILION

WILDMERE WINKS

Christmas has come and gone once more, and it found many people hurrying to different homes for dinner. The day was saddened though by the news from Hong Kong where many Canadian soldiers were fighting.

Xmas concerts and trees also passed but we must say a word about them. A nice crowd attended our concert where a good program was given by the few children. Even little Myrna Carlson turned out by singing "You are my Sunshine" a big song for a tiny little girl. Santa found a well laden tree and he was a very friendly old chap this year. Miss Sutherland deserves great credit for her hard work. Miss Sander of Tri-angle also had a nice program and a good crowd, Basswood and Optimist were at the Thorncliffe program where a packed house was reported. Miss Sutherland left Tuesday for her home near Calgary and Miss Sander for Iron Ancwed. Schools re-open on Jan. 5th, 1943.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson, Mrs. Hinke, Hattie and Kenneth and T.B. Wilson of Edmonton, all enjoyed a Xmas dinner at the Alex Morrison home in Burwell. Dorothy and Dud Hinke were at their grandparents Mr. and Mrs. John Isley's of Triangle; Mr. and Mrs. R. Gilbome and family, L. D. Graham and George Love at the Wallington home.

Norman Smith of the R.C.A.F., who has been stationed in the east, arrived home for a few days, on leave. He came Friday afternoon and will leave again this Monday night for Edmonton where he will be stationed for a while. Norman took a special course for a Drill Instructor and came out third in a class of eighty.

Miss Elsie Gilbome, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbome, Basswood, has enlisted in the army in the Ladies Corp at Calgary. Elsie has worked the past number of years at the Mental hospos in Ponoka and Claresholm. Mrs. Ella Pitterson visited for a few days with Mrs. Cairns during the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallington and L. Graham were treated to a turkey dinner at the Gilbome home on Sunday and a very pleasant evening was enjoyed.

Miss Beele Main spent a few days visiting at the Crutbers home last week. Mrs. Ben Bonk and baby with the Madill family spent Xmas day at the Gilbom home in Basswood. Mr. and Mrs. T. Gulfoyle and Wayne Pare were visitors at the same home for Christmas.

Funniest thing heard: One Scotch man receiving a Xmas card from another Scotchman minus a stamp — but oh, so full of good cheer.

Next time we write the Winks we will be starting on our eleventh year as correspondent — and how many times we hear, "Don't put it in the Winks".

CANADIAN NATIONAL SYSTEM FREIGHT TRAIN EFFICIENCY

TORONTO—Average loads carried by freight trains on the Canadian National Railways for the first ten months of 1941 amount to 735 tons, as compared against 696 tons carried under similar conditions during the comparable period of 1940, peak year in system traffic. During the same comparative periods the speed of the freight train has increased by three miles per hour while coal consumption for each 1,000 gross ton miles of freight has decreased by 16 pounds.

TO THOSE who through their patronage in 1941 made it possible for us to have a successful year, we extend our sincere thanks, and our wish .

Prayers for the victory of Allied Arms over the forces of evil, aggression and infamy, were offered in Vermilion on New Year's day, Thursday, in appealing special services the Vermilion churches acted in concert with the expressed wishes of the Dominion and United States governments, and of churches throughout the entire continent.

The services here were combined in St. Saviour's church, being conducted by the Ven. Archdeacon Leversedge and Rev. L.G. Sieber, at 11 o'clock in the morning. In spite of the short notice given there was a very satisfactory attendance. Also assisting in the service were Miss Grace Bury, organist, who suffered the loss of her brother in the last World War; Miss Joan Calvert, who has a brother overseas in the R.C.A.F., sang the Vesper hymn, and His Worship Mayor Morrison read the lesson.

REAL WINTER WEATHER EXPERIENCED

Some real winter weather has been experienced during the week now ended. The coldest day was Sunday when a low point of 38 below was marked up between midnight Saturday and daylight Sunday. This chilly start up during the day but a biting north-west wind defied facing for many stops at a time. 24 below was registered at 8.30 Monday a.m., 16 below Tuesday at that time, 6 below Wednesday, and this Thursday quite promises of a mild spell with the thermometer 8 above at 8.30—however a cold breeze straight from the north was holding sway.

STEAM HEAT RATES REVIEWED BY COUNCIL

Chas. W. Robinson Appointed To Sinking Fund Committee

The regular meeting of the town council was held on Jan. 6th with Mayor Morrison and Crs. Stewart, Bushell, Kaiser, McKay, Spencer present.

The minutes of the last regular and intervening meetings were read and on motion of Stewart, seconded by McKay, adopted as read.

Correspondence: Can. Bank of Commerce Edmonton, re Bennett agreement; The Vermilion Taxpayers' Association re Public Service Corp. taxes; Dr. Bradford re Mrs. Adamson, Dept. of Finance, Ottawa, re the gift of coupons; Jas. Adamson re relief; Old Age Pensions Dept.

No action was taken on the letter received from the Vermilion Taxpayers' Assoc.

The request of the Prance Public Service for rebate of taxes for part of 1941 due to gas not being turned on was refused.

Letter from Dept. of Finance thanking the council for the resolution passed to aid the war effort was ordered filed, as was also the letter of appreciation from Jas. Adamson.

The letter from the Old Age Pensions Dept. re W. H. White was considered, but it was decided that this party came from Ontario and was not a resident of Vermilion.

The monthly balance sheet was examined and signed by the Mayor and Sec.-Treas.

Rates re steam heat were discussed at length but no change in the prices made.

The following motions were passed: That the Bennett Agreement, agreement by W.R. Bennett and Co. to the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Edmonton, of all payments which may become payable by the town to the said firm under an agreement dated Nov. 10th, 1941 be accepted.

Bushell—Kaiser: That Mrs. Adamson be admitted to hospital for examination as per letter of Dr. Bradford dated Jan. 5, 1942, and that the full allowance be called to make it $16.

Kaiser—Bushell: Resolved that C. W. Robinson be appointed to the committee to be known as the Sinking Fund committee as provided under By-law No. 941.

Spencer—Bushell: Resolved that the shack recently moved on to lot 7 blk. 9 be immediately removed to the nuisance ground.

The secretary was instructed to advise the City of Edmonton that an appeal will be taken from the decision given by Magistrate J. D. Adam in connection with the Phillips case.

VERMILION TO HAVE SNAPPY JUVENILE HOCKEY TEAM

Will Wear High School Colors — Business Men Donate Sweaters

Just when Vermilion people thought that all hope of seeing any hockey in town this winter was in vain, along comes word that Hiram Easton has got together a snappy Juvenile aggregation of puck chasers and that Stan Waldenberger has agreed to coach the team. Stan isn't handling the rink this winter and naturally cannot be expected to spend as much time as he has done in the past three years in the interests of local hockey. He is anxious however to see this group of youngsters, who showed such promise last winter, and who Hiram Easton gathered together some four years ago on his outside C.N.R. rink, really develop into something. Consequently, practises will be held every Tuesday and Thursday night from 6.30 to 7.45 o'clock in the arena, and games will be played on Saturday evenings.

New sweaters have been ordered for the boys. The colors will be those favored by the high school of gold and black. The name Vermilion will appear across the front of the sweater with the name of the donor on the back. Mr. Easton started out to get those twelve sweaters donated and met with an overwhelming response. In fact he got such donor down to one sweater and one pair of sox, but still didn't have to see more than the first twelve business men he met.

Games are being arranged with Kitscoty, Lloydminster and Vermilion, while it is highly probable that other teams will be seen in action before the winter is very old. The boys are all under eighteen, big, fast and scrappy, so some exciting hockey is in prospect in the near future.

Weddings Are Feature Of The Christmas Season

NORTON—REID

At a quiet home ceremony on the afternoon of New Year's day, Joan Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Reid, became the bride of Pte. Mark Norton, R.C.A.S.C., only son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Norton. Dr. M. S. Kerr of Cold rose, a life-long friend of the bridal couple, performed the ceremony assisted by Rev. L. Sieber.

For her marriage the bride wore an attractive frock of powder blue crepe with navy accessories and a corsage of red roses and white heather to complete her ensemble. She was given in marriage by her father. Miss Frances Reid was her sister's bridesmaid, wearing a wine ensemble with corsage of pink carnations. Mr. J.F. Reid, the bride's brother, was best man and Mrs. L. Sieber played the Wedding March. After a family dinner the young couple left for a short stay in Edmonton, later going to Camrose where the bridegroom is at present stationed.

COOPER—DANBY

Marriage vows were spoken at a quiet but pretty wedding ceremony in All Saints' church, Edmonton, at 2.30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Jan. 3, when Irene Jeannie May Danby, the youngest daughter of Mrs. R. L. Danby of Edmonton and the late Mr. Danby, was united in marriage to Mr. Russell Jones Cooper of Vermilion, became the bride of AC Percy Ernest Cooper of Ottawa, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. S. Cooper of Vermilion. Rev. Canon A. M. Trendell officiated at the service.

Given in marriage by the bridegroom's uncle, Mr. P. F. Cooper, the bride looked pretty in an afternoon frock in dusky rose shade, with which she wore navy blue accessories and a corsage of pink carnations and yellow roses.

Miss Bride and groom were unattended.

Following the ceremony, an informal reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Cooper, for immediate friends and relatives. The bridegroom's mother presided over the tea urns. She was gowned in black with sequin accessories. Mrs. P. F. Cooper wore dark green frock trimmed with dainty lace. A toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. P. F. Cooper.

Later the couple left for Vermilion where they are now visiting for a few days before leaving for Ottawa to take up residence.

KEARNS—WIEBE

A quiet wedding of great interest in Vermilion was solemnized at the United church manse in Wetaskiwin on Saturday December 27th when Leone Rhoda Wiebe, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Wiebe, became the bride of Mr. Kenneth Allen Kearns, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. T.N. Kearns. The Rev. Dr. Conn officiated.

Following a short honeymoon trip to Calgary the happy young couple have taken up their residence at Olds, Alberta, where Mr. Kearns is the manager of Macleod's Ltd.

Activity in the Oil Field

The Western Drilling Co. loaded a tank car of crude oil this week.

The Star conditioning machine is at work on Hamers No. 1 at present. This well was drilled to the oil sands and never bought into production pending a market. The new lease for Hamers 1 since the unification of numerous companies in the oil field is Vermilion Consolidated No 6 well.

The Star conditioning machine is also scheduled here this week for the Vermilion Consolidated Oil Co. The shipment came all the way from Los Angeles and was valued at more than $9,000. A second and similar shipment is already on the way.

The Week in Legislative Circles . . . In Edmonton

EDMONTON.—Alberta farmers will do well to double their barley acreage in 1942. This is the advice of Hon. D. Bruce MacMillan, minister of agriculture. In a statement the minister said 3,000,000 acres of barley will be needed to feed a greater hog population and provide normal reserves. He pointed out that barley production was not keeping pace with hog production and that, since Alberta is in a premier position regarding the production of hogs for Britain, the barley situation was both a responsibility and a vital national interest.

NO NEW PROVINCIAL TAXES

Hon. Solon Low, provincial treasurer, said on the eve of 1942 that so far as was contemplated, no new taxes levies nor increases in present levies will be introduced in the coming year. Cabinet consideration of the budget was scheduled to get under way early in the new year.

OIL REFINERY NEARS COMPLETION

Buildings Erected — Machinery Installed

What is likely to prove the greatest and most beneficial development in the history of the Vermilion district is now nearing the operation stage. This is the oil refinery, owned by the Vermilion Consolidated Oils Limited, situated in the oil field just east of town.

A trip over the refinery site early this week revealed that startling progress has been made in the erection of this plant, in spite of heavy snow and cold. What was just a vacant quarter section of land a matter of a month or two ago is now replete with office buildings, storage pits, railway spur, pipelines, big brick power plant, ten towering steel tanks, cat walks, shingled roads and numerous other buildings housing pumping engines, sets of valves, and all things necessary to the operation or an oil conditioning plant.

Just inside the gate is the office building and sets of scales, upon the latter are weighed the oil loads as they are trucked from the various wells to the storage pit on the refinery site. Nearby is the brick power house housing two new 175 H.P. oil burning boilers, and electric light plant, for it is here the power required is generated for the various operations or the refinery, and current for electric lighting. Passing on further, a large covered pit has been built capable of storing thousands of barrels of crude oil. It is in here the crude is dumped as it is hauled from the wells. The pit is already half full of the "black gold" just waiting for the refining operations to begin. From the storage pit pipe lines leading to the conditioning towers. These are two systems of 5 steel towers each. From the towers is a big pipe line down to the Canadian National spur track where the tank cars are loaded with the oil conditioned for fuel purposes.

These are just a few of the more notable changes that have taken place east of town. A change that suddenly makes quite onward in the development of the Vermilion oil field.

A feature that is proving a big help, too, is the ease with which the heavy crude oil can be handled even in the coldest of weather. The oil is following a very cold week, oil was

FORMER VERMILION MAN DIES AT STREAMSTOWN

Joseph L. Harvie

The death occurred suddenly at Streamstown on Wednesday, December 17th, of Mr. Joseph Langman Harvie at the age of 57 years.

Born at Orillia, Ontario, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John C. Harvie, deceased came West in 1906 to settle in Vermilion, later moving to Vegreville, then to Kinsella, settling in Streamstown in 1935, having purchased the garage of Mr. W. J. Tweedie.

The funeral was held on December 22nd, the service being conducted in the Streamstown hall by Rev. C. S. Rethlie, assisted by Rev. Freeman. Interment was made in the Vermilion cemetery.

The late Mr. Harvie was married in 1917 to Miss Frances Cameron of Vermilion. Besides his widow, he leaves to mourn their loss two sons, Merle John of the R.C.A.F. at St. Thomas, and Donald Cameron at home. He is survived by three brothers, Charles and Alexander of Orillia, Ont. and John of Toronto.

Pallbearers were Messrs. Paul Zacharias, Otto Zacharias, John Curtis, of Streamstown; Archie Miller, of Clandonald; M. Hill of Vermilion, and J. M. Hudson of Calgary.

Messrs. funeral parlor had charge of arrangements.

The many floral tributes testified to the esteem in which the deceased was held, and were sent by the following:

Loving Wife and Sons; Brothers Charlie, Jack and Alec; Lois, Brothers and Sisters, Bridgwas and Cameron; Sisters Annie and Alma and Jean, John, Ray and Clarice, Sherley, Jeffry, Alan and Jennie, Frank and Beryl; Mr. and Mrs. W.Z. Wood and the boys; Mrs. Miller, Bud and Irma, Gust and Elva; Streamstown school pupils and teachers; Old Timers' Assoc. at Vermilion, Kinsella friends, Streamstown community friends.

—V—

Mrs. Harvie and sons wish to thank their many friends and neighbors for their beautiful floral tributes and generous help and sympathy in their time of bereavement.

JANUARY 10 DEADLINE FOR CAR LICENSE REFUNDS

January 10th is the deadline for obtaining refunds on car license plates. A refund of 20 per cent of the year's fee is allowed for plates turned back to the government by Jan. 10. The license year in Alberta begins April 1. This year it is possible that 1942 license may be obtainable on the first or March to coincide with gas rationing.

Mail being pushed on board cars the open pits at Battleview 2 into a big tank farm and was being unloaded into the covered storage pit at the refinery. The cold weather never fazed on the oil. It congealed somehy and easily and flowed out when the valve was opened just as freely as if it was a day in summer.

The boilers will be fired up this week end, and the refinery wheels will be put in operation before many days are past. The Canadian National Railway is waiting impatiently for millions of barrels of fuel oil—and an unlimited market has been provided for the product of the Vermilion oil field.

Self-Sufficient In Drugs

Australia Able To Produce Practically All They Would Require

Australian mineral experts believe that if overseas imports of drugs were cut off, Australia would be able to produce its own drugs from materials available in the country, Frederick Palmer, Canadian Trade Commissioner, reported.

Australia already has attempted to become self-sufficient in production of drugs and medicines by obtaining them from plants and trees by experimental cultivation of such plants, he said. The physiology department of Melbourne University has been working on manufacture of sedatives—the only other commodity needed to remove Australia's self-sufficiency in drugs.

Know Who To Ask

Officer Would Likely Have What This Soldier Wanted

When a train carrying troops to Eastern Canada stopped at Bassano, Alberta, for water, one of the lads leaped from a forward coach and ran back along the platform crying: "Is there an officer on board. I want an officer." A harassed Major raised a window and stuck out his head, hailing the soldier, who greeted him with: "Major, sir, have you got a corkscrew?"—Maclean's Magazine.

SO YOU'RE GOING TO DO A PLAY?

Letters from all over the west asking for a list of plays have poured in this week, so I think we should issue right here and give that list this week.

Non-Royalty One Act Plays Published By Edmonton

"Not Quite Such A Goose"—Comedy. Two men, three women. (30 minutes). Albert a regular fellow who doesn't like girls but changes a lot in a hurry when his sister brings along her girl friend.

"Through The Car To-night"—Comedy, three men, two women. (30 minutes). The usual family argument about who gets the car with Dad taking command of the situation, but a surprising ending. Marjot and Marjette"—One man, two women. Marjette sells her beautiful hair to buy a chain for Marjot's watch and Marjot sells his watch to buy combs for Marjette's hair.

Non-Royalty Plays Published By French

"The Romancers"—Comedy, four men, one woman. (1 act version). Two young people wish to marry but don't want their parents to know about it. -

"Teeth Of A Gift Horse"—Comedy, two men, four women. Vases given as a wedding present by an aunt have been sold at a rummage sale. The aunt comes for a visit and the vases must be found. They are—and everything turns out fine.

"Hannah Gives Notice"—Comedy, four women. An old servant gives notice with tragic results to the family. On her return she is welcomed with open arms and everything is happy again.

"The Grapes Hang High"—Comedy, four women. A good characterization here depicts four women at a convention.

"At The Movies"—Farce, two men, three women. A good take-off on the movies.

"Enter Dora—Exit Dad"—Comedy, four men, 1 woman.

"The Postscript"—Comedy, one man, two women.

"Rats"—Comedy, one man, one woman. A case of mistaken identities. Good fun.

"Marriage Proposal"—Comedy, two men, one woman. Young man calls to propose to the daughter, tells father, but he and daughter start to quarrel before he has a chance to tell her. Father tells her after suitor is gone, with amusing consequences.

Royalty Plays Published By French

"Mr. Encore will see you now!"

Production of Lee-Enfield rifles is being built up to a capacity in excess of 200,000 per year in a Canadian government-owned factory.

Five thousand four mills were built in Russia in 1940 and 26,000 old and abandoned ones were repaired and placed in operation.

Escape From Holland

Dutch Motor Boat Used By Eight Sailors To Reach England

"Orange," a very plain, ordinary motor boat, is now part of the Dutch navy. Its achievement is that it crossed the Channel carrying eight brave Dutchmen—Jan, Klaas, Piet, Simon, Albert, Cornelis, Henk and Dirk—to safety to England.

For months the friends, former officers in the Dutch forces demobilized by the Germans, planned escape from their occupied homeland. They secured the Orange, carried it cross country by night to a creek, painted it grey, like a German ship, camouflaged her with weeds. One night with 60 gallons of petrol, after several false starts they got away from shore, rowing. Suddenly a German patrol boat loomed and a voice demanded who they were. Klaas replied, "We are from the Dutch army, on special duty. Give the password." Just then Jan started the engine and the voyage changed to an England—and safety.

Destructive Weeds

The claim is made that, in the United States, the losses due to weeds are one and one-half times as great as those from animal diseases and insect pests combined. If approximately correct it is a strong argument for organized effort against weeds.

FLYING SCHOOL GRADUATES

Among the graduates who received their Pilot's Wings at No. 10 Service Flying Training School, Dauphin, Manitoba, on Friday, December 19, were the following sergeant of Manitoba and Alberta boys. SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JANUARY 11

THE INFANCY AND BOYHOOD OF JESUS

Golden text: Jesus advanced in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and men. Luke 2:52.

Lesson: Matthew 1, 2; Luke 1, 2.

Devotional reading: Psalm 139: 9-18.

Explanations and Comments

The Presentation in the Temple, Luke 2:21-24. When the Infant Jesus was forty days old, his parents brought him to Jerusalem to "present him to the Lord" in the temple as the first-born. See Exodus 22:29. The presentation to the priest, was an acknowledgment of God's claim, and by the payment of five shekels the Babe was redeemed and given back to his parents. On the same day the rite of ceremonial purification was fulfilled by Mary, in the Court of Women she presented to the priest her offering of a pair of turtle doves or of two pigeons. Had she not been poor she would have given a lamb for a burnt offering.

Simeon and the Infant Jesus, Luke 2:25-35. A righteous and devout (literally, God-fearing) man named Simeon was looking for the consolation of Israel—a phrase common among the rabbis for the Messianic Age. Simeon was looking for the Messiah who was to come after a period of great distress, and was therefore spoken of as the Consolation, the Comforter. To him it had been revealed by the Holy Spirit that he should not die before the Lord's Christ.

Simeon's Words to Mary, Luke 2: 33-35. Joseph, who filled the place of a father to Jesus, and Mary his mother marvelled at Simeon's words concerning Jesus, and Simeon blessed them. Then to Mary he said, "Behold, this Child is sent for the falling and the rising of many in Israel; and for a sign which is spoken against." Some will reject him and fall, but potentially, when others will accept him and rise" to a high spiritual life.

"Yea, and a sword shall pierce through thine own soul." This strong figure of speech can include all the sorrow that befall the Sorrowful Mother (Mater Dolorosa). It calls to mind Holman Hunt's picture, "Shadow of the Cross," where Mary has been looking into the coffer containing the Christ Child. She is bent double imprinted in the shadow on the wall her Son stretched out on a cross! "A sword shall pierce through thine own soul" is not too strong a figure for the experience awaiting her.

Lose Their Fear

Jan Ciechanowski (Polish Ambassador to the U.S., about air raids): "In a short time, people realize that they are as safe in their offices as they are anywhere else. If you are going to be killed by a bomb, worrying won't help. People realize this and lose their fear in a short time."

Some torpedos travel under water until the shadow of a passing ship covers them and then they explode.

"ALL THAT GLITTERS"

— By —

ANNE TEDLOCK BROOKS

What has gone before: Tamar refuses to get excited when Ranny rides up to her home one afternoon, wildly announcing that gold has been found on the plantation. Her family and natives always said the gold was there; Ranny rushes off to the office of Gordon Sheridan with a demand that Dick find a way to break the contract between Tamar's father and the Major. The young men disagree the situation and plan a party, but Ranny, to his dismay, learns that Dick is taking Tamar.

CHAPTER III.

Ransome stared gloomily out of the window of his room at Stafford, the Todds' estate.

He neither saw the proud peacock spread its multi-colored feathers and go strutting across the line of his vision nor would he have cared if he had.

Dick Sheridan had asked Tamar to go with him to their dinner party. Todd thought of Dick's good-natured round face, his soft brown eyes, and wondered what effect they might have upon Tamar.

He was to call for Dick and his sister, Betty, at Pinecrest in an hour, and then they would go by Shadwell for Tamar. Ransome had seen a vision of Tamar's face as she looked upon the driver of the car. What would she say? He decided to put it carefully, so that she would not know that it was he until she was ready to get into it with her escort.

Tamar, at Shadwell, hurried about with her dressing. She stopped once to go in and let her mother pull up the long zipper at the back of her white satin evening gown that increased her figure lovingly.

"I know you'll have a nice time with Richard. The Sheridans are such fine gentlemen."

Tamar was glad her mother could not see her wrinkle her nose. Dick was all right, she admitted. He had always been polite to her at Miss Betty's dancing class when they were small. But he had always been such a fat little boy!

"And you're going to have dinner and dance at the Roistan? That should be fun," her mother went on. "This is such a lovely dress, Tamar. No one would guess that it's not new."

Tamar leaned swiftly over the bed and kissed the nearest pale cheek. "You're a sweet to tell me, mother. I'm going mostly to hear all that Dick has to say about the Cricket Hill. Dad would never tell his woman folk just what happened."

The faded eyes on the pillow brightened. "Did he sound awfully excited, Tamar? I wonder why your father doesn't come in?"

"Oh, he probably is sitting down this moment at the inn eating with the Major. Don't wait to call them. I have Phoebe bring up your tray!"

"Yes, honey, if you will. I caught a whiff of baking ham a few minutes ago."

Tamar went on of the room to call to Phoebe. Her mother's throat caught, as she saw the slender figure bending over the old walnut banister. She was seeing Tamar in her first pink dress wriggling down to land in her father's arms, back years and years ago. That was when Uncle Randolph had just decided to mine the Cricket Hill.

She would always remember how her husband looked that day. He came in at noon, white and haggard. Phoebe had just called dinner. Dad had not eaten but insisted that she and Tamar go on into the cool dining room.

She had swallowed her food hastily and hurried up to their bedroom. He sat in the leather chair, staring out of the window.

"It's no use, Maria. The bank closed its doors to-day. Every cent I intended to put in that equipment is gone."

"But the Rayburns——" she gasped.

"They're taking it hard, too."

"Knox, this is terrible. Not just for us, but think of all the small depositors."

"The Todds will profit from this. Their bank will be the only one here now. Ransome Todd is a smart man."

The next few years had been difficult for the Randolphs. They had sold most of their horses, leaving the stables and the paddocks with an empty look. They had gradually dropped out of the wealthy leisure class with servants and hospitality, into a modest life. But they had seen that Tamar had her good times, and even managed to give her two years in the seminary where the Southern girls aspired to go.

Maria Randolph closed her eyes. She knew that her husband and daughter had not wanted her to know all about their finances the last year. But without their knowledge she had known. Even the white-starred face of Tahlahassie II. had disappeared from the meadow gate where he habitually stood for Tamar to bring his apple in the evenings. They did not mention their selling him, but she could not tell them she had missed him.

Knox had worn the same business suit for months, keeping as well groomed as possible, and other economies were too noticeable yet they did not discuss them.

The servants who remained were loyal. Phoebe and Aristotle and his puppy. The field hands were still living in the stone cabins, and at nights Maria could sometimes hear their songs from their little street on the bayou in the woods on the bank of the Cheatalee.

Phoebe's soft voice came from the hallway below, "Better le' me tote it, honey. You'll spills dat beautiful gown. Whe' Miss' Ranny co'in' you' night?"

"I'll take it, Phoebe. Mr. Todd is not taking me anywhere, now or any other time. I'm going to the Roistan with Dick."

Phoebe went toward the kitchen, grumbling and growling.

Tamar carried the tray carefully up the stairs. Her lips closed accordingly. Ransome Todd with his highhanded ways needn't think that he could call her father a fool and get by with it! She smiled grimly and wondered what he'd think when he found out that Dick Sheridan had helped them with his handling the contracts for Major Towne.

Even as she thought these things, back in her mind was the picture of a little boy in a white linen suit bowing before her, his blonde hair plastered back from his wide brow. "May I have the pleasure of this dance, Miss Randolph?" How they always giggled!

Tamar remembered, too, the shabbiness through the echoes of the Cheatalee, wading and catching crawdads, and watching out for water moccasins. How long these memories remained from her mind. The stillness that had engulfed her since Ransome Todd's proposal to her yesterday. Why need her heart beat so slowly every time she remembered his lips against hers? She saw again the imprint of her hand across his tanned cheek.

Tamar helped her mother with the tray and returned to her room to finish her toilet. She picked up the box that held the corsage that had come by special messenger out from town 30 minutes ago. Dick must have known that she'd wear white. She pinned the red roses carefully to her shoulder, stealing one out to tuck in her black curls behind her ear.

She heard a car on the other side of the house, dashed into her mother's room and pivoted about in the doorway.

"Oh, you look charming Tamar!" Maria's face was rapt in admiration.

"Have a lovely evening and give my regards to Richard."

Dick was waiting for her in the reception hall. His dark head bare, his brown eyes lit with his slow smile. His figure would, in a few years, be definitely thick.

"You're looking mighty pretty, Tam."

"Thank you, Dick. Ready?"

They were across the portico and going down the flagstone walk to the waiting car when Tam stopped suddenly.

"Ransome Todd! Is he going, too?"

"Yes Ran and Selby. I wanted to surprise you."

He said sharply: "Well, you did. Hello, Selby," she greeted the girl in the car seat.

Dick's eyes grew wide. She didn't speak to Ransome. He threw a questioning look at his rival, who was suddenly engrossed in deep conversation with Selby. Dick's eyebrows shot up in a sharp triangle. Ran was really responsible for the new contracts for the Cricket Hill, and here was the person who would probably profit the most from his foresightedness and she was not on speaking terms with him.

Tamar suddenly found the most interesting things to talk about, and she sat close to Dick on the way to the purpose new Roistan Inn out on the highway about 10 miles from Shadwell.

As they drew near, she could see the lighted, tavern sign and cars parked in blurred groups close to the native stone building. From its open windows soft music drifted through the venetian blinds.

Ransome made a economy out of the parking, and Selby said: "Don't you think this is too romantic for words, Tam? What's the big color function anyway? Brother said that this is a special occasion." Tamar leaned close to her, while they waited on the men. "Tamar, you wouldn't go and get yourself engaged—or" she whispered hopefully.

Tamar gasped. "I certainly would not!" she said emphatically "Where would I have found anyone to marry, suddenly out of the blue!"

Out of the blue. . . The only now man she had seen in months was Christopher Sande, the engineer at the Cricket Hill. A tingling sensation struck her. She remembered him again on the stairs at Shadwell. And saw him clearly now for the first time.

Make Bird Survey

Large Numbers Of Birds Spend Christmas In Canada

Annual surveys of bird life conducted by nature lovers during the Yuletide season reveal that large numbers of birds have found a good home to spend Christmas in Canada. These surveys also show interesting differences in the bird population in various regions and in successive years—differences that are due principally to changes in the supply of available food and to climatic conditions.

Some of the more familiar birds that spend Christmas in Canada are English sparrows, starlings, chickadees, woodpeckers, jays, and grouse. They do not, like woodchucks, black bears, and various other mammals, hibernate in a state of reduced animation, but are alert and active in spite of low temperatures, a restricted supply of food, and shortened daylight periods in which to feed. Even the tiny chickadee manages to keep from freezing during a 16-hour winter night in sub-zero weather in the north woods.

Last year experienced observers, working singly or in groups at various points from Nova Scotia to British Columbia, counted more than 86,000 birds of 123 different kinds. Similar surveys were made this Christmas, and will provide information useful to the Department of Mines and Resources and other agencies concerned with conservation of wild life.

Clemenceau Knew

Prophesied That Germany Would Again Make Trouble For World

"The Germans," said Clemenceau, "cannot be trusted. They are always the same, and always will be. They will always have someone at their head who will lead them astray, for they must be led. That is their nature. Ten years ago it was the Kaiser; ten years from now it will be somebody else. Health League presents Topics of Vital Interest

WIPING OUT DIPHTHERIA

In the nutrition field and in the campaign to abolish diphtheria, public health measures known in Canada are now being used for the improvement of public health in Great Britain, it was disclosed in a bulletin of the Health League of Canada.

Toronto's record in diphtheria control is now being spread throughout Great Britain by means of the press, radio, movies, billboards, and posters, according to a letter received by Toronto's medical officer of health, Dr. Gordon F. Jackson, from S. F. Wilkinson, director of public relations for the British Ministry of Health.

"How Toronto beat diphtheria" is the headings on large posters displayed prominently in hundreds of British towns and cities. The poster says: "We can do likewise. It's up to you." It goes on to show how in 1928 Toronto had 1,023 cases of diphtheria and 64 deaths, and how, after a campaign for immunization began, the cases dropped to 56 in 1933, with five deaths, and in 1940 there were no cases, and of course no deaths.

The British Ministry of Health has asked Dr. Jackson to send them full details of how Toronto co-operated with voluntary organizations such as the Health League of Canada, how clinics were set up, and how parents were persuaded that they should have their children protected against diphtheria.

Many other cities in Canada have had a "No diphtheria" record during the past year, Health League officials said. But in some centres of Canada the disease still takes its toll. Diphtheria could be completely wiped out of Canada, if proper health educational methods were adopted and parents had their children to submit.

OLD TIMERS TRIM YOUNGSTERS IN PRACTISE GAME

The Carlton hockey team featuring some erstwhile hockey stars, trimmed the high school juveniles 4-1 in a practice game on Saturday night last. Playing on the Carlton team were Manson and Clarence Barr and Bill Dwyer, with Henry Powell in goal, while Gilbert "Hose" Brimscombe lined up with the local youngsters. The high school team was shorthanded owing to Dunc and Kink Easton being down with the mumps. Stan Waldenberger refereed the game.

DISTRICT COURT

In District Court Chambers on Tuesday, the application for order for sale by the Massey Harris Co. vs. Einsenaur was adjourned until next fall, V. C. Milner, K.C., Lloydminster for applicants. Letters of Administration were granted J. McCorry, Kitscoty, in the Darnin, Carpenter and Christie estates and accounts were passed in the Jaynes estate. Letters of Administration were also issued to J.W.G. Morrison, K.C., in the estates of Victor Lindbloom, late of Jackson, Cal., and Mary Horbasenko, late of Slawa. Judge Dubuc presided.

BOWTELL BULLETIN

Due to the cold weather the skating rink wasn't fired up on the day which was planned. On sorting the boards it was found that some petty thief had taken five or them, so we understand that snow will have to be used in place of boards for this year.

Jim Repp has had the misfortune to lose his dog for the second time. If anyone in the district happens to see a black and white spaniel with brown markings on its head and legs, let Jim know as he would surely be very pleased to get track of the dog.

An advertisement in the Standard certainly gets results in a big way. Tom Sherwood advertised a hog for sale and got answers in a hurry, selling the animal to the Wilhelm Bros. of the Turkey Hill district. This isn't all the story though, after selling the said pig about 6 o'clock in the evening, these boys set out for home. Backing up to their pig abate they found the gate at the back of the truck had fallen out and Mr. Pig had vanished. Where to? They jumped back into the truck and headed back over the road. The end gate was found at the Clandonald corner but no sign of the pig. So they went all the way back to Sherwood's and still no pig. Tom returned with them and every house was called on along the roadside but to this date no pig has been found.

Edgar, William, Gwyneth Jenkins and Laura Jewitt paid the writer a visit this week. Edgar returned to his camp on Saturday.

It surely seems cold this week but George Farnaby attracted quite a large number of people to the Columbia last week end; and believe it or not, Mr. Morrison reports having a beating, needy.

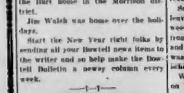
Start the New Year right folks by sending all your Bowtell news items to the writer and so help make the Bowtell Bulletin a newsy column every week.



Well, the Cigarette Fund that is heard from CJCA every weekday evening at 10:15 has been able to provide an exceptionally Merry Xmas and a Happy New Year for the boys from Northern Alberta who are on active service overseas. Christmas week the Fund went over the 2 million mark—and 2 million is a lot of cigarettes, especially when we know how the boys feel about the Canadian cigs—and through this column we wish to express our appreciation of the help that all of you throughout Northern Alberta have given to this Fund, making possible the shipments of cigarettes to the "boys". Incidentally, not one shipment has been lost!

APPRECIATE CO-OPERATION OF ALBERTA DEPT. OF PUBLIC WORKS —

Officials of the various oil companies operating in the Vermilion oil field are highly appreciative of the help received from the provincial department of public works this fall. This help has proved a great aid in carrying on activities in the field.

First, the new highway was built right through the heart of the field and within a half mile of the site of the refinery, thus bringing that area within five miles of Vermilion instead of 8½ miles of winter-road, now the government plow is keeping the new highway cleared. Last year it will be recalled, that operations in the field were hindered by the mile or two of side road leading from the No. 16 highway to the wells. The government by the way, also put in a standard grade from the new highway to the oil refinery. The wisdom of this is now being well proved by the heavy tanks engaged in hauling oil from the wells to the refinery. These acts of the Alberta public works department deserve great commendation state the oil officials, and are proving a big help towards carrying on development work the whole year through. They are especially timely due to installation of the refinery this winter.

News items of all kinds are always welcomed by the Standard.

PRELIMINARY ESTIMATE FIELD CROPS VALUE

A preliminary estimate of the gross value of the principal field crops produced in Canada places the amount at $619,868,000, a decline of $32,300,000 from the revised estimate of 1940. The 1941 estimate is subjected to revision and does not represent cash income received from the sales but is a gross value of farm production. Several of the crops, such as mixed grains, turnips and fodder corn, are almost wholly utilized on the farms on which they are grown.

A principal factor in the decline of the total value of all field crops was wheat. The sharp reduction in wheat production resulted in a lowering of the total value from $257,420,000 in 1940 to $140,952,000 in 1941. The 1941 values of all other crops except buckwheat, grain hay and sunny seeds were higher than the corresponding estimates for the 1940 crops. The higher values in 1941 were brought about largely by increases in prices but in some cases production was also increased. The gross value of the 1941 oat crop has been estimated at $126,282,000 as compared with $106,771,000 in 1940. The barley crop also increased in value from $32,350,000 in 1940 to $49,225,000 in 1941.

VANESTI NEWS

Christmas is over for another year but the entertainment and tree at the Vanesti school will be long remembered as it was one of the best ever seen here and great credit is due to the teacher for the work and time she must have expended on it. The children of course must come in for their share of praise as they certainly responded wonderfully to the teaching received.

Several soldier boys were home on leave over Christmas and New Year's and those included Deb Wilkinson from the far eastern part of Canada and Clarence McLean. A big party was given in their honor in the Plain school house.

When Set. Davidson arrived home on Xmas leave he received the sad news of his mother's death in the old country.

Mr and Mrs. Bill Hanson spent Xmas with the latter's mother Mrs. Davidson; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Isley were at Mrs. Isley's mother's, Mrs. Allison for New Year's day.

We hear of a number of more men joining the colors including Art Feist, Francis Walburg and Jim Beatty.

The writer and a number of others from Vermilion enjoyed a wonderful Christmas dinner in town as the guests of the Boston cafe. It would save the women lots of work and worry to pack up the family and hie away to the Boston for their Xmas or New Year's dinner.

A letter from Tom Davidson who is stationed in eastern Canada states that he planned on seeing the Toronto Maple Leafs play hockey during his Xmas leave.

I. O. D. E. PAY SPECIAL ATTENTION TO PURCHASE WAR SAVINGS CERTIFICATES

Of Interest to Women

Some 1500 women of Canada, members of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, have been asked to pay special attention to the regular purchase of War Savings Certificates and stamps. In soliciting the co-operation of all I.O.D.E. members, Mrs. W. B. Horkins, National President, said, "Money is needed badly, and needed at once, to purchase aircraft for defence. And to help achieve this the personal effort of every Canadian woman in budgeting for victory is earnestly required. Hence the Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire in co-operation with the National War Savings Committee, has undertaken to promote amongst its members, the sale of War Savings Certificates and stamps. The money so realized from every stamp bought goes directly to the Government for the purchase of aircraft for National defence. A supply of special I.O.D.E. War Savings Stamps folders has been provided for us by the Government and may be obtained from members of our organization. We beg you to invest the dollars that you don't need to spend, in these certificates. If you spend less now, you will have more to spend when victory is won"

Recalling the fact that Canadian women are responsible for about 75 per cent of the total buying in each out the country, Mrs. Horkins declared that on many occasions the decision to save rather than spend rested with the women.

Hope is held at Ottawa that through the co-operation of some 388 chapters of the I.O.D.E., members will purchase at least one hundred thousand dollars worth of War Savings Certificates each month.

OBITUARY

ALEC BOROWSKY

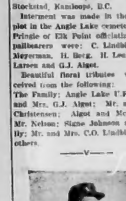
Alec Borowsky of Angle Lake, passed away in the Elk Point hospital on December 14th at the age of seventy years.

After moving to the United States at the age of two from the old country, he came to Canada in 1912 and settled in Edmonton, where he worked for two years, and then moved to the Derwent district where he took a homestead in 1914. He remained in the district until the time of his death. Mr. Borowsky was one of the old timers of the district, and had seen many changes take place in the community in which he spent the last twenty-seven years of his life.

Mr. Borowsky was always known as a good, hard-working man with a kind word for everyone he met. He was predeceased by his wife in 1936, and leaves to mourn his loss, three sons: Kenneth, in the U.S.A.; Harry, working at Entwistle, Alberta and Max at Derwent, and four daughters: Mrs. Wilmer, Derwent; Mrs. Gowman, Kamloops, B.C.; Mrs. Goldsmith, Clandonald, Alta., and Mrs. Stockstad, Kamloops, B.C.

Interment was made in the family plot in the Angle Lake cemetery, Rev. Pringle of Elk Point officiating. The pallbearers were: C. Lindbloom, H. Stepperman, H. Berg, H. Loef, C. V. Larsen and G. Alger.

Beautiful floral tributes were received from the following:
The Family: Angle Lake W.F.A.; Mr. and Mrs. G.J. Alger; Mr. and Mrs. Christensen; Alger and McConnell, Mr. Nelson; Signe Johnson and family; Mr. and Mrs. C.O. Lindbloom and others.



WOODVALE

Almost one week of the new year has gone at time of writing and with 1942 have arrived low temperatures. The holidays are over and school has started again. The children had a lovely Christmas party on Dec. 23rd, much enjoyed by everyone there. Their rhythmic band, a novelty in these parts was a distinct success. All the high school people from Vermilion and Kitscoty were home for the holidays, also Therese Goutley from Tegreville. Roads were still open around Xmas but Mr. Jensen says pretty well blocked since the new year. Hazel Rankin spent the Christmas holidays at home, while Emilie Young went to her parent's home in Hilda ville on the first till over the week end. Ed Cve and Henk Schaap were the soldiers on leave for New Year's. Ed is in the air force, while Henk is now a soldier in the Netherland regiments. He has been previously around here; it was not too much turkey either, as several people were sick before Xmas day.

The Red Cross Auxiliary held a very successful concert and dance at Watson school on the 29th. Not very many people of Woodvale went there that night and missed a real good program. There seems to be considerable talent in the Hindville district among the young folks.

A New Year's eve dance was held at Woodvale and Bob Wilson was the auctioneer, auctioning off with much skill about ten boxes or very dainty bunches.

Mrs. Procter returned home after a visit to her husband in Calgary. Ethel Procter also works near Calgary and Mrs. Procter enjoyed her stay there very much.

WASTAGE OF FOOD-STUFFS AT COUNTRY DANCES SHOULD CEASE

We have been asked several times by different people, including young and old alike, if we could not say something in this column about the terrible waste of sandwiches and cakes at the country dances in this vicinity. It seems as if there are always some irresponsible boys who simply have to grab some of every thing that is passed around. They then drop some on the floor or worse than that, start throwing it at each other. In these times when half the world is starving it seems an awful thing to do; most of the waste cake could be auctioned (and no doubt would be) and the proceeds used for charitable purposes. It is too bad that these youngsters do not realize how miserable their conduct is, how selfish and thoughtless they are, and that this waste and a lack of appreciation of the good things things we enjoy here, brings no much of the misery into the world for which in the end they probably will blame on others.

A remedy suggested is to pass the things less hurriedly and avoid the thing up at lunch. The nicest thing would be, if these young people would grow up and leave childhood far enough behind them to act as responsible grown ups should and not to indulge in childish tantrums of wanting everything and throwing it away afterwards. Well I suppose this writer will get in dutch for writing these few remarks, but after all they are only an expression of what is thought in this and neighboring communities.

TURKEY HILL TID-BITS

Christmas and New Year's have once more rolled past and we have settled down to the regular routine of every day work. Our wish to all is the best the world has and may 1942 see peace once more and the safe return of our boys in uniform.

The concert at Turkey Hill stacol was a great success and much enjoyed by all who saw it. Each pupil had his or her part learned perfectly and the actions they put into their plays was a pleasure to watch, bringing many laughs. It would be impossible to pick one play or recitation above another, or say one pupil superior to the others. Great credit is due Miss Mahaffey in the training she gave them. The concert was followed by a dance which was greatly enjoyed by the old, young and very young. The music was kindly donated by friends of the district. In the wee sma' hours Home Sweet Home was finally played amid shouts of "more, more" by the young and very young.

Alex Ross was home from his regiment for Xmas week. Ivy Hunsperger has been with Mrs. Ross since Alex has been away.

Max Powell is in the hospital at present suffering from a sore throat. We wish her a speedy recovery.

An Item in the Standard a few weeks ago in the thirty-two years ago column brought pleasant memories to mind. It was the item about the Stephens Bros. ordering a new car from Roy West. We don't remember the Stephens' car but most certainly remember Roy West's car. It was in fact the first motor car that we had ride in the early summer of 1916. The late Archie and Albert Kelley were down to Lac-a-ville which was in a building west door to that now occupied by Norman Greig. Roy asked us if we would like a run ride, and of course we said yes. His car was standing out in front in all its glory, high wheels, chain drive and all. We climbed aboard with varying degrees of ease, onto the wagon-box style seat, and drove proudly around the corner at the startling speed of perhaps eight miles an hour to Ben's warehouse in a red building on the spot now occupied by Bert Duncan's warehouse. When we stopped, Albert, being more sophisticated than I, leaped her feet and leaped on the seat, while I, being used only to horses, rose right up and barely missed skinning my nose on the fancy little dash board sticking up in front. We truly got a big thrill out of that ride, and something we will never forget.

Canadian Tanks From C.P.R. Shops

The craftsmen of the Canadian Pacific Railway Angus Shops at Montreal are proud of the 4 powerful tanks they are building for the Canadian, British and Allied Armies. These mighty weapons stream off the assembly lines as the day and night shifts labor to produce more and more of these "Victorious for Victory." The illustration shows a number of the tanks in mass formation just before they rolled aboard Canadian Pacific flat-cars for shipment to the fighting fronts.

A campaign has been started by Mrs. J. D. Henderson, Washington's grand old-woman, to lengthen women's shirts and to stop the modern flapper from smoking cigarettes.

Thirty-two Years Ago Today

The settlers north-east of Vermilion are hot after a branch railway which should be built, they claim, from a point at or near Lloydminster, running north-west through ranges 1, 2, 3 and 4 to township 53 etc.

Philip Slater, Bill Telford, Alf Jones and Ike Dimmell are representing Vermilion at the Vegreville bonspiel this week.

Mrs. Service of Manville left for Toronto to visit her old home. Mrs. Service is the mother of Robert Service, the famous Yukon poet whose work is now receiving such favorable comment by the leading newspapers and magazines of the day. It is not generally known that the family live at Manville.

The Women's Smartest Service

All this show of efficiency — and there, on the top of the stenographer's desk, a bottle of scarlet nail polish.

The reporter, who until then had been quite overwhelmed by the precision of the women soldier-secretaries she had seen in action at Mewata barracks, and at Currie, smiled indulgently at this little hangover from civilian life. This was familiar ground—this was a reminder that the women soldiers were still women first and soldiers second.

However the uniformed young lady sitting at the desk suddenly picked up the bottle of red fluid, and the reporter read, not "Purple Pirate", or "Rascal Red", or some other fantastic name, but — "Correcting Fluid". The typist was using it in her work of getting out daily routine orders.

Whatever the reporter thought about the girls, their "boss", Sergt. Major W. J. Bagnall, who is in charge of the Centre Orderly room at Currie barracks thinks "They're doing a wonderful job. They caught onto a new routine, a tough program, very quickly, and they're not afraid of hard work".

Some of them, he said, have even been working every night in their own time, to catch up "from reveille to reveille", as one girl put it smilingly.

Mr. Bagnall was also thrilled at the girls' advent into the administrative department at Currie. "There was such a shortage of stenographers, and this certainly helps to relieve the burden." Besides the six girls in the central orderly room there is one in the quartermaster stores, one in the men's canteen, and two in the pay office.

Others are taking the army service corps course in motor transport, and others complete the personnel of the hospital staff. There are 34 of them altogether, all busy, all earning not only their 90 cents a day but the respect of all the men who work beside them.

Col. E. R. Knight, V.D. the officer commanding the Canadian Infantry (Militia) Training Centre at Currie, is very pleased with them all. "They are really exceptionally good, you know, exceptionally good", he commented.

That might say of the women's army "Never have so many worked so hard for so little—and enjoyed it so much".

At least, just a recital of the day-by-day activities of the women soldiers is completely exhaustive.

Nicholas Alexander, the sergeant-major in charge of their training at Mewata, said the drill order about it was with a sort of grim satisfaction, she thought. For instance, the girls rise at 6 a.m., and have breakfast, after which they clean their huts—"thoroughly"; the sergeant-major says with daily restraint.

The first parade is at 8.30, and after that they go on a route march for three quarters of an hour. The reporter asked how far they would go in a route march, and received the reply, "Well they go 120 paces a minute, that is, 100 yards a minute, for 45 minutes, figure it out for yourself!"

Following the route march, the girls have three lectures of three quarters of an hour each, with 15 minute breaks in between. In these they learn about such things as discipline, and "interior economy", which isn't nearly as exciting as it sounds, meaning merely administration within the unit.

They have lunch at 12.30, and the parade falls in at the armories at 1.45.

The afternoon is spent in basic training, that is, elementary drill. They have "foot-and-arm-hour" periods of what the sergeant-major describes as real hard work, following which, (if they have the strength) they march back to the barracks.

From then until supper time at 5.30 they occupy the idle hours with kitchen fatigue, mounting fire picket, and so on. And then—from six o'clock until ten, their time is their own!

They have one late pass a week, which privileges them to stay out until two o'clock. Otherwise it's lights out at ten.

The girls are at first attached as recruits, and then, after a three month probationary period, are enrolled as volunteers. The green recruit learns very quickly, the sergeant-major says, as "it's amazing to see the change from the early duckling stage to the quite-other-case recruit of two weeks' standing."

In an office at Mewata barracks marked "Orderly Room", are a number of big brown envelopes, bearing the stamp "On His Majesty's Service." Each one represents a member of the women's army, for each one contains the entire life record of one recruit.

Here it is that the Canadian Women's Army Corps in Calgary is administered. Here Mrs. Ethel English, the officer commanding of "P" company, Mrs. Leona McIlvenna, and Miss Pearl Brant, together with a staff-sergeant, work from 8.30 until 5 o'clock every day. Here it is that the complaint is so often heard that "there are just not enough days in the week".

They are just as efficient, they dress as well, march probably a little better — in nearly all respects, a woman soldier exactly resembles her male counterpart.

But there's one exception — when a woman soldier salutes—she smiles. It's against the regulations, but women are so used to smiling a greeting, that they can't suddenly stop. As a consequence they salute smartly, in the most military fash'on—and then break into an R.S.V.P. grin.

It's a delightful habit, and one which might very well be generally adopted. Perhaps one day the company sergeant-major will be bellowing at his men, "Okay, Okay! But when you do that—Smile!"

ALBERTA ROUTE FOR ALASKA ROAD

EDMONTON—A new and forceful demand for the immediate construction of America's "Burma Road" — the highway to Alaska from Edmonton, has been made by William Albee, Alaskan and Yukon specialist, who has been working with a special commission appointed by the U.S. government to draft immediate plans for construction. Albee declares that the road must go through Edmonton and Pt. St. John, and that the other routes are nothing but "an insurrectional log-rolling junket". He also said that an integral part of the plan is to have a Russian-built road leading toward Japan. He estimated that with operations beginning in January military trucks can be rolling to the Behring Straits before next winter.

For a considerable time past the Government has been pressing for reconstruction of the Alberta Inland Route to Alaska as the most practical economical and easily built in the interest of American defense. The worth of this claim is now made clear by Mr. Albee, who actually authored the report of the Alaska highway commission. It was, however, more or a political than a practical project, since investigation was limited to purely coastal routes, said Albee.

Facing A Shortage

As the days of the world war lengthen it is becoming increasingly evident that the Democracies are facing a very serious shortage of many of the necessities of life. This can be accepted as the inevitable. In the early months of the war Britain was forced to adopt a system of rationing, mainly of foodstuffs. Since then, not only food, but almost every necessity of life, has had to be rationed. In Canada, we have been asked to reduce our consumption of certain commodities, but as yet the conditions did not seem to warrant the introduction of a system of rationing, except in a mild form, as in the case of gasoline and rubber. This is not to say that we shall always be able to purchase what we will. As the scarcity of various commodities continue, we may well expect more stringent regulations governing their purchase, to conform to the consumption of many articles that may now be freely purchased. It is not only in the matter of materials essential to the prosecution of the war, and that is all important, but shortages are bound to occur in many other lines before the war is over. Many will recall during the last war, how sugar and other commodities were difficult to obtain.

* * *

Is Rationing Coming?

It is common knowledge that the government will likely be faced with no other alternative but to apply a system of rationing of many articles in order to conserve the supply of certain materials essential to the prosecution of the war, as well as to reduce the consumption of other than war materials, so that a serious shortage may be averted. It is understood that plans are being considered at Ottawa with this end in view. It is generally conceded that rationing is the most sensible and equitable method for the control and distribution of a limited supply. Much as we may object to any interference in our rights in purchase what we may deem to be the legitimate necessities of life, we must accept whatever rulings that may be enforced for the common good.

* * *

Must Tighten Belts

When we consider the position of the people of the occupied countries of Europe in respect to food and clothing, it must give us good reason to remember that we have so far been lightly touched by the effects of war. As a matter of fact, many of us fail to really grasp the full import of the struggle in which we are engaged. True, the entry of Japan into the conflict has brought closer to this continent a fuller realization of war and what it means. It may also result in the cutting off for a time at least certain essential commodities that have been procured from the over war zone. While Canada, as we can keep the enemy from our shores, will not likely ever face a shortage of food, yet it is quite conceivable that there will be many items now available that may become difficult to obtain as the war continues to grow more intense. To guard against a serious shortage of certain commodities it will therefore be necessary for us, to restrict our purchases, either voluntarily or by government intervention and restrictions. As yet we have not been touched by the more severe restrictions. As yet we have not been touched by the more severe restrictions of war, and owing to our favorable location, perhaps less than any other part of the British Commonwealth of Nations. In the face of the grave situation that now confronts our Empire no sacrifice that we may be called upon to make, in the fight for freedom, should be considered too great. Let us all be prepared to willingly face the exigencies of the situation and do our part in the conservation of the vital necessities of war.

SLIPS IN YOUR MANNERS EMBARRASS YOUR DATES

She Hates To Be Seen With Him

Is a lovely girl ashamed to be seen with you—or are you the type girls loathe about dating?

Naturally, no girl is ashamed to be seen with a man who has manners. But when, in a drugstore booth, her date slips into the wall seat and then sits there with his hat on, you can't blame a girl for hoping friends won't see her.

A man who knows his way about tells the girl how the lunches and the tabs he has fat off sitting at any table. When the waitress comes over he lets her girl's order first before his own. Afterward he leaves a tip.

The girl, if she's popular, knows her P's and Q's, too! If her soldier date has a broke moment, she lends him the money privately, lets him pay the bills.

She's smooth in every way. When paid a compliment she doesn't trade with a cruder "Oh I like your dress too" but says what's always in good taste, a gracious "Thank you."

Good times and good manners go hand in hand! One Hollywood star gives rules of etiquette you can't learn easily, one on all dating problems—dances, parties, restaurants, theatres, games—and in the office, on the phone, when traveling.

Royal Bank Of Canada Figures At New Peak

Total Assets Reach Record Of $1,073,000,000, With Public Deposits Up $97,500,000

The Annual Balance Sheet and Profit and Loss Account of The Royal Bank of Canada for the year ending November 29, 1941, was issued to the shareholders and shows substantial gains under practically all important headings.

Assets increased almost $120,000,-000 and have reached the record total of $1,078,000,000. As usual the liquid position is strong, with quickly realizable assets totalling $640,411,-509. This represents 68.56% of the bank's liabilities to the public. Included in this total of Liquid Assets are notes of and deposits with the Bank of Canada of $68,542,227, Cash and Bank Balances of $101,383,-132 and Dominion and Provincial Securities valued at $371,251,906.

Total public deposits likewise reached a new high figure of $902,-000,000, an increase during the year of $97,546,121. In spite of a large volume of withdrawals for the purchase of Victory Bonds last summer, public savings in Canada, it is understood, have since not only regained their previous high point, but actually show an increase over the figure a year ago.

Commercial loans in Canada during the period under review totalled $421,782,846 as compared with $326,-451,217 shown in the previous year. Call loans are up $6,167,000. Foreign loans and loans to cities, towns and municipalities show slight contraction.

Profits were well-maintained notwithstanding increased operating costs due to larger staff, increased taxes, cost of living bonuses and other factors.

After providing for taxes and appropriations for bad and doubtful debts, profits totalled $3,580,000. Out of this amount the usual dividends of $1,400,000 were paid, $350,-000 is set aside for the Pension Fund and $400,000 for depreciation of Bank Premises. The balance of Profit and Loss carried forward amounted to $5,399,074, an increase of $10,298.

Ten Million Pounds

Raised By Edinburgh To Replace Prince of Wales And Repulse

Edinburgh was in the midst of a War Weapons Week, when the Prince of Wales and Repulse were sunk. In three days the city raised ten million pounds among a population of half a million. When the sinking of the two warships was announced, the Lord Provost of Edinburgh said: "All right, we have raised ten million pounds in half a week, which will replace the Prince of Wales, now let us replace the Repulse in the second half of the week. The Prince of Wales and the Repulse will fight again."

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

THOSE who have heard the great organ in the Mormon tabernacle realize the acoustical perfection of the building which was planned by Brigham Young long before the days of scientific wall insulation. The structure is 250 by 150 feet, and the great domed ceiling has no supports other than the outside walls.

The Individual Citizen's Army

A Weekly Column About This And That In The Canadian Army

By Alan Maurice Ively

There must be a good deal of truth in the saying "old soldiers never die." How come? Well, I'm jolting by the number who have come to the colors of my old battalion since last I was with it. Many nicknames since last week's few remarks on that subject. Not to use up too much space we'll quote two, "Daisy" Bell and "Grog" Anderson. If you know any more drop me a line.

Have you ever tried to visualize your Canadian Army? The best way to do it, of course, is to make a comparison in terms with which we are all familiar.

Take manpower, for example. The Army employs nearly eight times the entire staff of the Canadian Pacific Railway. The Army's requirements in gasoline-propelled vehicles, conveyed with the Dominion Bureau of Statistics' most recent report on civilian trucks owned in Canada, shows that as a fleet owner your Army not only out-ranks many times over, the biggest individual commercial fleet that operates, but the current figures for every eight commercial vehicles in Canada there is one for the Army.

It may seem unusual to use industrial figures. I nearly wrote statistics, but that word frightens me when I see it and I want you to get as far as the end of the column—to illustrate the size of an army. Perhaps it is unusual, but the analogy is a good one. Let's carry it further.

The individual Citizen's Army is a big business run in a business-like way. The set-up is that of a huge industrial empire with a chairman of the board and directors of a holding company which operated a group of affiliated companies, each with its president, vice-presidents in charge of various operations, general managers, branch managers and departmental managers, with organizations, junior executives, foreman and skilled tradesmen.

"Skilled Tradesmen." That has two meanings. Strictly applied in Army phraseology it refers to a long list of experts—either already trained in civil life or given an intensive training course in Army Trade Schools—but actually it applies to every soldier. The "P.B.I."—don't ask me to elaborate on the "B"—as the poor-devil-we say-"thinking"!—infantryman was called last time is no longer just a rifle-toter on whom you heap everything but the kitchen stove.

This time every one in the Army, from Lieut.-General A. G. L. McNaughton, down to the last-joined volunteer, is—or will be—a specialist.

By the time the new private soldier has completed his training he is far more than just a "foot-slogger." He is a trained soldier who has passed tests in First Aid, Rifle, Anti-Tank Rifle, Light Machine Gun, Pistol, Bayonet Fighting, Anti-Aircraft Defence, Field-Craft, Map Reading, Mortar, Hand, and Rifle-Grenade, "Tommy" gun and Field Engineering and he can march 20 miles a day.

Now that's a very brief description of the accomplishments at the disposal of an infantryman, not what the Canadian Army calls a "Specialist." The infantryman of 25 years ago would have felt like a full colonel with about half of that [illegible]—this one would, anyhow.

Just you wait and see. You have you any idea how much added leisure to-day's volunteer has compared with the soldier of any generation? Here are two reasons.

Before the days of "Battle-Romps" we can remember, if you remember, we had brass buttons, metal cap badges and shoulder badges, all of which had to be kept bright. In addition the web equipment had to be cleaned with a preparation named "Blanco" and the innumerable brass had to be polished. All of which took up a lot of leisure time. So the young volunteer can chuckle at the old soldier's lot—he has no brass on battle-dress!

As a matter of fact that chuckle is a little misplaced. There was a lot of toy in having well-polished buttons and you could do your unit proud by sporting a fine crop of ribbons at "spit and polish."

To-days' infantryman, not to mention other specialists, has plenty to study in his spare time so perhaps he doesn't regret the button-polishing days. One thing he may not? Every soldier to-day has a chance to gain his commission as an officer.

How does he do that? He does it the way Major-General G. R. Pearkes, V.C., D.S.O., M.C., and Bar, Lieut.-Col. C. B. Price, D.S.O., D.C.M., did in the Great War, 1914-1919, step by step—Private to Lance-Corporal, and on up.

By the way can any old soldier tell me why a Lance-Corporal is sometimes nick-named "Lance-Jack"?

Cartoons, News and other Shorts to Complete each Program

An obscure item in the London Times, sent to the Queen's Canadian Fund by its London representative, tells a big story. Here is the paragraph:

"Over 100 members of the railway staffs have been awarded the George Medal, British Empire Medal, or some other decoration, by the King. A number of these have been given for gallantry in rescuing passengers from trains which have been derailed by enemy action while carrying out their duties."

The Queen's Fund representative points out that this underlines the fact that hundreds of thousands of people in all walks of life must "carry on" like the railwaymen in spite of raids. They do not hesitate to do their work in danger; but when they are killed or injured the Lord Mayor's National Air Raid Distress Fund must step in to aid.

Boys Overseas Appreciate Parcels from Vermilion

The Canadian Legion Post 11, local branch of the Red Cross, Elks, I.O.D.E. and numerous other organizations of the town and a widespread district, combined last fall to send Christmas parcels to the boys from Vermilion and the surrounding country who are overseas with our fighting forces. As a result of these gifts, town secretary W.H. Graham has been receiving a regular avalanche of letters, telling him how much the contents of the parcels were enjoyed. As readers of the Standard will no doubt find them interesting, some of them are here with reproduced. All the letters are from overseas. The parcels were sent in plenty of time and the letters all carry post marks of the latter part of November or early in December.

Dear Sir:

I wish to thank you and the citizens of Vermilion for your swell parcel. I appreciated it very much.

Robt. O. Burns.

Mr. W. H. Graham,
Town Office.

Dear Sir:

I have just received the parcel you sent me, which had written on the wrapper "Greetings from the Citizens of the town of Vermilion".

May I express how delighted I was with the contents of the parcel, and how much it will be appreciated in the days to come, when my friends and myself sample the sandwich spread, the candy, the shortbread and rum tea with real sugar, and then try the fruit cake, finally finishing up by stuffing with the candies you packed in.

Of course I don't want to give the idea we are starving by any means, but as a matter of fact we are living very well, but—there are no frills, which would not be expected in this country in wartime, and that is the reason why we always welcome a parcel from "home", because there are always some of the things we like that are next to impossible to get over here—chicken or ham sandwich spread — candy of any kind—sugar—tea—fruit cakes—cookies—razor blades — and those are the very things that were packed in the parcel I received.

I can't prevail on your kindness to extend for me my very grateful appreciation to all the citizens of Vermilion and district for any favor they may have had in forwarding that parcel.

We are keeping quite well, a bit bored from waiting to get into action perhaps but ready for it anytime. I happen to be with a signals unit where the boys from all parts of Canada in it, but so far have not met any actually from Vermilion.

I would like to extend my greetings to all at home, to my friends at Vermilion and Islay and hope that I shall be back to see them all soon.

Yours very truly,
Sgt. A. C. Underdown.

Dear Citizens of Vermilion:

The Christmas box was received with appreciation.

Words can not tell what things like that and letters mean to the average Canadian Overseas. I would like to thank one and all for the gifts and feeling they have shown.

If there are any Red Cross workers in that community receiving them also for the wonderful things they have done for the Canadian soldiers.

I remain, yours sincerely,
G. A. Dickson.

Dear Sir:

I want to thank you and the Citizens of the town of Vermilion and district for the lovely Xmas parcel I just received.

We boys sure appreciate all the folks in Canada are doing, and we all in Britain are not enough letters.

Although I have not been in Vermilion for five or six years I am still interested in what is going on and expect to visit there when this mess over here is all cleaned up.

Thanking you once more and hope you have a merry Christmas and a happy New Year.

Sincerely yours,
E. A. Corby.

Dear Friends of Vermilion:

I thank you very much for your present, it was very nice. We are having a grand time over here but I wish I was back in Vermilion again. I have been seen a lot of places since I left there but Vermilion has them all beat. As yet there is no snow here but a lot of rain.

Will close, saying goodbye and thanks for everything. Hope to be seeing you all soon.

Johnnie McGregor.

Dear Editor Cooper:

I wish to take this opportunity of expressing my thanks to you, the people of Vermilion and surrounding district, for the parcel still parcel which I have just received.

It was greatly appreciated and I can assure you such a thoughtful gesture means a lot to us boys over here.

Thank you all again.

Yours sincerely,
Don Cooper.

Meeting Friday Night

The Vermilion Branch of the Legion has undertaken at the request of the Department of Militia and Defence, to sponsor an Air Cadet Flight; consequently a preliminary work has already been done in connection with the Flight and a meeting of all boys interested, together with their parents is to be held on Friday evening of this week, at the Memorial hall.

Boys of the ages 15, 16 and 17 are eligible to these members and the instruction provided is both interesting and informative.

The plan will be fully explained on Friday night and boys desiring to join the Flight are urged to be present at the meeting. Parents are required to give their consent to the enrolment of boys and should attend the meeting as well, as that they may be fully informed as to the proposal.

The Legion has started a fund to cover necessary outlay and has made the initial donation of $25; other local organizations will doubtless follow this lead when it is realized that the Cadet Flight is an important feature of the present life of the Dominion.

Boys who enroll will be expected to attend parades regularly and those failing to do so cannot be maintained on the strength of the unit. Remember the meeting Friday evening, Jan. 16th.

ELKS INSTALL OFFICERS TUESDAY EVENING

TEACHER ROBBED AT PELICAN LAKE SCHOOL

Left Bound in Teacherage All Night

Miss May Gilholme, teacher of the Pelican Lake rural school located 14 miles north of Vermilion, was bound and gagged about 9 o'clock Monday evening by an unidentified man, who then proceeded to ransack the teacherage and made off with $17. Miss Gilholme was left tied up and remained in that condition for 12 hours before being discovered by a neighbor on Tuesday morning.

Miss Gilholme had just commenced teaching the Pelican Lake school having been transferred there after Christmas vacation. On Monday she was returning from an afternoon of fun and school was not being held. Monday evening at a few minutes after 9 o'clock a knock came to the door. Miss Gilholme, on the assumption of a neighbor's family who lived some 50 or 60 rods away and who had called during the day to see how she was feeling, she opened the door and a big, unmasked man forced his way into the house. This individual then menaced her with a pocket knife, if said key to be quiet, and proceeded to bind and gag her. He then searched the house, robbery being his sole purpose, discovered $17 belonging to the teacher and made his getaway.

Miss Gilholme was left lying on the couch, bound securely, for 12 hours before being discovered by Mr. Jim Good, who had called to see how she was feeling. Help was secured, first aid rendered and the teacher brought into town. Later Tuesday afternoon she had apparently recovered from her nerve-wracking experience and went to her home south of Vermilion. R.C.M.P. were busy on the case as soon as notified Tuesday morning.

BUSINESS TAXES DUE BY FEBRUARY 15th

A special meeting of the town council was held on Monday evening with Mayor Morrison, Crs. Kaiser, Bushell, McKay, Spencer and Hill present.

Correspondence: Old Age Pensions Dept. re Wm. G. White; Vermilion Dist. of Trade re Airport; University hospital re John T. White.

It was decided to further investigate the residence qualifications of W. G. White, an applicant for the O.A. Pension.

The letter written by the Bd. of Trade re landing field for proposed new air route was approved of by the council and will be supported at a later date.

The Sec.-Treas. was instructed to write the University hospital re John T. White.

The business tax and taxes in general were discussed at some length.

The following motions were carried.
McKay—Spencer: That C.S. Walker be granted one approval to obtain a license to operate a second hand business in Vermilion.

Bushell—Kaiser: That the present zoning by-law be revised and committee appointed to do this; appointed by the Mayor—M. Hill, A. E. Kaiser, R.B. Spencer.

Bushell—McKay: That business tax of A.E. Kaiser having been wrongfully assessed due to error in measurements be now settled in line with proposed amended by-law of 1941.

Hill—Spencer: That proper notice be given to all business taxpayers providing for payment of business tax by Feb. 15th, 1942. Discount of 4% to be allowed on payments made by that date.

Meeting adjourned.

The program will include old time and modern dance music, hill selections, etc., and will be the occasion for the exchange of talks on greetings between the U.F.A. and various other farm organizations in Canada and the United States as well. The U.F.A. believes that this is one way of bringing into reality the wonderful ideal of President Roosevelt in the policy of the Good Neighbor.

Activity in the Oil Field

Trial runs of oil are now being put through the refinery and this plant will soon be in full operation, is the good news emanating from the field this week. It seems fitting too, that the first oil to be conditioned was from the old discovery well, Bellevue No. 2, which now has been re-named Vermilion Consolidated 1.

* * * *

O. Hollingsworth arrived in town this week and states that the General Drillers have the contract to put the Richardson well on immediate production. Work has already begun.

* * * *

The derrick for the Flubell No. 1 well on L.S.D. 12-29-50-5 has been completed by H. W. Scotchings.

* * * *

The group of five Hamers wells all of which are expected to be really big producers, are being put on production and will greatly increase the output of the field.

* * * *

Vermilion used 4,815,000 cubic feet of natural gas during November according to the Conservation board report.

* * * *

Six wells which were pumping during November in the Vermilion field produced 2985 barrels or oil. Several of these wells were pumping only part time only. By the end of January there will probably be 13 producing wells in the field as the present group will be augmented by five Hamers wells, the Princeville No. 2 and the Richardson well. There are also two completed wells several miles south but these will not be put on production until after the spring break up due to winter road conditions.

This opportunity is taken to thank the above auxiliaries, the Busy Bees, Thimble Housemakers and Claymore clubs as well as the many individuals who have helped and donated to this very worthy cause.

The Junior Red Cross reported that the members had knitted an air raid shelter shawl, sent scrap books to the crippled children's hospital, sold calendars to the amount of $2.50 for the above cause and raised $25.40 from a concert of which $20 was sent to the Jr. Red Cross hospital and $2 to the Queen's Air Raid fund. They had also sold 40 copies of the Maquies. Two new branches have recently been organized and membership in the public school is well over one hundred. The branch at the agricultural college now closed, furnished some fine sewing in children's clothing.

The aluminum scrap collecting campaign showed a gross of 499 pounds.

The amount of $50 was donated to warm the sugar for the jam which was sent from Vermilion.

All in all, the president, Ven. Archdeacon Leversedge, who is serving his second term, expressed the opinion that this branch had terminated a very successful year, with progress, constructive effort and fine harmony.

The ladies of the Red Cross baked 1200 cakes for the parcels to Islay which other local organizations contributed, and which were sent to the boys of the home district who are now serving overseas.

VERMILION BUILDING IN 1941 REACHES $51,000.00

Includes New Structures and Additions

The Vermilion building program reached the grand total of $51,720.00 during the year 1941. This is according to the building permits issued from the town office, and includes all new buildings and additions. Heading the list comes the new wing on the Municipal hospital, value $30,000; other large contracts were Vermilion hotel addition $5,000; New Alberta Western Lumber yards, $2,000; Mrs. J.W.G. Morrison, residence, $2,500; Jim Penrose and bowling alley, $2,000; four bungalows at $900; $1,400; $1,000. The remaining permits were taken out for additions such as the R.C. Heckbert office; new private garage etc.

This is not quite so high as in 1940 when the high school was rebuilt at a cost of $25,000; New Vermilion hotel; Vermilion Meat market, and 9 new bungalows were among the building projects.

FOUR RINKS OF VISITING CURLERS HERE SATURDAY EVENING

Edmonton Quartets Bite the Dust

Four rinks of visiting curlers played here on Saturday evening last, two of the quartet being from Edmonton, one from Kitscoty and one from Islay.

The ice was in the best of condition and some high class curling was enjoyed by a good-sized gallery.

The two Edmonton rinks got away to a good start, Vermilion Curlers having a good lead on Stewart with Old Ice holding a decided advantage over Spencer during the early stages of the games. However Stewart scored a 3 and 4 on the 10th and 11th to tie it up going home and then he held out and won the game with the last rock played by Skip Stewart, by a 12-11 count.

Spencer was trailing 8-2 at the end of the 6th end, but came back with a 5, 2, 1 to tie the game at the end of the 9th. Going home Reg pulled off two perfect shots and the locals were again winners by a 10-8 score.

Visiting and local curlers joined in a lunch at the Boston following the games.

CANADIAN LEGION POST 11 ELECTS OFFICERS FOR '42

The annual meeting of the Vermilion Branch of the Canadian Legion was held on Monday evening last. Thos. Watts reported on the forwarding of parcels to Vermilion district men serving overseas, stating that 68 parcels had been sent out at an approximate cost of $150 and that cigarettes had been sent later to each of the men.

The Legion gratefully acknowledges the co-operation of the local Elks Lodge, the Red Cross Society, Ladies Auxiliary and Mr. George Cadogan in assembling and forwarding of the parcels. A large number of letters of thanks have been received, indicating that British shipping are still delivering the goods.

The Air Cadet Flight was discussed at length and it is expected that, this project will receive the necessary financial impetus by means of the meeting of boys and their parents, details of which is given elsewhere in the Standard.

Officers elected for the coming year are as follows:

Hon. Pres.—J.W.G. Morrison, K.C.
President—Donald Taylor
First Vice Pres.—Thos. Watts
2nd Vice—Kenneth MacDonald
Chaplain—Ven. Archdeacon Leversedge
Executive—H. Scott, H.J. Reid, F. LaPeyre, E. Curley, K. E. Rowe, Thos. Cluck, W.R. Hammonds, R.H. Bell, P. M. Armishaw, H. Lutly, V. Christensen
Auditor—R. H. Barry.

The matter of naming a Secretary was left over for the present as the acting secretary, during the withdraw, this matter will be dealt with by the Executive.

President Taylor gave a resume of the work of the year pointing out various activities which have caught the attention of the Branch and look forward to increased activity for 1942.

A social hour was spent following the meeting, refreshments further served by the Entertainment committee.

WE FOUND OUT THAT ALL-BRAN IS REALLY THE "BETTER WAY"

Says Mr. A. H. Ward, Montreal, Quebec: "The use of harsh, irritating cathartics is a thing of the past in our house. When we found out about KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, several years ago, we knew that at last this was our way to be 'regular'. I've made it a habit to recommend ALL-BRAN to my friends."

Why don't you try ALL-BRAN'S "Better Way" to correct the cause of constipation due to lack of the right kind of "bulk" in your diet. But remember, ALL-BRAN doesn't work like cathartics. It acts differently. Get ALL-BRAN at your grocer's, in two convenient size packages, or ask for the individual serving package at restaurants. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

War In The Pacific

In a recent article, attention was drawn to the fact that the war in the Pacific would shut off, for a time at least, a part of the world from which we obtain a considerable quantity of much needed supplies. It is rather informative to learn that in a large area now involved in war with Japan is produced about ninety-one per cent. of the world's rubber. In British Malaya, where the Japs have been concentrating a considerable number of their fighting forces, there are large rubber plantations. Also in India, Burma and other British possessions. Some fifty-three per cent. of the world's supply comes from these countries. The Japs have also been paying considerable attention to the Netherlands East Indies as well as to Indo-China and Thailand. From the Netherlands East Indies comes thirty-nine per cent. of the rubber and from Indo-China and Thailand some seven per cent. In these same areas are also to be found rich oil fields. British and American capital has been heavily invested in the development of these rich oil resources, and Dutch interests have also been a large factor.

Important Supply Source

It may not be generally known that some seventy-five per cent. of the world's supply of tin is located in that section of southeastern Asia which the Japanese hordes have set out to dominate. Sugar is also produced in large quantities in Hawaii as well as in the Philippines. For the cordage requirements, an important source of supply of jute and hemp has been India. Japanese air and naval activity may be expected to interfere with deliveries from India of this important product as well as wool and many other imports from Australia. Shipments of tea from Asia over the Pacific route will be naturally interfered with

* * * *

World Look Elsewhere

The story of the establishment of rubber plantations in Sumatra, Java, Malaya and other surrounding districts is a very interesting one. A few decades ago the Amazon valley was the sole source of crude rubber, and it is estimated that there are many millions of wild rubber trees deep in the Brazilian jungles which could be utilized. The cultivation of rubber trees in British Malaya, effectively put an end to the tapping of wild rubber trees in Brazil, but as late as 1913 this country supplied 43,000 tons of crude rubber for the world's markets. As an emergency source it is believed that we could again look to Brazil for a portion of our requirements. All that is necessary is to provide a sufficient incentive to the natives to again penetrate the jungles and tap the wild rubber trees. Apparently the supply is unlimited, if it is found economically possible to overcome the difficulties in the way of procuring labor and transportation. It is estimated that a price of around 25 cents a pound would be sufficient to cover the cost. At the present time the price of crude rubber is somewhat less, but as present stocks diminish and the scarcity increases, the price factor will have to give way to dire necessity.

Foreign Substances in Wool

Sheep Owners Again Warned That Value Is Lowered

War on the Pacific and the clean-lines of Canadian wool are related subjects to-day.

In appealing to owners of sheep in the Dominion to be sure that their fleeces are kept free of foreign matter which lowers their value Agriculture Department officials said this is a spread of the war to the Pacific and consequent shipping difficulties might affect wool supplies normally obtained from the Antipodes.

Canadian wool production meets only a minor part of the Dominion's requirements, although 1941 output, estimated at 19,000,000 pounds, is about 500 000 pounds greater than in 1940.

"We have a graphic example of the necessity for care in obtaining clean fleeces," one official said. "An Ontario farmer showed his sheep in the shade of trees where the fenced were falling. The fact that some of these leaves mingled with the wool reduced his returns by $36."

SELECTED RECIPES

BAKED APPLES

6 Spy apples
½ cup finely chopped walnuts
1 cup white sugar
1 cup Crown Brand Corn Syrup
1 cup water
Temperature, 350 degrees F.
Time: About 30 minutes.

Method: Core the apples and put in individual baking dishes, or on 6 x 8" pan oiled with Mazola. Fill centres with chopped nuts. Make a syrup of sugar, Crown Brand corn syrup and water; boil gently for five minutes. Pour syrup in and around the apples. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) four times during baking, basting with the remaining syrup so that when apples are ready they will have a glazed finish. Serve with cream.

JOHNNY CAKE

1½ cup. all-purpose flour
1 cup yellow cornmeal
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 eggs, well beaten
½ cup milk
½ cup Crown Brand Corn Syrup
½ cup Mazola

Method: Sift dry ingredients. To well-beaten eggs add milk, corn syrup and mazola. Combine the two mixtures; beat till smooth. Pour into pan 9" oiled with mazola. Bake in hot oven. Serve with corn syrup. Yield: 12 servings.

Blood Donated By Canadians Helps Some Victims in Britain

More than 26,000 pints of blood was contributed by Canadians last year after the Red Cross established its blood-donoring service Feb. 15, 1940. The blood, processed into powder at the Connaught Laboratories in Toronto for transfusions to war victims, was received in 46 000 individual donations at 39 depots spread throughout Canada.

In its powder form, the blood keeps indefinitely. It is put up in airtight vacuum bottles and already it has been used in treatment of bomb victims in the British Isles.

An Old Folksong

Australia's Official Marching Song Is Popular With British Troops

Just as Ireland, in the last World War, provided the lassie of the most popular of the war songs of that period, "Tipperary," so Australia takes the turn in the present conflict and comes across with its oldest folksong, the chant of the Down Under bobs who served in the vast distances between stations—ranches to you—wholly on foot, toting Matilda.

Matilda, we had better explain before anybody gets false notions, is the Australian term for a blanket roll.

When an itinerant sheepherder, clipper or farm worker announces to his companions that he is about to "waltz Matilda" he means he is about to hit the road and so "Waltzing Matilda" is a happy chant of the Australian drovers. The bushdever, as he swings along, sings of the "jumbuck," which is a sheep; of "billy," which is a tin can for boiling tea.

"Waltz Matilda" has been the Anzac official marching song since the first landing in Egypt in February of 1940. Its emergence has brought it popularity with all the British marching regiments, where it has definitely displaced the song of the seven dwarfs in Walt Disney's animated picture of that name. —Chicago Sun.

SO YOU'RE GOING TO DO A PLAY?

The play is chosen and of course you've got to find a director with talent at hand to work with and the size of stage and amount of staging necessary must be considered. You must see that enough copies are on hand so that all may have one copy. "Oh, we have the book . . ." we just make our own copies of our parts and save money that way. We haven't very much you know, in these days." I know that the funds for the purchase of books is limited but copying parts or whole plays is an infringement of the copyright law and the penalty when caught, is quite severe.

Then you don't know whether it is a royalty play or not, if it has been recommended to you by some friend who has seen it presented in some other district, unless you look it up in the catalogue. All these details are extremely important if the author and the publisher is to get the same square deal that you would give to the man from whom you rent your hall or to whom you pay your light bill, or lumber bill for new scenery. The big difference is that the author and the publisher are not on the ground to watch you, they just trust to the sporting nature of all good Canadians to play the game.

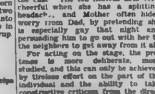
While you are waiting for the books to come from the publishers there are so many things for the director to do that he or she will be almost dizzy.

First check up and see how many rules of stage technique your potential cast knows. You will be surprised when you start using the technique chart to be given next week, that they have forgotten as much since the last time they put a play on." Of course this one must be better, because you are not checking all the details the way directors who earn their living at it do.

Acting Is A Part Of Normal Life

We are all actors, and we pride ourselves on the success with which our daily life is carried on. The doctor cheers his sick patient when he feels anything but cheerful about the condition. The storekeeper boosts about prosperity being just around the corner when he feels and looks far from prosperous. The lawyer encourages his client even when he feels they are going to lose the case. The lad hates acts very cheerful when she has a splitting headache, and Mother often hides worry from Dad, by pretending she is especially gay that night and persuading him to go out with her to the neighbors to get away from it all.

For acting on the stage, the process is more deliberate, more studied, and this can only be achieved by tireless effort on the part of the individual and the ability to take constructive criticism from the director and other members of the cast who may seem that it is not just right. We can't all be George Arliss or Bette Davis, but we all were born with a body, that can be taught to be supple, a voice that can be trained to produce pleasant and interesting sounds, and emotions that can be produced at a moment's notice like water from a tap. But it all takes time, and a great deal of personal effort. However, the reward is well worth the effort, especially in these days of taut nerves. The theatre is the best escape mechanism I know of. Nuf sed, until next week.—Mary Ellen Burgum, Box 326, Regina.



Coast Host To Children

British Organizations Have Many Applications For Children Evacuees

Organizations in England that cater to provide children for adoption are finding it harder than ever to make the supply meet the demand. In spite of increased taxation and other war-time difficulties, the number of women—especially middle-aged women—ready to offer homes to unwanted children seems to be increasing every day. Most of them want little girls, and like the gentlemen of the book title, they generally prefer blondes.

Now here's a real question about the individual citizen's army—"Why do we need to enlist re-inforcements when we haven't yet done any fighting?"

The reason, believe it or not, is traceable to our bad habit in civilian life of not calling in the doctor until most of the damage is done.

In civilian life if you have a stomach-ache you balance your discomfort against the $2.00 or $3.00 a physician's call could cost. If the ache disappears you forget about it—if it persists you call in the doctor much later than you should have.

But in the Army—that's different! Medical attention is free and when you "fall in on sick parade" you miss a drill or so. Small wonder, then, that Medical Officers have a chance to find our incipient troubles before they have a chance to develop into possible dangerous illnesses. Of course, there is another thing the M.O. finds out at this time—he finds out if you are "swinging the lead" in which event—this is from experience—he is not apt to get "2 No. 9 and full duty."

You may be inclined to question, as I did, the "stomach-aches." The answer to that question is that what seems like an ordinary stomach-ache may be an ulcer which caught early (much in civilian life is capable of control by special dietary arrangements such as for instance, a glass of milk and a biscuit between breakfast and lunch, and a cup of tea and some toast between lunch and dinner, or possibly the addition of a slight snack on the refrigerator before turning in.

In the army of this generation you can't arrange to call off an attack or the movement of big guns or the transfer of troops from one place to another while you have a glass of milk or a biscuit. Hence, therefore, men whose condition requires such treatment must be found jobs at the base or, if there is no room there, must return to civilian life where they will be perfectly capable of carrying on.

The stomach is only one phase—an important one if Napoleon's dictum that "an army marches on its stomach" was correct. But the Army, even though it is highly mechanized, none the less still marches on its feet. It marches with precision and this precision is not just to please a drill instructor. It is because you must have absolute control of a unit on the move.

You undoubtedly know of several cases where "flat feet" do not interfere in the slightest with the working activities of locomotive engineers, even postmen and men in a dozen other vocations. The reason is that within the limitations of their jobs they can choose their own time, go from here to there and largely control the length of time they can take to do it. Put one of those men in the Army where he must be prepared to move with his unit at a moment's notice, to stay with that unit come what may and the disability which was not a disability in civilian life pops some prettier problem for the Medical Officer.

Until I posted the Director-General of Medical Services for the answer to the question, "Why do you need re-inforcements where there is no fighting?" I was inclined to chuckle with glee at the patriotic volunteer who put one over the Medical Board and got into the Army despite a defect that he knew existed. I have changed my tune now that I look at it from the point of view of the taxpayer who pays that man his $1.20 a day. I have no doubt that nothing but patriotism underlies the desire to out-wit a Medical Board, but when finally the defect on antibody covered up becomes apparent the mistaken patriot has cost his fellow taxpayers hundreds of dollars in pay and is himself unable to fulfil the high duty of fighting for his country.

He is another of the reasons why the individual citizen's army needs re-inforcements while there is no fighting.

The plywood industry of Canada has undergone tremendous expansion to meet wartime needs, particularly for plywood needed in aircraft manufacture. 3446

BRITAIN PLANS FOR PROTECTION OF AIRDROMES

London. — Britain is creating a special defence corps for protection of her airdromes from "vertical development" by air-borne troops such as won Crete for Germany and the troops will be commanded by Major-Gen. Claude Liardet, Colonial Secretary Lord Moyne announced.

The corps will operate under the Royal Air Force. Gen. Liardet, 60, has been in command of London's territorials since 1938. He entered the artillery 43 years ago and in the first Great War earned the Distinguished Service Order and was five times cited in despatches.

An official spokesman said the corps will be under the control of the air council.

He said that while the army's responsibility for the ground defence as a whole would be maintained, the Royal Air Force "under military direction and for the protection of the army" would "undertake the entire local defence arrangements for airdromes."

A director-general of ground defences in the air ministry already has been appointed to co-ordinate the work of the various services. He is Air Vice-Marshal Sir Ivor Maxse, who has been given the title of commander, he said.

Loss of the airfield at Kastan, on the east coast of Malaya, touched off a flood of questions and Conservative, Liberal and Labor members served notice they wanted positive answers to questions in the next sessions of commons about measures to prevent the loss of Singapore.

A decision to create a force responsible for protection of landing fields was announced to have been reached at recent meetings of the war cabinet in response to growing alarm over repeated loss of air bases —in Norway, France, Greece, Crete and Malaya.

He said the new corps to defend R.A.F. naval and military air attack craft production airdromes would function only in the United Kingdom and would be called the "R.A.F. Regiment." He added it would be equipped with infantry arms, artillery and armored fighting vehicles.

Although the R.A.F. was responsible for maintenance, the defence corps would be under army direction, it was stated.

There was no hint of the size of the new airborne defence group. No hint was given as to plans to protect airdromes of such outposts as Malaya.

To Spend Billions

United States Budget Is The Largest In History

Washington—Here are listed in round figures the billions the United States proposes to spend during the fiscal year beginning next July—the biggest budget in the history of the world:

$50,000,000,000 for war.

$4,250,000,000 for normal government costs, relief, farm aid, etc.

$1,750,000,000 for interest on the public debt.

And here is the method of payment $16,000,000,000 in new taxes. $7,000 000,000 in new general taxes. $2 000 000,000 in new social security taxes and $7,000,000,000 from treasury borrowing, plus additional borrowing by government non-budgetary agencies.

Spending will jump from the present $2,000 000 000 to $5 000 000,000 a month.

The First Great War spending peak $18,500,000,000—will be passed this year and almost tripled during the next fiscal year.

The public debt, after borrowing will be $110,000 000,000.

Montreal.—George H. Stubbs, cutter of the Canadian mail and transport at Vimy Ridge, is safe and well, but a prisoner of war in a camp at St. Denis, France, according to a letter received here by George R. Lepton of the Canadian Legion war services.

He expressed appreciation for three Red Cross parcels he had received but said "we have had a rough time." Married, he lived in a house built by the Canadian government on the Vimy memorial.

"The memorial is still standing," Stubbs said in his letter, adding that the enemy has not been allowed into so I expect to have quite a lot to do after this war."

He said there are 100 Canadians in the camp where he is interned.

Recruited Earth Policy To Save Oil Wells From Falling To Enemy

Sydney.—H. J. Van Mook, lieutenant-governor of the Netherlands East Indies, disclosed that the colony for a year had been preparing a "scorched earth plan to prevent its oil fields and industries from falling into Japanese hands.

He said plants had been removed from threatened areas or preparations made to render useless those which could not be moved before they would be destroyed.

Oil wells would be set on fire, he said, but he acknowledged the Japanese probably could bring them into production again within six months.

REPORT A SPLIT IN THE NAZI PARTY OVER SOVIET WAR

New York.—A split between the Nazi party and a group of German generals and outbreaks of dissension, hunger and disease among the German troops on the Russian front were related by the New York Times in a despatch from Washington.

Agents inside Russia, Germany and France co-operated in gathering the information contained in the report, said the despatch. It listed 1,250,000 German soldiers and 25,000 officers as having been killed or missing in Russia up to Dec. 1. The report said these figures did not take into account the Germans who were wounded or taken prisoner.

"In addition to these losses in personnel, the report said that 12 German armored divisions were smashed out of the 21 armored divisions the Germans threw into the eastern campaign. The extent of these losses could be gauged, the report added, by recalling that the Germans completed the conquest of Poland with only nine armored divisions.

"These losses, plus the violent and relentless Russian attacks in sub-zero weather have been inflicted, the report commented, on an army that is fighting without shelter and often without adequate supplies of food. The German supply lines, which worked on well over vast distances in moderate weather, had often broken down during the cold retreat, resulting in hunger and disease.

"These factors, the report asserted, had led to a deep division between the leaders of the Nazi party and a group of German generals who are said to have insisted as early as Oct. 15 that the losses in the ranks on the eastern front were no heavy that major operations should be halted or postponed."

The despatch said the report declared that as early as October, there was evidence of an army plot to take over command of Germany after Russia's head of the German intelligence services, and General Manschner were said to be in charge of the purported army revolt. The group, according to the report, has its own broadcasting station which nightly criticizes the Nazis and Hitler's policies.

The report concluded, however, that Hitler continues to be popular at home and that the generals do not yet have the organization for a successful putsch.

PRODUCTION OF MUNITIONS MOUNT TO A HIGH PEAK

Ottawa. — Munitions produced in Canada are pounding the Axis powers on every battlefront and on every ocean and production is speeding up rapidly as at any time since the war started.

Munitions Minister Howe told a press conference.

Mr. Howe, who held conferences with Lord Beaverbrook, British supply minister, in Washington during the holiday season said the latter's mission to America had been' to "ask us to raise our sights on war production objects."

Canada could and would make a proportionate increase in production, the minister said, but it would not be so striking as that of the United States because Canada had already reached a higher peak proportionately than the American republic before the latter entered the war.

The minister would not release many figures for publication but said contracts and commitments for production for Canada and Great Britain have exceeded $3,000,000,000 since July, 1939, and would proceed at an increased tempo.

He said tank production would exceed 1,500 vehicles in 1942 and similar increases would pass the 2,000-mark. There would be sharp increases in aircraft and all other productions.

Under the new production agreement with the United States Canada was placed on a parity with the American army, navy and maritime commission in regard to steel priorities and labor shortages were badly hurdled in respect of imported materials going into Canadian manufacture of American orders.

IN SUPREME COMMAND

Appointed to command the U.S fleet, Admiral Ernest J. King will have supreme direction of the U.S forces in the Atlantic, Pacific and Aztic waters. Frank Knox, secretary of the navy, announced the appointment on Dec. 30. Admiral King was formerly in command of the U.S Atlantic fleet.

Under A Truce

Italian Medical Officer Conducts Wounded Britishers To Friends

Cairo. — Five wounded airmen, members of the crew of a British bomber which crashed within the defences at Halfaya, were brought last week under a white flag by an Italian medical officer to receive the attention from South Africans besieging their equipment and uniforms.

The officer, who was permitted to pass through the lines unmolested, said the Italians in Halfaya lack medical supplies and it was only humane to bring the airmen to their friends.

The South Africans sent the Italian back under safe conduct with a large supply of surgical dressings.

Convoy Defence Improved

More Enemy Submarines Are Being Destroyed In Atlantic

London.—The recent admiralty announcement of the sinking of three German submarines in the defence of an Atlantic convoy "points to the improved efficiency of our attack which puts an enemy submarine out of commission immediately and makes escape in a damaged condition impossible," a British authority said.

He warned against any assumption that capture of prisoners from U-boats was the result of deterioration of morale among the German crews.

A recent German announcement of the transfer of submarines from the Atlantic to the Mediterranean, he said, "might indicate that this move was due to more effective defence of Atlantic convoys and that German U-boats there were not pay dividends."

"One obvious reason" for the transfer, he said, was to increase operations against British naval units and convoys in the Mediterranean because of the effect these were having in the Battle of Libya.

"The German command also might be trying to draw off the Atlantic defence," he commented.

Must Turn In Uniforms

Japanese Banned From Canadian Officers' Training In B.C.

Vancouver. — Notices have been posted at the University of British Columbia asking Japanese students who were members of the Canadian officers' training corps to turn in their equipment and uniforms.

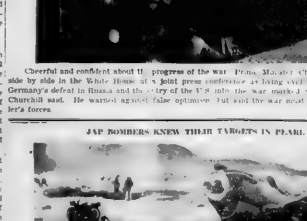
The officer, who was permitted to pass through the lines unmolested, said the Italians in Halfaya lack medical supplies and it was only humane to bring the airmen to their friends.

The South Africans sent the Italian back under safe conduct with a large supply of surgical dressings.

NO DOUBT OF THE OUTCOME IN THESE VICTORY SMILES

Cheerful and confident about the progress of the war Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt sat side by side in the White House at a joint press conference as long exhibits of U.S. British spoils of empire Germany's defeat in Russia and the victory of the U.S into the war made a turning point in the conflict, Churchill said. He warned against false optimism but said the war must end with the complete defeat of Hitler's forces.

JAP BOMBERS KNEW THEIR TARGETS IN PEARL HARBOR RAID



Directed by what Frank Knox, secretary of the navy, described as the most effective fifth column work yet seen, Japanese bombers picked their targets with deadly accuracy when they staged their devastating surprise attack on the island of Oahu. In the upper picture is a U.S pursuit plane smashed like many others before it could get off the ground to meet the attackers. Below is the fire station at Hickam Field showing fire trucks wrecked so they were useless for fighting the flames. Thus ranking U.S army and navy officials have been relieved of their Hawaiian commands until Washington learns why the island's defenders were unprepared for successful attack.

MORE RUSSIAN TROOPS MOVING UP TO THE FRONT

London.—The B.B.C. quoted message from Kuibyshev saying "Soviet troops are moving in an ever widening drive toward Sevastopol and have forced the Germans to lift the siege at that great naval base to meet threats from the east, west and north of the peninsula."

Vast columns of newly-trained troops from Russia's almost limitless reserves were reported moving up to the central front, where the Soviet offensive was rolling on toward a grand collision with German forces attempting to dig in on the Vyazma-Bryansk line 130 miles westward beyond Moscow and halfway back to Smolensk.

Information from reliable quarters here that the command of the Red army's centre had just begun to draw upon its manpower reserve, after more than a month of unending offensive action against the invader, was coupled with word that these fresh troops are to be more degree equipped with special Nazi arms.

"The Russians still have untouched reserves of manpower which they are keeping as far back as they can be armed," a reliable informant asserted. "The Red army now is on an offensive largely powered by troops trained in the six months since the war started—and this training is going on at a rate that more than makes up for battle losses."

Russian advances in frozen Kalinin and in the Crimea also were reported, along with the steady Moscow front push which recaptured Istrebitevsk, deep in the German centre.

Mesthchovsk lies 130 miles southeast of Moscow and 40 miles west of the Vyazma-Bryansk line on which the invaders were expected to attempt to dig in for the winter.

Representing a 60-mile advance from Kaluga it becomes the base of a Soviet spearhead at the southern edge of the Moscow region offensive area—anchored in the north at Staritsa on the upper Volga—which is menacing Mesthchovsk, German stronghold 87 miles west of the capital.

Jap Bombing

Ruthless Methods Used Against Defenceless Towns

Washington. The United States war department said that Gen. Douglas MacArthur had received reports of widespread damage to defenceless towns in Luzon by Japanese air raiders.

"Mercilessly bombed," the war department said were the Philippine towns of Baler, Santa Rosa Calamba, and Tarlac.

The three were all in northern Luzon were completely razed and many natives were said to have been killed.

In other town of Luzon Aparri, Camiling and San Fernando civilians were machine-gunned in the streets the department said in a communique. It added that Japanese apparently chose Sundays and religious holidays for their blasting with the knowledge that great numbers of people would be attending church or be on the streets.

"The first attack was made on Sunday Dec 7, and on each subsequent Sunday and on Christmas and New Year's day enemy air attacks have been particularly heavy," the communique said.

Agreements With Russia

Polish Prime Minister Says They Will Mean Action

Gen. Wladyslaw Sikorski, Polish prime minister and commander in chief returned from a visit to Russia and declared his agreements with Joseph Stalin proved we have come to definite conclusions which mean action.

He said Poland was entering a sphere of real politics where only facts count."

The agreements concluded with Russia are a beginning to that kind of real policy which I hope will have the best results for the whole world," Gen Sikorski said.

Among the agreements concluded in Russia was one governing the constitution of a Polish army on Russian soil.

DISTINGUISHED WAR VETERAN AT ISLAY JOINS UP AGAIN

Another of Islay's war veterans has passed the arms to do what he can to help with this war. He is Mr. George Cawthra from south of the village. He held a commission in the last world war and was also awarded the D.C.M. and M.M. He joined just before Christmas and is now stationed in Edmonton. One son, Jack Cawthra, applied to join the air force but was not accepted as he went east and is now helping to assemble Hawker Hurricanes. Mrs. Coulton who was a nurse in a London military hospital during the last war, is carrying on the farm with the help of Mr. George Brown. By the way, Mrs. Coulton recently donated 56 books to the post office collection for reading matter for the troops, and there are a good many others who have books in their homes which could be donated to this worthy cause.

ISLAY

BORN—At the Islay Municipal hospital to

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Golby, Islay, on Friday, Dec. 12, a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Cawthorpe, Vermilion on Saturday, Jan. 10, a daughter.

Charlie Robertson who was called to Vancouver owing to the serious illness of his mother there, has now returned. He reports his mother's condition as slightly improved. Charlie also visited Mr. and Mrs. Houston and family and says that they are all fine but have a yearning for the prairies.

Mrs. L. Bowser returned home on Tuesday after visiting Mrs. George Caparin in Vermilion for a few days.

Miss Grace Mersereau of the Kitscoty school staff, was the guest of Mrs. John Maitz last week end.

The first W.A. meeting of the year was held at the home of Mrs. Gallagher. Mrs. Bell is the president and Miss Muriel Stone the secretary.

Miss Christie Gillies, teacher of the Poplar Heights school is confined to her home suffering from scarlet fever. Jack Purdey, one of the pupils there, is home on furlough from the Martimes and is staying at the Stone home while he visits his father and brother here. He was a Vermilion visitor on Wednesday.

Miss Lairemore, teacher of the Deer Lake school, has been called to the Canadian Women's Army Corps. The school is closed at present.

The Islay curlers have at last got organized for the season and play has commenced with six rinks of male curlers and two of ladies.

There are too much work at home to stay long, but it was very much enjoyed.

L. Graham went up to wear the King's uniform on New Year's Eve and Ray Osterberg on the night following. Now we hear Albert Howard is going this next week. One by one the young men are answering the call to fight for freedom.

Evelyn Howard was home over the holidays and she had as her guest Miss Gladys Wilkinson of Edgerton for a few days. They, along with several other Wildmere-ites attended the Elks dance New Year's eve.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Schroeder, (nee Alice Gibson) left for Prince Rupert, B.C. on Friday morning Jan. 2 where they intend to reside in future.

Miss Beula Nash left on Saturday, Jan. 3 for Toronto where she will visit for a while.

In a recent letter to his home here Russell Trethewy of the R.C.A.F. who is stationed in the east, said he spent Xmas with relatives at Watford, not the writer's birthplace.

Mrs. H. Howard was a patient for a few days in a city hospital, getting special medical treatment. She returned home Friday last. Mrs. J. Bathe came home from the local hospital where she has been for sometime on Thursday.

Mrs. Thos. Cairns visited for a few days last week with Mrs. A. Hollis in

A good number turned out despite the cold to the B.W.S. club meeting on Wednesday last at the home of Mrs John Wiebe. Owing to the late time around Xmas not so much work was finished. A committee to see that sick folks around get reading matter etc., was formed, Mrs. Wallace, Mrs. Edson Smith and Mrs. W. Garnett were chosen for the work. The next meeting will be held at the same place so bring your needles and thimbles. Folks as Mrs. Wilson has donated a quilt top, and other material will be on hand to make a proper quilt. Time, afternoons Feb. 4, we'll now say three. We forgot to mention that Mrs. Wiebe served a very tasty lunch which was enjoyed by all, even the nop who were busy cutting while the ladies

MILD WEATHER

A chinook hit Saturday night subzero in week of spring like weather. Very little frost has been registered even at night. On Monday evening a heavy shower of rain fell for half an hour. The snow has been sinking rapidly. The lowest 8 a.m. temperature during the past week has been this Thursday morning when 20 above zero was registered. Roads are icy and treacherous.

LINE ELEVATORS URGE WHEAT PRICE CEILING OF $1.26

Equality with East Sought for Western Farmers

I nform wheat price ceiling for all Canada of $1.26 per bushel basis One Northern delivered Montreal is urged in a brief submitted to Ottawa today by The North-West Line Elevators Association. The Government recently set a price ceiling for Ontario wheat of $1.26 per bushel. The indicated ceiling for Western wheat is 82½c per bushel, unless action is taken by the Government to set a higher ceiling price.

In submission to the Chairman of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board the Line Elevators' Assoc. states:

"On November 19th we communicated with your Board regarding the ceiling price for wheat. At that time we urged that special consideration be given wheat in view of the fact that wheat was selling at depressed prices in the base period chosen by the Government for setting the ceiling price.

"Subsequently the Canadian Wheat Board, acting in administrator on behalf of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, issued an order defining the maximum price at which Ontario wheat might be sold in Eastern Canada as $1.26 per bushel, basis delivered at Montreal. This was the highest price at which wheat sold in the base period between Sept. 15th and Oct. 11th, 1941.

"In view of the action already taken by your Board in respect to Ontario wheat and having regard to the superior milling value of Western spring wheat we feel that the ceiling price of wheat for all Canada should be not less than the price of $1.26 per bushel basis One Northern delivered Montreal This would make the ceiling price at Fort William and Vancouver a minimum of approximately $1.18 per bushel.

Our Association again desires to state that it recognizes the absolute necessity of price controls which have been established. We desire to point out to draw to the attention of your Board the fact that wheat prices have again been subject to Government control for several years. The depressed prices prevailing at the time ceilings were established; the national importance of wheat in the domestic economy of the West; the fact that the export sale price is controlled by Government policy as expressed through the Canadian Wheat Board, all coupled with the fact that wheat cannot be grown profitably at prices which prevailed in Western Canada during the base period fully justifies equal consideration and treatment concerning the price ceiling on Wheat, even spring wheat.

"It would appear that price ceilings will be with us for some time to come and we think it important, the fact should be established that there should be no discrimination between the price at Western spring wheat and Ontario wheat. We urge your Board therefore, to issue an order defining the price ceiling for wheat for all Canada as $1.26 per bushel basis Montreal, subject to reconsideration being given annually in the light of crop production and costs

"The establishment and announcement of this ceiling would clarify the situation for wheat producers."

DEATH OF JOS. L. SHEPHERD

The Standard previously carried a notice of the death at Joseph L. Shepard, well known old timer of the Vermilion and Tolland districts, which occurred at Walkerville, Ont., a short time ago, owing to his numerous old friends residing here, the obituary from the Windsor Star will probably prove of interest.

"Ninety-four-year old Joseph Edwin Shepard died yesterday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. David A. Reid, of 17b Chilver road, after a lengthy illness.

Mr. Shepard was a member of the Sandlac Lodge No. 237, A.F. and A.M., of Port Sanilac, Michigan.

Born in Romdeau, Kent County, Mr. Shepard had lived in Vermilion, Alberta 21 years prior to coming to Windsor in 1926. He was a retired farmer.

Predeceased by his wife, Harriet, in 1936, Mr. Shepard is survived by one daughter, Mrs. D.A. Reid.

Funeral services will be held at the H. S. Anderson Funeral Home, 941 Ouellette avenue, conducted by Rev. C.F. Mcintosh, pastor of Chalmers United church. Burial, under the supervision of the Sanilac Lodge No. 237, will be in Dartaville, Cemetery, Croswell, Michigan. —Windsor Star.

CANTON-WATSON RED CROSS

A meeting of the Canton-Watson Red Cross auxiliary was held at the home of Mrs. Wilson Furd on Jan. 7, when there was a good attendance of members. All officers were re-elected for the coming year. Mrs. T. Preston as President; Mrs. R. P. Hind, Sec'y-Treasurer, and Mrs. F. Van Wagenen, Representative, with the addition of Mrs. M. Watson as Vice-President, and an entertainment committee consisting of Mrs. M. Harding, Mrs. H. Portsmith and Mrs. F. Van Wageningen.

The concert and dance which took place in the Watson school Dec. 29th was very enjoyable, and great credit is due to Mrs. Anderson and her pupils for the various dialogues and plays. The sensational news items which were read from the "Standard" during one of the dialogues must surely have caused quite an increase in the circulation. Thanks are due to all who helped with the entertainment or in any other way, including the girls from Rixtory high school, who gave some very good musical numbers. The school was nicely filled and a sum of twenty dollars was realized for the Red Cross. If it can be arranged, it is hoped to repeat the program in Glen ton school on Friday evening March 6th. The next meeting of the Auxiliary will be held at the home of Mrs. W. Procter, Hindville, Feb. 6th.

TOLLAND

Chris Hamilton is home on furlough from Manitoba visiting his family.

Wm. Hamilton from Vermilion spent Sunday visiting relatives in this district.

A farm forum meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Furd on Monday evening Jan. 5th. As it was a cold evening not many attended.

Herman Wolters, Arthur and Brooks Lyons left last Thursday for Moose Lake where they will spend the rest of the winter working in the bush. Eugene Lewis accompanied the party as far as Edmonton.

The Tolland U.F.A. held their annual meeting last Saturday when the following officers were elected; President—Gordon Trevithick; Vice-President—Otto Wolters; Sec'y—F.S. Slocum. G. H. Portsmith was elected as delegate to the U.F.A. convention being held in Edmonton next week.

Remember Mr. Cornick fleeting Entertainment this Friday, January 23. Two shows, at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. in the Columbia theatre. 38-9x

Over 50,000 pounds of rags, waste paper, aluminum and old iron has been collected by the Boy Scouts of Victoria, Que., it was reported at their annual meeting.

WEDDING BELLS

SOON—STERLE

The marriage of Miss Margaret Steele of Vermilion, and Mr. George M. Sous, also of Vermilion, took place at Knox Church manse, Lloydminster on Friday, January 2nd. Rev. Andrew Walker, minister of Knox church performed the ceremony. The bride was dressed in pink organdy and wore a wreath of orange blossoms and bridal veil. She carried a bouquet of roses. Miss M. Lerbekk was bridesmaid and her dress was of black crepe with white trimmings. The bride and groom will reside at Vermilion. —The Lloydminster Times.

NEW SCHOOL SYSTEM NOW COMPLETED

Completion of the Alberta program for the organization of 50 large-school divisions, embracing all the rural school districts of the province, was announced Friday by Dr. G. Fred McNally, deputy minister of education.

Formation of the Fairview school division, in the Peace River district, completed the program. Just prior to that the Strawberry division was formed, west of Leduc.

The Social Credit government pressed legislation calling for the organization of school boundaries under the large divisions at its first session in 1936. The first 11 units went into operation on Jan. 1, 1937.

The scheme of control brought about a centralization in administration which formerly was completely under the local trustee boards in some 4,000 school districts.

Dr. McNally stated that the large units have paid and given the children better service and that more satisfactory results with teacher administration had been obtained than under the former system.

BOWTELL BULLETIN

The annual meeting of the Lucy Bees was held at the home of Mrs. Morrison last week. It was moved by Mrs. Wash and seconded by Mrs. McClellan that the present officers retain their positions for another year, that motion carried so that the officers re-elected are Mrs. Dave Harrison, president, Mrs. Walker, treasurer; Mrs. T. Sherwood, secretary. One lady insisted that these were elected officers and very good ones. Nine members were present despite the blustery day. The next public meeting to be resumed at the school, the first being on Friday Jan. 16. It was decided to wait until the new Board changes before starting to make the quilts for new service. Wheat Price Ceiling of $1.26 Urged By Line Elevators

THE NORTH-WEST LINE ELEVATORS ASSOCIATION has submitted a further memorandum to Ottawa urging that special consideration be given the doubtful order which the wheat farmer is operating in any action taken by the Government in fixing a ceiling price for wheat

THE LINE ELEVATORS are urging the Government to set the ceiling price for Western wheat at not less than $1.26 per bushel basis One Northern delivered Montreal in conformity with the price ceiling set on Ontario wheat This would make the ceiling price at Fort William and Vancouver a minimum of approximately $1.18 per bushel

ANY farmer wishing to secure a copy of the submission of the Line Elevators Association on this subject may obtain one from any Line Elevator Agent.

NOTICE

Vermilion Municipal HOSPITAL RATES

Notice is hereby given that all non-ratepayers, whether resident in the above Hospital District or not, may become eligible for hospital privileges during 1942 at the rate of $1.00 per day, by payment of the sum of $6.00 to the Secretary-Treasurer on or before the 28th day of February, 1942.

Non-ratepayers who fail to pay this special fee of $6.00 before February 28, 1942, can only obtain hospitalization upon payment of the regular rate of $2.75 per day.

Pay this special fee now and save $1.75 per day on your hospital bills during 1942.

Non-ratepayers resident outside the Hospital District will please note they are now eligible for the special rate.

By Order HOSPITAL BOARD.

Ottawa — Honourable J. T. Thorson

Sixteen Years Ago To-day

Interesting Items Gleaned From the Files of the Vermilion Standard 16 YEARS AGO TODAY — 1926

Settlement will be commenced in the spring of 100 families north of Vermilion in what will be known as the Chamberlain colony.

The mercury read 42 above zero on Jan. 15 and there were local rain showers.

R. Metlee, J. A. Kirkpatrick, Jas. Hay and W. A. Pallow were elected to the board of managers of the United church at the annual meeting of that body.

Members of the vestry of the St. Saviour's Anglican church were Don Taylor, Leo Dunaway, P. Williamson, J. Waring, E. Ostler and Miss Percy Bury.

Total open receipts in 1925 were $22,221.41. Disbursements were $21,-929.26, leaving a balance of $295.05. $7141.14 of the receipts were from the sale of debentures.

A special meeting of the town council was held to hear a proposition by Mr. Wylde of Lamont, Sask. regarding the erection of a 125 barrel flour mill here.

Thirty-two Years Ago Today

Vermilion's "Big Four", skip Brick Slater, Ike Dimmell, Bill Telford and Al Jones made practically a clean sweep at the Vegreville bonspiel last week, winning 12 of 13 games played and bringing home first in the Challenge, first in the Merchants Cup, first in the Professional Shield and also the Grand Aggregate.

Norman Atkinson, C.N.R. conductor on the Humboldt-Kamsack line is home on a short visit.

Two young cow moose were brought down from Lesser Slave Lake to Edmonton and then shipped to Walkerton. They are destined to form the nucleus of what will one day be a great herd.

Total open receipts in 1909 were $27,284.61. Disbursements were $27,-929.26, leaving a balance of $295.05. $7141.14 of the receipts were from the sale of debentures.

A special meeting of the town council was held to hear a proposition by Mr. Wylde of Lamont, Sask. regarding the erection of a 125 barrel flour mill here.

HOW PRICE CONTROL WORKS

How price control works is shown by the voluntary agreement reached by manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers in the shoe trade.

Cost of shoes has risen 15 per cent, shoe prices in the base period between Sept. 15 and Oct. 11. How was it to be squeezed back? The wholesalers agreed to bear four per cent, the retailers another four per cent and the tanners and primary producers the remaining seven per cent.

Now if Billie Willie or Willie's father and mother, sisters and brothers, want new shoes, they can get them at the old prices in force between Sept. 15 and Oct. 11 last.

YES. It's true—Modern and Olde Tyme dancing to music by the New Rhythm orchestra, in the Elks hall on Friday night, Jan. 16th and every two weeks thereafter. Come along and bring your friends. 33tf

ISLAND HILL

Bobbie Butler, a youthful patriot writes in the Herald, the monthly school paper here:

"How we can help to win the war—There are a lot of ways in which we can help win the war; walk or ride a horse and save gas; we can buy War Savings stamps and stop buying candies and give our money to help build big guns. We can sell cattle and hogs to buy Victory Bonds. The young men should go to fight."

In our peregrinations through the different stores in town we took time out to notice how the several clerks reacted while making telphone calls —for example one wrote on a piece of paper the number he was telephoning and then decorated it with a number or ornaments; Another drew very precise geometric designs based mostly on triangles; A third made sketches of men's heads; A fourth made an endless series of lines and curves; A fifth made circles around his right ear with a pencil minus a point. Perhaps the conversations had no point either!

One man speaking of another said he should be an ideal husband—he does not drink, smoke, lie, nor not work. A compliment? We are not so sure.

Our youthful hockey team is training very hard. They have never been beaten yet. In fact they feel as proud as Joe Louis and Joe has a right to be proud of his record.

—V—

We've been spending a stolen half hour snuffing a bit of laughter cheered by reading through the cornfed mouthings of one Tobias T. Tolliver in his edition of the Carnival News—Tobias Hubsel weekly Nowand Then. If you subscribe to the News it pill serve you right When the smallmen Ed. is asked why an hourglass is small in the middle, he answers that it's the waste of time. Wel, maybe we did, but the pleasant thing about all this bit of wackiness is that by writing to the Robin Hood Flour Mills in Calgary you can have the Cornmeal News mailed to you, free of charge Listen to the adventures of Toby and Fuzz, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, at 11.45 a.m. over CJCA.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

All ranks of the Canadian Women's Army Corps are permitted to wear the "Canada" badge, it was announced in corps orders.

The provisional government of Czecho-Slovakia was added to the list of governments eligible for American land-lease aid.

A German storm troop leader was arrested while photographing a Stockholm naval establishment and will be tried for espionage.

Otis Skinner, 83, noted actor and father of the monologuist and actress, Cornelia Otis Skinner, died recently in New York.

Radio beams are in operation along the air route from Edmonton to Alaska, enabling commercial and military aircraft to fly over the route in all kinds of weather.

The United States army and navy announced they are ready to place orders aggregating more than $5,000,000,000 to help convert the motor car industry to armament production.

A German despatch from Copenhagen said that every Danish citizen will be required to give up 10 per cent. of his weekly butter ration so that supplies of Danish butter can be sent to Finland.

Austrian soldiers who joined the Prussian army only until after the "enemy aliens" when Britain went to war, are now British subjects transferring to other British units, some with the rank of officers.

Norwegians in the village where British commandos landed on Vaagso Island, off the coast of Nazi-held Norway, were fined 10,000 kroner—$2,000—because the German military cables were cut in 35 places.

No Longer True

Lt.-Col. George Soldan, Nazi military writer, will have the eastern German armies in agreement with him when he frankly admits that while the Russian soldier was "distinctly inferior" to the German soldier during the Great War, that is no longer true.

Make Barrage Balloons

British Women Work In Factory Where No Men Allowed

No men allowed in this war factory somewhere in Wales.

Only women and a few made-in-America sewing machines are employed. Their products are the huge barrage balloons guarding English cities and port towns, made with nimble, feminine hands.

A typical balloon is made of panels 440 meters wide, of aluminum coated cloth glued together at the edges, reinforced with stitching, then more glue and tape inside as well as out. Two miles of tape are used in just one balloon and there are over 500 small accessories that make up the fins, the rudder, the moorings and rigging.

The balloons over London look light and free, but I saw 12 people struggling to carry a 600-pound deflated bag.

A balloon contains an animal-like diaphragm. In the factory they call it a ballonet, but in all reality it is a diaphragm. The lighter-than-air gas goes into the upper compartment, and the air underneath. The diaphragm, like ours, moves up and down with the expansion and contraction of the gas inside.

Draftswomen mark out and cut the Government specifications for each "enemy aliens" when Britain went to war, are now British subjects transferring to other British units, some with the rank of officers.

Riding A Moose

Seasoned Algoma Guide Says It Is A Dangerous Practice

Ever ride a moose? Bareback on a bull moose, king of the forest?

Oscar Boyer of Pangis has and he says "it's courting suicide" to try it on dry land although it can be done with a degree of safety when the animal is in the water.

Oscar, who is one of the best known guides in Algoma and is skilled in forest lore, is usually regarded as the only man in Canada to have ventured on a moose's back.

I had an idea ever since I was 15 that if people could ride horses and other animals I could ride an Algoma moose. I tried it out some what later in life. There was a moose swimming. I got on its back alright. I soon learned to get into such a position that its hooves would not hit me as it swam but I made the mistake of hanging on once it hit the shore. A moose can go like the wind. I hung on for about 15 minutes when the brush and overhanging branches of trees through which the moose hurled itself swept me right off its back. Never hang on to a moose when it hits dry land. It's courting suicide."

Saved By His Hair

Wild Tribesmen Of Lamon Know Airman Was Not A Jap

One American pilot who baled out of his plane over the wild mountains of Central Lamon, inhabited by fierce Kalinga tribesmen, literally escaped death by a hair or rather a head of hair.

Floating to earth the pilot saw a whole village of Kalinga tribesmen, who seldom are able to distinguish among foreigners shouting and waving their sleeves and boles.

The pilot didn't speak the dialect. Evidently, he knew there wouldn't be much chance for conversation, since Japs can air bombs already had killed several Kalingas.

But as he set the ground the Kalingas lowered their spears. This intruder decidedly was not a Japanese . . . he had a shock of flaming red hair.

The Rebuke Unwelcome

Idea Backfired

He decided to ask his boss for a raise. "I'm in such a bad financial position," he said, "that I can't even buy a pair of shoes—not even a pair of socks!"

"Then you'll have to go," the boss told him. "I'm sorry, but here feet will not be tolerated in this office."

Just A Reminder

Husband: "What are you planning to do tonight?"

Wife: "Nothing special. I'll probably write a letter or two, read, listen to the radio, and so on and so forth, and then proceed to the so on, don't forget my shirt buttons."

JOHN THE BAPTIST AND JESUS

Golden text: Thou art my beloved Son; in thee I am well pleased. Luke 3:22.

Lesson: Matthew 3:1-17; Mark 1:1-11; Luke 3:1-22.

Devotional reading: Psalm 40:1-8.

Explanations and Comments

John's Testimony concerning Jesus, Luke 3:15-17. The coming of the Messiah was expected at this time, and the people began to wonder whether or not John might be he. But John told them that while he baptized them with water, there was One coming. One far mightier than he, the thong of whose shoe he himself was not worthy to unloose. John had spoken to the people about their sins in tones of regal authority, but as he compares himself with the coming One he speaks with the deepest humility. "He shall baptize you in the Holy Spirit and in fire" "John says in effect: I can bring you to repentance but no farther. My baptism gives no grace. His baptism will give you new spiritual life, forward sanctification, holy fervor and zeal in God's service" (Dummelow). "Take it from me, John has been converted into the Christian faith and you will find under the fan-shaped phrase by which he tries to give expression to his experience is this, 'I feel a burning within me.' What else he means is that John has got the sense of icy discipleship to the law has become changed into a consciousness of new life worked by God's Person. He was baptized with water, now he is baptized with fire" (J. R. Jowett).

John's Baptism of Jesus, Luke 3: 21, 22. Matthew and Mark (Mt. 3: 13; Mark 1:9) inform us that Jesus came from Nazareth of Galilee and was baptized by John in the Jordan, and Matthew reports the conversation between Jesus and John in which John humbly exclaimed, "I have need to be baptized of thee, and comest thou to me?" and Jesus answered, "Suffer it now: for thus it becometh us to fulfil all righteousness." All three Evangelists mention the rending of heaven, the descent of the Spirit as a dove, and the utterance of the words, "Thou art my beloved Son: in thee I am well pleased." Luke tells us that it was as Jesus was praying that these things happened". The symbolism of the descending dove and heavenly voice tells us that in some special way God's spirit rested upon Jesus and he became aware of a special anointing for his task. "After a long period of loyalty to unusual and monotonous toil, there came this outpouring of this Divine Spirit, this consecration to the task, this divine power which augmented his natural energies.

Astrologers See The Finish Of Hitler

BY TERI

Astrologers who cull the heavens for signs of the future are agreed that the moon, Jupiter, Venus, Neptune, Mars and the rest are going to put the boots on Hitler, Hirohito & Company in 1942.

Old Moore's Almanack, established 1697, reports for 1942:

"Clearly the outlook for Hitler is black."

"He has his progressed ascendant opposing Neptune and Saturn, and the Neptune transit near about this point in May, 1942. Further, there is the next conjunction of Saturn and Mars—in February, 1943—falls out of the ascendant of the foundation map of the Third Reich."

Old Moore's sums this up in plain language: "Somewhere between the earliest and latest of these dates Hitler will fall, and then Nazism, will crash."

The "culminating of Jupiter in Japan" during February will give Premier Hideki Tojo's boys trouble, and peace will come early in the summer, the almanack adds.

Health LEAGUES of CANADA + presents TOPICS of VITAL INTEREST

NATIONAL HEALTH EDUCATION

In an article in the United Church Observer, Dr. Gordon Bates, General Director of the Health League of Canada, has called upon the federal government to assume leadership in a national health education campaign, to call regular conferences with the provinces, and to plan carefully specific health programs on a national scale.

Dr. Bates, in his article, argues that neglect of the problem of national health costs the Dominion government nothing. He points out that costs of sickness are borne by the provinces, not by the Federal government. He states that Ottawa would be better to act if the provinces dumped the cost of sickness on to the federal government to pay. But provincial institutions, hospitals, sanitoria, etc., for the care of the sick are kept up by provincial governments.

"The present system under which we have nine different health plans, with little or no attempt to deal with any health program on a national scale, is far from satisfactory," he declares.

One province, for instance has achieved something remarkable in the way of health, but the whole province can't be baptized of five, and comest thou to me?" and Jesus answered, "Suffer it now: for thus it becometh us to fulfil all righteousness." All three Evangelists mention the rending of heaven, the descent of the Spirit as a dove, and the utterance of the words, "Thou art my beloved Son: in thee I am well pleased." Luke tells us that it was as Jesus was praying that these things happened". The symbolism of the descending dove and heavenly voice tells us that in some special way God's spirit rested upon Jesus and he became aware of a special anointing for his task. "ALL THAT GLITTERS"

ANNE TEDLOCK BROOKS

What has gone before: Now that gold has been discovered in paying quantities on Randolph plantation, Clan, Ranny and Dick are concerned because they fear Tamar and her father will not get their proper share under the law as contrived with Major Towne. They plan to have the case tried. Ranny and Dick both seem to be in love with Tamar and want to help her. Then Ranny's activity at the mines, and considering him in the light of a young boy gambler. On the eve of a night club, Tamar's mind suddenly reverts to Ranny, and she

CHAPTER IV.

Tamar knew that Ransome Todd was having a miserable evening. As it lengthened, she sparkled more. Dick Sheridan studied her curiously from the table.

Selby, his sister, seemed ill at ease, as though she knew that something was wrong, but could not diagnose it. Since it was her escort at whom most of Tamar's remarks seemed directed, she pondered that fact.

Tamar looked about the room, remembering that it had been only a year ago that she had entered with the summer having fun in just such a place as the Rosalan. The orchestra began playing "Only Forever" and Tamar suddenly felt like crying.

"I've always prided myself upon being a lady, she told herself severely, and I skipped Theresa's party this afternoon. He had it coming to him, an inner voice refuted. Didn't he kiss you? Why shouldn't Ransome Todd kiss you? I've known him for 20 years. And played together most of them. Yes, but he called me a fool! Are you certain that he wasn't right? She felt the battle going on within her. Was Ranny right? Weren't they a bit hasty in grabbing up the Major's offer to lease the Cricket Tin Mine?

"It would be lots of fun, wouldn't it, Tam?" Selby asked, touching her hand.

"Oh, yes, of course!" Tam agreed hastily.

"What time can you go?"

Tamar looked at them helplessly. "Let's arrange that later; how about this dance?" she asked.

She asked into his shoulder a moment later. "I hadn't heard a word. What does Selby have planned?"

Dick answered her quietly; "I knew that you were not listening. Selby asked the four of us to go to Churchill Downs next week. Want to go?"

"I'm not sure, Dick. Let's wait and see. The rest of you can go on, though."

Dick Sheridan was blessed with the qualifications of a diplomat, he did not press the matter. Let the girls decide what to do about the Derby. "Saving fun!"

"Oh, of course!" Tamar said emphatically. Too emphatically to escape Dick's notice. But punctuated her statement with a brilliant smile.

"Tamar, don't look at me like that." Dick whispered. He held her a trifle closer. "Wish I could dance you right out in that ribbon of moonlight down to the river bank."

Tamar caressed the smile that rose to her lips. It sounded silly, somehow for Richard Sheridan to talk sentimentally.

"You sounded so excited over the telephone this afternoon, Dick," she changed the subject. "Couldn't you know that it's about the contracts."

"I'll tell you later, Tamar. Don't let's talk of dancing and business are not good mixers"?

Across the corner of her eye she saw Ranny Randolph and Ransome Todd were dancing now, too. They were handsome together. It would have made a better contrast, though if they were not both so blonde. They looked more like brother and sister than Ransome and Selby.

The song ended, and Tamar placed her hand within Dick's arm. She guided him back to the table with-out his being aware of it.

"And now," she said smiling up into his eyes, "what is the informal that you promised to tell me? I'm dying of curiosity."

Dick Sheridan's brown eyes roved over the dancing ledge. His sister and Ransome Todd were at the farthest end of the floor dancing again.

He moved his goblet about on the snowy line of the table. "I really think it's Ran's place to tell you, Tamar. It's all of his doings."

Tamar's laugh sounded bitter. "I suppose that he would think it his place to tell me. He seems to want to run things at the Randolph estate."

All evening Ransome and Tamar had remained coolly aloof. Conversation at the dinner table had been difficult among the four of them. Dick was dismayed.

"I'll confess that I'm in the dark about you and Ran. Of course, I realize now that you're angry about something, and I'm sorry that we didn't talk it over in plain language." Dick looked sorry, too, Tamar was thinking.

"Let's forget about him and go on with your story," she suggested.

"I'll go ahead with the tale, but don't be surprised when I say that I'm directly responsible in having it turn out this way."

Tamar's cheeks flushed. "Of course, it's the contracts on the Cricket Hill Mine. I thought they were signed yesterday. Ran mentioned that he thought Dad should hold out for a percentage of the take.' We both lost our tempers."

Tamar looked into my office about 9 o'clock and we went into the matter. You see I only made out the contracts yesterday. The men were going to come in to sign them to-day."

Tamar leaned forward, her blue eyes shining suddenly. "I suppose Ran got you to make out new ones! Of course, he's doing it for our good."

Dick saw the smile hovering about her red lips. He went on: "Ran gave me the courage to try and see that your father got a just deal on the mine. Of course, we do need working up some of us. Ranny's a business man. Has a business head on those wide shoulders. He knows about gold in terms of dollars and cents, and he's responsible for getting me to rewrite the contracts. I simply talked to Major Towne and to your father."

"But, Dick, wasn't the Major done under? After all, Dad agreed to lease the mine for a certain amount. He couldn't go back on his word."

"That's all very true, Tamar. Ne Randolph would ever go back on his word, whether it was written or spoken. Your father wasn't at all in favor of the change either."

"And what about Major Towne?"

"They have gentlemen in the East, Tam. And the old Major is so delighted with his strike that he was in a very pleasant mood. The contracts have not been signed yet, but they should be tomorrow."

Just then Selby and Ransome returned to the table.

Ransome carefully seated Selby. He said something to her in a low tone, and Tamar avoided his eyes. How could she let him keep on thinking she was angry about this afternoon? She wanted to hear more from Dick but did not like to discuss it before these two.

Ransome did not take his seat. He came around behind his sister. "Dance with me, Miss Randolph?" he ask with his best dancing-school manners.

She rose slowly from her chair. Ran held out his arms, and they were gone from Dick's sight.

He held her carefully, stiffly, and they danced the length of the floor almost in silence. Then she shrugged herself deeper into his arms. She smiled up at him, dazzlingly. "You don't want me to brush, do you?"

He grinned boyishly, and pressed her closer. "Tam!" he whispered.

She wondered why Ran had not made this sudden change in her, and thought that Dick must have told her about the talk they had had before he said himself. And threw it away.

"Tam, I'm sorry about this afternoon." Tamar's soft voice was whispering as low that he had to bend his head to hear it.

"I'm sorry that I'm not very tactful, Tam." I'm not sorry I kissed you, though. I'm not sorry I kissed you. For if I'd not kissed you, I probably we can't know yet that I'm in love with you. And what it's been a miserable feeling so far, maybe it won't always be.

"Let's forget about this afternoon. Look at that moonlight, Tam." They were dancing straight toward the open door. "I hadn't been 10 minutes before that she squelched Dick.

"I'd like to dance you straight down that white path to the river."

Tam's laughter pealed out. Ransome scowled. "I could shake you for that, Tam."

"Oh, don't take it that way Ranny. These were silver dollars 50 cents to 65 cents per bushel Ranny's scowl deepened. He felt like groaning. He supposed that to Tam he seem a boy. Now that one of the richest men in the country. That's because they had played together so much. Would Tam never be able to forget their companionship basis" He didn't want to be a companion to her any more.

He danced her straight through the open door. On the verandah he released his arm and tucked her hand through it.

"You can see that, although Dick said I might tell you, some language-we're not really alike, Tamar."

"No," she said, "you're not really alike. She trembled and felt Ranny's arm slip about her shoulder

"I have something I want to ask you," he said in a determination pausing at the river's edge

His Favorite Hymn

Honors Memory Of Soldier At R.M.C. Hut In Scotland

A young British soldier among the many who met a hero's death on the beach of Dunkirk has his memory perpetuated in a R.M.C. hut in Scotland, in whose activities he participated enthusiastically while stationed nearby. All functions of that hut close with the singing of two verses of "Abide With Me," the cadet's favorite hymn.

The explanation of the custom goes back to a letter received by the superintendent of the hut from the soldier, in which he asked them at the hut, at a certain hour and day, to sing my old favorite 'Abide With Me'? I'll be thinking of you while you're doing it." The day and time he had specified came and the hymn was sung, and across the North Sea at that hour British troops were fighting and dying and winning immortal glory at Dunkirk. He was one of those who never left that beach.

Corn Driers In Manitoba

Now Growing Corn On Large Scale In Province

In 1926 it was estimated that Manitoba's production of shelled corn was 25 000 bushels. In 1940 it was 2½ million bushels. With this rapid increase in corn production, it became evident that there was a lack of proper equipment for handling it, particularly with respect to drying. Some of the corn was partially dried before shipping, but the bulk of it carried a high moisture content, and consequently required to be dried before being shipped, states W. J. Sleeth, Dominion Experimental Station, Morden, Man.

In 1937 the first large commercial seed corn drier was built south of Winkler, Manitoba. This was the largest and most up-to-date drier operating in Canada. It was such a success that for the two following years it was necessary to enlarge it in order to meet the growing needs of the seed corn business. Four smaller driers of similar type began to appear on farms throughout the area.

In 1940 the first large commercial drier was built by a line elevator company. The drier was remodelled and enlarged in 1941. During the summer of 1941 this same company built two more driers in two other towns, in order to meet the needs of the two districts. Another line elevator company also remodelled a large drier within the corn area.

The Dominion Experimental Station, Morden, Manitoba, has two small drying problems. built a small four-bin Wisconsin type of drier. The loading capacity of this drier is 500 bushels. It operated effectively in the fall of 1941 and definite projects for handling drying problems will be carried on in 1942.

At the present time there are fourteen elevators operating throughout the corn growing area in Manitoba. These include four large commercial driers, with a loading capacity of from 1,450 to 2,000 bushels each, three large driers for seed dryings and seven smaller types primarily designed for farmers' corn. The large driers, operating at full capacity of around 1,500 bushels, can raise the moisture content from 25 per cent. to 13%, per cent. in approximately 48 hours Each drier is capable of handling around 125,000 to 150,000 bushels of corn per season. The cost of the driers vary from $11,000 to $15,000 with additional cost to supply outside crib storage. Fuel is not a factor of much concern as it consists mostly of corn cobs. The driers operate 24 hours a day and require four to six men to do the necessary work.

shellers operating in these driers have a capacity of around 200 bushels per hour. Following a fall of 1941 for corn, which carried 30 per cent moisture was from 15 cents to 65 cents per bushel while the corn carrying only 20 per cent. moisture on the cob was from 45 cents to 65 cents per bushel

Throughout the corn growing area much of the wheat acreage is being given to corn. Now that elevator companies are building corn driers other essential corn machinery, such as corn pickers and corn cleaning plants, is being added to the corn grower's equipment

Expected To Be Issued With A Smart New Uniform

Some time in 1942 the Canadian army will blossom forth in a smart new uniform if plans now under consideration receive official approval of defence authorities.

The new outfit, it is understood, will not replace the battle dress which many have found somewhat drab and unattractive in appearance It will be a walking out or parade dress which will be issued to the troops in addition to the battle dress Sample suits of the new uniform have been made up and are said to be decidedly neat and smart in cut and general appearance.

The uniform is of khaki but of a somewhat lighter weave than the cloth used in t e battle dress and is cut on snug lines. very much on the style of the blue uniform worn by the Royal Air Force Canadian Air.

The snug-fitting tunic has a cloth belt like those worn by army officers in the old-style service dress tunics It has a turn down collar which displays a soft khaki shirt and khaki tie.

The khaki wedge cap will be worn with it and off duty soldiers may wear the colored overseas wedge caps authorized some time ago and which they may purchase at their own expense.

GOVERNMENT

While just government protects all in their religious rites, true religion affords government its surest support Washington.

The care of human life and happiness, and not their destruction, is the first and only legitimate object of good government Thomas Jefferson.

Human law is right only as it patterns the divine. Consolation and peace are based on the enlightened law of God's government —Mary Baker Eddy.

Bachelors Buy More Clothes

Are Heaviest Users Of Coupons Under British Rationing Scheme

Bachelors are the heaviest users of clothing coupons under the British rationing scheme, with unmarried women running them a close second. Figures returns issued by the Board of Trade for the first 10 weeks under the rationing plan it was found that the bachelors used 30 coupons and unmarried women 29

The survey shows that a majority of the people bought sensibly and the idea that women had borrowed coupons from men has been proved wrong as well as the idea that parents spent their coupons on their children

Eleven per cent of the men and six per cent. of the women mostly elderly spent no coupons

Men of 18 years and over spent 27 coupons and women of the same age 30

Boys and girls between 14 and 17 years spent 27 and 25, respectively married men and women 26 and 24, respectively

Vindictive And Spiteful

Nazis Ordered Statue To Memory Of Queen Now Destroyed

The vindictiveness of the Nazi mind has been laid bare many times since the second World War began. But it remained for the Germany military authorities at Paris to expose a spiteful childishness when they ordered the demolition of the statue to the memory of Nurse Edith Cavell, standing in the garden of the Rue Lafayette.

Though the Nazis can destroy the memorial of Miss Cavell as easily as their predecessors killed by the vandalism only gives a new glow to the memory of her devotion and heroism.—Detroit Free Press.

OLD-LOOKING CHAIR

Pinned And Cut Right On Chair

Yes, chairs get their faces lifted, too! The beauty treatment? A brand-new upholstery-style slip cover that makes yesterday's thing the fabric right to the chair art snipping of what you don't need.

A sturdy cotton twill, in an attractive provincial pattern as in our picture, gives a trim upholstery effect

To start, remove the chair cushions and pin fabric to top of chair. Smooth and pin it down inside back and seat, allowing four inches for tuck-in between, and trim around pins to 3½ inches for seams

Now cover the rest of the chair in just the same way—a section at a time—arms, front, sides, back and cushion.

The next step is to pin pieces together, take out pins that hold fabric to chair and remove the pinned-up cover to baste A "fitting"—and you have it off on the machine!

Our 32-page booklet describes in detail with diagrams, each step of making a slip cover the pin-on way for chair or sofa. Tells how to launder chintz, blankets and trims, how to fit auto seats, unusually shaped chairs. Suggests colors, fabric to harmonize with your room.

NEW ORCHESTRA TO PLAY AT SERIES OF DANCES

Old and Modern Music at Elks' Hall Every Two Weeks

A new orchestra will play at a series of modern and old time dances at the Elks hall. The dances will be held every two weeks, and are to please those who like something to interest both the lovers of modern hot, cha, jitter bug or swing music, as well as those who prefer the more stately old time minuette, chantisse — and there will be a good old time square dance and a quadrille to really get the party going.

The orchestra will be known as the "New Orchestra" with Vern Sparks at the piano, Ronnie Barwick who can play anything you put into his hands, and Elsie Kent who is a wonder on that saxophone.

It is hoped that these dances will be just like big parties and everyone be urged to come along and have a good time. Remember—it's this Friday night in the Elks hall.

AIR CADET FLIGHT FORMED IN VERMILION

Forty Recruits Signed Up

Parents and prospective air cadet recruits attended a meeting in the Legion hall on Friday evening for the purpose of forming an Air Cadet Flight. A general outline explaining in detail the aims and objectives of this new organization was given by Mr. Don Taylor and Mr. Tom Watts. A committee comprising Legion members, business men, and fathers to guide the finances and direction of this Cadet Flight was appointed. The aim of this committee is to obtain 100 per cent co-operation from the town and community and whole-hearted support is anticipated.

Already the Air Cadet Flight has received donations of $20 from each of the local branches of the Canadian Legion and the Elks, giving the Flight funds to get started with. Air Cadet Flights can only function by local support any further contributions will be greatly appreciated.

Forty boys have already joined the Cadet Flight.

Showers for Hockey Players

A shower bath has now been installed in the players' north dressing room at the arena for the free use of hockey players after practises and games. The shower was installed at a cost of $90 under the supervision of Reg. Spencer, convener of the rink committee.

BOARD OF TRADE ANNUAL MEETING JANUARY 29th

The annual meeting of the Vermilion Board of Trade will be held on Wednesday next, January 28th, commencing at 12.30 noon in the Elks hall. The meeting will be preceded by a luncheon. The business of the meeting will be the receiving of the financial statement and reports of various committees and the election of officers.

The Monday meeting has been cancelled and the annual meeting will be held Wednesday, Jan. 28 at 12:30.

All business men of the town should make it a point to be present, while a special invitation is extended to all country members.

MANY MATTERS HANDLED AT SPECIAL MEETING OF THE TOWN COUNCIL

A special meeting of the town council was held on Monday, Jan 19 with Mayor Morrison, Crs. Stewart, Kaiser, Bushell, McKay, Spencer and Hill present.

Correspondence read: from Life Assurance Co., per G. E. Maxwell; Old Age Pensions Dept., re W.G. White; University Hospital re White.

The letter from Sun Life in connection with the retirement for town employees was not considered at this meeting.

It was decided to advise the Old Age Pensions Dept, that W. G. White cannot be considered a resident of Vermilion.

Letter from the University hospital re John T. White was ordered filed.

A delegation consisting of Messrs. Fred Smith and F. J. Richardson attended the meeting in the interests of the Elks lodge and explained plans for the annual skating carnival.

Messrs. Allen also attended the meeting and explained progress made in getting the Ray Berner equipment for the Power plant.

The airport question was discussed at some length, and a letter submitted and approved to be sent to the Dept. of Transport, and others in connection with the desirability of making Vermilion a stopping point for planes which may operate on a service from North Battleford to Edmonton.

The auditor's financial statement was submitted and given careful perusal by the council.

Bushell—Kaiser. That proposal of W.R. Bennett and Co. in respect to the retention of $750 until cent-of-for Ray ties burners are available 1., accepted, same to be subject to the provisions of the agreement dated Nov. 10, 1941.

Kaiser McKay Resolved that M. Hill be appointed as Supt. of the Airport activities and R. Spencer assistant, subject to the confirmation of the council as to work to be done and moneys to be spent.

Spencer— McKay. That Jno. Welsh be granted one month's leave of absence without pay dating from Jan. 15th, 1942.

Stewart—Bushell That R. Sipes of Vegreville be taxed for 1941 in the amount of $35 under the Town Act as a transient trader, said tax to be payable within ten days.

Stewart—Bushell: That the sum of $267.44 be transferred from General account of the E.L. & P. Dept. to the Sinking Fund bank account.

Kaiser—Spencer: That the Elks lodge be given permission to use the arena rink free of charge for their annual carnival.

Meeting adjourned.

Subject to confirmation of council.

Fine mild weather he slots with very little frost being registered even at night. Curling and skating activities were suspended all last week but got under way again on Monday. Most roads are open but are decidedly slippery.

Blake Worsnop of the Canadian Bank of Commerce staff, Winnipeg, spent a few days in Vermilion visiting at the home of his cousin, Mrs. Jas. J. Parr.

Total strength of the Canadian Air Force, home and overseas, has passed the 100,000 mark. It is expected that present objective of 25 squadrons overseas will be realized before very long. In addition to 100,000 enlisted men, Air Force employs about 12,000 civilians.

FIRST OIL SHIPPED FROM VERMILION REFINERY

The first shipment of oil from the conditioning plant of the Vermilion Consolidated Oils Limited, was made last Wednesday afternoon. This shipment consisted of one tank car containing 750 barrels of oil, conditioned for fuel purposes which will be used in Canadian National locomotives. The oil is delivered at Jasper and stored in tanks there.

The building and assembling of the conditioning plant, located in the heart of the Vermilion oil field, was commenced late last fall and has been rushed to completion by the field manager of the company, Tom Hamilton. Difficulty of obtaining necessary materials, piping, machinery etc., due to world conditions, all had to be overcome and presented real problems—but the plant is now in operation and the loading of one tank car per day will gradually be stepped up until early in February it is expected that two cars or about 14,000 gallons of the valuable liquid, of which there is an acute shortage in Canada at the present time, will be loaded from the plant daily. The Canadian National Railways have contracted for large quantities of the conditioned oil.

The development in the Vermilion oil field has been rapid, as it was only in the spring of 1940 that J. L. "Whitey" Wilson, the pioneer driller of the field, searching for a supply of natural gas for the town ran into a flow of crude oil instead, in the old discovery well, Battleford No. 2. Since that momentous find 24 wells have been drilled in the vicinity and only one has been officially abandoned as having no prospects. Marketing of the crude oil from the wells has proved a problem and for a time the difficulty threatened to shut down activity in the field. This has been overcome in turn by Walter F. Thorn and his associates, to whom no problem seems too great to tackle, by the purchasing and dismantling of an oil refinery installed but never used at Kindersley in southern Saskatchewan. This was moved to Vermilion and reassembled here. Now the railways in Canada have arrived in take very large amounts of the conditioned oil and thus a market has been provided for the product of the oil wells.

Tom Hamilton hails from the thin house oil fields and is field manager for the Vermilion Consolidated Oils Ltd.; Robert Main has been brought from Wyoming and is the refinery manager, while Foster Stone of Saskatoon is the refinery sub-mgr.

NEW COMPANY TO OPERATE IN VERMILION OIL FIELD

Joint Canadian and United States Interests

Wm. G. de Koch of Los Angeles and George A. Richardson of Vancouver, representing large United States and Canadian interests, arrived in town this week and are now preparing for one of the most extensive drilling programs yet undertaken in the Vermilion oil field. Considerable drilling at once has already been obtained while negotiations are being carried on for additional leases.

A drilling rig of the latest type is now being unloaded at the Borradaile siding, having been shipped in at cost allowable rate from Long Beach, California, and other outfit is in transit while it is possible that the drilling company will even have a third rig early in the spring.

Investors in these interests to enter the field were most anxious to find other locations than in the Vermilion field and thus chose it for their investment and development projects.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS LOOM

Annual Meeting of Ratepayers on Friday, January 30th

Terms of two councillors, Melvin Hill and Neil McKay, and of school trustees Dr. Knoll, D. A. Andrew and Bill Barr expire within the next two weeks. Just whether any or all of the retiring officials will stand for re-election is not known at present. The two-year term of H. R. Parker, Vermilion representative of the Municipal hospital board is also completed.

The annual meeting of ratepayers of the town and school district will be held on Friday Jan 30th notice of same being given officially elsewhere in this issue. The place is the Municipal hall and the meeting commences at 8 o'clock. This is always an interesting session and every ratepayer of the town will find it well worth his while to attend Nomination Day is on Monday, Feb 2 from the hour of 11 a.m. to 12 noon at the town hall. Election day is one week later Monday, Feb 9th.

REGULAR WEEKLY MEETING BOARD OF TRADE MONDAY

There were 16 members present at the board of trade luncheon meeting on Monday, Jan. D. Adam was in the chair.

Considerable correspondence was read, as the secretary also read a letter of sporting the claim of Vermilion as a logical stopping place on the proposed air line from North Battleford to Edmonton. President Sid Stephens congratulated the secretary on his able presentation of the claim.

A resolution was passed asking that the council further improve the land on the block by the placing of marker.

Among the communications received was one from the secretary of the Red Cross, Vermilion Branch, thanking the Board of Trade for help in the Aluminum drive. A considerable quantity of the stores achieved in this undertaking must be credited to the kindness of Mr. W. P. Hibbs of the Columbia theatre who gave a very successful aluminum matinee, and to Mr. Bert Bury who was chairman of the committee in charge.

Attention was drawn to the fact that there will be no March meeting as March 1st the regular annual meeting will be held on Wednesday Jan. 28 commencing at 12:30 noon in the Elks hall. Officers will be elected for the coming year and reports of various committees received.

BILL MANYLUK IS AWARDED WINGS AT DAUPHIN FLYING SCHOOL

W. A. "Bill" Manyluk, was among a class of leading aircraftmen receiving pilot wings at the No. 10 service flying school on Friday last week.

Bill is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Manyluk and is purely a Vermilion boy. He has grown to manhood here and is a graduate of the Vermilion public and high schools. Bill enlisted in the R.C.A.F. last fall and received his elementary training in Alberta before going to the service flying school in Manitoba. He was home on a few days leave a short time ago and expressed himself as being very anxious to go overseas.

OVERSEAS CHRISTMAS FUND CLOSED UP BY LEGION AND ELKS

With the sending overseas of 30 cartons the Christmas parcel fund, sponsored by the Legion and the B.P.O.E., has been successfully brought to a close, the final returns show that there was $167.60 collected from legion patrons and individuals, with $158.57 being expended, leaving a balance on hand for future gifts of $9.03.

The 30 were in all 48 parcels forwarded and 18,000 cigarettes, these parcels have definitely reached the soldiers, and we hope to the eager success with the cigarettes, from the letters received by the town secretary Mr. H. Graham. It is evident that parcels are extremely welcome.

Thanks are due to the ladies of the Red Cross in town and their country associates for the baking at rakes, the ladies of the Legion for helping with the Red Cross in packing the parcels, D. Cannon for a donation of candy, Messrs. Dick and Easton for work in getting individual subscriptions, and all the organizations and persons who by their ready response with money made this work possible.

For A Healthier Canada

"Worse than the damage done by saboteurs, worse than the harm done by unnecessary strikes, worse than the treachery of 5th columnists, unnecessary sickness is today doing more to harm and hinder Canada's war effort than almost anything else. Today on any day you name this week $80,000 people in Canada are sick." So said Mr. W. G. Robertson, Secretary-Treasurer, and General Manager of the Ontario Motor League, in a recent address in Toronto. Mr Robertson said that eight million people in the United States are suffering from colds. A corresponding number according to our population, have colds in Canada.

He went on to say that "with what medical science and research has revealed, there are ways and means at our disposal, if we would only accept them and put them into practice, of eliminating practically all our present-day sickness." Continuing, he said, "I prefer to be more conservative, yet to say that 50 per cent. of sickness is preventable. Let us say that 50 per cent. of all the colds, the crippling, the heart disease, cancer, tuberculosis, scarlet fever, diphtheria—let us say with absolute positiveness that half of these diseases need not be!". Surveys have proved that the average number of days a workingman will be off sick this year is ten. Suppose we could reduce that by 50 per cent., down to five days a year. Can you imagine the returns in increased production? Do you realize what this would mean in increased happiness in industry?

Were Physically Unfit

Everyone of us is interested in winning the war. We all want to do everything we can to bring victory closer. We will need more tanks and more aeroplanes and more shells and more guns. But we will also need a healthier Canada, if we are to win the war. Already hundreds of others who managed to join up were later found to be incapable of standing the heavy duties of army life and had to be demobilized.

"The whole future of public health depends on education," says Dr. Gordon Bates. "People as a rule do not want to be educated and in most people's minds there is automatically set up a passive resistance towards any attempt to educate. Most of us do not want to be amused and to carry on our usual mental activities with the least possible mental effort. To acquire a new language, to learn to sing or to play a musical instrument or to achieve a new skill requires an effort which is beyond the scope of the normal desires of most of us. Even to read serious literature which will improve our minds we find difficult because it is so much easier to read light fiction or the daily newspapers.

Probably the frailty, common to most humans, is largely responsible for the slow progress of civilization. Life saving discoveries of science are applied slowly and millions fall sick and die as a result of our failure to either communicate sound knowledge, or to apply it. Millions of money are wanted on the medical and institutional care of the victims of maladies which need never exist simply because the process of educating the public seems to be too difficult a task for us to approach.

Waste Of Human Life

The student of public health is amazed at the apathy of his fellow citizens. He sees how true was the statement uttered so many years ago by a self-sacrificing public health leader who wore himself out in the public service trying to make his ideals come true. The facts as to the cost of illness and as to the possibilities of prevention are known but not sufficiently well known to change a tragic picture of unnecessary waste of life. Hence the individual neglects his own health and that of his family, hoping on the doctor to repair it for him. Governments build hospitals and issue estimates instead of passing laws for the pasteurization of milk and appropriations for the payment of full-time health officers.

If we know—those of us who think our hearts are stirred by the sufferings of humanity—If we know that the discoveries of medical science if applied would save thousands of lives and millions of money, if we are convinced that by such means the average human race would be longer lived and healthier—why do we hesitate? It is high time for Canada to begin to educate herself and her citizens to the fact that, generally speaking, illness is an expensive and unnecessary luxury in which no nation should indulge, and to begin a full investigation as to the prevalence and cost of illness.

Eggs For Breakfast Not Birthday Fare in Great Britain.

Two eggs may be everyday fare for many of us in Canada and if we don't have them it is because we don't want them.

But it is different with the people of Great Britain, and among them Prime Minister Churchill. In fact, while Mr. Churchill was the guest of President Roosevelt at Washington he interrupted a conference to exclaim about his breakfasts—breakfasts of fruit juice, eggs, bacon, toast and coffee that are so common in so many homes in this country.

With the war on in Europe, Britain's wartime Prime Minister related to his host his delight when he saw two poached eggs on his breakfast tray when it was delivered to his room the first morning of his visit.

In England Mr. Churchill gets one egg a week on a ration just the same as every one else in that country.

And still, we in Canada are talking about war restrictions. Possibly there will be much less talk when we know much more about them.

SELECTED RECIPES

DATE AND NUT LOAF

1 cup chopped dates
¾ cup Crown Brand corn syrup
1 egg, beaten
½ cup boiling water
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup chopped walnuts
½ cup Manola

Bake in moderate 325 degrees F. Time: 1 hour.

Method: Mix dates, corn syrup and salt in bowl. Add boiling water; stir and let stand until cool. Add well-beaten egg and vanilla. Sift dry ingredients, add to date mixture, stirring as little as possible. Add nuts and Manola. Pour into loaf pan 9" x 5" x 3" lined with waxed paper and oiled with Manola. Let stand 30 minutes before placing in moderate oven.

CHEESE FONDUE

½ cup milk
1 cup grated cheese
1 tablespoon butter
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon Benson's or Canada corn starch
1 cup cooked wheat cereal
2 eggs, separate
Temperature: 350 degrees F.
Time: 30 to 40 minutes.

Method: Add milk, cheese, butter, salt and corn starch to hot wheat cereal in top of double boiler, blend. Remove from heat; stir in slightly beaten egg yolks. Add stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour mixture into 1½ qt. casserole; sprinkle with Manola. Bake in moderate oven until firm in centre. Serve at once. Serves 5 to 6.

The Fourth Estate

Phrase Was Used By Famous Writer To Designate Reporters

In England, the most influential powers were to be found in the Estates of the Realm of which there were three, and in the early 19th century, however, the Newspaper Press became so powerful and influential that it came to itself out on the island. Although Burke is credited with having originated the phrase, Fourth Estate, the sentiment would not appear in any of his published works, according to the historians. One authority, however, points out that Burke's friend and literary critic Carlyle who used it in Lecture Five of His Hero in which he wrote: "Burke said there were three estates in Parliament, but in the Reporter's Gallery yonder sat a Fourth Estate, more important far than they all."—Christian Science Monitor.

First Disease

Originals From The Sea, The Soil And The Air

Plant diseases originate from three main sources, namely, the seed, the soil and the air. Air currents carry many of the destructive causal organisms of most diseases. The rust organisms which occur periodically originate from air-borne spores and can be controlled efficiently only by the use of rust resistant varieties. By using proper cultural practices, suitable crop rotations, and providing adequate drainage, a farmer can do a great deal to eliminate soil-borne diseases. The importance of clean seed is emphasized by the fact that the planting of infected seed inevitably ensures the perpetuation of the disease and the production of unhealthy seed may carry a wide variety of diseases. Smuts and rusts of cereals may all be disseminated by means of seed. The most destructive agents of disease in seed lies in the use of registered or certified seed.

The Individual Citizen's Army

A Weekly Column About This And That In The Canadian Army.

By Alan Monroe Irwin

There was a time, as all you readers of small order catalogues know, when there was great rivalry between the adherents of the various emporia. Claims used to be made that this one or that was "the greatest mail order house in the world."

Whether it was in Toronto or Chicago, or London, England, or New York each store had its own champions.

To-day all those claims—at least as far as Canada is concerned—have gone by the board. The greatest mail order house in Canada to-day is the M.O.D.'s branch of the individual citizen's army.

M.O.D.? Master-General of the Ordnance a fine old-fashioned title for the Minister of Munitions of our old-fashioned service. The Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps.

Ordnance in this case has dual several meanings. An American, for instance, will tell you that you have mis-spelled it. Ammunition would be being used in every area of war."

Mr. Wilson paid particular tribute to the Government for the way in which it had approached industry and persuaded manufacturers to go into production on the strange and complicated apparatus of war.

CONTROLS CURB INFLATION

Referring to the steps already taken to control inflation Mr. Wilson said, "You cannot increase a million men into the armed services to engage in the most expensive kind of destruction and consumption of goods, and expect business at home to proceed as usual, or prices to remain as usual.

"With the tragic memory of the inflation of the first World War in mind, thinking people believe that almost any measure would be justified to prevent repetition.

"If anyone is inclined to be critical, let him think of how dangerously our present position parallels that of the first Great War. A net increase in the wholesale price index in the first 25 months of that war was 20 points; in the first 25 months of this war, the increase climbed 21 points. In the face of these facts, it would be difficult to argue that an effort should not be made to control the situation before it gets out of hand.

"It would be absurd to expect that in the midst of the colossal diversion of material and man-power we should expect to live as we have lived in peace-time.

"We have reached the point where we must cut down unnecessary consumption, in order to make available for the war efforts all the resources possible.

"We must keep constantly before us the realization that the war efforts consists, in a material sense, of three things which matter most—food, raw materials and manufactured products. The use of land, and man-power on the other.

CANADA PLAYS HER PART

As a comrade in arms of Great Britain, Canada, said Mr. Wilson, had been able to make a material contribution to the common cause. "We pay the whole cost of raising, arming and maintaining the Canadian armed forces serving in Canada, Great Britain, Gibraltar, the Far East, the West Indies and Newfoundland. We supply Great Britain with food, textiles, lumber and finished apparatus of war, and we do not demand "cash on the barrel head." Not one dollar of the $250 millions of gold sent to Canada by Great Britain has been used to pay for goods of Canadian origin—it has all been expended in the United States, with much smaller effort. All we ask is a proper proportion of our gold, to cover a part of the cost of raw materials and machinery brought in Canada to produce war goods for British account.

"Little opportunity existed, said Mr. Wilson, for the making of big profits out of the war. "There has been neither opportunity nor disposition for our producers to make big profits out of the war," he said.

CAN OUTTRIP GERMANY

Mr. Wilson regarded with great satisfaction the close co-operation which has developed between Canada and the United States in recent months and particularly since the Japanese declaration of war.

"Even Germany, with all its organized efficiency, with cheap slave labour, cannot match the production possibilities of North America added to those developed with such extraordinary efficiency by Great Britain under the impact of war.

"Canada's war expenditure in this fiscal year alone is estimated at two billion, 820 million dollars, which is more than twice as much as our total expenditure in all of the last war. The United States has already doubled its entire expenditure during the first Great War.

"United States manufacturers sent to Great Britain in the first seven months of 1941 nearly twice as many combat planes as were being delivered by the British last during the whole of 1940. In Canada, starting from scratch, we are producing 40 or more planes a week, of which 15 to 25 are Hurricane fighters.

In conclusion Mr. Wilson paid a tribute to the leadership manner in which the people of Great Britain had sustained, for over two years, the terrific impact of war and at the same time performed miracles in the production of urgently needed implements of war.

GENERAL MANAGER'S ADDRESS

In presenting the financial statement, E. R. Dobson, General Manager, noted that the bank had during the past eighteen months greatly changed conditions due to the Canadian Government Departments regulations, "which at one time would have been considered intolerable, but which we recognize as necessary in the kind of war we have to fight." Based upon us, your bank has continued to extend its facilities to become more and more difficult to make profitable employment. This is because of enlarged business and economies have been able to show earnings comparable with a year ago."

Assets of the bank now standing at over $1,000,000,000 were at the highest point in history, said Mr. Dobson. Commercial loans had continued to expand and deposits by the public were at a record level—$152,220,936 higher than at the peak of the month ago.

"More new deposit accounts have been opened this past year than in any similar period in the history of the bank. We are doing our best to foster this growth not only because it builds up the bank's clientele, but mainly because saving is an essential development in our war economy."

1062 ENLISTMENTS

Because of war conditions a greatly increased burden had been placed upon the bank's staff, said Mr. Dobson, and too much credit could not be given the men and womenfolk way in which both men and women had performed their duties.

"Since the outbreak of war," he said 1,063 officers, including 43 from our foreign branches, have been granted leave of absence to serve in the armed forces. In Canada and Newfoundland 60 per cent. of our male employees under 50 years of age have left to join the services all these young men, of whom we are very proud, will be welcome return we are looking forward, that their positions will be available to them.

"I regret exceedingly to report that eight of our young men have given their lives in the common service. We extend to their relatives our sincere sympathy."

PRICE CONTROL

Referring to what he termed the new experience for business of price and wage controls, Mr. Dobson said, "Some people view with concern the institution of these controls and it seems to me an appropriate time to point out that such financing and prices fixing are comparatively new fields.

"Our charters are granted to us by virtue of the Bank Act which comes up for revision at ten-year intervals, at which time the charters banks are subject to close examination by the Banking Committee of both Houses of Parliament. The maximum rate of interest we are permitted to charge is fixed. There is even a ceiling on the commission we may charge for collecting a bill discounted in one city and payable in another. We are not allowed to charge more than a fixed flat fee for small casual transactions. We are not permitted to own real estate except for our own use; we must not make loans against real estate security. We are subject to inspection by the Inspector General of Banks. We must make detailed and extensive statements to the Finance Department. Since the outbreak of the war we are now required to be licensed by the Foreign Exchange Control Board before we can buy or sell foreign exchange and the regulations lay down the commission we may charge on such transactions.

"I do not point to these things in any critical way, but merely to show that what is revolutionary control of other businesses in the interests of wartime stability, is part of the every-day experience of banks. These ceilings are not a novelty with us."

In conclusion Mr. Dobson remarked that indications were that 1942 would see all records broken in business expansion.

The Royal Bank Of Canada 73rd Annual Meeting

Morris W. Wilson, President and Managing Director, hails new partnership of Canada and the United States. As Chairman of the British War Supply Council sees Germany outstripped by Britain and North America in 1942.

Sydney G. Dobson, General Manager, reports assets over $1,000,000,000. Sees record business expansion this year.

Prediction that Germany's war production would be outstripped in 1942 by the combined output of Canada, the United States and Great Britain, was made at the 73rd Annual Meeting of The Royal Bank of Canada by Morris W. Wilson, President and Managing Director.

In his annual address Mr. Wilson gave factual evidence of the tremendous productive capacity of North American factories and spoke in glowing terms of the co-operation made by Canadian industry since the outbreak of war.

"Two years ago," said Mr. Wilson, "we were incapable of outfitting an infantry division; to-day our industries can equip a new division every six weeks. Canadian equipment is being used in every area of war."

Mr. Wilson paid particular tribute to the Government for the way in which it had approached industry and persuaded manufacturers to go into production on the strange and complicated apparatus of war.

GRANTS PAYABLE TO PROVINCES FOR LOSS OF TAXES

Ottawa.—Close to $100,000,000 will be required annually from the federal treasury to compensate the provinces which agree to vacate the personal income and corporation tax fields for the duration of the war and one year after, Finance Minister Ilsley announced.

The minister, at a press conference, released details of the draft agreements being sent to the nine provinces—agreements completed after months of negotiations based on the minister's budget proposals last April that the provinces vacate these tax fields temporarily.

Mr. Ilsley said he believed all the provinces would sign after their legislatures had approved the agreements and passed the necessary tax amendments.

Compensation will be paid the provinces, annually, plus "fiscal need" subsidies to Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Manitoba and Saskatchewan. The following are the total amounts payable to each province:

Prince Edward Island, $701,943; Nova Scotia, $2,909,430; New Brunswick, $2,850,077; Quebec, $30,736,117; Ontario, $28,961,438; Manitoba, $5,-634,740; Saskatchewan, $5,830,471; Alberta, $6,057,318; British Columbia, $12,048,367.

In addition the federal treasury will pay provinces "such amounts sufficient to make up the amount by which gasoline tax receipts fall below the total received in 1940 as the result of gasoline rationing and other wartime restrictions.

The budget proposal, made as Mr. Ilsley raised federal taxes to unprecedented heights, was that the people be freed for the war's duration of taxes they derive from personal income and corporation taxes then being levied by the provinces.

To those provinces agreeing he offered compensation from the federal treasury equal to the amount of revenue collected from the sources to be abandoned during the fiscal years ending nearest Dec. 31, 1940.

As an alternative to cash compensation, he said, the federal treasury would be willing to take over the net debt accruing after March 31 next, covering the removal of allies from designated defence areas, it was estimated.

Impending removal of aliens from "protected areas" was announced at Ottawa, but until the census is outlined specifically the exact number of Japanese involved cannot be estimated. Japanese settlements are in the coastal area of British Columbia, however, where the "protected" zones are likely to be established.

Gratification that "Ottawa authorities has taken action on the very distasteful problem in connection with aliens on the Pacific coast," was expressed at Victoria by Premier Hart, who said: "I am sure when all the details are made known they will be satisfactory to the people."

Dr. George A. Ishiwara, president of the Japanese Canadian Citizens' League, which operates records system of Japanese citizenship, said here he thought the government "has taken the best possible step to safeguard our Pacific coast. The Japanese community as a whole are grateful to the government for their reasonable attitude."

Assistant Commissioner C. H. Hill of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police said the force was ready to carry out the evacuation but as yet had received no special orders. He said that for registration purposes any German or Italian-born person who is still a national of one of the countries at war with Canada is considered an enemy alien after Sept. 16, 1922, has been regarded as an alien, but he did not know whether Japanese would be judged by the same standard.

Of the estimated 5,387 Japanese who would be affected under a similar ruling, 2,395 are the fathers of families. The mothers form a much smaller percentage, most of them having been born in Canada.

Allied Supply Board

Now Believe This To Be A Distinct Possibility

Washington.—Appointment of Donald M. Nelson as czar of United States wartime industrial production, and a report from London that Lord Beaverbrook, the energetic supply minister, may stay permanently in Washington, lead to belief that establishment of an Allied supply board is a distinct possibility.

Such a board would co-ordinate wartime production of all the united nations. It was taken for granted Canada would have representation on it because of her position as the third biggest producer of munitions among the united nations as well as her wealth of raw materials.

Nelson unofficially took up his gigantic task with the announcement that he would unhesitatingly order any necessary shakeup in the production organization to get "the job" done, "to make enough war material to lick Hitler and the Japs, and "to do it in the shortest possible time."

Nelson's statements were contained in letters to William S. Knudsen, director of the office of production management, to the under-secretary of war, Robert P. Patterson, and to the under-secretary of the navy, James V. Forrestal.

Canadian Pilots Return Safely To Base After Bombing Mission

Ottawa.—Fifteen gallons of gasoline recently increased the margin between success and disaster for the Royal Canadian Air Force crew of a big Royal Air Force bomber, the air ministry said.

The Canadians were Flying Officer Ian Hobkirk as pilot, Sergeant Air Gunner W. H. Bracken of Moose Jaw, and Sergeant Air Gunner C. J. Kearns of Halifax.

On a bombing raid over Germany they were about two miles from the target when, said heavy anti-aircraft fire which put some 20 holes in their aircraft, one of the engines cut out.

But the Canadians limped on, found their target, dropped their bombs load and then headed for home.

"We realized it was going to be nip and tuck as far as petrol was concerned because one of those pieces of flak had developed a nice leak for us," Sgt. Kearns reported. "But we made it—with 15 gallons left.

Axis Shipping Losses

London.—The Axis has lost nearly 3,000,000 tons of shipping through British sea and air attacks since the fortress of Malta began to wage war on the basis of admiralty and R.A.F. communiques.

Since the end of October when Axis losses were put at more than 4,500,000 tons, the Royal Navy, the R.A.F. and the U. S. F. have struck or damaged more than 100 Axis ships averaging 4,000 tons each.

ORDERED ACTION

Vice-Admiral Emile Muselier, commander of the Free French navy put out from the port on Dec. 23 with four corvettes for "manoeuvres at sea." The ships manoeuvred Monday and Tuesday Wednesday they sailed between St. Pierre and Miquelon, the chief islands of the tiny dots off the Newfoundland coast that have been French for more than 100 years, and only then did the crews learn their mission was to take the islands

"STEPPING OUT" IN A NEW UNIFORM

Here is an exclusive picture of the new "walking-out uniform" which it has just been announced at National Defence Headquarters will be issued to all Canadian soldiers early in March.

Miss Picture of Montreal, the well-dressed model shows a private soldier dressed in his off parade or walking-out suit. His best girl. Although he will continue to wear battle-dress for fighting and training, his few "hours of ease" will find him very smart in a light blue tunic with brass buttons, black necktie and low shoes. And the lucky lad his father before him, he will carry a "swagger stick."

Similar in appearance to the jacket worn by officers the uniform has four pockets, regulation pleats on the breast pockets and patch pockets at the sides and a cloth waist belt. Regimental badges will be worn on the lapels. The trousers of the Master General of the Ordnance, responsible for distribution and production anticipates that the life of a battle dress will be more than doubled as the result of the issuance of a second uniform.

U.S. Asiatic Fleet

Has Been Safely Removed From Base At Manila

Washington.—Admiral Thomas C Hart has succeeded in bringing the entire United States Asiatic fleet, with its warships intact, to comparatively secure waters from which to wage his fight against the Japanese. It was ascertained

Belief spread here that the fear of seamanship involved in evacuating the naval base at Cavite, in Manila bay only 20 miles from the Philippine capital, would soon be outranked one of the notable naval episodes of the war

The navy's sole comment has been the laconic communique, issued immediately after the fall of Manila that "all ships and naval personnel were removed from the Manila-Cavite area prior to enemy occupation." Along with all records, equipment and stores, and that industrial facilities were destroyed

Not only was the whole combat force—cruisers, destroyers and submarines removed from the untenable base at Cavite, but also the "fleet train." The "train" was the slow-moving collection of supply ships, tankers, cargo vessels, tugs, lumbers repair ships and other auxiliaries essential to the fleet

Where the fleet now is located, or whether it has found a new base, are questions which the navy does not answer

That it probably is in the Netherland East Indies area was indicated by the recent arrival of Admiral Hart, officially confirmed, and reported in that archipelago. A navy spokesman previously had said it could be "assumed" that the Asiatic fleet is co-operating with Netherlands and British units in Far Eastern waters.

AIR FORCE PILOTS HAVE ARRIVED FOR BURMA DEFENCE

Rangoon, Burma' --Reinforcements by land and air forces, the latter including Canadian and other Commonwealth pilots, have arrived in all important Burma. They are the first known to have reached the Far East in more than a month of war, but more are on the way, said Associated Press

An official announcement said that these included anti-aircraft batteries for Rangoon and other big centres, and additional ground crews for air units landed at Burmese air fields, more of which are being built in the jungle close to Thailand, springboard for Japan's drive on Singapore

The wording of the announcement indicate that aircraft and aviation personnel apart from those making up the brigade crews here in transit to British authorities have announced they do not intend to disclose movements of aircraft and that this might apply likewise to flyers

Burma's air strength already appears to be the greatest of any British Far East possession Some of the heaviest raids on Thailand have been made from there Its bases also have received aerial reinforcements shortly before the war began

Fresh British and other troops, equipped for instant action under the Burma commander, Lt.-Gen. T. J Hutton headened the Burmese as they marched for the front with the Burma roll

This gave new hope that Burma will retrieve the loss so far a strong counter-drive against the Japanese attack which is pouring into Malaya from Thailand

The Royal Air Force mainly Burma air force truly imperial. There are pilots from New Zealand, South Africa, India and South Africa. In addition Australian pilots participated in a civilian air force operating the Rangoon road to China and engaging in the air defence of Burma

Yugoslav Army

Have Regained Control Of 19,000 Square Miles Of Territory

London.—Yugoslavia's armies have regained control of at least 19,000 square miles of Yugoslavia's mountain and other territory, it was announced in an official communique issued by the Yugoslav Government-in-exile in London.

Hitler's Germany and the Italian Fascist regime, which dismembered Yugoslavia in April, 1941, after overrunning the Balkan land in March, have been engaged in a "bitter struggle" with the Yugoslav forces, the communique said.

"Despite the fact that the enemy has concentrated against us large forces of infantry, artillery and aviation, our troops have succeeded in liberating a large part of our territory," the communique said.

"Our troops have also succeeded in destroying a large number of enemy tanks, armoured cars, guns and other war material."

Recruits For Air Training Crews May Be Problem

Ottawa.—Provision of aircrew recruits for the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan is "going to be the biggest man power problem we'll have in Canada," Air Minister Power said at a press conference.

As yet, however, there is no shortage of suitable recruits

The minister added that large educational and physical rehabilitation schemes under air force auspices and designed to bring men up to aircrew standards may be necessary

Canada's air strength on the Pacific has been increased since Japan entered the war, he said. More men and equipment have been sent to the area. He also said the new air base at Lethbridge is in full operation but declined to give any details.

The schools of the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan in Canada can be stepped up to handle United States trainees if the American authorities want to send them here, he said. While there have been informal discussions there are no decisions yet on United States participation in the plan.

Speaking of recruiting Maj Power said the force was getting all the aircrew it wanted because "under the army gets its new uniform out the men prefer to come to us."

"We are going to have to keep up rehabilitation, bringing men up to our physical standards, and educating them to our education standards and we're the equal of the high schools in Canada is not enough to meet our needs."

While it might be possible to lower the education standard for aircrew recruits now matriculation men simply had to have a sound knowledge of mathematics in order to be able to use modern aircraft instruments.

"We want everybody who is physically fit and educationally fit, between the ages of 18 and 30," Maj. Power declared.

In order to get the number needed, now that Americans were all going to their own schools and into their own services it might be necessary to speed up the training plan into "a real university" instead of just a "university of the air" and provide instruction in mathematics and other subjects for large numbers of recruits.

Voluntary Discipline

Expect Control Over Civilians As Of Soldiers In The Field

Ottawa.—Labor Minister Mitchell, addressing a joint meeting of the national labor board and regional boards told employer an employee representatives that the government's price and wage control policy called for voluntary discipline by civilians comparable to that expected of a soldier in the field.

The meeting, attended by provincial labor ministers and other members of the regional boards, was the first of a series of conferences intended to discuss and clarify details of the policy under which the board will enforce the wartime wage control policy.

Labor Minister Mitchell said, assured uniform treatment for all wage and salary earners and was primarily designed to keep the ship on an even keel in the face of a threat of inflation.

"We expect discipline and demand it from men who go to battle, and I don't think it is too much to ask the civilian population to voluntarily inculcate discipline. I have no doubt in my mind of the answer to that request."

Awarded Military Cross

London, Lieut. John Christopher Clem, 25-year-old British officer who early in December fought a desperate rear-guard action with 12 Indian soldiers against vastly superior Japanese forces at Kota Bahru airdrome in Northern Malaya, has been awarded the Military Cross.

1942 WHEAT PRICE OF $1.22½ URGED BY LINE ELEVATORS

Higher City Income Warrants Fair Price for Wheat

Line Elevator companies have forwarded a submission to the Dominion government advocating that the initial payment of the Canadian Wheat Board on the 1942 wheat crop be $1.25 and one-eight cent per bushel basis One Northern Port William or Vancouver, it was announced by the North West Line Elevators' Assoc iation.

The price would give the farmer an average return of $1.00 and one-eighth per bushel basis One Northern at his shipping point. The Line Elevators urge the advisability of building up reserves of wheat so that post war requirements can be met, new buyers secured, and submit statistics supporting a statement that the total amount accepted for delivery of 3-0 cents bushels on the 1942 wheat crop cannot harvested at the price suggested. The further proposal is made that the and carrying old license plates and license and sales of the 1941 wheat crop be segregated; that is, the parties over of past years and that the interested to this end. Since 1,000 store stocks be held to meet post war requirements. It is pointed out that in view of the ever trolled economy now existing in Canada, the responsibility for providing Prairie wheat growers with a price commensurate with production costs rests with the Dominion government.

The Line Elevators submission to the Government contends that the present price of 70 cents per bushel is wholly inadequate to meet present wheat farming costs, and states that adequate reserves of wheat are equally as essential as are munitions of war and adds that the Government should be prepared to pay the farmer a reasonable price to produce the wheat just as it pays necessary prices for the manufacture of munitions of war.

The memorandum points out that the war has brought higher wages and cost of living home, to better able to pay a fair price for the wheat required to win the bread than is the farmer able to produce wheat at less than the cost of production.

SALVAGE OLD LICENSE PLATES

The provincial licensing authorities have given attention to the possibility of salvaging old license plates and have offered to co-operate fully with the federal authority in any campaign directed to this end. Some 3,000 store stocks be held to meet post war requirements. It is pointed out that in view of the ever trolled economy now existing in Canada, the

Heatherbell Wins Cup Game from Clandonald

The Heatherbell Flyers wrested the Northern Hardware challenge trophy from Clandonald in a sudden death game at the Vermilion arena Wednesday night. The encounter was a closely fought one for two periods, the score at that time being 2-1 in the final canto the northern boys faded, the game became scrappy and the players' tempers became frayed, the Heatherbell boys ran in two more goals off the game ended 4-1

Lc Kreller notched the first two counters for Heatherbell, Clarence Bar and Maimone Barr the other two, while Wanjuk gathered in an assist on the first counter. Freddy Hartwell got Clandonald's solitary tally.

A big crowd of fans was on hand and seemed to like the game, judging from the noise

Stan Waldvogel refereed.

Line-ups: Heatherbell — Brooke, Macnab, M. Barr, Shroyer, C. Barr, Kreller, Murphy. Ref. Hinden, Dad Braden, Maddox, Haines.

CERTAIN INCOME AND CORPORATION TAX RETURNS NOT ASKED FOR THIS YEAR

The province will not call for certain income and corporation tax returns this year, in view of the reported transfer or certain tax rights to Ottawa for the duration of the war. In a statement issued by Premier Aberhart it was explained that "under the agreement proposed by the dominion government the province is required to forgo the collection of taxes payable under the Alberta Corporation Taxation Act". He added that the legislature would consider the agreement at the next session, and that in the event of approval, Albertans would not be liable to pay the taxes to Alberta.

Should the tax transfer be approved the following returns will not be required by the Alberta government:

1. Return of income tax required from trustees, executors, administrators, assignees, receivers or persons acting in a judiciary capacity. Forms 7 and 7A

2. Returns by employers. Forms 1 and 1A

3. Return of dividend or corporations. Forms 5 and 5A.

4. Return of interest on bonds, debentures, notes and mortgages, and royalties, net royalties, rents, annuities and other fixed and determined payments. Forms 18 and 18A.

5. Returns of income by individuals and corporations, with the exception of corporations whose fiscal years end during the calendar fiscal year, in which case the corporation will file a return of income tax for the full fiscal year and pay tax in proportion that the number of days of such fiscal period in the calendar year 1940 bears to the total number of days of such fiscal period

LICENSE PLATES AVAILABLE EARLIER

Alberta auto license plates will be available one month earlier this year, it is announced by the provincial secretary's department. There is no change in the license year. Object of the early issue is to enable motorists to obtain gasoline under the rationing system which becomes operative Apr. 1. Without a license, no gasoline will be obtainable.

o o o o

Car owners are once again reminded that it will be impossible to obtain gasoline without ration books after April 1, and that ration books can only be obtained by presenting the owner's license. Early application for license will thus ensure the owner of gasoline supplies from that start of rationing.

DECLARES PARTY POLITICAL SYSTEM MENACE

Declaring that the party political system is a menace to a democratic way of life, Premier Aberhart issued a statement this week in which he reiterated the assertion that the Democratic Monetary Reform Organization of which he is leader is definitely not a political party, but is a "co-ordinating body for purposes of national action on national issues". The D.M.R. O. was organized as an all-Canada conference held in Winnipeg last fall. The premier declared that party politics is an instrument or frustration which divides the people on minor issues while major issues are unsolved. He claimed parties are subject to domination by vested interests.

REEVE HONORED AT MEETING OF VERMILION VALLEY COUNCIL

Served Over Thirty Years on Municipal Body

A meeting of the council of M. D. of Vermilion Valley No. 652 was held in the municipal office on Saturday, Jan. 17, 1942 with following present: Reeve, N. McClellan, Dep. Reeve D. McPhee, Crs. Gordon, Shepherd, Lord and Christopherson.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. Financial statement for December was accepted.

Some enquiries re oil well sites were attended. Snow relief was adjusted. Mr. H. Andrew, Dist. Agriculturist, attended and took a reserve order for grass seeds in connection with the Forage Crop improvement plan.

A resolution was received from the M.D. Morton protesting any further work on the part of the government in the larger Mun. units. The council endorsed this and the Sec'y was instructed to forward copies to Hon. W.A. Fallow and to M.L.A. Berg.

The Dept. of Agriculture will be approached in an endeavor to obtain 600 lbs. of Chloride of Sodium for weed killing.

At this point the council adjourned for lunch and in the interval the Sec'y acted as Chairman.

Our Reeve, Mr. Norman McClellan celebrated his birthday a few days previously and had served as Councillor and Reeve for some thirty years. The members of the present council wished to record their appreciation of the faithful work done by the Reeve and had an address prepared which was read by the chairman. The following gentlemen were in attendance: Mr. Morrison, Mayor of Vermilion, and solicitor for the M.D.; Mr. Robinson, President of the Old Timers' Assoc.; Mr. Whitby, Manager Canadian Bank of Commerce; Mr. Heckbert, Sec'y-Manager of the Agric. Society, and Mr. Andrew, Dist. Agriculturist.

The gift was a fountain pen guaranteed for the years. Mr. Robinson drew the Reeve's attention to this, saying that when the guaranty expired he could get a new nib. All present came forward and offered their personal congratulations and business was resumed. This completed of passing the divisional bills amounting to $762. Council adjourned.

The Address was signed by members of the present council, D. McPhee, Dep. Reeve, Crs. Gordon, A. Lord, G. E. Shepherd, M. Christopherson, H. W. Brown Sec.-Treas.

ISLAND HILL

Peter Birmingham formerly of this district has joined the Canadian Army. Good luck Peter, He is the fourth member of the Birmingham family to join the Army, two of whom are serving overseas.

Annual meeting of this School District will be held at the school house on Jan. 26th.

Congratulations to Airman Pat McCambridge and Mrs. McCambridge on the birth of a daughter.

Here is a gem for our readers who hail from Erin's Isle: On Beaver Island in the middle of Lake Michigan 50 square miles of fertile land Erin has attracted novelists and artists while stubbornly resisting the encroachments of modernism. Of its 20c families there, fully 80 per cent are of pure Irish stock making their living as did their forefathers, by fishing. The Beaver Island Irish have given more than 10 ship captains and hundreds of able seamen to Great Lakes maritime, many of whom are now doing their bit in the Canadian and American navies.

Mrs. Richardson, Teddy and George Jr. and the Misses Williamson paid us a visit during the week.

We sincerely regret the illness of the illness of Charles Brady. We wish him a speedy and complete recovery.

The Acheson family has taken delivery of a new Farm.

We wish Mr. and Mrs. Bush a very many happy years of married bliss. Bush is in service... with the Canadian Army and needless to say he is making a good job of it since Erin.

WILDMERE WINKS

Carp. Norman Smith of Edmonton spent the week end at his home here and at—Oh, it doesn't matter, he was home.

We are pleased to see Albert Hoitz, R.C.A.F., home on leave from the east to spend a few days with his family in town. It is some ten months since he left on his year duties. They visited for a short while on Sunday at Mr. and Mrs John Wilson's. Wild more.

Yvonne Morrad, Trianafe, was a visitor to her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Smith on Sunday, and the Cruikshers family at the Cairns' home on the same day.

Noticed around: Eric Madill out to the latter's Mrs. George Scoffett on Tuesday night; now Love visiting with for John Wilson, Smiths and Howards taking advantage of the mild weather and getting some grain ground up. Mr. Guy Whitlock, who works for Mr. Rendell of Trianafe was a hospital patient for a few days from a sore gland on the side of his face; Our trail somewhat heavy in places owing to the high wind Saturday night, but we expect the snowplows to be ready again soon Bill Garnett of the Air Force home for New Year's. Mrs. Stan Yost (nee Marion Gibson) of Goose Lake visiting with her parents Mr. and Mrs Gaylord Gibson of Pawswood for a few weeks.

Last but not least we wish to extend congratulations to all the newly married folks for a long happily wedded lives—and always remember it takes two to make a quarrel.

MELBERTA M.D. TO PURCHASE SNOW PLOW

Regular Meeting of Council Held

Council of M.D. of Melberta No. 483 met in regular meeting, Monday, Jan. 12, 1942, at the Municipal office, Massiffe. Councillors present: Harold Warrilow, Dep. Reeve in the chair, and Crs. Hart, Blackburn, Hamilton and Young.

Minutes of the preceding meeting were read and on motion of Hart were approved.

Motion Blackburn—That we buy a snow plow as follows: Plow, $660; Wing for same, $410; Lights $140. Terms one-third cash, balance in two payments, Dec. 15th, 1942 and Dec. 15, 1943. Cd.

Letter from Old Age Pensions Bd., saying that Mrs. C. Ewing wished her pension raised from $15 to $20, and asking the advise of the council in the matter.

Motion Warrilow—That we recommend Mrs. Ewing for this increase in her pension. Cd.

Manville hospital presented bill of $50 for Upton. Motion Hamilton — That this bill be paid. Cd.

Motion Blackburn—That the following refunds, overpayment of taxes be authorized: Public Administrator, $3.72 and Mrs. D. Utter, $8.87. Cd.

Motion Young—That we remit $200 to the Dept. of Agriculture on the Forage Crop Policy for 1942. Cd.

Motion Blackburn—That this council strongly protests against the formation of a Health Unit here, as it practically means duplication of services, and that a copy of this resolution be sent to the Dept. of Health and one to the Trustees' Convention to be held in Innisfree. Cd.

Meeting adjourned.

Sixteen Years Ago To-day

Interesting Items Gleaned From the Files of the Vermilion Standard 16 YEARS AGO TODAY — 1926

Winter has asserted itself at last, the thermometer dropping to around 20 below where it has held all week.

Mrs. Wm. B. Elford left Tuesday night on an extended trip to her old home in England.

The West is now in the best position financially it has enjoyed for 20 years, declared Travers Sweetman, K.C., of Winnipeg, in a statement issued in Toronto.

Arrangements are being completed for the building of 100 settlers' houses in this district as soon as possible in the spring.

Thirty-two Years Ago Today

An Encampment of the I.O.O.F. lodge was instituted in Vermilion by Past Chief Patriot May and Patriots from Edmonton Encampment No. 2. The following officers were appointed: M. A. Brimacombe, C. E. Slater, W.J. Baldietz, A. G. Garland, W. H. Hayward, A. Fur, A. J. Dimmell.

Two risks or carriers are going to the Edmonton hospital next week. These are C.E. Slater, ship, Uji Jones, S.H.P. Cooper, K. McLay; Bill Telford ship, Albert Pilkie, Dr. Ryan and Fred Long.

$220,000,000 IN BONUSES GOING TO ALBERTA FARMERS

Federal bonus payments to farmers in this province will run close to $20,000,000 when all cheques have been sent out, according to figures made available by dominion officials.

These estimates are made up as follows: Wheat acreage reduction scheme, $8,000,000; Prairie Farm Assistance act, $4,000,000; prairie farm income payment (15 cents per cultivated acre up to maximum 240 acres) $8,000,000.

E. L. Gray, of Regina, director of the wheat acreage reduction scheme for the prairie provinces, was in Edmonton Wednesday when he conferred with W. C. Barrie, the supervisor for Alberta.

Interviewed Mr. Gray said the various schemes were operating very smoothly and cheques were being issued from head offices at Regina just as rapidly as possible, after the necessary auditing and checking of statements have been made by federal treasury officials.

In regard to the W.A.R scheme, Mr. Gray said the final payments were going out to farmers as speedily as possible.

Payments were being made on the P.F.A.A. and the P.F.I.P. plans, said the director. Under these schemes, 65 per cent would be paid in the December-January term and the balance of 35 per cent after March 1. It was hoped the first-term cheques would all be out by Jan. 31. Where farmers are entitled to draw P.F.A.A. and P.F. I.P. payments, one cheque will be issued for the two bonuses.

Under the P.F.I.P. scheme, some $7,000 cultivated acreage reports were received from farmers. The total will be reduced through duplications or rejections or for other reasons making the total which will be paid in the neighborhood or between 65,000 and 70,000 claims.

So far, some 25,000 Alberta farmers who made claims for the P.F.I.P. cultivated acreage bonus have been paid it was learned.

WORKINGS OF WARTIME PRICES AND TRADE BOARD

Strange as it may seem, under the Wartime Prices and Trade Board regulations, housewives will be enabled to purchase a considerable number of imported articles at less than actual cost. This is due to the difficulty of fixing prices which importers must pay in fluctuating wartime markets.

Here's how the board has worked it out, taking tea for an example. Tea that sold for 75 cents a pound during the base period between Sept. 15 and Oct. 11, now may cost the storekeeper several cents a pound more than to buy at wholesale.

The Board requires him still to sell at 75 cents a pound, but he can claim against his wholesaler who claims against the importer. On his switchfishing the actual difference between past and present import prices the Board will pay the importer a subsidy for the amount. This principle will apply in the case of all imported goods which have risen in price to the importer, but which the Board requires shall be sold to the ultimate consumer at prices in force between Sept. 15 and Oct. 11 last.

BOWTELL BULLETIN

Miss Marion Semple is confined to her home here with an attack of scarlet fever. Mr. McFarland's mother is also very ill and Mrs. King is helping at the latter's home.

Mrs. Scott has received a letter from Mrs. T. Robinson in England. The latter family now have a baby daughter one year old.

Trayane appeared to have a good time at the card party at the school on Friday evening last. Prizes were won by the following in order of merit: Mrs. Repp, Mrs. Knutson, Mrs. Don Harrison, consolation Mrs. Gow, guests—L. Gow, F. Scott, Oscar Anderson, consolation to Teresa Walsh, who was playing as a guest. We wish to thank Mr. Oscar Anderson for the donation of a new pack of playing cards. There is another card party on Friday, Jan. 23.

The skating rink is now all ready for flooding but colder weather is awaited before commencing.

Noticed here and there: The Mortensens and Hartleys busy sawing wood. The McInnis journeying to town early Thursday a.m., Geo. Lind of the army visiting at the Knutson home; the writer and husband enjoying a dinner at the Boston cafe on Tuesday last week at guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walker; Mr. Scott driving a car load to the dance at Thorsehj recently; Miss B. Taylor staying at the Repp home during some cold weather and following that because of slippery roads.

Canada's wartime production is to be expanded in every field: more planes, more tanks, more guns. Canada's war equipment is now being used on every battlefield.

ALL our industries need rags . . . hundreds of rags . . . pounds of rags . . . tons of rags. And you can help supply them.

Without rag wipers to clean the cutting lubricant from pistons, rollers, drills, lathes, Canadian war machine would be inefficient, their output reduced, their efforts hampered.

Without rags, explosive plants would slow up, aeroplane factories would find their production cut, and wounds of shell factories would dawdle.

Dust an old-fashioned rag bag in your house today. All kinds of old, worn-out, tattered and otherwise useless garments are badly needed by your industries—particularly linen, cotton underwear, old sheets and ties from Grandpa's red flannels to Grandma's useless corduroy pants.

Those are real pieces of war which you can supply. Every rag in your home should go to war industries through your Salvage Committee. Search out those rags and clean up the house.

WILDMERE WINKS

Our nice fine weather still is with us. It certainly helps to shorten the winter and also eases up on the feed question a bit.

We wish to extend our own and the community's deepest sympathy to Mr. Alex Grandi and his two boys, and also to Lawrence Saumer of our district on the loss of a loving wife, mother and sister. Mrs. Mishal lived for a time in our part, but at present the family resides in Vanscoll. Mrs. Mishal had been ailing for some time, but her death came as a shock to her many friends throughout the country. She had only come out to this country a few years from Hungary to join her husband who had come some years earlier, bringing two sons with her. Her brother Lawrence came out at the same time as her husband. She was still a young woman only being in h— —rs. Her days work was done and called to her home to rest. Funeral was from the Catholic church last Thursday morning and a large crowd came to show their respects for the sorrowing family in their bereavement.

Noel Garnett, Basswood, was a city visitor last week having gone up to enlist as a pilot, owing to having had his nose broken in playing hockey a while ago. Later he is unable to breathe properly and so was turned down for the present.

Visitors at the writer's home during the week were Mrs. Sam York Mr. and Mr. Gibson and baby and Mrs. G. Gibson on Tuesday evening; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dibben and daughter on Wednesday evening; Mr. and Mrs. L. Hollie, Dallie and Kenny on Sunday afternoon. We were very pleased to see Mr. Hollie looking so well and wish him all the best going when he returns to his duties again.

Mrs. Emily Nash of town was a Sunday visitor in the Gibson home.

Joan and Margaret Gilholme of Vermilion spent the week end at their home in Basswood.

John (Bud) Bahin, is in hospital suffering from a sore ear. He went in on Sunday afternoon. Speedy recovery Bud.

A word to those having horses running out on road allowances—It hasn't got you out one very much in your stock, as there certainly is nothing to eat on the road allowance of today.

Laurence Graham, now stationed in our Southern city, says he often sees Mr. Furness who is formerly of Vermilion.

Mrs. Riley, Tom and Gerrie are visitors to the writer's on Friday.

COUPLE HONORED BY FRIENDS ON SILVER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Monday afternoon, January 12 over one hundred of the citizens of Vermilion visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Long and tendered them congratulations on the 25th anniversary of their wedding day. Lady friends of the immediate neighborhood provided the refreshments which were served during the afternoon. Mrs. Wheeler and Mrs. Stephens, life-long friends of the Longs poured while Mrs. Dr. Scott, Mrs. Whitby, Mrs. Kaiser, Mrs. E. Clark, Mrs. West and others looked after the serving. Mr. and Mrs. Long were presented with a beautiful silver tray by Mrs. Whitby on behalf of immediate friends accompanied by their best and sincere wishes for many happy returns of the day. The surprised recipients thanked the donors for their kind expressions of good wishes and tangible evidence of their friendship which they hoped might long continue. Mr. Long who is showing steady improvement in health was rolling about in a handsome wheeled chair presented to him by several of his friends on New Year's eve.

The old time and modern dance held in the Elks hall last Friday night proved a very enjoyable affair and by the time the dance ended was well attended although as usual dancers were very late in arriving. The management states that the orchestra will play from 9:30 to 2 at these dances and everyone should arrange to be in attendance early. The New Orioles orchestra was exceptionally good and made a distinct hit with all present.

RED CROSS NOTES, VERMILION BRANCH

The local branch of the Red Cross packed and shipped another parcel to Red Cross headquarters in Edmonton last week, the contents being:

8 pr. bed socks, 11 pr. army socks, 12 pr. balaclavas, 7 pr. gloves, 3 ladies' auxiliary helmets, 1 lady's mitt, 7 pr. ladies' and misses' sox, 3 pr. ladies' sox, ankle sox, 3 turtle neck sweaters, 7 suits hospital pyjamas, 7 quilts, 4 jumper dresses, 1 scarf, 2 suits sleepers, 2 suits boys' pyjamas, 2 boys' blouses, 6 boys' shirts, making 79 articles in all. This shipment was somewhat smaller than usual owing to the holiday season and it is hoped that from now on they will grow large.

A good supply of materials is on hand at the workroom and other workers are greatly needed to help with the knitting and sewing which is of a simple nature.

Many thanks are extended to Rebekah Lodge and Union Community workers for quilts which they so generously donated.

Donations of old linen would be appreciated as these are needed in the layette sets made here.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

A Polish wing of the R.A.F. has destroyed 225 enemy planes over Britain and enemy countries.

A Parisian identified only as Gourlot was executed Jan. 9 for having arms in his possession, the German commandant of Paris announced.

Sqdn. Ldr. Stan Turner, veteran of Dunkirk air fighting and the Battle of Britain, has been placed in command of a Canadian fighter squadron, it was announced.

Inauguration of a university air training squadron at the University of Manitoba to start next autumn was announced by Dr. Sidney E. Smith, president of the university.

Swine now grow wheat in the parks and gardens of the League of Nations grounds at Geneva, Switzerland. Where statesmen once walked farmers now sow the grain needed so desperately by Europe.

Three of the planes which dropped United States leaflets over France were captained by Canadians and five other R.C.A.F. airmen took part in the raid as wireless operators or rear gunners

The Polish telegraphic agency reported it had learned from an escaped prisoner that the death rate in the German concentration camp at Oswiecim in Poland is 1,500 persons monthly.

Better For Close Fighting

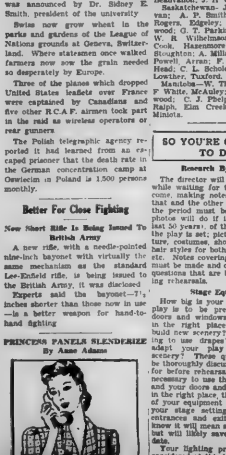
New Short Rifle Is Being Issued To British Army

A new rifle, with a needle-pointed nine-inch bayonet with virtually the same mechanism as the standard Lee-Enfield rifle, is being issued to the British Army, it was disclosed.

Experts said the bayonet—7½ inches shorter than those now in use—is a better weapon for hand-to-hand fighting

PRINCESS PANELA SLENDERIZE

By Anne Adams



Gone like magic are those extra pounds when you slip into this new, original jumper frock by Anne Adams . . . and what woman doesn't want to look slim and neat at home? Pattern 4837 does the trick to perfection, up-and-down princess panelling both in front and in back that makes for easy sewing too! A half-belt 1 buck assures a willow-waist look for you like the unusually-shaped collar and pockets" they would add a very gay outlined with contrasting ric-rac, together with the short sleeves. Both the collar and pockets may be made of contrast fabric—buttons are a bright color accent too. For street wear you'll like a long-sleeved version of this dress in crepe or wool instead of cotton. Let the Sewing Instructor help you finish it quickly

Pattern 4837 is available in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 takes 4¼ yards 35 inch fabric.

Send twenty cents (20c) in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly Size, Name, Address and Style Number and send orders to the Anne Adams Pattern Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermot Ave. E., Winnipeg, Man.

SO YOU'RE GOING TO DO A PLAY?

Research By Director

The director will be a busy person while waiting for the play books to come, making notes about this and that and the other thing. Pictures of the period must be looked up, (old photos will do if it was within the last 50 years; of the period in which the play is set; pictures of the furniture, costumes, shoes and stockings; hair styles for both men and women, etc. Notes covering all these details must be made on hand to answer questions that are bound to rise during rehearsals.

Stage Equipment

How big is your stage where your play is to be presented? Are the doors and windows in your scenery in the right place? Or must you build new scenery? Or are you going to use drapes? Or must you adapt your plays to the present scenery? These questions must all be thoroughly discussed and arranged for before rehearsals begin. If it is necessary to use the present scenery and your doors and windows are not in the right place, then draw a sketch of your equipment to scale and plan your stage settings and furniture, entrances and exits accordingly. I know it will mean a lot of work now but will likkly save grief at a later date.

Your lighting problems should be considered at this time. If there are any special effects needed or desired, discuss them with your stage manager and give him time to think about ways and means of devising effects at the least possible outlay of money.

It may be possible to get your costumer to start thinking about where this dress can be borrowed (and changed to fit if need be), where that wig or old hat can be found, where a fan is stored away, etc. Time is a great element in keeping down costs of production. For those who are doing a costume play where bright colors are needed as in "Sunday Coats Five Pence" use unbleached cotton to make the full skirts needed by the girls and make a paste as you would starch for the husband's shirts and add to this a little dye of the desired color and with an ordinary paint brush, paint on this mixture with the cloth spread out flat on papers on the kitchen floor. Let it dry and you have an excellent material for any colorful costume, either of the Mexican play or for the early English or Spanish court. No starch , less body and under lights, the effect is magical.

Rehearsal Space

If you are allowed to practice on the stage during your rehearsals you are indeed fortunate. However, many of us have to borrow a living room or an office and push back the furniture; then measure off a space as nearly the size of the stage to be used as possible. If not, measure space and use to a scale and arrange your furniture accordingly This will prevent your cast from "blowing up" too far when the transition to the stage is made. Two kitchen chairs tied together will do for a couch for a scene, a box for a small table, a bench for a bigger table, a shelf for a cupboard, etc. Imagination is sometimes the mother of invention.

Order Is Postponed

Vitamin-Rich Bread Cannot Be Obtained For Some Time

A two-month postponement of introduction of vitamin-rich flour and bread under standards approved by the Dominion government has been proposed by the Canadian milling industry because of the difficulty of making machinery adjustments and other changes, it was learned.

A meeting of representatives of the milling and baking industry was held in Ottawa recently when the whole subject was rev. wed.

Vitamin-rich flour and bread under the government-approved standards was to have been placed on the market on Feb. 1 but the industry has found the obtaining of machinery and supplies required for the changes a major problem.

In addition to supplies, the industry is also concerned over the setting up of facilities for complete testing of the flour to see the vitamin content is maintained to the extent required by the standards.

Horse Sense

Friend Of Man Has A Very Keen Sense Of Hearing

Few animals surpass the horse in the keenness of his hearing; yet there are a multitude of drivers who yell and shout as if the horse in front of them with the delicate and sensitive ear were 10 blocks away. We have sometimes been able to convey a sound to the horse we were driving much the person sitting beside us could not hear. The quiet, confident tones of the voice aid greatly in controlling the horse.

We do not like drivers who never talk to their horses, though there used to be a driver of a six-horse team in Boston known as "Silent Jim." People stopped often to watch him handle his team in difficult situations, backing, cramping, turning around, without speaking a word.

At any rate, please remember, whoever you are who drive, that your horse has no use of an ear trumpet to hear you.—Our Dumb Animals.

THE TEMPTATION OF JESUS

Golden text: For we have . . . one that hath been in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin. Heb brews 4:15.

Lesson: Matthew 4:1-11; Mark 1: 12, 13; Luke 4:1-13.

Matthew 4. Then was Jesus led up of the Spirit into the wilderness to be tempted of the devil. And when he had fasted 40 days and 40 nights, he afterward hungered. And the tempter came and said unto him, if thou are the Son of God, command that these stones become bread. But he answered and said, it is written, Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God. Then the devil taketh him into the holy city, and he set him on the pinnacle of the temple, and saith unto him, If thou art the Son of God, cast thyself down: for it is written,

He shall give his angels charge concerning thee:

On their hands they shall bear thee up, lest haply thou dash they foot against a stone.

Jesus said unto him, Again it is written, Thou shalt not make trial of the Lord thy God. Again, the devil taketh him unto an exceeding high mountain, and showeth him all the kingdoms of the world, and the glory of them; and he said unto him, All these things will I give thee, if thou will fall down and worship me. Then saith Jesus unto him, Get thee hence, Satan: for it is written, Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve. Then the devil leaveth him; and behold, angels came and ministered unto him.

For Young Composers

Canadian Performing Right Society To Continue Annual Scholarship Competition

Despite the continuance of the war, the Canadian Performing Right Society has decided to continue its annual scholarship competition for young Canadian composers on the same basis as that of 1941. Within the past few years it has been recognized everywhere that music is a great tonic to public morale. The emotional condition which music evalis is also a stimulus to creative effort among young people of inborn musical talent.

The 1942 competition will be the fifth of these events. Despite the outbreak of war in 1939, entries since submitted have shown a steady advance in quality, and several prize winners of past years have continued their activities on an expanding scale of excellence. What has been said before may be sincerely repeated; when the Canadian Performing Right Society initiated the plan it started a movement that has grown beyond the scope of the competition itself. Within the past four years original works by Canadian composers have been heard in radio and concert programs with ever-increasing frequency. This development has been markedly play national, as evidenced by the fact that in the four previous competitions seven of the nine provinces have been represented in the prize lists.

As in the past this year's contest is limited to entrants still under 25 on March 1st, 1942. Aspirants are required to submit two manuscripts, one of which should be a setting for a major award will be a scholarship (value $750) at the Toronto Conservatory of Music supplemented by three cash awards of $50 each.

The Junior Division instituted last year will be continued. It is open to competitors under 19 on March 31st, 1942, and provides three cash prizes of $25, $15, and $10 in order of merit.

Persons desiring to enter the competitions should write at once for application forms and copies of the rules to the head office of the Canadian Performing Right Society, Royal Bank Building, Toronto.

Health LEAGUE of CANADA presents TOPICS of VITAL INTEREST

SCIENCE OF NUTRITION

The importance of food and nutrition to a country at war has been constantly stressed by the Health League of Canada. Now the League learns with pleasure that fifteen leading U. S. food manufacturers have formed a Nutrition Foundation, the first co-operative scientific research laboratory to be created by the food industry.

George A. Mooney, in the New York Times, writes that "the foundation will be operated on a nonprofit basis to distribute freely discoveries in food and diet. The whole science of nutrition in direct relation to consumers will be studied.

"Dr. Karl T. Compton, president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, who heads the new foundation, explains that, "in view of the world-wide urgency of problems of nutrition which will inevitably have to be faced in the coming years, we felt that the launching of this foundation should no longer be delayed. Every day gained in the improvement of food and diet means increased human happiness and effectiveness.

"Paul B. Willis, president of the National Grocery Manufacturers of America, hails the foundation's formation as an important step on behalf of the whole food industry in its relationship with the public. . . . "There is an unprecedented demand for nutritious food for our civilian population, our armed forces and our allies. In order to make the best possible use of our great supplies, the trade must constantly seek new and better ways of processing and preserving food to get the maximum nutritive value from it."

Up To The Motorist

Simple Foresight Will Greatly Prolong Life Of Tires

Wise motorists will meet the restrictions on rubber with precautions against excessive tire wear. By taking thought, they can make the shortages of rubber bear less heavily on them. It requires simple foresight, in the way of driving at moderate speeds, keeping tire brakes checked periodically, and seeing that their wheels are in proper alignment. There is no telling how long it will be before tire sales can be resumed. Everything in the life of those you already have is up to you.—Windsor Star.

ANNE TEDLOCK BROOKS

What has gone before: A strange coldness has come between Ranny and Tamar because she resents what she believes interference in her affairs, the leasing of part of the Randolph plantation to Major Towne, who has found a rich pocket of gold ore. Tamar, Ranny, Dick Sheridan and his sister, Selby, have gone to a night club where the boys hope to find a way to prevent Knox Randolph signing a contract with Towne. During the evening Dick finds time to tell Tamar what ought to be done about the lease. Both young men become rivals for the affections of Tam. Ranny is just on the verge of proposing.

CHAPTER V.

Tamar's white dress sheathed her in its wraithlike folds as she leaned against the trunk of the big pear and waited for Ransome Todd to ask her. She knew that she was trembling, for in her heart she realized what he must say to her.

In his evening clothes Ransome still looked the part of an All-American halfback. As Tamar watched him through half closed eyes, she knew that he had caused the fluttering of many feminine hearts.

"Tamar," he said softly, "I want to ask you to forgive me."

She suppressed an almost uncontrollable desire to laugh. He wanted to ask her forgiveness for his kiss this afternoon! And she had thought

Ranny continued: "I'm afraid that I was carried away with my indignation about Major Towne coming in to mine the Cricket Hill. You can forget it, can't you?"

"Of course, Ranny. And I do think you were wonderful to go to Dick about it. I must thank you for helping us."

He took her hand and they wandered down to edge of the river. It lay shining like a stream of molten gold where the moon's path fell upon the water.

Ransome Todd's heart beat unsteadily. He wanted to take Tamar into his arms. He wanted to ask her to marry him, for he needed her desperately. Stafford would be heaven with this slender girl as its mistress. His father had decided to retire next month. His mother had been dead for the last five years, and the two men were lonely there. They needed a woman's presence.

As they walked along the path that had been made by many eager feet along the bank of the Chestatee, Tamar's thoughts were upon their earlier days together. Many moonlit nights while their elders had sat talking on the verandah, she and Ranny had taken hands for courage, and followed the Negros' path to their meeting house in the woods.

"Ranny, this is just like the night that we saw Brother Baacom baptize Phoebe's twins. Remember?"

"Do I?" his laughter rang out. "Remember how solemnly we sat on the bench? And how you wanted Brother Baacom to get you some religion?"

"I remember that Phoebe jerked me by the arm and said that my fetish would take me straight to perdition." She turned her face toward him. "The twins are doing all right in Birmingham. Phoebe has married and has twins of his own. Theophilus is running a burial society."

Ransome laughed. "Phoebe had a phobia for high-powered names. Aristotle for the last one!"

They lapsed into silence. They had shared so many childhood activities together.

"We'd better go back to the lodge. I'm afraid Aunt Jane has very polite as she suggested. For the first time in their relation together, they felt the constraint that their ages had put upon them. They would never be just a boy and girl again. Now they were man and maid, and the white moonlight lay about them, coloring their world with romance and emotion. Tamar felt the wistfulness that accompanied her passing youth.

The rest of the evening went quickly, and it was late when Ransome drove up the winding drive to Shadwell. He was thankful that Dick was in his car, for that allowed him to see Tamar every moment of the evening.

It was a lovely dinner party. Tamar said as she allowed Richard to help her out of the car. "Selby, do drive over one a'ternoon this week." She smiled at both of them. "Good night."

The next morning Tamar was determined to corner her father at the breakfast table and confer with him about the new contract. The moment her eyes opened she remembered she had something important to do. She sat up and her long black hair fell in waves to her shoulders. She bound it up quickly with the blue ribbon that had fallen off in the night, and with a toss of the comfort, sprang out of bed.

Tamar closed her shutter and began her exercises. Just before she raped into the bathroom for the shower, she touched the long rope that hung from her ceiling. It was a reminder of the better days. She pulled the cord. That was her signal to Phoebe that she would be down to the little sun-lit breakfast room to join her father in a few minutes.

Tamar put on a blue linen dress and brushed her hair back quickly, but it sprang out defiantly in curls about her white temples again

She ran down the long wide stairs. Her father was already at the table. She glimpsed the morning paper as she left the stairs.

"Hello, Dad," she said, kissing him.

He held her off at arm's length and smiled at her. His red cheeks were almost shining, and his blue eyes were the exact color of Tamar's. He hastily rose and seated her deferentially.

"Did you have a good time last night?" he asked.

She nodded. "Did you? You should have called Mums," she chided.

"I simply couldn't escape the major's clutches. I've made my apologies. Maria is eating her breakfast now, and we'll go up as soon as you're through."

Phoebe waddled in with a squat pitcher of batter to pour into the shining waffle iron, the only modern equipment in the room. "Morning, honey. Will you' hab a little sausage to go wit dat waffle?"

"Make it two, won't you Phoebe, please? I'm hungry this morning!"

"Mouta had a big chenin' wit Miss' Richa'd." There was nothing like a romance for Phoebe to ponder over and stir up into her household activities, to embellish at will. She rolled her big eyes at Tamar.

Tamar drank her orange juice and said, "Honestly, Phoebe, I'm ashamed of you. You're getting too old for romance. Let's see, your old man's been gone ten years now."

Phoebe clapped her hands on her hips and sniffed. "Fo'm, he ain't me wit Aristotle to help up. He's even been dald five years." She laughed, her plump body quivering. "But lakin' Dald, I reckon, Miss Tamar."

Maria Randolph was excited. Colorhad come into her pale cheeks, and her eyes shone with joy. She was happy with the thoughts of all that the money would do for all of them, and the beautiful romance of Richard Knox Randolph did not tell them that the Major had not yet agreed to sign.

"There is one thing that we must do, Tamar," her father said, as they went into the study. "There is an old trunk of papers that was up in the attic. They must be sorted. I'm sure that some of them are about the Cricket Hill.

"Grandfather's papers were never carefully gone over. Of course, the major had given the allowed Richard from which it reaches to other keys Home keys, the letters h, i, k, l, o, d, f, for right semi-colon, l, k, j.

The papers were yellowed and a faint film of dust was over all The hinges of the old trunk had rusted from disuse, and came open reluctantly. Ransome began sorting systematically.

Horses, Auction sales Old newspapers. Some of them dated where her grandfather was a young man

One packet of legal papers was tied about with a heavy cord. In it Ransome found several the cover said, The Cricket Hill Mine.

The cord had to be cut, and the papers came apart. She placed them neatly in piles. Near the centre of the packet was a paper whiter than the others. With interest she opened the document. Grandfather's neat flourish continued

"In the event the Cricket Hill produce during her lifetime, I bequeath half of the ownership to my dear granddaughter, Tamar Randolph, the other half to my son, Knox Randolph and his heirs, other than said granddaughter, Tamar."

Tamar gasped. It was a full minute before the words could penetrate her consciousness

Dogs Of War

Great Britain Now Training Dogs For War Service

The first and only establishment of its kind in Great Britain, at an Army school near London, is now training dogs lest by their owners for service during the war. Hitherto the work has been largely experimental; now a regular system is turning out fully trained dogs at a rapid rate.

Messenger dogs, mostly border collies and other sheepdogs, learn to carry despatches swiftly and silently under realistic battle conditions. Others, Alsatians and crosses of lurchers, greyhounds, terriers and so on, are trained in guiding patrols to enemy positions, or, for static defence, in giving warning of enemy approach. They act like pointers, although real pointers and other dogs cannot be used because their instinct for game might distract their attention from the war.

Britain's war dogs live in comfortable, roomy loose boxes, sometimes two or three together, and are fed on cooked horseflesh and biscuits. The officers and men who train them are selected for their peace-time experience with dogs.—British Industries Bulletin.

Danger! Liver Trouble is Serious

Are you nervous and irritable—can't sleep or eat—tired out all the time? If you're like that, a healthy liver is poisoning your whole system! Laxative Ill Health may be the result

Your liver is the largest organ in your body and most important to your health. It supplies energy to muscles, nerves and glands. If unhealthy, poisons in the blood may cause headaches, dizziness, clouded vision, sleeplessness. Again your liver pours out bile to digest food, get rid of waste and allow proper nourishment to reach your blood. When your liver gets out of order proper digestion and assimilation stop—you're poisoned with the waste that decomposes in your intestines. Nervous troubles and rheumatic pains arise from this poison. You become constipated, stomach and kidneys can't work properly. The whole system is affected and you feel "rotten," headachy, backachy, dizzy, tired out—a ready prey to colds and flu.

Thousands of people are never sick, and have won prompt relief from these miseries with "Improved Fruit-a-tives Liver Tablets." The liver is nosed up, the other organs function normally and feel the good health results. Today "Improved Fruit-a-tives" are Canada's largest selling liver tablets. They must be good! Red Cross Gets Keepsake

Major Bishop Started Collection Of Lead Foil In 1886

The treasured collection of lead foil which he had begun in 1886 was the keepsake turned over to the Red Cross by Major Walah Bishop, Kamloops, B.C., in a recent drive. Major Bishop, a great war veteran is a collector of antiques. He has travelled widely and this ball of lead foil which he had begun when he was 10 years old, went with him on his travels as a paper weight. CAMPBELL LAKE

Miss Alma Dittmer spent the week end at her home in Islay. She returned on Sunday with Mr and Mrs Frank Mead, who were visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred in Islay.

It was with pleasure that the members learned from Scotland over station CBK Monday night, by Pte John and Pte. Hughie Acheson at Island Hill, were received. They both reported being well, and wished all their Vermilion friends well.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Mead and family spent Saturday visiting with Mrs. Mead's mother, Mrs. Hanson, at Chipmanore.

There are some cases of chicken pox in the adjoining school district Except for the usual winter colds, the school has been free as disease this winter. Ar: it is to be hoped it will continue on.

Mrs. Inaman returned on Tuesday, from a short visit with her sister in Vermilion

Mr. and Mrs. Morley Swanson, of Coddale, are visiting at the home of Mr and Mrs. D. F. Swanson.

OBITUARY

WILLIAM STANDISH HALY HUTTON

The funeral service for the late William Standish Haly Hutton, who passed away on January 14th at his home in Islay, was held in the United church, Islay, at 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, Jan. 17th.

The service was conducted by the Ven Archdeacon Lovesedge of Vermilion, assisted by Rev. A. T. Bell of the United church, Islay. Interment was made in the Islay cemetery, J. Wurtzig had charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were: J. T. Pyle, T. Watt, R. L. Stone, W. Bell, D. Shiff and K. Markhand. Beautiful floral tributes were received from the following:

The Surrounding Family; Winnie, Vic Mabel, Eileen and Teddy; Members of St. Paul's, Islay; Mr. and Mrs. Arnold W. Inert; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Inert; Mr. George and Mrs. Cox; Simmons Children; Dr and Mrs. Sweet; The Bell Family; Mr. and Mrs. T.D. Watt, Ethel, Roger, Kenneth, Doreen and Betty; Fern and Carl Markhand; and George McNab; The Colton Family; Ray Stone and Kenneth.

Mr. Hutton was born in Madras, India, on November 1st, 1858, being the youngest son of the late Major General George Hutton. At an early age he was taken to Brighton, England, where he received his education in a private school and Brighton College. He later studied at the Royal Palace Engineering College in London, England, from which he graduated as a Civil Engineer.

In 1879 he came to Canada to Moncton, N.B. where he was in charge of a survey party on the International Railway, and later was employed as Assistant Engineer on the North Shore of Lake Superior by the C. P. Railway. In 1884 while in this work he was compelled to give up his engineering work and farmed in the Deseronto, Ontario, district. Later he went to Kingston where he was married Edith Julia Hanson of Stratford, Ontario. He later returned to engineering with the C.P.R. with headquarters at Ottawa, he employed for a period of about thirty years, having done engineering work in almost every province in Canada, including a survey of the line through Islay.

Mr. Hutton bought a farm in the Islay district, nine miles south of the town in 1914, and retired there in 1921 where he lived until October of this year when he and his family moved to Islay.

Mr Hutton enjoyed good health until a year ago and was in his 84th year at the time of his death. His was a kind genial nature, ever thinking of others and not of himself, never neglecting duty in matter of what cost to himself. He will be greatly missed by his surviving family and many friends

He leaves to mourn his loss his wife; four daughters, Mrs. C.V. Hope of Prince George, B. C.; Muriel at home; Queenie Price George, Mrs. August L. Inert of Dewberry, and one son, Leonard at home, his eldest son George having died in infancy. There are three grandchildren and one great-grandson.

PRESENTATION ADDRESS MADE TO REEVE OF VERMILION VALLEY M.D.

Norman McClellan Completes 30 Years on Municipal Council

On Saturday last Reeve Norman McClellan of Vermilion Valley was the recipient of an address and presentation by members of the municipal council. Mr. McClellan had celebrated his birthday just a few days previously, and has now since completed over 30 years as a member of the Vermilion Valley council. The little ceremony took place during a recess in the regular meeting at which the councillors were all present and a number of citizens of the town were also called in for the occasion. Besides the address, which was as follows, the presentation included a valuable fountain pen:

"Having now served this municipality either as councillor or reeve for a period of nine thirty years, we, the members of the present council, deem it only fitting and proper that public recognition be made of your services so willingly and faithfully rendered all those years.

To hold office for thirty years as a member of a Municipal Council is a record to be envied and denotes with it an indication of the faith and trust reposed in you by the ratepayers of this district, regardless of whether in your own particular division or not. This confidence must be a matter of gratification to yourself and may compensate you more than material benefit, for the time and energy spent in administrating the complex affairs of a rural Municipality.

It has been your lot to see great changes in our District since first elected to the council board, changes reflecting peoples—their customs, and their social and economic welfare, and no doubt you can now look back and feel that in your own humble way you have contributed not a little towards making for the improved condition in which we find our Municipality at the present day.

It is needless to add that as members of the immediate council we have always appreciated your spirit of fairness, courtesy, impartiality, tact and good judgment in dealing with our many problems, both large and small as they may have been. It has been a pleasure to us and profit by association as well to work under your wise and conciliatory guidance and indeed we have counted it as a great privilege.

We desire, therefore, on behalf of ourselves and the people whom we most of the good things of life and represent here, to express our deep appreciation of your services on this Council and to wish you many more years of continued activity in the sphere of municipal government in this district. As a token of this appreciation we ask you to accept the accompanying small gift to the end that while otherwise quite needless you will or may always have something tangible with you as a reminder of the close, harmonious and pleasant relations that have always existed, not only between you and successive councils boards, but between yourself and the people of the district as a whole in whose welfare you have invariably manifested untiring interest.

Wishing you and Mrs. McClellan many years of happiness and enjoy-you, yourself, continued service as a member of our Council body."

Yours respectfully,
A. McPhee, Dep. Reeve
A. Lord

M. Christofferson

VERMILION ELKS SPONSOR BENEFIT ICE CARNIVAL

50 P.C. of Proceeds for Air Cadet Organization; 50 P.C. for Public School Sports Equipment.

The Vermilion annual ice carnival which for the past few years has been sponsored by the local body of the I.P.O.E. will this year take the form of a grand benefit event, the entire net proceeds of which are being generously donated by the Benefit Board to the Vermilion Flight of Air Cadets and to the public school sports equipment fund. The tentative date of the carnival is Friday, February 27th.

Arrangements are already underway for a most varied and interesting program which will include Pee Wee hockey, all sorts of ice races, fancy skaters, juvenile hockey and a grand costume parade. Handsome prizes are being provided for every event.

The general public is urged to get behind the carnival with their moral and financial support. Advance tickets will be on sale this week end at all stores and by school children. There tickets will represent a saving over door admissions—so buy early and often!

Watch for bills and further details as to the program which will be published shortly.

EVERY BUSINESS REQUIRED TO HAVE A LICENSE

Price Ceiling Regulations

"Under the new Licensing Order-in-Council, every business in Alberta within the scope of the price ceiling regulations is required to have a license before March 31 next," So states A. Fraser Little, regional director of licensing for Alberta.

Many classifications of business exempted under the previous Order, must now take out licenses. These include dealers in furniture, hardware, jewelry, tobacco, stationery, drugs, plants and bulbs, opticians, tinsmiths, plumbers, paint firms, beauty parlors, barber shops, wholesale implement houses, electrical plants, and all wholesalers and retailers selling merchandise or services.

No charge is made for the license. Those already holding licenses have not apply anew. To prevent last-minute rush and inconvenience, business men are urged to avoid delay in securing licenses. Application forms are obtainable at the Regional Licensing office, 235 Tegler Building, Edmonton, or at any post office.

DATES CHANGED FOR LLOYDMINSTER CONSPIEL

DRILLING RIG DESTROYED IN FIRE, PRINCEVILLE WELL

General Drillers Portable Rotary A Complete Loss

General Drillers portable rotary drilling rig was completely destroyed by fire which broke out at the Princeville well near Borradaile at 2 a.m. Saturday. The fire loss is estimated around $16,000 and is partially covered by insurance.

The crew which had been working at the well all day Saturday was forced to abandon the location and reached the gate of the lease to return to Vermilion when an explosion occurred, apparently at the well head. Flames immediately shot up and quickly enveloped the drilling rig. The well had been extremely lively with gas pressure all day and this could be done to save the machinery. The fire also spread to the open rear storage pits and burned briskly there until the lighter top oils were consumed. The blaze had been put out by Sunday noon.

Very good work has been done with this portable rotary rig and it is understood that the company is now assembling another one in Calgary for use in the Vermilion field. The destroyed rig was used to drill the Princeville well early this spring, and later drilled the Acme No. 2. It is reconditioned Acme 2 this fall and had only been moved back to the Princeville well which was being conditioned for the installation of pumping equipment the day before the fire.

The fire did little damage to the Princeville well and it is now lowering to the extent of fifty barrels per day as usual under its own gas pressure.

ISLAY RED CROSS BRANCH RAISES OVER $700.00

I. D. Inman Elected President At Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Islay Branch of the Canadian Red Cross was held on Jan. 6th, 1942. The following offices were elected for the ensuing year:

President — I. D. Inman
Vice-President — Harold White
Sec.-Treas. — E. Martin
Entertainment committee W Reid
Rev. Mr. Bell, H. Young, Mrs Mr Neilly, Miss Yonkers. Canteen or supply committee, Mrs W S Easton

During the year 1941 the Islay Branch raised over $700 in cash and contributed well over 500 articles of finished goods for shipment overseas. The organization wishes to thank the ladies of the Kenilworth, Kohne and Trimbleville districts for their splendid contributions of finished articles.

A bingo party and dance will be held in Islay Community hall on Friday Jan. 30th under the auspices of the Red Cross branch

RICHARDSON WELL NOW PUMPING 75 BBLS. PER DAY

The Standard reported last week that the Richardson No. 1 well had been prepared for production and would be put on the pump Thursday or Friday. The new level of oil standing in the hole was bailed on and pumping equipment installed. Pumping commenced at the rate of 125 barrels per day for the first two days and has since settled down to a steady 75 barrels a day.

It is possible that several new drilling rigs will enter the Vermilion field before summer. Representatives of at least two companies have visited the town during the past week with a view to lining up drilling contracts.

Vermilion Consolidated has put in hand an ultra modern well completion and production rig which

Highlights of the Financial Statement

Ratepayers have now received their copy of the financial statement, outlining the financial operations of the Town of Vermilion, the Electric Light and Power Plant, and the School District and doubtless were pleased to note steady improvement in the position of the respective units.

THE TOWN

It is a matter of some gratification that of the current tax levy of $62,-234.68 collections totalled $47,982.82, or more than 100 per cent of the levy; this condition has existed in Vermilion for several years past and indicates better conditions among ratepayers and consistent action on the part of the Council in making collections.

Cancellations of taxes, during the year, amounted to slightly over $3,000 and this amount is largely accounted for by cancellations which are required to be made by our proper-ties taken over by the town under the provisions of the Tax Recovery Act of accumulations of tax arrears.

EDUCATIONAL TAX

The Educational Tax was responsible for bringing almost $650 into the coffers of the town and this amount was forwarded over to the mill which was thus removed from the shoulders of the overburdened property taxpayers. There is little doubt that with a number of persons earning their living in Vermilion reaped payment of this tax and eliminating it they should be eventually bring in cash in the vicinity of $900 annually.

UNCOLLECTED TAXES REDUCED

Uncollected taxes have shown a steady reduction for several years but the town still has the rather embarrassing amount of $20,000 in this category. It is hoped that the incoming Council will give favorable consideration to an extension of the field in the coming year; doubtless by and large favorably situated as a school town with respect to air development and it is not to be found lacking in basic facilities given the locally-owned light and power plant.

THE POWER PLANT

A few years ago there was a requirement to depreciate the electric light and power plant, on the basis of the then type of operation the move was dropped and the depreciation fund, recently, however attention has been renewed on losses to natural asset, the old basis of 4 per cent will be in future be replaced by a thorough but new policy to pay as we go out of the earnings of the plant. This is now a sizable fund or doubtful debt on the electric light mill

An amount of $12,815 is shown as "Bad Debts" and the "Bad Debts Written Off" and this item is merely an adjustment of items in excess of what was actually collected and does not aggregate any important amount

TOWN DEBENTURES ALL RETIRED

Town debentures have now been fully retired and, for the first time in many years, Council will find it unnecessary to make any levy for debenture redemption; so may now be said to own our town hall, sidewalks and fire tanks and it might be better perhaps, if we did not carry too large to future their actual costs with the debenture interest added. It will be found much more profitable in the end ways and means of retaining five-to debenture and other indebtedness ... to continue the "pay as you go" ... which has finally resulted in a ... liquid position

ARENA RINK

The Arena rink has again resulted in an operating loss of about $1000, and despite this fact, it is generally felt that the young people of the town need the entertainment and exercise provided by means of skating and hockey facilities offered and that the ratepayers would be remiss in their duty to the young people, should entertainment of the rink facilities be offered.

STREET LIGHTING

Street lighting charges were increased during the year by Council from $1200 to $1300 and while it may be argued that such drastic increase may be difficult to justify, it should be realized that other towns are paying a considerable higher price for this benefit and it is a matter for congratulation to the members of the Council, rather than the reverse, that they have seen fit to give credit to the power plant for the service provided.

INDIGENT RELIEF

Indigent relief continues to be more or less of a thorn in the flesh and amounts to a considerable figure each year; the Province, however has found ways and means to throw this burden on the towns, and there appears to be nothing left to be done to effectively better the situation.

MISCELLANEOUS EXPENSES

Provision for civic holiday was next and resulted in an outlay of something over $600, while alteration at street lighting pole line system on the south side, made necessary by the building of a more suitable road leading into town, has cost some $350, there are items which will not again be necessary for many years. The amount spent on airport facilities was negligible this year and it is hoped the incoming Council will give favorable consideration to an extension of the field in the coming year; doubtless by and large favorably situated as a school town with respect to air development and it is not to be found lacking in basic facilities given the locally owned light and power plant.

REQUISITIONS MET IN FULL

Satisfaction will be felt by all interested when it is realized that all arrears of Hospital and School Board requisitions have been paid in full and that current requisitions are also on hand met; there is no ... balances due either institution.

BANK LOANS NEGLIGIBLE

Bank loans remain small, there is no ... due at the end of 1940 and doubtless it will be possible to remove this item from the liability column at the next annual statement, current liabilities of the town are merely those necessary to current operations and they do not aggregate any important amount

V-FOR-VICTORY APRON IS NEW
By Anne Adams

In tune with the times is this smart apron by Anne Adams! Patterns that have a V key theme with the shoulder straps—the back buttons together. The apron dips in a V in front and has optional V-shaped pockets. A V-shaped yoke appliqued on the bodice in a contrasting shade, is an added touch. Or you can make the yoke and band border of contrast, as in version A. For help with details like the applique, follow the clever Sewing Instructor. Make one version for yourself, another perhaps as a gift for a friend who is doing "Victory" work; in one of the many attractive "V-for-Victory" prints!

Pattern 4936 is available in sizes small (32-34 medium (36-38), large (40-42) and extra large (44-46). Small size, view A, takes 1¾ yards 35 inch fabric and 1 yard contrast; view B, 1¾ yards 35 inch fabric and ¾ yard contrast.

Send twenty cents (20c) in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly Size Number, Address and Style Number and send order to the Anne Adams Pattern Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermot Ave. E., Winnipeg, Man.

No Real Difference

While the German generals would probably all take delight in wringing the neck of the corporal who has become a more conspicuous figure than any of them, there is no essential difference between Prussianism and Hitlerism. Prussianism is the high brow and Hitlerism the hoi brow variety of the same thing.

SO YOU'RE GOING TO DO A PLAY?

Rules Of Technique

When you learn to read you are taught the alphabet and phonics. But after a short time you just read right along and only when you come to a difficult word do you go back to your basic rules of alphabet or sounds. So it is with the rules in the theatre. You learn them, they become automatic and you forget you ever were taught them. So I think while we are waiting for the books to come, we will review those rules for the benefit of the old "Trouper" and the young actor making his appearance for the first time.

Lines

Learn your lines and stage business together, thus giving the illusion of being natural in your surroundings and familiar with everything about you. This it most difficult where everything is artificial. Repetition of a word or line is for emphasis, but when ever become monotonous. For example: "Go away, I hate you, please go away." I hate you." Emphasis on the words in bold type. The pause, used to stress a word or phrase by pausing either before it or after it. For example: "Madam, I agree with you. It is the most . . . beautiful flower I've ever saw." After the word "most" pause and count four, to give the illusion of searching for the right word (marvelous, numbing, bright, clear, cool etc.) and then choose "beautiful." The audience knows, then you have discarded the other words first.

When making an exit, give part of your speech before starting (lower the exit, pause at the door, and give the remainder of speech. Then go out. (The script will not show you where to break exit speeches but try them and find out how effective it can be. For example the script might say (as in "Mr. Sampson", a very fine one act play) when Mr. Sampson exits he says: "That is going out: "Well, Marm, there ain't nothing else for it but I run her, so we'll try your plan. (Here, Mr. Sampson moved to the door to deliver the remainder of his speech). All the same, (And here he could spit out he don't help wishing I had been born a heathen Turk, so I do." (He goes out).

Listen to the whole speech of all other actors each time your cue line. This creates the illusion of your interest as if hearing the story for the first time. Never make unnecessarily while others are talking. This gives the impression that you are hearing the lines for the first time. Never anticipate what your co-worker is going to say. (If you do anticipate, it is known in the theatre as line pulling and is very bad form). Don't be an exhibitionist or try to steal the whole show for yourself. Team work at all times makes for a united whole.

Never say to your director, "Oh, don't you worry about me. I'll have these lines up for the night of the show, I'll be alright." Sure, that actor may be alright, but will do things that will never did any other time and will possibly throw a monkey wrench into the whole works and put the rest of your cast so on edge that they are desperate. As soon as any actor tells you that, just tell him that you are not interested in what he can do the night of the show unless he can show you at every rehearsal for the sake of the team work with the rest of the cast.

When the audience laughs with you, it is compliment. Do not hurry along with your lines, but wait and let them have their laugh. Then as it is subsiding, pick up your line (or cue as call it), and proceed. Big & difficult emotional scene it has been found if you say your words as you let your breath escape it has a throaty quality which is quite good. For example, fill your lungs with breath as the previous speaker concluded his speech, and with eyes flashing say, "I hate you (stamp your feet), I hate you, go away, I never want to see you again." (You may need a new breath at the semi-colon, but with practices you will get quite a good effect.

Wash you cry avoid noisy tears. Much can be done by patting beneath the eyes with a handkerchief and sniffing quietly. Be sure to follow through the action as the physical reaction of sobbing cannot be stopped in a second.

Storing Potatoes

In the storage of potatoes towards the spring when the air is warm, it may be necessary to open ventilators and doors at night when the air is cool and to close them in the morning. By this means the potatoes may be kept dormant for a much longer period.

PLANES OF THE R.C.A.F. and how to spot them
APPROVED BY THE ROYAL CANADIAN AIR FORCE

HERE we truly have a giant of the skies. The Liberator has a wing span of 110 feet—and an overall length of 63 feet—there are few today any larger than this colossal airplane.

It is essentially a long-range, high capacity bomber, with a range of 2,300 miles at a cruising speed of 230 m.p.h. It has the astounding top speed, however, of over 330 m.p.h.—much faster than a great many of the fighter planes in use today. Naturally, its most salient feature is its size, although the twin fins and rudders are also good recognition points.

The landing gear is of the tricycle type and all three wheels are retractable when in flight. Powered by 1,200 h.p. air-cooled engines, the Liberator gets its almost 3,000 h.p.

The service ceiling is also exceptionally high at 34,000 feet. It carries a crew of six, and while there are guns in turrets at both nose and tail, and other guns mounted in the fuselage, details of its armament are not released at the present time.

Explanation Wanted

Perhaps the army's foot-sloggers can explain this one without much slop: A Englishman who bought 50,000 gairs of old army boots to make them serviceable for himself, discovered 6,000 boots for the left foot were beyond repair. 2448

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON
FEBRUARY 1

JESUS CALLS FOUR DISCIPLES

Golden text: "Come ye after me, and I will make you to become fishers of men." Mark 1:17.

Lesson: Matthew 4:18-22; Mark 1: 16-20; Luke 5:1-11.

Devotional reading: Psalm 92:1-4, 12-15.

Explanations and Comments

Jesus Directs Two Fishermen. Luke 5:1-4. The western shore of the Lake of Gennesaret—better known to us by its other name of Sea of Galilee—was densely populated in the time of Christ. There were several hundred fishing boats on the lake, and it was celebrated for its great shoals of fish. Capernaum, the city which Jesus made his headquarters throughout his ministry, was a prosperous city on the northwestern shore of the lake. To escape from the crowds that thronged him on the day whose events Luke records in our text, Jesus entered a boat belonging to Simon Peter and asked him to push away from the shore. Then he sat there and taught the people on the shore.

The discourse ended, Jesus turned to Peter and bade him launch out into the deep water and cast down his net for a draught of fish.

The Order Obeyed and the Result, Luke 5:5-7. Peter was amazed at the order. He was an experienced fisherman; his Master was not. Should he obey?

"Master, we toiled all night, and took nothing." Peter told Jesus, but promptly added that at the word he will let down the nets.

So great a catch was the result of his action that his net was in danger of breaking from the weight of the fish, and he called to his partners in another boat, James and John, to come to his aid. Both boats were soon so heavily filled that it seemed as though they must sink.

Peter's Reaction, and Jesus' Response, Luke 5:8-11. It was an act on Jesus' part so wonderful and kindly that Peter saw Jesus as he was, and seeing, loathed himself. The presence of purity and power stimulates the sense of guilt. Falling down at Jesus' feet he cried, "Depart from me; for I am a sinful man, O Lord!"

"Fear not, from henceforth thou shalt catch men," was Jesus' response to Peter's words.

When they had brought their boats to land, they left all and followed Him. Some one has said that God never calls an idle man. The four men laid down their nets, forsook their boats, their callings as fishermen, and their peaceful homes, for the privilege of being with Jesus at their Master's feet and learn of Him, and then to carry on his work.

No Use Going On

Spectator, If Asked, Could Have Saved Time Of Rescue Squad

For three days a Londoner had leaned against the railings outside an A.R.P. demolition squad at work on the ruin.

Bowler hat on the back of his head, an old clay pipe stuck in one corner of his mouth, he just stood and stared without a word. Then, at the end of the end of the third day, the foreman's nerves broke under this silent scrutiny. He went over to the solitary spectator.

"Listen," he said. "Haven't you got anything better to do than watch other people work? Or maybe you're interest in this particular property, eh?"

"Well, in a sort of way, chum," he said. "I used to live 'ere."

"Lumme!" exclaimed the foreman. Then he turned to his gang. "Pack up, boys," he shouted. "'Ere's the bloke we've been digging for."

Some Beating Accident

Irish Newspaper Clever Enough To Get News Past Censor

Irish censors do not permit mention in Irish publications of the fighting with the Allies, of decorations they may win, or of casualties. For example, the Irish Times had a few weeks ago printed a picture of a former member of its editorial staff, who, since last May, had been serving with the British navy on the Prince of Wales. Under the picture was the comment:

"Friends of John A. Robinson, who was involved in a recent boating accident, will be glad to learn that he is alive and well."

Health LEAGUES of CANADA present TOPICS of VITAL INTEREST

CARE OF THE TEETH

The average number of decayed teeth per person in United States is six, according to the latest figures released by health authorities.

This means that there are in United States to-day 800 million cavities, causing all sorts of illnesses from pains in the neck to conditions which prevent ordinary work.

Defective or deficient teeth caused the rejection of more men examined for U.S. military service, up to February of last year, than any other physical defect.

The Health League of Canada, in discussing these figures to-day, urged citizens of Canada to take advantage in seeing their dentist at least every six months.

While there are no actual records available in Canada of the number of decayed teeth, health officials said that the number would not be as high as in United States, per capita.

It was admitted, however, that thousands of persons who had offered their services for the Canadian navy, army or air force had been turned down because of bad teeth.

Periodic examinations of every man, woman and child in Canada would reduce the amount of sickness and suffering, health officials pointed out. For many years now, they have been urging citizens to see their dentist at least every six months, and their dentist once every six months.

"The prevention of disease is more important than an attempt to cure disease," it was stated at Health League headquarters in Toronto. "Health can be preserved. It is not so easy to cure once it has made inroads in the human body."

Provided With Iron Ration

24-Hour Work Good Substitute For Beer Or Bread If Needed

Britain's civilian population has been provided with an "iron ration" for the first time in history. Thousands of tins of it have been stored in depots from one end of the country to the other, states the British Ministry of Food. The ration is a dry wheaten biscuit scientifically balanced, and it has been produced against the possibility of an invasion holding up the normal baking of bread. Bread stales rapidly because its high moisture content. The iron ration biscuit has only 8¼ per cent. of moisture and it keeps indefinitely. Its actual ingredients are wholewheat, fat and sugar. Its vitamin content is unimpaired by baking.

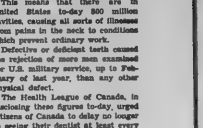
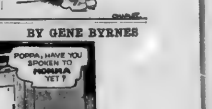
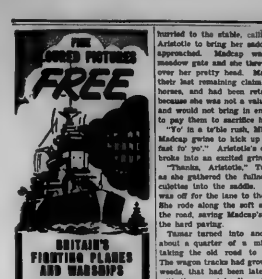
MICKIE SAYS—





REG'LAR FELLERS—An Important Question



"ALL THAT GLITTERS"
— By —
ANNE TEDLOCK BROOKS

What has gone before: Ranny, in love with Tamar, tries to declare himself as they are together in the moonlight along a river bank, one of their favorite spots. But Tamar still looks upon Ranny as a childhood chum, refusing to let him as a grown man. For the time being her feeling of resentment because he has sought to interfere in the letting of a contract for swimming operations on the old plantation, has passed. But she does not want him to propose. The next day Tamar decides to scour the old attic for papers long since musty. And in the attic she makes a startling discovery.

CHAPTER VI.

Tamar sat staring at the document. She was half-owner of the Cricket Hill Mines! Pushing aside the musty, yellowed papers and springing to her feet, she gave a little incredulous laugh. What would she do with her share in the Cricket Hill?

Remembering her promise to separate the papers connected with the mine from the remainder of the contents of the trunk, Tamar continued the rest of her task. It was slow work, and she became engrossed with dust from her hands, as she pushed her hair from her temples.

As she worked, she thought about the consequences that her finding the document might have upon the new contract. If the major were reluctant to sign, perhaps the very fact that she was part owner might have a great deal of bearing upon it.

Tamar's deft fingers flew over the remaining contents of the trunk. Not stopping to replace them, she glanced briefly to wash her hands and dashed down the stairs. She did not want to pause to give her mother a message, for the explanation would take time. She must get to the mine as soon as possible.

Her father had driven the car and it would take too long to walk. She hurried to the stable, calling out to Aristotle to bring her saddle, as she approached. Madcap was at the meadow gate and she threw a bridle over her pretty head. Madcap was their last remaining claim to saddle horses, and had been retained only because she was not a valuable mare and would not bring in enough cash to pay them to sacrifice her.

"We is a stroke run, Miss Tamar? Madcap gwine to kick up dem heels fast for yo'." Aristotle's ebony face broke into an excited grin.

"Thanks, Aristotle," Tamar said as she gathered the fullness of her culottes that she wore to ride, then was off for the lane to the highway. She rode along the soft shoulder of the road, and Madcap's feet flew the hard paving.

Tamar turned into another trail about a quarter of a mile farther on, taking the old road to the mine. The wagon tracks had grown up with weeds, that had been lately crushed with the recent hauling of materials for equipping the mine.

As she rode along the scrub trees grew thicker in the red sandy soil and the way grew rougher. In the clatter of hoofs on the stones, the trees that hugged the bank of the Chestatee. A crow called and a hawk flew in unsteady circles above the woods on Cricket Hill.

Tamar heard a sudden blast and the ground rumbled. They were blasting with dynamite in the lower tunnel of the old mine.

"Whoa, Madcap!" She drew the mare up shortly. She could see the temporary quarters of the crew who had been testing the ore. Three tents stretched their khaki-colored walls in the shade of a clump of pines.

It seems strange to find men moving here she thought as she rode on, when she and Ransome Todd used to ride over to Cricket Hill they had been forbidden ever to enter the old mine for fear of cave-ins.

But it had been a place where they could dramatize stories of mining. They had been explorers one month during summer vacation. She remembered that Ranny had brought a book about mining and that they had pored over it, trying to eat the Major's barbecue and have a conference with Dick Sheridan. Ranny had found out something more about this. How much is fair for you to eat the Major is free, and Ranny's book had proved as legal evidence of your grandfather's will."

"I'll go back to the house, and wait for you. Why don't you ask the Major and," she hesitated a moment, then, with determination went on, "and the engineer, Chistopher Sands, for lunch?"

If her father noticed the slight pause in the invitation, he appeared not to have given it thought. "A very good idea, Tamar. The appearance of the living room should be more conducive to thinking than this stable," he laughed.

As Tamar turned away to get in Madcap's saddle for the return ride, she heard the voice of the engineer emerge from the opening of the mine. Sands wore a miner's hat with a light on it. He walked straight in the sun, rubbing his hands across his eyes to accustom them to the glare.

"Come on, let's go sit on this tree trunk," she suggested.

She held out the packet and selected the least yellowed of them. "I noticed this in the first place, because it looks newer. Recognize the handwriting?"

"Of course. It is my father's, Tamar." He took the paper and opened it. He read it through quickly, and she noted that a deep crease furrowed the center of his brow.

"Isn't that just like Father?" he said, starting off into space. "Do you remember how he used to ride you on his shoulders, down to see the horses Tam? How he loved you?"

He touched the paper. "I didn't even look through the packet of documents. It was marked 'Cricket Hill Mine' and I never thought of anything coming of it. That's unbelievable!"

"I think this will throw an entirely new light on the whole situation."

"I knew that you had given your word that he could lease the mine. And I know that it was an unfair advantage to have your word before the ore was assayed. Ransome and Dick are certainly right about it; and yet I know how you feel after giving the Major the word to go ahead on the mine."

"I'll admit that I felt that I have no right to ask the Major to sign the new contracts. But this discovery certainly gives you a very big right to have a voice in the deal."

"You understand, Dad?" she said anxiously, "that this paper doesn't mean a thing to me. The Cricket Hill Mine belongs to you and mother. But I felt that it might have a great deal to do with getting the Major to sign the new contracts."

The smile that touched the corners of his mouth had risen and lit his eyes. Even in the brief space of time allotted to the restitution of

Tracing A Wild Duck

Whitewood In New York City And Shot In Same Bay Area

The interesting tale of a black duck which wintered in a sanctuary in the heavily-populated New York area only to meet its fate in a sparsely-settled region of northern Ontario is revealed by a recent bird-banding return received by the Department of Mines and Resources. The bird was shot in the autumn of '41 in the vicinity of Fort Albany, Ontario, on the west coast of James Bay, and subsequently identified by means of the official numbered band it wore showed that the duck had been banded at the New York Zoological Park in the New York Bay during the winter of 1939. Although the duck found a safe winter home in the park it had left the metropolitan sanctuary and migrated northward in the spring to attend to nesting duties.

This incident is another illustration of the value of marking birds with official numbered bands. The annual reports of such records of the recovery of banded birds of many different kinds of birds are issued by the bird-banding bureaus in North America. By studying this "accumulation of data, ornithologists and conservationists solve many problems relating to the conservation and administration of native wild birds as an important natural resource.

In North America the bird-banding investigations are conducted in full co-operation between the Department of Mines and Resources, Ottawa, and the United States Fish and Wildlife Service, Washington, D.C. Hundreds of voluntary workers, who hold permits issued under the authority of the Migratory Birds Convention Act, carry on bird-banding operations the year round. Private citizens can help this work by reporting to Ottawa or Washington any banded birds which come to their attention.

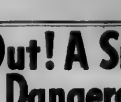
Look Out! A Sick Liver is Dangerous

Do you have persistent headaches, constipation? Are you bothered by digestive pains in stomach and bowels? A healthy liver is clogging your whole system. Serious ill health may result.

Your liver is the largest organ in your body and it's supposed to pour out a full pint every day to digest, clean and absorb. Nobody, your body lacks this energy and becomes infected—poisoned with disease. Again your liver pours out bile to digest food, get rid of waste and allow proper nourishment to reach your blood. When your liver gets out of order proper digestion and nourishment stop—you're poisoned with the waste that decomposes in your intestines. Nervous troubles and rheumatic pains arise from this poison. You become constipated, your whole system is poisoned and you feel "rotten," headachy, backachy, dizzy, tired-out—ready for sickness and disease.

Thousands of people are never sick, and have won prompt relief from these miseries with "Improved Fruit-a-tives Liver Tablets." This liver is tuned up, the other organs function normally and lasting good health results. Today "Improved Fruit-a-tives" are Canada's largest selling liver tablets. They must be good. Try them yourself NOW. Let "Fruit-a-tives" put you back on the road to lasting health—like it did for Mrs. E. Sudsbury, Lindsay, Ont.



"Sick For Years, In Hospital—Then Fruit-a-tives Did Me Good"

I had a bad case of constipation and a constant headache and backache. I became so ill I had to go to hospital for a long time. They said I had appendicitis and I was taking Epsom salts all the time. At last I got relief from my troubles after I started taking Fruit-a-tives. Now I am free from headaches or backaches and can put the back on the road to lasting health.

Meat Was Not Included In Things British People Miss

Miss Diana Darling writing in the London Times states that in a Woman's Institute Roll-call recently the roll-call on "What I miss most as a result of wartime restrictions." Of the 50 members present about 40 said thirds were village women whose husbands and sons are engaged in manual labor and their first answer was meat fruit by a long short head for top place, next, quite a long way behind, came cheese and butter and thereafter was a sprinkling of various things, down to a pathetic a bathroom fitting from the wives of evacuated business men. Nobody mentioned meat at all.

Had No Manners

Rideswirp Showed What He Was While Ambassador In London

Even the instances of Junker manners of the late German Kaiser, as recorded during World War I by Postlney Bigelow, are surpassed by those of Hitler's Foreign Minister, von Rideswirp, when he was over at London. A collection of them is made in "Men Do Not Weep," a book just out in London.

The author, Beverley Nichols, relates that a well-meaning friend of his, who anxious to promote the good will between Germany and Britain had arranged a small lunch party with Rideswirp as the chief guest and other guest was Lady Chamberlain.

He arrived late, refused food and drink with a sort of general contradiction, implied that hoteters were non-Aryan and finally banged on the table with such force that the wine glasses sang. In order to command attention for a 20-minutes' lecture on the German colonial question.

Finally the party fled that they were receivers of stolen goods. Then he clicked his heels and stood erect of the room.

CUMMINGS FLASHES

A largely attended surprise party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman May in honor of their son Red, who is home from R.C.A.F. duties on leave. During the evening he was presented with a pen and pencil set. There was lots of entertainment and dance and all in all everyone had a grand time.

A whist drive and dance was held at Heatherbell school on Friday night last and drew a crowd of some fifty. Peter was the first and Mr. Gay on the men's. A number of the older folks stayed and played cards while the younger ones danced. Time got together and are surely enjoyed by the older ones too, keep them up every one, it cheers a fellow up.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Barlow spent the week end in the city. Miss Gladys Lawson is also holidaying in Edmonton.

Jack Kennedy is back in hospital and we all hope that his operation is a success and that he will soon be up on his pegs again.

Herbert Keough has joined the R.C.A.F. and expects to leave in a few days as soon as the family gets over the chicken pox.

Miss Turner of the nursing staff of the Vermilion hospital spent a few days visiting at the Norman May home last week end.

The hills are even getting here with this mild weather, and if this keeps up the tractors will soon be on the land and certainly can't kick about the cold weather this winter so far. It has been easy on feed as well as on the stock and feed.

JUVENILES HOCKEY TEAM WINS FROM HEATHERBELL

Good Crowd Witnesses 4-2 Victory Saturday Night

The Vermilion high school juvenile hockey team took the measure of the Heatherbell Pliers on saturday night by a 4-2 score, in a game that was close and in doubt until the final bell. The Heatherbell team predominated in the first period but the youngsters gradually prevailed until they had a decided edge in the final canto.

The southern boys were playing without the services of their veteran defence man, Manson Barr, who was out with a bad cold, while the town boys were also minus one defence player, Ike Knoll, who is down with the mumps at present.

Stanley Hall in the Pliers opened the scoring in the first period when he slipped one past Chap Coster from a melee to the side of the goal, Clarence Barr making the play. Dene Easton came right back to tie the score about midway but Barr scored a beauty from the left boards and Heatherbell led 2-1 at the brother.

The second period saw youth and energy asserting itself and the youngsters tallied twice, Lou Williams getting them both, the first on a play with Nolan and the second on a combined play with Nolan and Spencer, to put the Juvenile one up at the close of the second. The only goal in the third was also shot by Dene Easton which somehow got by Cliff Reid in the southerners' nets.

There were some 200 fans on hand when Waldenburger referred the game.

Line-ups: Heatherbell—Reid, Marnoch (Breyer), Hinton, C. Barr, Knoll jr. B Staden, D Staden, Meadow.

Vermilion Cooper, Manjuk, Davis Kennedy Reid, D Easton, K Easton, Ted Reid Williams, Spencer, Nolan

IT'S YOUR BUSINESS

Friday evening in the Memorial hall the members of the Town Council, the School Board and the Municipal Hospital Board, will come before the ratepayers with the reports of their year's work. It is a meeting of major importance, and every ratepayer should make a special effort to attend. After all, it's your business, and it is a fairly substantial business at that, you'll find. If you study the printed financial statements which you receive in your mail on Tuesday morning. How many other businesses here handle as much money as does the town? In 1941 over $107,000 were paid into the town office. The school board will handle about $28,000 and the hospital board $47,000. These are large amounts and their proper administration presents many problems which are dealt with during the year by the various boards, so that the public's business, your business, can be carried on. The men serving on these public bodies are entitled to your interest — come out on Friday evening and see what they have been doing.

Canada, the United States and Britain have established a new joint board to purchase and allocate raw materials required for war-time production. Board is known as "Joint Materials Co-ordination Board of the United States, Canada and Gt. Britain."

"Do Something Daily to Lick Hitler"

The Canadian Legion of Liverpool, N.S., have set aside their claim on the old German guns which they helped to capture in the last war in the Interests of a renewed salvage campaign. Part proceeds will be devoted to the Queen's canadian fund.

The head of the largest Liverpool industry, Col. C. H. C. James of the Mersey Paper Co.—which has already given $1,000 to the Queen's Fund—is leading the new drive. The slogan will be: "Do Something Daily, Even Each a week, to Help Lick Hitler!" All organizations in the community are asked to help. The drive started with a parade of the old guns, drawn by ex teams, to the melting pot.

ISLAND HILL

The local Junior Red Cross is sponsoring a whist drive and dance at the school Friday, Feb. 6th. Everyone in the district should make it a point to attend for needless to say the Red Cross deserves the support of every canadian. See advert in this issue.

Mr. C. Hall, inspector, paid a visit to the school here Wednesday.

Ned Acheson did several hours sawing for Mr. H. B. Evans Monday. He was assisted by Alex Scott, C. Mills, F. McDaniel, J. Williamson and E. Arnold.

Norman Armstrong was elected as trustee at this S.D. Saturday.

A large contingent from here went to Campbell Lake school Friday and report a jolly time.

Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Evans on Sunday.

Alex Acheson has accepted a position in Edmonton and proceeded there Monday.

We were in error when we reported in a previous issue of the paper that Ned had got a job for the duration. Ned went to the city alright but he returned home smiling accompanied by a real flyer named Miss Fargo — He will step on the gas now in great style.

This week heralds the anniversary of the birth of Robert Burns and once more the inner tie ratepayer is honored by fourteen the world over and many who are not Scots will honor the memory of the man who was a great poet and a true democrat.

Stanley Hall is expecting a call one of these days to join the Air Force. Keep them flying Stan.

How Rent Control Affects You — as a landlord — as a tenant

As a part of the general plan to halt further increases in the Cost of Living, the Government on December 1, 1941, extended the policy of the Price Ceiling to rentals for all commercial and housing accommodation in Canada. Generally speaking the new rental laws provide that:

(1) No oral or written lease for any commercial or housing accommodation (furnished or unfurnished) may legally be made after October 11, 1941, at a rental higher than the rental lawfully payable under the lease in effect on that date unless an application for increased rental has been made to and approved by a local Rentals Committee of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. Such an application must be based on specified circumstances existing since October 11, 1941.

NOTE: Land and premises used solely for farm purposes are not subject to rent control.

(2) A tenant is entitled to a removal of his lease unless the landlord requests the premises for certain reasons named in the Board's Rental Orders and has given the tenant a written notice to vacate within the time and in the manner prescribed therein. If this notice to vacate is contested by the tenant, the landlord must secure a Court Order for possession.

(3) Copies of all Rental Orders and Regulations of the Board and application forms for rental variations are available from any of the regional offices of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, and, in areas where such offices are not yet established, from the Clerk of any county or District Court or local Rentals Committee.

VIOLATIONS of these orders are punishable by fine and should be reported in writing to the Prices and Rents Commissioner, Regional Office, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, at the nearest of any of the following cities: Vancouver, Edmonton, Regina, Winnipeg, Fort William, Toronto, Montreal, Sackville, Montreal, Quebec, Saint John, Halifax or Charlottetown.

Carried that $25 be apportioned to each Div. for removal of snow from roads.

Cr. Ramsay cd. the adjournment. Next meeting to be called by Reeve and Sec'y if necessary.

MORE PRODUCE EXEMPT FROM PRICE CEILING REGULATIONS

While most manufactured and processed goods come under price ceilings of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, there are no price ceilings on fresh water fish, cod herring, haddock, smelts, hake, clams and halibut Nor are there price ceilings on fresh fruit and greenhouse products. There are ceilings on fresh cream, ice cream, cheese, honey and maple syrup, whether these are sold to dealers. If sold to consumers, prices must not exceed those charged in the basic period between Sept. 15 and Oct. 11 last.

All vegetables, save onions, are exempted from price ceilings. Onions were exempt until Jan. 12 last, when it became apparent that speculative buying was taking place. To prevent profiteering, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, promptly announced a "ceiling" on onions, fixing prices to wholesalers at those current on Jan. 10. The Board reserves the right to fix ceilings on all exempt commodities should prices become other than "just and reasonable."

More than 10,000 farm families in the United States have had to move from their homes since October because the government has purchased more than four million acres of land for military purposes. Several more thousand may be affected the same way in 1942

Our good weather is still in the air, though it is very slippy underfoot—a thaw and a deep freeze.

Two curling rinks came out from town on Tuesday night to curl. Three rinks were made, Fil Curley, L. Tyner, Tho. Mackenzie, Dr. Dorward and the other skip Reg Spencer, A.E. Kaiser, Dr. Clark and Russell Carroll. The boys had a barrel of ice pulpits with the home-made wooden cocks on our boys. Even at that the game proved an excellent one and very interesting some of the games. A large crowd turned out to witness the games. After the play was over they were all treated to a supper by Mr and Mrs John Wilson and the curling players sat down to one table and did justice to the good things set before them. The rest were treated to lunch and coffee. Visiting ladies helped out with the lunch so too much work did not fall on the hostess. Everyone across the town curlers will come back again for more as the night's outing was greatly enjoyed.

Miss Mary Gilbodine is on Provincial visitor for a few days before she returns to her school duties after a visit of the month. She is from the Lacombe heritage district.

Albert Howard resigned from the city where he was suffering from a severe cold to be county in the Vermilion as a pilot. He took his first flight.

R. Gilbodine of Beaverhead went to the city this week to look for a job. He works at the Parliament Buildings during the present session.

The Wallingtons spent a pleasant evening at the Gibson home on Sunday and the writer also spent a few minutes with the Gibbodine family the same evening. On Wednesday night we visited with the Burke family and found Mrs Burke improving very slowly after her recent illness.

Mrs. G. Gibson and Mrs T. Hill motored into Vermilion on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs W. Garnett. Mr. and Mrs Frank Gibson and baby spent Sunday at the Ford's in Tolland.

A few Wildmereites attended the novelty dance at Tolland on Friday night and reported having a nice time and that a good record was there.

Mr and Mrs John Wilson, Miss Sutherland and George Lowe were all guests to supper and for the evening at the Wallington home on Tuesday.

You Must Have a Licence by March 31, 1942

Every Person or Firm is Required to Have a Licence

1. if engaged in the business of buying for resale or selling any commodity; or
2. if engaged in the business of supplying any of the following services: the supplying of electricity, gas, steam or water; telegraph, wireless or telephone services; the transportation of goods or persons; the provision of dock, harbour, or pier facilities; warehousing or storage; undertaking or embalming; laundering, cleaning, tailoring, or dressmaking; hairdressing, barbering, or beauty parlour services; plumbing, heating, painting, decorating, cleaning, or renovating; repairing of any kind; the supplying of meals, refreshments or beverages; the exhibiting of motion pictures; process manufacturing on a custom or commission basis.

IF YOU HAVE ALREADY APPLIED FOR OR OBTAINED A WARTIME PRICES AND TRADE BOARD LICENCE UNDER A PREVIOUS LICENSING ORDER, YOU SHOULD NOT APPLY AGAIN

Why Licence Applications Should Be Made At Once

Apart from the legal requirements, licensing of your business will enable the Board to advise you quickly and fully of the price ceiling regulations that affect your business.

The name of every person who has been granted a licence or who has already applied for a licence is being placed on the Board's mailing list. Your name will be added when your application is received.

To Get Your Licence

1. Get an application form at your nearest post office.
2. Complete the application and mail it, postage free. There is no licence fee.
3. You will receive by mail a Licence Identification Card bearing your licence number.

Those Who Do Not Need a Licence

1. farmers, gardeners, livestock or poultry producers, and fishermen, unless buying goods for resale.
2. employees of a person or firm which is itself subject to licence.
3. operators of private boarding houses.

NOTE: Persons who have already applied for or obtained a Wartime Prices and Trade Board licence should not apply again.

WHAT THE LAW REQUIRES YOU TO DO

After March 31, 1942, any official, representative, or investigator of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board may require you to produce your Licence Identification Card if you are subject to this licensing order.

After March 31, 1942, you must notify the Director of Licensing of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Ottawa, in writing, quoting your licence number, of any change in the name, address, or character of your business within 10 days of such change.

You must retain your Licence Identification Card as it will remain in effect, unless suspended or cancelled, so long as the Maximum Prices Regulations continue. If you are already licensed, a Licence Identification Card, valid for the duration of these Regulations, will be automatically mailed to you before March 31, 1942. You should not apply for a renewal and there is no licence fee.

EDMONTON—Free motion pictures may be shown in 100 Alberta points as part of a new service inaugurated by the University of Alberta extension. The new service is part of a dominion-wide scheme sponsored by the National Film Board and private and educational agencies, supported by other organizations. "The purpose is to bring films of Canada at war and the story of Canadian citizenship to rural and small-town communities," said H. F. Brown of the Extension Department. Five circuits are now being covered by projectionists.

ENLARGED SCHOOL UNIT PROGRAM COMPLETED

Alberta's enlarged school unit program is now completed, and 55 of the larger divisions are now in operation throughout the province, Dr. G. Fred McNally, deputy minister of education, said this week that the final goal was reached through the setting up of Fairview division and prior to that one was organized at Strawberry division, west of Lodge.

DOMINION SCHOOL CURRICULUM FOR PRAIRIE PROVINCES

Possibility of introducing a common curriculum through the schools of the prairie provinces was a major topic of discussion at Saskatoon this week when western education officials met. Hon. Ivan Schultz, minister of education for Manitoba, said "Since Manitoba and Saskatchewan to a large degree, and Alberta to a lesser degree, have common economic conditions, similar population types and to a large extent common educational aims, it should be reasonable to have a common curriculum." Dr. G. Fred McNally represented Alberta at the conference.

MAY RESTRICT LIQUOR SALES

Premier Aberhart said this week that he has received a request from Ottawa officials for certain information respecting the liquor trade, which has been referred to the provincial officials concerned. An outside report said the dominion was communicating with all provincial governments respecting restriction of sales of alcoholic beverages during the war. Dominion revenues from such sales amounted to $18,000,000 last year. The various provinces are reported to obtain about $40,000,000 in the aggregate. The dominion controls manufacture. Provinces control sales. Temperance workers charge the trade causes "economic waste"; others claim restriction will increase law lessness.

VERMILION VALLEY COUNCIL SUPPORTS RESOLUTION

Protesting Against Formation of Larger Municipalities

At the regular meeting of the Vermilion Valley council held on Saturday Jan. 17, the following motion was endorsed by that body:

WHEREAS: In the matter of the setting up of larger Municipal Units, the almost unanimous vote at the Municipal Convention was strongly opposed to any action at the present time, and

WHEREAS: At the meeting of the Councils of M.D. Battle River, Gilt Edge, Grizzly Bear, Morton, Ribstone and Vale, called by the Deputy Minister at Wainwright on Dec. 17th, failed to show any promise of improved conditions under a larger unit, and which led to the passing of the following resolution, with only one dissenting vote, viz: That whereas we believe that this matter of the setting up of larger Municipal Units is one in which the large majority of our ratepayers are strongly opposed; We therefore submit that we are of the very definite opinion that this is a most inopportune time for the consideration of this highly contentious matter. With a struggle as great as the Empire has on its hands at the present time, requiring as it does the whole hearted effort of every individual, in every possible way, and at a time when so many of our young men are away with the Active Forces or engaged in war work it seems to be the greatest folly to stir up discussion over a matter for which there is no demand, and which might well be allowed to rest until such time as the struggle is over, and all of our ratepayers have had the opportunity of expressing their opinion by way of a plebiscite. We therefore strongly protest any further action being taken at the present time, and

WHEREAS: We have failed to find among our ratepayers any support in favor of a larger unit:

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED: That we as a Council endorse the resolution passed at the Wainwright meeting, and urge our member of the Legislative Assembly to use his influence to have any action toward the setting up of larger Municipal Units postponed, until such time as the matter can be dealt with, in the manner set out in the foregoing resolution. Carried.

TURKEY HILL TID-BITS

o o o

Notes for the Tid Bits seem very scarce these days in spite of the spring-like weather.

We are sorry to report that Mrs. Hamers is again a patient at the hospital. We sincerely wish her a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Logue is home again after having spent some time in Edmonton.

Bud Gobeen has been quite busy lately hauling wood for himself and cutting wood for neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. Mills were visitors at the Davis home recently.

The Turkey Hill teacher, Miss Mahaffy, and school children are putting on a dance at the school on Wednesday Feb. 11. All proceeds are to go for Red Cross work. Let's make it a big success by all turning out to help them in their excellent work. A jolly time is assured, with good music.

George Davis writes from England of an interesting old castle he visited. This was built in 1066 A.D. and is still in very good condition. Our boys will see many interesting places before they return to us again. As for the other things they may see, we won't think of them.

WORKERS ADVISED TO TAKE CARE OF INSURANCE BOOKS

Pointers by Unemployment Insurance Commission

Carelessness and indifference regarding their insurance books are still too common among insured workers, Mr. Wm. Carvill, manager of the Employment and Claims Office, Edmonton, stated to the Press.

Many of them fail to get their books from their employers when they leave their jobs to work elsewhere. Instead they get new books from their new employers and start all over again with their contributions. Others lose their books altogether and fail to report the loss to the Claims Office so that it may be traced and potential loss of benefits avoided.

Every insured worker should realize that his unemployment insurance book represents real money — money from his own pay envelope and from his employer's bank account — money that should be available for him and for his family if he ever becomes separated from his employment.

Mr. Carvill pointed out that every insurance book when it is issued is stamped with a serial number and that number is retained by the worker for the remainder of his working years. If, therefore, he obtains a new book each time he changes his employment, he stands to lose the benefits based on the record in the book or books first issued to him.

It must be clearly understood that the Employment and Claims Officer is the only one authorized to replace a insurance book that is lost or mislaid. Consequently, the insured worker who transfers his services from one employer to another should get his insurance book from his employer at the time he quits his job. If he is going to another job, he should take the new employer, who will continue the records of contributions on his behalf. If he has no job to go to, the book should be deposited with the Employment and Claims Officer at once.

If the book is lost or mislaid, the loss should be reported to the office without delay. The longer the delay in reporting it the greater will be the difficulty in piecing the records the book contained.

It cannot be too strongly impressed on workers, Mr. Carvill concluded, that their unemployment insurance books are their only records of contributions made in respect of them, and that without them, they cannot qualify for benefits. If they become separated from their employment, or one insurance book and one serial number is all that any one worker is entitled to. Any worker who secures more than one confuses the records and will suffer loss himself if he ever finds it necessary to apply for benefits.

World wheat and flour shipments last week totalled 5,432,000 bushels, of which Canada supplied 4,824,000.

TOLLAND

We are certainly having very spring like weather and this fine January will surely shorten our winter greatly as it is usually our coldest month.

Quite a number of Tolland folks have been very pleased to hear Pte. Ivan Cooper speak over the air to his parents and friends on a broadcast from Scotland a week ago.

Harold Webber has been transferred to Edmonton from the east.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gibson and daughter Mary were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Pord.

The Tolland sports club held a dance in the Ganton school on Friday night Jan. 23. There was a fair size crowd and everyone seemed to have a good time.

The U.F.A. and U.F.W.A. are holding a meeting in the Ganton school on Saturday afternoon. The main business will be to hear the report of the delegate to the recent convention.

The farm forum group held a meeting at the home of Mrs. Wilson on Monday evening and there was a very good attendance.

The next farm forum meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sarah Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Trevithick and family were Sunday visitors at the Webber home.

Mr. O. H. Webber celebrated his 54th birthday on Thursday, Jan. 29.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By H. G. L. Strange
Director, Research Department, Searle Grain Co., Ltd.

The year for the first time Registered First Generation seed of Regent wheat is available in small quantities. Farmers who desire to improve the quality of their crops of Regent, should, I suggest, try to secure a few bushels of this First Generation seed. It is an improvement over the older varieties.

Another good variety that farmers might now consider is Renown. The new First Generation seed of Redman Renown is in the nursery of the same seed foundation stock recently produced by the Rust Research Laboratory, Winnipeg. Renown is a fine variety in rust resistance. It has had one defect in quality now it has had one defect in quality now it has been fine the yield or other rust-resistant varieties. The yield of the new Registered strain, however, is decidedly better than the yield of that strain of Renown that hitherto has been available. Those, therefore, who like Renown for its fine bright plump kernel and for its other good qualities, might consider securing a little of the new First Generation Registered seed. In some districts the new strain of Renown has given as high a yield as the yield of any other variety. Some farmers tell me it is their favorite variety.

Following factors have tended to raise price The U.K. Cereals Import Board has made large purchases of Canadian wheat recently The Egyptian Government intends to import Canadian and Australian wheat to overcome a serious wheat shortage. Winter crops in Europe are reported to have suffered a poor start owing to unusually cold weather and short age of labor.

Following factors have tended to lower price. Pond supplies in the U.K. and Canada are of record proportion — Large amounts of current season oats and damaged wheat has been offered lately in the U.K. It is reported that weather conditions have been favorable for harvesting in Argentina with yields good—Grain shipments within the Pacific are suspended indefinitely owing to war conditions

Canada's Seamen

"If it were not for the men who man the Canadian corvettes and the men in the merchant navy the war would have been over long ago, and the Swastika would be flying over Buckingham Palace". In these words Commander H D Somerville of the Royal Navy, paid tribute to Canadian seamen in a recent address before an Ottawa service club. True it is that the Battle of the Atlantic continues to be one of the grimmest phases of the world struggle. It is a battle that started in September 1939, when the Athenia was sunk a few hours after war was declared, and has gone on to the very best and the worst of what ship may be pounding, the victim of an enemy torpedo. During all that time there has waged a fierce and unrelenting struggle on the part of the Axis powers to break Britain's lifeline to the new world, and an ever grimmer determination on the part of the seamen of the Empire and the free democracies to keep that line intact.

* * * *

Epics Of Heroism

So far it has remained strong and sure, and into the accomplishment of that task have been written new epics of heroism, in the already glorious annals of British seamanship. Enough cannot be said of the courage of the men of the merchant navy who cross and re-cross the ocean in their small ships risking death or worse from horror on the sea, should they encounter the enemy. Residents of Canadian sea ports are familiar with the sight of these little ships, with their ugly coats of camouflage paint; each with an anti-aircraft gun jauntily perched on the after-deck. Undaunted they steal, cutting through the waves on their way to join a convoy, and carry the "Red Duster" triumphantly across the high seas. The crews of these ships are made up of steady-eyed men, who take their hazardous work in a matter-of-fact way, and are determined to stay at their posts, without regard for the dangers that menace all their time at sea.

If one were to talk with these men, there would be revealed a deadly hate for the Axis powers, and a firm resolve not to be turned from their tasks by any menace that may appear. Many merchant seamen have lost their lives, many have been maimed, others will tell of having been torpedoed several times, but of having been "lucky" because they were rescued after hours or days of hardship. Now the struggle has spread to the Pacific, and as the battle in both oceans develops, Canadian sailors are playing an increasingly important part. Corvette ships, those small swift craft used so effectively in anti-submarine warfare, are manufactured in large numbers in the Dominion. Manned by Canadian seamen, many of whom have those incredibly fine sailors from the Prairie Provinces, they ply out of our ports on convoy duty, and their exploits have been noteworthy.

The Merchant Marine

The Hon. Angus Macdonald, Navy Minister, recently paid tribute to Canadian merchant seamen and those of friendly nations, when he said, "Not fogs, or winds, storms, nor currents, mines, nor torpedoes, bombs, nor bullets, have deterred our merchant seamen from their vital task." Mr. Macdonald also gave some interesting figures on Canada's importance in the Battle of the Atlantic. He stated that since the beginning of the war some eight thousand ships have sailed from these shores, carrying over fifty million tons of food and war material to Britain. The flags of seventeen nations have flown in convoys leaving Canadian ports, in what Mr. Macdonald called "a goodly company." Canadian shipyards bum with activity as crafts large and small are turned out in increasingly large numbers, and across the country alert young men are drilling and studying in preparation for manning these ships that will play their part in once again affirming the Empire's right to be called "The Mistress of the Seas."

Good Whale Catch

Wartime Requirements Have Increased The Need For Products Obtained.

Canadian whaling ships, operating from two stations on the British Columbia coast, landed 238 whales during the 1941 season as compared with 230 in the 1940 season, when whaling was resumed after a year of inactivity. The 1941 catch was likewise greater than in 1938 when 219 whales were taken.

Whales in Canada are used for the production of meal, fertilizer, and oil with oil the chief product. Wartime needs have increased the demand for these products and have given new impetus to whaling operations.

The 1941 operations produced a total of 566 505 gallons of oil, approximately 577 tons of fertilizer, and 271 tons of meal. Compared with 1940 these returns show a decided increase. Oil production advanced more than 100,000 gallons and fertilizer production was up by about 143 tons. Meal production was 90 tons less greater than year than in the preceding season.

It is a far cry from the square rigged whaling ships of old days to the modern steel whaling tugs armed with harpoon guns and fitted with powerful engines but gone is the romance of the risk and romance remains. During the 1941 season on 81 least one occasion a whaler was attacked and severely attacked a whaler after being harpooned and damaged the steel craft so badly that it had to return to port for repairs.

To Save Steel

Britain Has Found Toughened Glass Is Good Substitute

Britain is using glass to save steel. It is translucent, toughened glass, which can now take the place of steel in the top plate of hot cabinets in cafes and restaurants, safely standing up to temperatures of 135 to 150 degrees. In these days, when canteens and cafeterias are provided in all factories over a certain size, the quantity of steel which can be saved is therefore considerable.

By admitting light to the cabinets toughened glass lessens the work of the canteen staff in clearing it and in serving the food. The glass takes a slightly longer time than steel to cook, warm, but it holds the heat better, thus substantially reducing heating costs, particularly in castings with lengths of hot cabinets or a battery of steamers. And, of course, the glass costs less than the valuable steel which it releases for the war.

Fast Work

Turn Out A Lifeboat In England In Thirty-Six Hours

Six Breton refugees, by working without stop for 36 hours in a London boat building yard, turned out a lifeboat in record time for a ship which was waiting to sail.

"One of them was leaving to-morrow night and we are a lifeboat short. Have you one for us?" That was the request made to the builder received from a shipping company official. The builder said he had one on the stocks which had just been started and that although he didn't think it could be completed in such short order he would have a try.

He called the Bretons and two English workers together, explained the situation to them and the ship sailed on time with its completed lifeboat.

The Individual Citizen's Army
A Weekly Column About This Unit That Is The Canadian Army.
By Alan Maurice Irwin

The main trouble with this business of trying to tell all about our Army is that the more you tell the more you discover still remains to be told.

Everyone has heard, some time or another, a parish speaker mention the various arms and services." What does that mean? That's what I asked. I asked the A.G., the C.G.S., the D.M.O. & I., and a dozen other high ranking officers.

Before we forget I suppose I'd better clear up those initials some day, if the editor can spare the space, we'd better have a glossary of army terms—"A.G." is the Adjutant-General, "C.G.S.", Chief of the General Staff; and "D.M.O. & I.", Director of Military Operations and Intelligence.

There are probably nicknames for these high appointments but at the moment I can't tell you what they are. Last time I would have "turned out the guard" if I had seen any of them and so far I haven't covered that point on my present assignment.

I shall to get back to "arms and services." Here are the distinctions. Army" are the branches of the Army that carry out the fighting. Chief of the commander They include: Artillery, Engineers Signallers, Armoured Corps and Infantry. "Services" look after the arms, support and supply them They are: Royal Canadian Ordinance Corps, Royal Canadian Army Service Corps, Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps, etc.

See? Simple, isn't it?

Don't think for a minute, though, that when you refer to the Services, as supporting the arms that you are being disloyal to fighting services. Not by no means!" In the mechanized all-out war of to-day the war that has individual citizens army is being, so highly trained to fight—very man in uniform is a fighting man who has been trained first as a fighter before he was trained for or started work at his specialty.

Some of you will remember the somewhat nasty jibe—which was made by members of the "Arms" at members of one of the services. It wasn't true, but to young hellions in uniform that didn't matter. We used to say that "R.A.M.C." when you reversed it stood for "Can't Manage a Rifle." It seemed funny at the time even if I was sorry for it after. I found out that the stretcher-bearer who led me out of nasty spot when I couldn't see to make my own way had put his own "tin hat" on my head and carried on through a bombardment bare-headed.

Well, funny or not, jibes of that nature can't be made at anyone who wears a uniform to-day. Every officer or man in both Arms and Services starts his soldiering by taking the regular infantry training course. A stretcher-bearer in this war is as capable of assembling a Bren gun (from a assorted parts in the dark as a medical officer is of carrying out a major operation by the light of a motorcycle headlamp.

The same is true of Ordinance, Army Service Corps every service. No matter who uniform a soldier in what army he is a fighting soldier.

Here is an interesting note while we are on the subject of all-round training. The trained mechanic, a man who is found in great numbers in both "Arms" and "Services," is a qualified "first-aider," having passed, as has every combatant soldier, a St. John's Ambulance course during his elementary training.

There was an occasion in the only war we had lately to talk about with any authority when members of the "Services" turned to and did a real job of fighting, do you remember? On that occasion cooks, bakers, farriers, laundry-men and a host of other necessary, but not necessarily war-like, odds and ends turned to with common picks and shovels, hammers, anything that would serve as a weapon. They acquitted themselves well, too.

The weapons seemed archaic They were But to-day, if such a situation should arise the men would be ready for it. To-day there is the course given to all soldiers in "un-armed combat." This course teaches them how to use improvised weapons such as shrapnel helmets, flats, knees, boots in a lethal manner. Imagine what a man armed with a butcher's knife or a tailor's goose could do with them after learning to take care of himself without any arms.

A few minutes ago I referred to a shrapnel helmet. Once we used to call them "tin hats." Now you frequently see them referred to as "battle-shrapnel" what will they think of next?

"Better Way" to correct the cause of constipation due to lack of the right kind of "bulk" in your diet. But remember, ALL-BRAN doesn't work like cathartics. It takes time. Plebiscite To Be Taken On Military Service

Ottawa.—Canadians will be asked, by means of a plebiscite, to release the government "from any obligations arising out of any past commitments restricting the use of men for the raising of men for military service," it was revealed in the speech from the throne at the opening of parliament.

The speech, read by the Earl of Athlone, governor-general, gave no details as to the date of the plebiscite or other plans for an all-out war effort but details were promised later.

"You will be advised of the means the government proposes to adopt to effect as complete as possible a mobilization of the material resources and manpower of the country in direct furtherance of a total national effort," the speech stated.

There would be substantial increases in the armed forces and in food and munitions production, the speech promised.

The increase in the armed forces will involve an expansion of the establishment of the Canadian army overseas it continued.

Warning was given that members would be asked to vote appropriations for war purposes "on an unprecedented scale," for the maintenance and support of the armed forces and for production.

In announcing the plebiscite the speech confirmed rumors which have been increasingly current in recent weeks.

It was assumed the expression "past commitments" referred to the prime ministers pledge in the House of Commons before the war that his administration would never initiate legislation to conscript Canadians to fight outside of Canada.

The selective service policy of the government was designed to "call up generally and rapidly as may be necessary to effect orderly and efficient employment of men and women of Canada for the varied purposes of war."

This policy was announced by the government last fall and may involve amendments to the National Resources Mobilization Act which now governs conscription and compel service in Canada only.

The speech expressed the opinion of the government that "at this time of gravest crisis in the world's history, the administration, subject only to its responsibility to parliament, should in this connection and irrespective of any previous commitments, possess complete freedom to act in accordance with its judgment of the needs of the situation as they may arise."

The administration, through the throne speech, expressed the opinion that the "fundamentally defensive nature of Canada's war effort is being obscured and impaired by controversy respecting the employment with respect to the methods of raising men for military service which were made the occasion for the war to all parts of the world."

While emphasizing the gravity of the war situation the speech declared "there are strong reasons for belief in the overthrow of tyranny and the ultimate triumph of freedom."

Not Asking Separate Peace

Chinese Ambassador To United States Says Idea Inconceivable

Minneapolis.—Dr. Hu Shih, Chinese ambassador to the United States, declared in an interview it was inconceivable that China would make a separate peace with Japan.

He was commenting on statements credited to Hsu Fu, son of Burt Tsai Sen, founder of the Chinese republic, which the ambassador called "impatient and impetuous."

Need American Troops

London — 1,000,000 American troops were landed in Britain, Hitler's chance of attacking this country would be "gone with the wind," Lord Beaverbrook told the house of lords. He added "It is certain that an attack on this country, if it ever comes at all will come before the United States can render us any substantial assistance in the way of men and arms."

Free French Decoration

London. The Cross of Liberation, instituted by the Free French for its bravest fighting men, has been planned on more than 150 soldiers, sailors and airmen. It carries the automatic award of the Croix de Guerre with palm.

Relinquishes High Office

Archbishop Of Canterbury Will Retire From Office March 31

London.—The Archbishop of Canterbury, primate of all England, announced he was relinquishing his high office to make way for "someone younger in years and more vigorous in mind and spirit, who will be better able to prepare now for postwar plans."

First word of his resignation was given by No. 10 Downing street where it was announced the King had accepted the archbishop's decision with regret and had approved the recommendation of a special committee appointed to receive the resignation, that it take effect on March 31.

The archbishop, most Rev. and Rt. Hon. Cosmo Gordon Lang was 77 last Oct. 31 and has been the Archbishop of Canterbury since July 27, 1928.

Russian Army Now Ready For A Quick Thrust

London.—Elimination of the blockade salient before Moscow has put the Russian army in position to strike its next major blow along a front spanning from Kharkov south to the Sea of Azov, informed British military circles today.

The backlog of savage Red army thrusts in the Donets basin was seen as the signal for this long-delayed major offensive. But not for instant action anywhere. Soviet quarters pointed out, are vast sunken areas in Russia which have been in training for months.

Other sources foresaw a renewal of the Soviet drive to clear the entire south from Leningrad to the south, and declared the Russian reserve strength for a "decisive" campaign is unlimited.

The fall of Meshaisk was hailed by these sources as the starting point for a "long continuation of the battle," which they predicted would develop within the next six weeks. British military experts estimated that up to 100,000 Germans were seeking to retreat from Meshaisk westward toward Smolensk through a narrow gap of the Red army's pincer drives from north and south.

Most expert observers in London long have contended that the Russian winter offensive must have as major objectives the recovery of the Crimea and the Donets basin to be able to withstand the expected new German attack in the spring.

One source declared that the Nazi claim to have recaptured Feodosiya "bears out what we've heard before —that the Germans sent most of their best troops to the Crimea to hold it throughout the winter at all costs."

The Moscow radio broadcast the latest Soviet recapitulation of German losings for the period of Dec. 6 to Jan. 17, declaring the Nazis had lost more than 300,000 officers and men killed alone, as well as more than 1,100 planes.

Want Voice In War

Canada Demanding Representation On Allied Military Councils

Ottawa -It was learned authoritatively that Canada is definitely joining Australia in demanding representation in this connection, it was pointed out that Maj.-Gen. M. A. Pope, vice chief of the general staff, was the highest ranking officer ever assigned to Washington

It was understood that Canada desires wider representation on raw materials and allocations committees. Sir John Dill, now representing Prime Minister Churchill in Washington, now is informing the Canadian government of plans for the machinery being set up in the American capital for co-operation between the United Nations.

Pocket Aircraft Carriers

British Admiralty Discloses Their Construction Is Being Considered

London .The admiralty disclosed it is considering adding to the Royal Navy pocket aircraft carriers such as Japan is reported to be using with some success in the Pacific.

To a question in the House of Commons as to whether British authorities are investigating the construction of such craft or the conversion of merchantmen for such purposes Sir Victor Warrender, financial secretary to the admiralty, gave this written reply:

"Neither of the possibilities to which you refer can be overlooked."

Japan's Army

Betray The Influence Of German Military Instructors

Washington. — Japan's army was described in a military survey of the weapons used by the Western Pacific invaders as "almost a poll-parrot copy of Der Fuehrer's hordes."

In the semi-official Infantry Journal, Lieut. John Scofield declared that Japan's "man for man, the Jap fighters are probably as efficient as the average in Europe."

"Many Japanese weapons and more than a few Japanese concepts reflect and betray the influence of German military instructors and advisers imported before the First World War."

"One of the things most difficult for the Occidental mind is the emphasis placed on one of bayonet and swords by the Japanese," Scofield observed. "They consider the bayonet the most essential weapon they carry."

CANADIAN CORVETTES FIGHT WEATHER, TOO

As if Nazi U-boats and bombs weren't enough to contend with, the corvettes of the Royal Canadian Navy give their crews additional headaches when they become plastered from stem to stern with ice. Stinging salt spray freezes as it hits in the North Atlantic and this results in a crystal like film after a session with wind and waves. Back in port the corvette crew find taken on the job of cutting away the tons of ice that clog every part of the superstructure. Ventilators boats davits hatches must be kept clear of the mass. The corvettes of the R.C.N are doing a grand job in the Atlantic.

Doing Their Share

Seven Brothers From Markerville, Alta., Are In Canadian Service

Calgary.—Boasting to seven the total number of their family serving in the Canadian (Active) army, four young men from Markerville, 30 miles southwest of Red Deer marched into the district recruiting office in Calgary to sign attestation papers

They were Archibald Stewart Allan, John Smith Allen, William Alexander Allen, all brothers, and their half-brother, Allen Stewart Ramage Three of their brothers already are serving overseas.

The four took medical tests in Red Deer and after notification of their acceptance came here to be attested

Ottawa.—Except for the interior parts of locks, the use of all wrought and cast bronze metal for cabinet, builders' and furniture hardware will be prohibited after March 1, the department of munitions and supply has announced.

Forecast Use Of Wheat For Livestock Feed

Ottawa.—As wheat at present prices can be more profitable when used for pig feed rather than sold as grain, further increase in the use of livestock feed was predicted by government officials. They forecast domestic requirements would be 160,000,000 bushels in the present crop year a total 122,000,000 in 1940-41

The tentative estimate of 160,000,000 bushels was contained in a wheat situation review by the Dominion bureau of statistics, which said that most of the anticipated increase would be caused by enlarged livestock feedings of wheat.

A bulletin issued by the agriculture department as part of its series on wartime production" gave guidance to use of wheat for feeding purposes.

"Experimental evidence and practical experience indicate that this grain may be a satisfactory and economical feed for livestock when mixed with other feeds," the bulletin said. "In periods when a wheat surplus exists or when the crop has been damaged by frost, rust or unfavorable weather at harvest time, the importance of giving wheat a place in farm rations merits consideration"

Feeding qualities of wheat are not affected by low grade as much as milling values and the biggest economic advantage was likely to result from feeding lower grades

With a surplus of about 50,000,000 bushels still in sight in Canada officials agreed some top-quality wheat, with mineral and vitamin supplements, would assist the production of record-breaking numbers of hogs on the prairies to meet the British demand for 600,000,000 pounds of bacon under an existing contract.

New Airfield Defence Units Is British Plan

London.—The army's main task is to organize a continental offensive, Air Secretary Sir Archibald Sinclair told the House of Commons in opening debate on the adequacy of airfield defence against invasion of the British isles

He said the R.A.F.'s new airdrome defence regiment would be "second to none." In British usage the regiment is not a fixed number of men, but includes a variable number of battalions. The new airfield defence units are spoken of as a regiment.

Sir Archibald, as government spokesman in the debate said the army's chief job now is to organize the greatest possible striking force for offensive operations on the (European) continent "

But Sir Archibald's description of the newly conceived defence units which would be managed by the R.A.F. under army direction appeared flatly failed to satisfy critics who recently have been crying alarm over losses of airfields in the war so far

"The new scheme is complicated and based on moulded thinking" contended Col. Arthur Evans, Conservative, who said he could not agree with the air secretary that responsibility between the Royal Air Force and the army is "clearcut and defined."

George M. Carro-Jones, Labor, argued the divided command was still the curse of the military system.

"We must get mobile air units consisting of troop carriers, light tank carriers, parachute carriers and even gliders distributed all over the country in small units so that not one of our vital airdromes is more than 15 minutes away from a strong, counter-attacking air-borne force," he said

Before Sir Archibald spoke, Prime Minister Churchill indicated that the debate would be conducted in secret as soon as it entered operational phases.

Sir Archibald said th t responsibility for ground defence of airfields remained, as before, with the army, but that the Royal Air Force had assumed command under army direction of forces stationed on the fields themselves. In this he said, "there has been the closest co-operation between the army and the R.A.F."

Responding to criticism over repeated losses of landing fields in Greece, Crete and now Malaya, he denied that efforts to deal with the problem had been "hindered or at all affected by any service breakdown which are being alleged in some quarters to exist."

He said the air ministry had created a directorate of ground defence to study the matter as early as June, 1940, and added: "Probably few people realise how far we have already travelled from the extraordinarily and even alarmingly low standard of airdrome defence which existed in this country after the battle of France."

The air ministry, he said "is quite alive to the risk of sabotage" on airdromes and so far none has been committed, indicating "our countermeasures are adequate."

Two Canadians Decorated

Awards Given For Skill In Bomber Attacks

London Two Canadian bomber pilots who took part in recent daylight air raids on Germany's battleships Gneisenau and Scharnhorst at Brest have been decorated for the skill and determination with which they carried out the attacks, it was announced.

The air ministry announced that Flt.-Lt. John Goodair Mackid of Calgary had been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross and Sgt Paul Emile Morin of Ottawa the Distinguished Flying Medal

Mackid and Sqdn -Ldr. J. S Sherwood, both of 97 Squadron were leaders of formations which attacked the battleships last month. They encountered extremely heavy anti-aircraft fire and opposition from enemy fighter aircraft but made accurate runs over their targets their citation said

Mackid, 27, was educated at the universities of Alberta and Washington. Morin also 27, was a school teacher before he enlisted in the R.C.A.F. in June, 1940

the previous year; this is accounted for, almost wholly, by the reduction in earnings sustained by the closing of the school at Agriculture. Despite the fact that this institution has not been quite the usual amount of energy during the year, the sales of the plant have been well maintained. Operating costs have increased to some extent, mainly through increased cost of fuel. It is expected that when gas has been installed fuel costs will show a marked reduction and the earnings of the plant should advance to the extent of such savings.

Sub-stantial amounts have been allowed for depreciation of plant and distribution system and there is every reason to withhold credit to these respectable for the operation of the system.

SINKING FUND

It is noted that the Council has made provision for the future by setting aside almost $5,000 in Dominion of Canada bonds and in Town of Vermilion debenture prepaid; this is a step in line with established banking principles and the recent formation of a Sinking Fund Committee should be a factor in maintaining satisfactory position.

THE SCHOOL DISTRICT

The local School Board has spent its funds the spending of approximately 50% of every tax dollar collected by the town. that this money has been wisely spent can hardly be doubted when it is seen from the auditor's statement that the Board has added the year with approximately $2,000 in the bank and with an earned government grant of almost $2,000 additional flawless this grant will have been received. Moreover and if the school board will have a little surplus and, except for debenture liabilities not yet due, will find itself with liabilities of only inconsequential amount.

During a period when Dominion finances are under such strain it is unwise to steadily it may be possible for the ratepayers to secure some relief by way of lower school taxation in the coming year; it would seem that funds on hand should adequately provide for such reserves as may be needed for some time to come and that, therefore, a considerable reduction in the annual requisition might be possible.

To have faced the difficult problem of a new building destroyed by fire two years ago and to have surmounted the impasse thus presented to such an extent that the Vermilion School District stands in sound financial position at the time, reflects considerable credit on those responsible for the condition, and citizens generally will unite in offering congratulation.

Both the Town Council and the School Board deserve much more credit than they are likely to receive; but those who are content to place their municipal duties in the hands of others have little reason to complain of the administration of the affairs of the municipality and have, in consequence, much for which they may be more than ordinarily grateful.

MANNVILLE COUPLE WEDDED AT HOLY NAME CHURCH

McLaughlin—McFadden

A very pretty wedding was solemnized by Rev. Father O'Sullivan in the Holy Name church, Vermilion, on Monday, Jan. 26, when Edith Marjorie, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert McFadden, Mannville, became the bride of Mr. Francis M. McLaughlin, third son of Mr and Mrs. Jas. McLaughlin, Vermilion.

The bride looked charming in a floor length Empire gown of white triple sheer. Her veil was held in place with a pearl coronet. She carried a bouquet of American beauty roses.

Her sister, Miss Audrey, looked lovely as bridesmaid, wearing a floor length gown of Queen's blue georgette, carrying a bouquet of American beauty roses and carnations.

The groom was attended by his brother, Leonard.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father to the strains of the wedding march, played by Miss Frances Antoine, who also sang solos during the ceremony.

The bride's mother wore a gown of black miracle velvet with a corsage of talisman roses. The groom's mother wore a gown of dark green Alpaca crepe, trimmed with gold sequins.

The reception was held in the Brunswick hotel, Vermilion, where the happy couple sat down to a bounteous breakfast. The table was centred with a lovely three-tiered wedding cake, which they would spend their honeymoon in Edmonton.

ALBERTA-ALASKA ROUTE GROWING IN FAVOR

Growing favor for the Alberta Inland Route to Alaska, known as the "D" route, is reported among United States businessmen by Hon. W. A. Fallow, The Alberta minister of public works was recently called upon by Vilhjalmur Stefansson, noted Arctic explorer who favors the route, to supply information regarding Fort Norman oil resources and the practicability of a winter road from the oilfield to the Alaska highway. It is said that President Roosevelt is now expressing open interest in an Alaska road, and that early action in the interests of hemisphere defense may be expected on one of the four routes projected, two of which pass through Edmonton.

STUDY TAX CHANGE PROPOSALS

Revised agreements concerning the transfer of taxing privileges to the Dominion for the duration of the war and one year after, have been received by the municipalities, but studies of the proposals have not been completed. This was made known by Hon. Solon E. Low, provincial treasurer, this week. Regarding staff members of the income tax branch, the Treasurer said it was understood the dominion would engage those not absorbed in other provincial departments. There are 52 members of the income tax branch, directed by E.C. Shaughnessy, superintendent.

TOWN ELECTIONS MONDAY

Strong Slates To Contest Seats on Council, School Board

H. R. Parker Receives Acclamation To Hospital Board

Nomination Day on Monday brought forth the strongest field of candidates for several years and as a result elections for the vacant seats on the town council and school board will be held on Monday next, Feb. 9th. Polls will open at 10 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. Voting is at the town hall.

There are two vacant seats on the council as the terms of Neil McKay and Melvin Hill expired. Councillor McKay figured that three years was sufficient, but Melvin Hill, after some pressure had been brought to bear, consented to stand. Other nominees are Dr. W. H. Scott, who until a year ago was a member of the town council and who has a wealth of municipal experience; Cliff Porter, well known business man of the town who is making his first venture into the field of municipal politics and James J. Part, principal of the Vermilion public school, complete a very strong slate. It is generally felt that the electors can't go wrong any way two of the candidates. There are four contestants, two to be elected, elections on Monday next, Feb. 9th at the town hall.

There are three vacancies on the school board and four candidates have been nominated for the positions. The terms of Trustees Knoll, Andrews and Barr expired and the former two followed their names to be placed before the electors, Trustee Barr refused to stand again. In addition to Dr. Knoll and D. A. Andrew, Sidney Brass and Jas. D. Adam were nominated. Elections at the same place and time as for councillors.

The only representative above all opposition was the town member on the hospital board, H. R. Parker, who was elected for a further two years by acclamation.

Defeat Two Islay Rinks

Two rinks of Vermilion curlers brought home the Blair cup on Monday night, invading Islay and winning both games from that curling club. Wes Waldenberger with his club rink of Leish Tyner, Ed Meadow and Cliff Porter won from Inman 12-9. Alex West with Dr. Clarke, White, Wilson and Loyal Amos came out on the long end on a 17-9 count against Martin.

The boys reported a fine time and are now ready to defend the silverware against all comers.

CHATSWORTH LOCAL U.F.C. ELECT A. L. TOVELL PRES.

Wire Support to Farmers' Delegation at Ottawa

The Chatsworth Local 182 of the United Farmers of Canada, Alberta section, met in the Chatsworth school on January 31st when the annual meeting of the local was held.

A. L. Tovell was elected president by acclamation, Ray Anderson is the secretary-treasurer and the four directors are Richard Good, J.J. Hope, M. Tovell and H. J. Innes.

The secretary gave a report on the past year's activity including the financial standing of the local. The meeting was well attended and all of last year's members renewed their membership fees, and a number of newcomers joined the local.

A resolution was sent to the U.F.C. Alberta section representative, who is now in Ottawa with the Saskatchewan Farm delegation, reading as follows:

"We, the U. F. C. of Chatsworth Local 182 heartily endorse, and stand behind you in the stand you farmers are taking, to obtain one dollar wheat at point of delivery."

The secretary was instructed to bring to the attention of the central committee of the U.F.C., Edmonton, section 8 in the 1940 amendment to the Act of the Prairie Farm Assistance. A clause in this section bars a man from receiving any award if he is forced to discontinue farming and leaves the land before Nov. 1st.

Another item of business was snow plowing of the roads. Much discussion took place on this matter but due to present ice and hard snow, it was decided to leave the roads as they are for this winter. It was expressed that all efforts would be made early next winter to see if it is possible to keep them open

VARIETY WILL FEATURE ICE CARNIVAL FEB. 27th

Fancy Skating, Hockey, Clowns, Races and Costumes

Advance tickets are now being sold by various business places. Elks school children and others for Vermilion's annual gala ice carnival which is being held under the auspices of the local B.P.O.E. in the Vermilion arena on Friday Feb. 27th.

Not Process Given Away

Net proceeds from this big event will be donated to the Air Cadet Flight recently formed here, and to the public school sports equipment fund. For these reasons the public are urgently requested to patronize the carnival in hundreds.

Variety

Variety will feature the 1942 carnival, and committees are making the final arrangements for fancy skates, a juvenile hockey game, pee wee hockey when the real "little fellers" will get into action and speed races for young and old.

Good Prizes

Handsome prizes are being offered for all races and also for costume of every classification

Clowns

In addition to everything else the Elks have secured the services of four screamingly funny clowns to strut their stuff on the ice, and comedy on skates" will provide the funny side of the carnival. Watch for detailed report of program of events and costumes shortly

As all proceeds are being donated to two worthy causes the Standard has been asked to announce that there will be no passes issued to the carnival. Everyone, including those in costume must have tickets or pay at the gate. Advance tickets are now sold at 25c

Admission at the gate will be: Adults 50c, high school students 25c, public school pupils 15c

DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME IN EFFECT SUNDAY NIGHT

Vermilion, in conformity with the rest of the Dominion of Canada and the United States, will go on Daylight Saving Time on Monday morning. All citizens are reminded to put their clocks one hour ahead on retiring Sunday evening. All services such as trains, buses, and other utilities will operate on the daylight saving time schedule so that there will be no inconvenience or confusion. Just put your clocks ahead one hour and follow out your regular routine as usual. You will actually be going to work an hour earlier but in compensation you will be finished work at five instead of six, giving you an hour's extra daylight in the evening.

Town Shocked By Death Miss Ruth Cash

Sadness have the people of Vermilion and district experienced no great a shock as that of last Friday when word spread of the passing of Miss Ruth Cash, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Cash. She was just 28 years of age.

For the past two and a half years Miss Cash had been teaching on the public school staff at Tofield. On Sunday evening January 25th she was taken ill and on Monday morning had lapsed into a coma. Doctors found that she was suffering from a cerebral hemorrhage and held out little hope for her recovery. Death occurred early Friday morning January 30th.

Funeral services were held from the First United church, Vermilion on Sunday February 1, interment taking place in the Vermilion cemetery. A complete obituary will appear in next week's Standard.

The sympathy of a very wide circle of friends and acquaintances is extended to the family in their sad bereavement.

E. L. & P. PLANT BOILER BEING HEATED BY GAS

Turned On By Mayor Morrison On Monday

Natural gas as fuel was turned on under the new boiler in the power plant on Monday afternoon in the presence of the members of the town council, officials of the gas and oil companies, and several citizens. The big boiler was closed down on Tuesday last week, and the work of changing over from coal to gas was carried on night and day and completed, except for minor adjustments, this Monday afternoon. Franco gas experts were at the same time busy completing their connection with the plant burner.

The change over included the installation on a Ray Gas Burner, a recent development in gas burning equipment and which, by the way, is the first of its kind to be installed in Alberta. It was purchased from the Ray Corporation at San Francisco through the W. R. Bennett Company, which company holds the exclusive agency for Alberta and Saskatchewan.

The burner was installed under the direction of Mr. W. R. Bennett of Moose Jaw. The necessary brickwork was done by J. A. Meakin of Edmonton.

The burner installed is manufactured by the Ray Oil Burner Co. of San Francisco, which company has been in business for nearly twenty years and has been manufacturing oil and gas burners for nearly thirty years. They are no experiment and have been sold all over the world and have been supplied in great numbers to the British and United States governments

The gas was officially turned on by Mayor Morrison who first touched a lighted match to the pilot light and then turned on the main valve. This action was immediately followed by a roar as the gas, under seven pounds pressure, shot flames into the combustion chamber.

Mayor Morrison then congratulated the town upon its adoption of gas as the plant, whereby the Utility is assured of a saving of $2000 over the

Local Bombers Trim Kitscoty Juniors

Score 4-2 in Game Saturday

In a hum up hockey encounter that is packed full of thrills and spills from bell to zenith, the Vermilion Juvenile Bombers turned the tables on the Kitscoty Juniors to the tune of 4 goals to 2 on Saturday night last. There was a good crowd on hand and excitement was intense all through the three periods.

Kitscoty got away to an early lead in the first period when Cairns potched the opening counter but Dunlop came back and slipped one of his unexpected and tricky long shots by the visitors net. Chisholm on the visitors again shot the counters into the lead when he nabbed the puck from a face-off near Chap Cooper's citadel and slipped the puck into the corner. In the second period Stan Manjuk went down on his ear and got up the count at two all, and then the third stanza Lee Williams of the Bombers smashed home two goals to set out plans.

Stan Waldenberger refereed

The locals are rounding into shape nicely now with Dune and Klak Easton and Ted Reel forming defensive and Lee Williams centering Soo Sadar and Raymond spencer on the other with a galaxy of defensive material Chap Cooper seems to have got the goal tending job, Stan Manjuk and Clifford Kennedy form a real fast team to accompany with Vern Easton and Bob Reel seeing plenty of action back there too. Bus Knoll-smith is the defenseman to do in get him action this week after a prolonged lay-off due to the mumps and flu previous firing methods, the Town Council upon its business acumen in selecting the Ray Burner equipment and the Franco Public Service upon finding an additional outlet for its product. The Mayor hoped that the expectations of all and sundry would be more than fully realized. He then introduced Jack Welsh as having been with the plant, as engineer, since the inception in 1912, and was retaining now upon a new lease of life under gas auspices.

The second boiler will be equipped with the Ray Burners shortly, upon which installation the change over from coal to gas will have been completed. As mentioned before, this is the first installation of a Ray Gas burner in Alberta and results will be watched with keen interest by large gas users all over the province.

The cost of the Ray Gas burners installed is $450.

To further commemorate the event of turning on the natural gas in the E. L. & P. plant, the Franco Public Service tendered a complimentary dinner to the members of the town council and representatives of various other oil, gas and town interests on Monday night. The banquet was served by George Capatos at the Cabaret de Luxe. A very enjoyable time was spent and the many bouquets handed out before a really agreeable little gathering was brought to a close.

REPORTS ON GROWTH OF VERMILION FIELD

Interest in the Vermilion oil field has been renewed, according to the annual report of the public utilities commissioner, G. M. Blackstock, K.C., tabled in the legislature.

"The bulk of development in this field has been undertaken by private capital up to the present time but the board is in receipt of applications for registration from companies which desire to finance through the sale of securities to the public," says the report.

CAMPBELL LAKE

The whist drive that had been planned for Friday in the school has been postponed, due to the whist drive being held on the same night at Island Hill school in aid of the Junior Red Cross. This is such a worth while cause, let us all lend our support.

Friends of Mr. P. McCambridge sr. will be pleased to know that he was able to leave the hospital on Wednesday after having been taken there last Friday, suffering from torn ligaments in his right shoulder, sustained in a fall while working on his farm.

Bert Mead spent the week end at his home, returning to Edmonton Monday night.

WOODVALE

We have been rather neglecting our reporting duties—but news seems to be rather scarce and the ice—weather bothered us out doors too often to leave us much time for indoor hobbies. Father that has been the trouble with most of us.

By now, everyone knows I presume, that Mrs. Potter returned early last month from the Pacific coast where she visited Allan in Kingston and had a very enjoyable time.

Mrs. Potter spent a few days in Edmonton and met some former Woodvale and Tolland residents who came to Edmonton to be home for a time here. The Posters are living on the H.S. Craig farm on the 4 Corners Lake road and are very welcome any visitors from those parts. Hallock and Robin have grown quite a bit and this to receive the letters of their Edmonton friends. Mr. Potter has now own a big dairy herd near the Calgary highway and still are interested in everyone of the Tolland district.

One of these days we hope to see Mrs. Iverger Woodrah school teaching again. Jim Proudfoot is stationed at Nanaimo, B.C., at present, in a signal corps, and plans to spend a few days of his early February leave in Woodvale.

The children of the school enjoyed a skating party at the home of Mrs. Steward. They were all the little friends who used to go to school with young Jim.

A dance will be held at the school by the Glee club on February 6th.

On Sunday Mrs. and Mrs. Dickson of Hindville left to go and live with their daughters and sisters in Gault, Ont. Many friends and neighbors gave them a surprise party on Saturday. We have not heard any details at time of writing, but feel quite there was a big turn out as Mrs. Dickson is one of the oldest residents in the district and always was a real good neighbor and kind friend to all. The younger crowd gave a dance at Watson school for Angie, who has been one of the popular girls around here. Everyone wishes them the very best of luck in their new home at Gault.

ROBBED TEACHER, GETS SEVEN YEARS

School teachers living in remote teacherages must be protected, stated Magistrate Millar in Edmonton police court Saturday when he sentenced Lloyd Whitford, 21, Derwent district farm laborer, to seven years in Prince Albert penitentiary on a charge of armed robbery with violence.

Whitford is alleged to have entered the teacherage of the Petlona Lake school north of Vermilion on the night of January 13th, armed with a rifle. He bound the teacher, Miss Mary C. holme hand and foot, and robbed her of $17 the court was told.

Miss Gilholme remained tied up for twelve hours until discovered the next morning and freed by a neighbor.

Arrested in Derwent

Whitford was arrested in Derwent by Const. Deakin, Derwent detachment of the R.C.M.P., on Jan. 17.

Brought before Magistrate Millar Saturday, Whitford elected for summary trial and pleaded guilty to the charge. Asked if he had anything to say, the stocky farm laborer replied: "No, the officer has said it all."

Const. Deakin stated Whitford has never been in trouble before, and that when arrested he admitted entering the teacherage where Miss Gilholme lived alone, binding her and robbing her.

Responsibility to Public

"I think I have a responsibility to the public in cases like this where girls are compelled by their employment to live in homes and buildings remote from other people for the purpose of carrying on their business of teaching," stated Magistrate Millar.

"These girls must be protected. I have come across two or three cases in the past two or three years of the same thing, and I feel it is my duty to impose a sentence which will deter this sort of thing.

"I sentence you to seven years in Prince Albert penitentiary," he concluded.

Miss Gilholme did not positively identify the convicted man. She returned to her teaching duties at Petlona Lake on Monday of this week and the case was apparently thrown wide open until she planned to go to district officials in Vermilion late on Monday afternoon, that the man who robbed her had made his appearance at the school a short time before. School had been dismissed early as the annual meeting was scheduled for the school, during the latter's absence. Gilholme says she turned to find the man in the school room. She immediately ran to the closest telephone and notified officials. A further check up is now being made and it is thought possible that two men were implicated in the robbery.

THE STANDARD

VERMILION - - ALBERTA

ESTABLISHED 1908

Published Every Thursday Afternoon at the Office, Main St.

S. B. P. COOPER — EDITOR

Vermilion, Alta., Feb. 5, 1942

The report of the annual ratepayers' meeting, held last Friday evening, has been given considerable attention by the press, and the highlights of the meeting, including some very interesting figures on the business of Vermilion during 1941, will be given in next week's Standard. There is no doubt that the mayor and councillors presented the best financial statement for a decade to the ratepayers, and that the town, school district and hospital district are all in first class financial condition. Our municipality has been very capably managed not only during 1941, but for several years past, resulting in the very satisfactory financial status of the town today.

Activities of the Vermilion Board of Trade for 1941 are outlined in this issue by the President, Gerald F. Stephens. This article is especially drawn to the attention of any who are not in habit of attending board of trade meetings and who are not familiar with the numerous and continuous projects carried on by your fellow townsmen.

GIVE VENT TO YOUR EMOTIONS

War as waged by a country like Canada is a strange combination of sotthearedness, steely determination, and a false feeling of frustration.

We read about and reflect on Nazi atrocities. The Huns bomb old ladies in Britain, machine gun men in cities into the highways in order to choke the roads and impede the military movements of the enemy. Nazis and Japs sete innocent people as hostages and shoot them down when their fellow countrymen dare to oppose Nazi aggression.

These inhuman acts sicken us. Leaving peace, we grow tender as we realize that the for generations famous Canadian mothers and Canadian children might be similar victims of the bombed cities.

Out of that softness of heart rises a great personal urge to stamp out these tyrants — to make the whole world free for decent human beings.

And then comes the moment when some in Canada feel frustrated. They shouldn't be. Those of us left back in Canada can fling our dollars into the war effort with as much vigor as Canadian sailors, soldiers and airmen apply to the battle at the front. And these dollars are as important as the operations of the different theatres overseas. Every dollar subscribed to the Victory loan means another step forward towards the end of brutal tyranny.

Fight with your dollars as the Canadian boys fight with their machine guns. Don't hold back your fire.

The attention of every dog owner in the town is directed to the final notice appearing in this week's issue giving warning that all dogs not wearing a dog tag will be destroyed after Feb. 15th. Authorities feel this order will be carried out to the letter as many complaints are being received of the too numerous dogs in Vermilion making a general nuisance of themselves.

SUGAR REGULATIONS

Under the new sugar regulations of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board housewives are placed on their honor as Canadian patriots not to buy more than three-quarters of a pound of sugar per week for each member of the household. Cafe, hotel and restaurant proprietors must remove all sugar from their counters and tables and "serve sugar only in reasonable quantities when asked for by customers".

Provision is to be made to permit housewives to purchase larger quantities of sugar if making marmalade and preserves.

ISLAY

Mr. L. Bowser has been visiting at the home of his son Earl in Edmonton since Thursday of last week.

The Islay branch of the Red Cross held a bingo party in the hall on Tuesday evening, which was followed by a dance. There was a large crowd in attendance and a very good time was enjoyed.

The Trimbleville ladies met at the home of Mrs. Bushwell on Wednesday afternoon and quilted a quilt for the Red Cross.

A list issued by Dept. of Munitions and Supply reveals that major items now rolling off Canadian production lines range from smallest pyrotechnic flare to heavy bombers, from shell fuses to infantry tanks.

Tamar felt a hand on her shoulder. "I'm all right," she asserted weakly trying to sit up.

She looked up into dark eyes that were anxiously studying her.

"I'm awfully sorry. I should have kept you from getting that nasty spill," Christopher Sande said. "Are you sure that there are no bones broken?"

"Tamar" her father exclaimed as he ran up to them. "Child, are you hurt?" His face was whiter than the paper he held.

Sande was kneeling beside her there on the hillock where Madcap's flying hoofs had been brought up short.

"I'm perfectly all right," Tamar reaffirmed. She held out her slender white hand. "Christopher helped her own pen a big dairy herd near the Calgary highway and still are interested in everyone of the Tolland district.

GOOD DANCING NO MYSTERY IF DIAGRAMS SHOW YOU

Yet those shoes might tell a surprising secret of learning steps before a mirror with dance diagrams to our diagram for the balance step, the slow forward or Waltz chaser. You think the regular steps hard when you watch others but look at the footprint diagram and you see it's a simple matter of shifting weight.

Leading the steps is easy too. A full count before, he prepares her by firm pressure of right arm and hand. As you move, imagine the sharp grace of a tango—relax completely.

Next you'll be learning all the smart steps from diagrams—the Conga, rumba!

Our 52-page booklet has the diagrams for them and for fox-trot, Westchester, tango, slow and waltz, too. Gives correct posture, pointers on leading and following.

Send for your copy of Home Course in New Ballroom Dancing. Enclose 25c (coin preferred) and mail to Dancing Newspaper Dept. 175 McDermot Ave., Winnipeg, Man.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

EGOIT OR MIGHT?

If mankind had wished for what is right, they might have had it long ago. William Harlett

It has been said of the world's history hitherto that might makes right. It is for us and for our time to reverse the maxim, and to say that right makes might. Abraham Lincoln

God reigns and will reign to the end as supreme Lawgiver and Lord especially—Mary Baker Eddy.

Let it be known that we are on God's side. We grind out the tanks, planes and guns. And among us He whose name is one

In conflict with unholy powers
We grasp the sword we must not stay
The Light and Truth and Love of Heaven Wield.

Nothing but the right can ever be pleasing to God, and the right must be true expediency which would sacrifice a greater good to a less.

We men have a right to do as he pleases, except when he pleases to do right. Sloan

Are Finding Out

London correspondents of Canadian papers who passed for "experts" and made frequent predictions concerning Canada are now a trifle sore over the trials and tribulations of their own censorship. British censorship men now get a sly satisfaction out of the troubles of their trans-Atlantic colleagues and they discovered that the blue pencil is not peculiar to Senate House and Whitehall.

The official language of Liberia is English.

Canada's Base Metal Mines

Turning Out Record Quantities But Also To Do Better

While Canadian civilians are being asked to conserve use of metals to help the war effort, base metal mines are taking further steps to increase available supply of those metals at the source. With exports of non-ferrous metals up almost 20 per cent in the first 11 months of 1941 over the corresponding period of 1940, base metal mines have already been turning out record quantities but they aim to do better still! Expansion called for under the Hyde Park agreement is expected to bring mineral production to a level hardly thought possible before the war.

The metal production picture in 1941 offers a striking contrast to that in 1917. Metal prices to-day on the average are only half those existing in the last war. 1st quantities produced are tremendously greater. With actual production figures not available approximate increases over the first Great War period are reported as follows: Copper 75% per cent; lead 150 per cent; nickel 250 per cent; zinc 400 per cent.

Certain Canadian base metal industries has reason to be proud of its efforts in the past to save defence money. Financial Post

An Australian Hero

Private Became Target To Draw Enemy's Attention From Troops

The struggle between Australian and Japanese forces in western Malaya might well be described as The Battle for the Roads, and brought to light an example of ultra-heroism among the defending forces.

A private, volunteered to expose himself as a target by walking along a road while his comrades crept along through rubber trees on each side of the road armed with small machine guns. They blasted each tree that sniping fire came from and mopped up the ambushers.

The heroic private fell wounded from one of the last enemy shots but the injury proved not serious, and he remained with his unit.

Peter Cooper in building the Tom Thumb, first steam locomotive to haul a passenger train in the United States, in 1830, used musket barrels for boiler tubes.

Used Football Trick

United States Marines Surprised Japs Landing On Wake Island

The United States Marines on Wake island employed a favorite football trick the moustetrp, to sink a Japanese cruiser when the enemy attacked the small Pacific island.

Gridders often allow an impetuous enemy lineman to break through their line at top speed, then sidestep, as they trip him into him from the side, throw him out of the play and perhaps get a split second through his stalled spot for a gain.

The Marines defenders withheld their fire after the first few rounds were away when the Japanese believing the battleship had been silenced, moved forward to the finish, but the Marines blew a hole in the water with gunfire. It was the British Dogs version of footballs mo-trapping play.

The Week in Legislative Circles . . . In Edmonton

LEGISLATURE OPENS

EDMONTON. — Second session of the ninth Legislature was opened by the Lieut-Governor Thursday last in a ceremony shorn of all pomp. War time simplicity marked the entrance of His Honor. In the Throne Speech harbinger of measure to come, reference was made to impending debt legislation, extension of free cancer clinics, expansion of the health unit program, continuance of the municipal unit program, inquiry into the Workmen's Compensation Act. Also mentioned was the movement to push Alberta's boundaries northward and a survey of natural resources are preliminary to a program of post-war reconstruction.

TWO MEMBERS BIT AS LIBERALS

Of interest to electors throughout the province was the announcement issued prior to the opening by members J. H. MacDonald, K.C. and L.J. Bowlen that they would sit in the House as Liberals, and were not to be considered members of the Independent group. The members pointed out that their relations with the Independents will continue on a friendly basis, and they will be free to oppose or support legislation according to their views.

o o o o

POST-WAR RECONSTRUCTION

Inaugurating plans for post-war reconstruction, a three-man committee has been named by the provincial government to make a survey of the natural resources of Alberta. The members are Hiram McKee, provincial mines director; Dr. Cecil Nursall, president of the University of Alberta. The committee is still in the preliminary stage, and it may be enlarged later. Research and survey work will be carried out, and the various data accumulated will be made available to the dominion.

OLD AGE PENSIONS

Old Age Pensions came in for discussion among government members at the caucus sessions, and it was stated by the Premier that the privileged increases in three and in the mothers' allowance payments. Some weeks ago it was announced that the government had increased to pay 85 monthly to pensioners immediately federal legislation is revised to permit payment without loss to the province.

DEATH OF MAJOR CHARLES A. LYNDON

Death of Major Charles A. Lyndon formerly Alberta Live Stock Commissioner, was officially reported this week. He was killed in action at Hong Kong. Mai. Lyndon was popular among his fellow civil servants and was widely known and admired in agricultural and military circles all through the province. He commanded the 19th Alberta Dragoons, went on active service immediately at the outbreak of war, was in Iceland and survived the British blitz, returned to Canada to take a staff course, and was ordered to Hong Kong with the ill-fated Canadian contingent. British War office reported him missing some days before the capitulation. His wife received word of his death Tuesday last. Major Lyndon has often visited Vermilion and was well known here.

NEW OIL PRODUCTION PLAN FOR TURNER VALLEY

The oil and gas conservation board is still giving study to the new production plan for Turner Valley outlined by Dr. George Granger Brown, Michigan professor of chemistry and petroleum engineer who has been retained to study the Valley's potentialities. The new plan is unique in having no counterpart anywhere. It has attracted a great deal of interest among oil operators.

To Treat or not to Treat

This article is not, as the title suggests, a discussion of bathroom etiquette. It is concerned with the more important, if less stimulating(?) subject of seed treatment.

Seed treatment is insurance and, like all insurance, costs something. We are all obliged to decide whether it pays to insure buildings, cars, tires or crops, and if we decide that it is the long run we shall gain by carrying the risks ourselves, we don't insure.

So it is with seed treatment reports that sometimes we can be almost certain that treatment will save money. If, in 1941, we had sown in oats, covered smut in barley, or stinking smut (bunt) in wheat, there is no argument—we should treat.

In Alberta, plant pathologists have agreed on a principle with the cost of cereal seed with an organic mercury dust as a regular practice in Manitoba crop districts 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10. Farmers using their own wheat seed are advised to treat with Corsenan or Leytosan dust to the prevention of root-rotting and leaf-spotting fungi. Elsewhere in Manitoba and in Saskatchewan, farmers must make the decision for themselves.

The Associated Laboratory Service, with laboratories in Saskatoon, have undertaken to examine seed samples and to advise (or or against treatment). This is, undoubtedly, a good test. But, though treatment may have been considered unnecessary last year, this does not mean that it need not be done this year. Also, if one farmer is advised not to treat, his neighbors should on no account assume that they would get

Sacrifices Will Be Needed For Duration Of War

Winnipeg.—G. W. Spinney, national chairman of the war finance committee, Canada, in an address here before members of the Winnipeg branch of the Canadian Club and the Winnipeg Board of Trade, urged Canadians to "trim our individual sails, cut out all the frills, and really say to ourselves that the purchase of this or that can wait until peace is declared."

Speaking on behalf of the second Canadian Victory Loan campaign during which Canadians will be asked to lend $600,000,000 to the government for prosecution of the war, Mr. Spinney said:

"Money raised out of the last Victory Loan, together with the greatly increased tax receipts, does not come near to supplying the amount required for our own war effort, and for the assistance which we are giving to Great Britain. The war has an appetite that is never satisfied. Our government has nowhere to turn except to the Canadian people.

There might be spots where the taxation scales could be increased, but "we are already close to the point where the additional increases would defeat their own ends."

"The [illegible] which has been placed upon us by only the first beginnings of what may be the most radical and rapid change in our ordinary ways of life that this country has for many generations known," which will not be so dangerous or so heroic as that which occurred in England under the blitz, but, none the less, it will cut with profound effect into the habits of our daily lives," he said.

While it was the duty of the government to impose restrictions which the war demands, it is from the hearts of the Canadian people themselves that there must come the grace to make these restrictions really effective."

Canadians should not consider the purchase of Victory bonds as a "sacrifice," Mr. Spinney said, adding that the only element of sacrifice comes into the transaction "when we are willing to deprive ourselves for the duration of the war of many things which we formerly regarded as necessities but in the light of present circumstances may be regarded as luxuries."

He said obligation to restrict expenditures to absolute essentials falls on governments—Dominion, provincial and municipal—with the same force as on the individual.

"Capital expenditures outside the strict scope of war needs, except essential expenditures for the preservation of health of the people, should not be considered. Provincial governments and indeed most municipal governments revenues are relatively buoyant, and the drain on their finances formerly caused by unemployment relief has been largely eliminated.

"The sole reason for this turn, about arises from the fact the Dominion government's expenditures on war account have been so heavy. In my opinion, therefore, it would be reprehensible for any governmental bodies to indulge at this time in nonessential capital outlays. Any money remaining after paying for the ordinary functions of government should surely be invested in Victory bonds."

Increase Allowance

To Be Paid To Civilians And Air Force Trainees

Ottawa.—An increase in allowances to civilians and air force trainees in the war emergency training program has been decided on, effective Feb. 2, the labor department announced.

Air force trainees taking pre-enlistment classes under the program have been receiving these allowances: Single man living at home, $7 a week, single man living away from home $9, heads of families $12. This scheme has been changed to $7, $10 and $15 respectively. Potential ground crew personnel are chiefly single men, while the married men are mainly taking advanced refresher courses to qualify for air crew.

On the industrial side, single trainees living at home have been receiving an allowance varying up to $3 a week if they gave up a job to take the training or are otherwise in need. Single trainees living away from home received from $7 to $9 a week, depending on living costs in their area, and heads of families were allow $12 a week. This scale has been revised to $9, $7-9, and $12 respectively. All these allowances are paid by the Dominion.

Canadian Liner Torpedoed

Heavy Loss Of Life When Ship Sunk By Submarine

San Juan, Puerto Rico.—Two hundred and fifty persons were reported dead or missing after 71 survivors had been taken ashore from a lifeboat Allied ship (identified officially in Montreal as the 7,988-ton Canadian National cruise ship Lady Hawkins.) Thirteen of the survivors were Canadians and six Newfoundlanders. The ship was sunk in the Atlantic by an Axis submarine which fired two torpedoes without warning.

The United States navy announced that an Axis undersea craft had been sighted in the Gulf of Mexico, 15 miles off the Louisiana coast. The navy said the U-boat was being hunted by ships and aircraft and that it was suspected of being accompanied by another, undersea craft. The raider been loosed a smoke bomb, a device often used as a distress signal, but one which may have been employed to signal a companion.

The survivors, who had prayed and sung hymns in their teeming, crowded lifeboat, were brought here by Captain Helgesen aboard the New York-Puerto Rico steamship Cuzco.

(The New York Herald-Tribune said other submarine surfaced and played searchlights on the cruise ship for 60 seconds, "then the first of two torpedoes struck, at a moment when passengers and crew, with perfect discipline and order, were moving toward their lifeboat stations."

(Giving a graphic description of the action, The Herald-Tribune went on: "Most of the 321 persons aboard never had a chance. The first torpedo hit into the Lady Hawkins just forward of the bridge. The mainmast crashed down. The ship heeled over and many persons were tipped into the cold, calm, moonless sea.

(The second torpedo hit No. 3 hold, apparently blew up the engine room, and smashed two lifeboats.")

Halifax reported a large group of Nova Scotians were included in the complement of the Canadian liner Lady Hawkins, torpedoed and sunk on the Atlantic.

At least 38 men from this province were in the ship's crew. Two women and a man were known to have been passengers.

What few details were available indicated that this was by far the heaviest loss of life yet in the Axis submarine offensive off the United States and Canadian coasts.

Fighting In All Seas

American Navy Has A Gigantic Job (W Production

Chicago.—Navy Secretary Frank Knox pictured the United States navy as engaged in a gigantic job of production and fighting "in all the seas and all the oceans" against "one indivisible, total enemy" the world over.

It is "an immense assignment," he said, but "your navy is doing the job."

The secretary, in a speech prepared for a Chicago Association of Commerce luncheon, said if some people misunderstood his remarks of Jan. 12 to the effect that Hitler was the principal enemy, "the navy hadn't."

He said he wished to make it "emphatically clear" that he regarded the war in the Pacific, the Atlantic, Russia, China, Malaya, Libya as "all one war." Hitler "hatched this ghastly conspiracy on the whole world but the enemy is one enemy —one indivisible, total enemy."

The secretary reminded people wondering what the United States Asiatic fleet is doing that the Japs "are more curious than you are."

To persons uncertainly over what our fleet is doing or where it is going, he said, is one such as "has raised everyone of you to ask 'What is Hitler going to do next?'" He said it had manifest strategic value because "not knowing what your adversary is going to do you have to disperse your forces and attempt to be ready for anything."

He said he often was asked why he wished to keep something secret when he knew people already knew of it and have been talking about it.

"My answer is that our enemies—being past masters at such tactics (being) carefully planned and circuits rumors in order to confuse us. It is not the circulation but the confirmation of so-called facts that is important."

Demand For Horses

Saskatoon.—The probability that demand for good horses at a remunerative price would be experienced before the demand could be met, was the opinion expressed by Peter A. Taylor, secretary of the Saskatchewan Clydesdale Breeders' Club, in his report to club members at a meeting held here in conjunction with the convention of the Saskatchewan Live Stock Breeders' Association.

Beaverbrook Tells Of Atlantic Charter Meeting

London. — Lord Beaverbrook disclosed in a broadcast address that the historic meeting between Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt which resulted in the Atlantic Charter took place in Newfoundland.

The minister of supply, who recently returned with the prime minister from Washington, made the disclosure in the course of an address in which he said Mr. Churchill "has never failed" in his relations with the United States. "He was right when he went to Newfoundland for the meeting with the president," Lord Beaverbrook added.

"He was right twice over when he took his chance with the Americans in declaring whole-hearted support and unrestricted support for Russia and the Russians."

The minister then revealed that when Britain gave her pledge of aid to Russia "we agreed to give Russia half the effective tank production."

Lord Beaverbrook declared the present target of British production is the "greatest possible output."

"Production in Britain is good," he said, but it "must be increased."

"The prime minister is never satisfied. He is always asking for more. He is continually pressing us. Inquiring into our plans and asking us to extend the scope of our operations."

Lord Beaverbrook also disclosed that the prime minister had pressed his case for sending American troops to northern Ireland at his meeting in Washington with President Roosevelt. He said that when Mr. Churchill had finished his plea, the president replied: "We will send the troops."

Lord Beaverbrook said Lord Louis Mountbatten, chief of combined operations, had made a valuable contribution to the war effort.

For Protection Of Forests

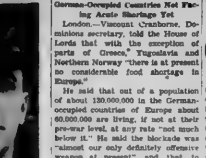
Schoolboy Battalion Could Guard B.C. Timber Against Fires

Victoria.—Lands Minister A. Wells Gray said provincial authorities had asked the federal government for authority to form a battalion of schoolboys, drawn from all over British Columbia's forests against possible enemy incendiarists this summer.

Mr. Gray said the special protection of the forests came under air raid precautions, and envisaged the possibility of enemy aircraft using incendiary bombs dropped from planes. He said 1,000 high school boys would be needed in addition to regular forestry patrols.

Non-Essential Industries

Perth, Australia.—The government intends to close immediately all non-essential industries throughout Australia and transfer the labor thus released to vital defence production, Prime Minister John Curtin announced.



COMMANDS SQUADRON

Squadron Leader Stan Turner, veteran of Dunkirk air fighting and the Battle of Britain, has been placed in command of a Canadian fighter squadron, it was announced. The taciturn Toronto airman . . . credited with destroying at least 12 enemy aircraft when he was awarded the bar to the Distinguished Flying Cross last August . . . was one of the original members of the famous All-Canadian squadron commanded by Squadron Leader Douglas Bader, now a prisoner in Germany. Turner has been leading an English, Canadian mixed-channel sweeps since he left the All-Canadian outfit.

Canada Offers To Lend Every Aid To Australia

Ottawa.—The Canadian government is anxious to co-operate in every possible way in affording "such assistance as can effectively be given to our friends and brothers in Australia," Prime Minister Mackenzie King told the House of Commons.

This statement was recalled in connection with a Perth despatch which reported Prime Minister Curtin of Australia as saying in a message to Mr. King "nothing would please us better than to have the active cooperation of the Canadian forces in the Pacific theatre of war which is so vital to all countries as well as to ourselves."

What form the assistance would take could only be determined after compler and careful consideration, Mr. King said. He was replying at the time to a suggestion of Conservative House Leader Hanson that Canada send a division of trained men to help in Australian defence.

Mr. King said:

"My honorable friend (Mr. Hanson) will have noticed that the particular request which our friends in Australia are making, is at the present time, for planes and tanks; and I am not without grounds for believing that they may be receiving some assistance of the kind from Canada at present and that we shall be able to add considerable assistance to them in these particulars, and possibly in other ways, as time goes on."

May Obtain Information

Swiss Government Trying To Get Information From Hong Kong

Ottawa.—National defence headquarters announced that the Swiss government, the protecting power in occupied China for British and Canadian interests, has established communication with Hong Kong.

"It is hoped that this channel may provide a means for getting information regarding British and Canadian soldiers which has been delayed so long," a headquarters statement said.

"The department will communicate any particulars to those interested as soon as they are received."

Canadian troops, mostly members of the Winnipeg Grenadiers and Quebec Royal Rifles, took part in the unsuccessful defence of Hong Kong against the Japanese and their casualties are feared to have been heavy.

"Information just received from the Canadian high commissioner in London is to the effect that the Swiss charge d'affairs in Shanghai has been able to get in touch with the Swiss consul at Hong Kong, and has instructed him to take over charge of British interests and to report on the condition of British wounded and prisoners of war," the statement said.

Available For Service

Canadians Would Assist United States In Case Of Attack

Ottawa Units of the 4th Canadian division would be available for service in the United States in case of attack on that country if it were considered desirable to send them, Defence Minister Ralston told the House of Commons.

He added that the units might be sent except for any "some defence personnel," unless such personnel volunteered for that duty.

Present Plan Satisfactory

Ottawa The Canadian government will avail itself of the privilege of representation on the British war cabinet if at any time it finds existing machinery for consultation with the British government unsatisfactory Prime Minister Mackenzie King told the House of Commons. So far, he said, the existing machinery had been satisfactory

For Overseas Service

Ottawa. Between 400 and 500 members of the Canadian Women's Army Corps probably will be called upon before the end of the year to serve overseas, it was learned. The indication was the first group of women would go overseas sometime during the summer.

Food Situation In Europe

German-Occupied Countries Not Facing Acute Shortage Yet

London.—Viscount Cranborne, Dominions secretary, told the House of Lords that with the exception of parts of Greece, Yugoslavia and Northern Norway "there is at present no considerable food shortage in Europe."

He said that out of a population of about 130,000,000 in the German-occupied countries of Europe about 60,000,000 are living, if not at their pre-war level, at any rate "not much below it." He said the blockade was "almost our only definitely offensive weapon at present" and that to abandon it would be "most criminal folly."

Gift Of Canada Means Lower Costs For Britain

Ottawa.—The foodstuffs portion of the $1 000,000 000 contribution from Canada to Great Britain announced by Prime Minister Mackenzie King will enable the British food ministry to buy Canadian farm products at approximately 20 per cent. below what it would have to pay under ordinary circumstances. The Canadian gift was learned

The Canadian government will pay to farmers prices considered sufficient to enable them to increase production Then the Canadian government will sell the produce to the British food ministry at around 25 per cent below these prices, an official source said.

In some commodities there is already a considerable spread between what Britain has been able to pay and what the Canadian farmer needs to raise such products

Last year the food ministry paid about $400 000 000 to marvow this spread and the Canadian government almost $100 000. Canada's gift will take the load off the food ministry and is expected also to improve prices to the Canadian farmer.

The $1.000-000,000 gift will be split three ways among munitions, foodstuffs and other supplies and no decision has yet been made what proportion of the gift will be devoted to foodstuffs, it was said

Negotiations are going forward to arrange to send to Britain 200 000 bushels of Canadian beans now held in the Dominion above domestic requirements.

Negotiations also are being worked out regarding cheese and the Canadian dairy industry will be asked to supply 125 000,000 pounds for Britain under a new agreement.

Under the present contract calls for 112 - 000.000 pounds which Canada will have provided by the time the contract is ended.

PACIFIC COAST COMMAND SNAPS CANADA'S WESTERN DEFENCES

On the Pacific coast, which since Dec 7, 1941, has become an immediate theatre of war, Canada is on guard against attack. Here is photographed for the first time the operations room of the Pacific coast command, nerve centre of the coastal defence scheme. Some of the men up at the phones in responsible positions for defence are shown here. Left to right (1) R H Mullaly, Commodore J W H Hibbard (RCNP) (retired) (2) L F Pres-ton, C.B.O. ON A FROSTY FRIDAY MORN

On a frosty Friday morning when this bloody war is o'er,
When the last air raid has sounded from the banshee sirens roar
When they've taken down the black outs and lit the old street lights,
When a man can see for certain who he's been taking out at nights,
When there are no army rations and they issue "T" bone steaks,
When the C.A.M.'s are all stricken With ill - snakes,
When the blooming noisy sergeants Their footy vocal cords,
And the waiter's sometimes bad When you go to take a shower,
That will be the day lads you'll be Glad that you were born.
And they tell me it is coming Some frosty Friday morn
We'll toss away our battle dress and heavy army shoes,
We'll watch the cocks all dining on Their own mysterious stews
We won't be there on church parades, no guards and no fatigues
No blasting route marches or Imaginary blitz kriegs
We'll hang our rusty rifles upon the O.M.'s wall
And we'll give him back his 2 to 1 handed to last fall.
And when our arch equipment some / Farmer's mule adorns
Then we'll all be happy on that Frosty Friday morn
We'll struggle all the buglers if They dare to blow a note.
And we'll pour a barrel of cold, weak tea down the blasted N.A.F.F.'s throat.
We'll tear up all the orders from Rifle lesson 21
And make the Provost Sergeant mop Up the guard room floor.
We'll all go back where there are no fish and chips and the girls have been around,
And where a 5-spot is a fire spot And not a blooming pound.
We know sometime it's coming as we sit here all forlorn,
So we'll carry on as usual 'till That "Frosty Friday Morn."

CHANGES IN ALBERTA'S AGRICULTURE

That the war is affecting agriculture as well as every other phase of our national life is clearly seen in the following table Listed below are the areas sown to Principal Field Crops in Alberta in 1940 and 1941. The table has been prepared by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics in co-operation with the Department of Agriculture These figures indicate some of the major changes in our farming activities since 1918. Chief among these is the decrease in wheat acreage and the increase in oats, barley, flax and summerfallow

The Value Of Your Local Newspaper In Local Business

The VERMILION STANDARD plays an important part in all local affairs. It employs wage-earners whose homes are in the town from which it secures its business. These wage-earners pay taxes, support churches, make their contributions to local appeals, take part in community organizations, and spend most of their wages with local merchants. It is no idle boast that it has been the means of giving well-directed publicity to this town and district.

There is no business institution which gives so much FREE SERVICE as a local newspaper. Were a merchant asked to give the equivalent in goods that the newspaper gives in free service to all local organizations, he would find it impossible to meet the demand.

When money is spent for printing or advertising with your local printing office, you are helping local printers to help you. You make it possible for them to serve you better. Out-of-town printing salesmen take money out of the community — paying no taxes, buying nothing from local stores, getting all they can and not caring whether you sink or swim.

As merchants expect customers to be loyal to their own community — in buying goods from them — so might merchants remember they, too, should follow the same ideals in regard to their local printing office.

ITS GOOD BUSINESS FOR ALL OF US

Customer goodwill in this town and district can best be developed by regular advertising in your local community newspaper. The money spent for advertising, and printed matter, goes back to local merchants in increased trade.

Your dollars do double duty when spent with your local newspaper — they help you directly and others indirectly.

17 MUNICIPAL COUNCILS "OUT;" FIVE LARGE DISTRICTS ARE FORMED

Temporary Administrators Named Until Divisional Councils Are Elected

NOMINATIONS FEBRUARY 21

First Units Are Raymond, Stony Plain, Wainwright, Minburn and St. Paul

Wiping out 17 municipal councils, ministerial orders which establish five larger municipal units in this province have been issued by Hon. Lucien Maynard, K.C., minister of municipal affairs.

The orders were issued Friday and now are in effect. In each larger unit, established under legislation passed last year which has become operative in the province for the first time, a temporary administrator has been named to act until the new divisional council is elected.

The initial five larger units will be known as follows: No. 1, M.D. of Raymond, No. 137; No. 2, M. D. of Stony Plain, No. 130; No. 3, M. D. of Wainwright, No. 142; No. 4, M. D. of Minburn, No. 133; No. 5, M.D. of St. Paul, No. 19.

Two orders have been issued by the minister, one of which has the effect of automatically wiping out the existing municipal councils while the other provides for the appointment of temporary administrators, all of whom are inspectors for the municipal affairs department.

Nominations for councillors of the larger units are to be filed on Saturday, Feb. 21, and if an election is necessary, this is to be held on Feb. 28, when other rural municipal elections are held in the province.

All Ratepayers Vote

In the forthcoming elections, the candidates will be voted on by all the ratepayers in the unit, though they must be nominated by divisions. Thus, a ratepayer may vote for a candidate running in some other division, providing that such division is within the unit. In determining the results, the candidate in each division who has the largest number of votes will be declared elected. In later elections, however, ratepayers may vote only for the candidate in their own division.

Details of the new larger units affecting the Vermilion district are as follows:

MINBURN, comprising [illegible] Mannville, Vermilion, Kitscoty, Minburn; temporary administrator R. B. Ritchie. This unit consists of the municipal districts of Vale, 292; Ribstone, 431; Gilt Edge, 172; Battle River, 423; and that part of municipal districts of Morton, 451, and Grizzly Bear, No 452, lying south of the Battle River.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By H. G. L. Strange
Director, Research Department, Searle Grain Co., Ltd

Farmers who this year will purchase Registered, Certified or other high quality seed of oats and barley will certainly be disappointed with the general appearance of the grain

Owing to climatic conditions most of the grains of high quality seed oats and barley contain kernels that are either shrunken or tipped with green, and as at first glance this might lead to the impression that the seed is of poor quality.

The fact is, however, that the germination of the grain is no indication whatsoever of its value as seed. Seed value depends upon true-to-variety, germination and low content of weed seeds and of other kinds of grains. On all these counts Registered or Certified seed must be of a high standard, otherwise it could not be Registered or Certified by the Canadian Seed Growers' Association and the Dominion Seed Branch. Farmers, therefore, I suggest, should this year pay little or no attention to the appearance of the seed they buy, but if the sacks are tagged as Registered and Certified, farmers can be sure they are obtaining high quality seed which in spite of the poor appearance of the seed is true-to-variety, is of high germination and contains but little weed seeds or of other kinds of grain.

QUICK-TO-SEW HOME FROCK
By Anne Adams

If you're busier than a bee these days, yet want to make yourself a jolly new home frock, why not order Pattern 4981 by Anne Adams? It takes very little time to sew these arm-easy four main sections back and front. The bias insets at the waist give a slim look to the dress —the tie-belt in front is optional. And aren't the white collar and cuffs a refreshing note? Topstitch them if you like, or make them of the same fabric as the dress. The Sewing Instructor has a step-by-step plan that aids in sewing this as quickly as possible. Other interesting lines, sleeves, revers and re-trim, are the belt may be used in back instead of in front or omitted altogether.

Learning To Think

Supreme Danger To Our Civilization Is Our Growing Incapacity
(By Bruce Hutchinson)

The supreme danger to our civilization is not Hitler but our growing incapacity to think, our growing capacity to absorb easy and false ideas, like a gold fish gulping down breadcrumbs. If, with all our education and means of communication, we had learned to think instead of merely repeating catchwords like solemn parrots, there would have been no Hitler in the first place. And if we do not learn to think, if we do not check out most of our mental furniture and furnish more carefully in the future (building most of the pieces for ourselves in our own mental workshops), then we shall have larger and worse Hitlers when the present one has been liquidated

Fewer People Use Shelters

Population of the London underground shelters—those who sleep there regularly—has fallen off steeply since the height of the Nazi bombings. There are only 25,000 regularly sheltered in the tubes them days. The night following the last raid paid on May 10, there were 70 000.

SO YOU'RE GOING TO DO A PLAY?

Movement

Last week we started on technique and to-day I wish to discuss with you "movement." Never move without a reason. Thus, you enter the room, walk up to the fireplace. You could indicate that you wished to get warm by hand gestures when you arrive at the fireplace; you might want to flick a cigarette ash; there might be something on the mantel that you wish to examine, or you might just stand on the fire alone. Whatever it is follow through the action, detailing each part of the movement so that it is clear and crisp, and quite easily followed. Your face and eyes may be needed to help with this. If you are cold, take several minutes to warm up, etc. Seldom move and speak at the same time. Move then speak. The voice then has a good chance of being heard at the back of the hall without interference of noise of movement.

Gestures usually precede the speech. For example, point to the door with your full length of arm, and at shoulder height, then say, "See the door—make use of it." Make few gestures. When gestures are used they should always be above the waist line and wide, and sweeping. Beware of hands in the pocket. Let them hang naturally at the sides. We can even think of them until the actor calls attention to them by a movement or unusual gloves, etc. Don't look for a chair to sit down on. Walk up to it and feel the chair with the back of the calf of the leg, and then with one movement, sit down. If sitting in a deeply upholstered chair, during the process behind rise slightly more into a straight sitting position so there will not be an effort in getting up. Never grab the arms of a chair in getting up unless you feel sure as an older or ill person. Never cross your legs at the knees unless you are cast as a dandy or sissy. Then be sure to cross them high at the knee and up the toe to the floor. If kneeling, do it with the down stage foot.

Speech

Never look directly into the audience and speak. Only elocutionists and speakers do that. If you are reminiscing, you may select a high window at the back of the building and sing at it, speak through the audience. Look at the person to whom you are talking unless they are at the back. Then appear to look at them but be sure your words come out to the audience, but do not screw your neck around and become awkward. Regard the stage as a room with the fourth wall removed and the audience peeking in.

Make Up

Use as little as possible, depending on the lights. In religious dramas, be sparing on make-up. Only use crepe hair when driven to it because of length of hair, side-burns, moustache, etc. Be careful to build beards, sideburns etc up a little at a time, trimming them when they are in place, like a barber would trim them if they were natural. Take infinite pains with small details. Directors it says in the long run. And take the same early in the rehearsals.

The next week, then. The play books or scripts as we call them in the theatre should be here by that time.—Mary Ellen Burgess, Box 826, Regina

THE Martin Maryland is another high-speed, twin-engine bomber, being produced by the Glenn L. Martin Co. of Baltimore, U.S.A., for the Royal Air Force.

In appearance it is somewhat like the Baltimore although a comparison of the silhouettes of the two aircraft will readily reveal their differences. The Maryland was being built in large numbers for the French before the fall of France.

It is an all-metal, mid-wing monoplane, falling in the "medium" class, with wing span of 61' 3" and a length of 47' 2". It is exceptionally fast, with a top speed of over 300 m.p.h. Power is supplied by two 1,350-h.p. air-cooled engines. The Maryland is heavily armed with forward guns and others strategically located in power-operated turrets. It carries a heavy load of bombs.

Enough is Enough

Speaking in Toronto, a man from Coventry, England, told of an air-raid practice in that town at which children were sent to pass as wounded. One little girl was left waiting to be picked up too long, she thought. So she departed for home, leaving a note that read: "Gone home. Bled to death."

Complicated Things

In the days when "comics" were confined to the jokes in the almanac, parents found affairs much less complicated than now when many of them must keep up with the doings of a dozen strips in order to understand what their children are talking about, says the Christian Science Monitor.

THE bird's songbox is called the "syrinx." The instrument is quite complicated, but the principle is simple enough. As the bird breathes out air, it sets certain membranes vibrating, and these are tightened or loosened according to the pitch desired.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON I

A BUSY SABBATH IN CAPERNAUM

Golden text: I was in the Spirit on the Lord's Day. Revelation 1:10.
Lesson: Mark 1:21-34; Luke 4:31-41.
Devotional reading: Isaiah 58:13, 14.

Explanations and Comments

Jesus Attended the Synagogue on the Sabbath. Mark 1:21, 22. Jesus and his followers were in Capernaum, which had now become his headquarters, and on the Sabbath, as their custom was, went to the synagogue. We hear nothing of synagogues in Old Testament times, but in the time of Christ they were the places for worship and for holding the courts of justice. It was customary for the "ruler of synagogue" to choose the teacher for the day, and on this special Sabbath Jesus taught, and taught as having authority, not as the scribes who quoted the authority of their great rabbis. All were amazed at his teaching. The scribes were the usual synagogue teachers. In Luke 5:17 they are called "doctors of the law."

Jesus Cures a Demoniac. Mark 1:23-34. Jesus and his four disciples left the synagogue and went to Peter's home. There they learned that Peter's wife's mother (Tyndale's Version has the curious, but true, "mooses motherealwe) was sick with fever. At once he took her by the hand and raised her up, and the fever left her "The working of healing miracles cannot be explained; that is, we cannot tell how it was done. Sometimes the Gospels represent them as answers to Jesus' prayers (Mk. 9:29; 11:22; Jn. 11:41). They are works which the Father gives him to do. Sometimes they seem to speak as if the healing power resided in him as an electric might be body charged with it, and as if it could be trapped by a believing touch, though not without his knowledge (Mk. 5:28, 29). Always it is a power personal to Jesus, and also, as the Gospels often show us, at his own expense. The diviner saying about these miracles is in Mt. 8:17: 'Himself took our infirmities and bare our diseases.' What it means is that the healings were works of love as well as of power." (James Denny). The completion of the cure is shown by the last clause, "and she ministered unto them."

When evening came and it was then lawful to bring the sick to be healed, "all the city" was gathered at the door where Jesus was, and he healed many.

Health League of CANADA presents TOPICS OF VITAL INTEREST

CHILD WELFARE PROBLEMS

The British Ministry of Health, through the good offices of the Right Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian High Commissioner to London and a member of the Board of Directors of the National Committee for Mental Hygiene (Canada), invited Dr. C. M. Hincks, General Director of the national committee, to go to England to investigate the way in which Canada might be of service to the Old Country in handling its child welfare problems.

Dr. Hincks considered it advisable to select two experts to accompany him. They chose Dr. W. E. Blatz, director of the Institute for Child Study, and Dr. Stuart Jaffary, director of the School of Social Work of the University of Toronto. They are now in Great Britain and will survey the need for experienced personnel to deal with the child population in the bombed areas and in the centres to which children have been evacuated. Dr. Hincks and his assistants, representing mental hygiene, nursery school and social work fields in the Dominion, thus have an opportunity to make an immediate contribution to Britain's reconstruction program.

Due To Carelessness

Amount Of Wasted Postage Last Year Was Around $45,000

Carelessly or incorrectly addressed mail that ended up in the dead letter office last year represented wasted postage of at least $45,000, Postmaster-General Mulock said, urging public co-operation to assist postal officials. Col. Mulock said 2,100,672 letters, postcards, circulars and parcels reached the dead letter office.

A Struggle Question

This story with a moral comes from Eric Hadfield, of Springwood, Thongsbridge, near Huddersfield. On a wet afternoon a four-year-old girl was forbidden by her mother to go out collecting waste paper from neighbors. It was much too wet, her mother said.

"The little girl fixed her parent with a stern eye.

"Do you want to win this war or don't you?" she demanded.

Pres. Gerald Stephens Outlines Work of the Board of Trade

Gerald F. Stephens, president of the board of trade for 1941 and re-elected to that office at the annual meeting held last week, outlined the work of the board and the Standard is pleased to reproduce the address:

"As President of the Vermilion Board of Trade and also personally, I wish to thank the members of the executive, the members of the various Committees, and all members of the Board of Trade, who have all done their best to make 1941 an active and successful year for this Board.

A community effort, such as Board of Trade work consists of, is sometimes not given the importance it should have. Some people get worried about the war and feel they are not doing anything to help. Perhaps there is no place for them in war work in the strict sense of the term, but they can help by putting their shoulder to any work which builds their own community and unites the individual members of it. If this is followed out in every community the whole country is strengthened in a spirit of unity and endeavor. The Board of Trade is one means of achieving this in your community.

Last year year we had 77 paid up members of the Board of Trade. This is, I am sorry to say, two members less than we had the previous year. I understand that in 1939 we had nearly 100 members. I hope this year we shall reach that mark. However, during 1941 the Board has been exceptionally active and I do not believe we have neglected any opportunity to further the interests of the town and district.

Briefly among the various things dealt with by the Board during the year are as follows:

OIL FIELDS

1. The Board has done all in its power to give publicity to our Vermilion oil field and to promote its development.

2. A committee of the Board interviewed the Minister of Lands and Mines urging that the acreage upon which one well could be drilled be reduced, and continued to support representations to this end. The acreage was reduced from a legal subdivision to ten acres for each well

3. The Board wrote to the Finance News in British Columbia early in the year giving facts and figures covering actual development of the oil field, after attending officials of the Government in this connection.

4. The Board has made representations to have certain wells drilled on the field put into production so that the field would be officially declared a commercial field.

5. In this connection the Board also made representations for the grading of the Borradaile road from the highway to the oil field.

6. We have co-operated in every way possible with the oil men and believe we have contributed to some extent in bringing the field forward

AIR PORT

1. The Board continued representations made late last year to the authorities re. to the desirability of making Vermilion Landing field an official airport

2. A delegation, attended at Saskatoon supporting an air line service between North Battleford and Edmonton.

3. Recently the Board in conjunction with the town urged that Vermilion, in the event of such a line being established be a stop-over point between Edmonton and Battleford.

4. The air port of course belongs to the town and the Board has done all in its power to aid the town in having it recognized as an official landing field.

5. As you know, planes are now landing safely on this field.

AGRICULTURE

1. The Board made representation to the Dominion Government to have an experimental farm established here instead it was subsequently done

2. Efforts were made to have the Provincial Dairy Farm operated here as a school of agriculture or for winter courses and these efforts were continued throughout the year

3. Representations were made to the Minister of Agriculture regarding the appointment of a District agriculturist to have an office here which was done

4. The agricultural committee was asked to act with Mr. Wm. Brown and render any assistance necessary to enable farmers to file registration papers in connection with the wheat acreage reduction bonus

5. Proposals on the storage of wheat for arriving were submitted to the Board

India's War Effort

Bonds of Empire become closer when a common enemy attempts to break down the mighty British Commonwealth of Nations. Far-flung though it is, each part of the Empire is doing its utmost in resisting the forces of destruction which are now bent upon it. Our own war effort is centered before us, and the activities of Australia, New Zealand and South Africa have spoken for themselves in the news of the campaigns in the Far East and in Africa

From what, to us, seems a remote part of the Empire the mighty land of India now comes a story of a great contribution to the common cause in time of peril. There, four hundred million people, inheriting a civilization that goes back to the remote past, have taken their place with the other people of the commonwealth and are making a noteworthy effort in many phases of the war Sir Girji Shanker Bajpai, K.B.E., C.I.E., Agent General for India to the United States, recently visited Canada, and revealed some very interesting facts and figures in connection with India's war effort. Sir Girji is a distinguished servant of both the British Crown, and the Indian people and he is able to speak with authority of Indian affairs.

* * *

Army Of Million Men

In his graphic presentation of the extent of his country's contribution to the war Sir Girji revealed that the Indian army, which consisted of one hundred and seventy thousand troops when war broke out now has over a million men, and additions are expected to include eight million. Lack of equipment at present stands in the way of the establishment of an army of the utmost capacity possible in the country.

In India sufficient small arms are produced to equip the army, but industry there is not geared to the production of tanks, airplanes and some types of heavy artillery. The production of textiles for which India is famous has been turned to war purposes, and five hundred and fifty million yards of cloth per annum are made for the British army. The entire jute industry is devoted to the production of sandbags and a million and a half jackets. Tobacco is made only for the Imperial armies. India produces food — a large part of which goes to Britain, to help to meet the food requirements of the United Kingdom. Last year two million five hundred thousand tons of steel and thirty million tons of coal are produced in India. Each year and these figures go up, the production of small artillery and other war necessities

* * *

A United Country

For the present political issues have been put into the back ground, labour disputes are settled amicably, and the country is bent on the one task of doing its part in bringing the war to a successful conclusion. As equipment is received from the United States, the Indian army will grow, and will form an increasingly strong bulwark in European defence. Of the spirit of the people of India Sir Girji said

We are with you in this cause, ardently eager for effort, braced for sacrifice. Never, I think, in the history of the world has there been such a combination of powers as those who signed the other day or on whose behalf was signed the other day, the declaration of the united nations in Washington a declaration which I had the privilege of signing on behalf of India."

And so we know that in the Far East where the struggle is now grim and deadly there stands a part of the Empire strong and ready to do its utmost in bringing about a victory for the forces of democracy

If Batavian Citizens Fit For War Work Leave Capital

All civilians able to perform war work are forbidden to leave Batavia, capital of the Netherlands East Indies.

The government decree provides penalties up to five years in prison and 10,000-guilder (about $5,000) fines for civilians who disobey the order.

The decree covers all persons assigned to civilian war work, all persons connected with any vital organization or industry, all who have been assigned by the governor-general to important non-military functions, all persons possessing special knowledge or experience for non-military duties and all who have joined air raid services or the Red Cross.

Britain's Labor Shortage

Works Manager On The Spot When Employees Were Arrested

The shortage of skilled men in the factories is causing some odd situations.

The other day a colleague heard a works manager giving evidence at the police court against a group of the employees who stood in the dock charged with a series of thefts. He said they were good workmen and essential to the firm's war effort at the present time. In spite of their behavior, the firm would be glad to take them back into their employ "We cannot replace them," he added He added that they wished they could.

"Is it a fact," asked the defending solicitor, "that you brought these men to court in your car?"

"Yes," answered the works manager "and if they are not sent to prison I am going to drive them back I want to get them restarted on their jobs as quickly as possible." The case ended in fines being imposed Birmingham Post.

BUCKLEY'S MIXTURE

The Individual Citizen's Army

A Weekly Column About This And That In The Canadian Army.

By Alan Maurice Irwin

It's rather a strange thing that a country whose citizens, according to recent press dispatches, are able to spend 60c of every dollar they receive on the war effort, should know so little about its Army—the biggest single item in the 60c words.

That sounds like a sweeping assertion, but I'm making sweeping generalizations, slightly unfair. It is occasionally that a couple of newspaper chippings which come to my desk recently which show that Canadian newspapermen are woefully ignorant of Army terms. (They should read this column). Perhaps it is elevating the fourth estate too highly to judge a country by its newspapermen, so an apology may be in order

The whole thing grows out of two advertisements—"K.P." and "A.W.L." Both these terms are used little too frequently in Canadian newspaper columns to please old soldiers—this old soldier anyway, for neither of them apply to the soldiers of the King.

"K.P." is the abbreviation for a term current in the United States army "Kitchen Police"—it does not mean stories placed on sentries' duty to protect currants and other delicacies from a raiding finger—it does not mean men who have been detailed to assist in the non-technical work in the kitchen

Duties of duty on "Kitchen Police" is sometimes ordered as a mild punishment. But the fact that a man is detailed for a job in the kitchen does not always mean that he has transgressed any Army regulations

In the Individual Citizen's Army of Canada, work in the kitchen is one of the regular "fatigues" for which all private soldiers are liable to be detailed in the ordinary course—of events and, since a kitchen in your Army is invariably known as a "cook-house" it is only about one degree removed for any newspaper writers and others as "crook-house fatigue"

As one who had his share of cook-house fatigue a quarter of a century ago, it is difficult to write about it with point out—lest some Commanding Officer chance to look at this—that nine times out of ten it is a very welcome duty. There are such things as extra pieces of pie, apples that can be snitched, and other delicacies unofficially available at the amateur cook-house staff, which makes the whole proceeding rather useless as a punishment, even of the mildest variety.)

The other abbreviation I complain of in Canadian papers is "A.W.O.L."—again a U.S Army term—meaning "absent without official leave." If the United States Army cares to indulge in such redundancy it is alright with me, but as ex-soldier of an Army in which leave is referred to purely and simply as "leave" I feel that Canada's newspapermen should stick to the Army abbreviation of "A.W.L." which mean obviously "absent without leave" If a man has leave in your Army it has been granted by higher authority. Obviously then it does not need to be called "official leave," there being no such thing as an unofficial variety

All the foregoing may seem to be trivial. Actually it isn't. The Individual Citizen's Army is not only the greatest investment ever made by the Canadian taxpayer, it is an investment which spells to him or her the difference between freedom and oppression, between life and death; so like good investors it behooves us to know everything we can about the enterprise in which we should all be investing our money, our work, our hoeing and everything that we have.

Doing Good Business

Taxi-Boats Are Very Useful In The Harbor

An uninitiated person who heard a taxi being hailed in the crowded midstream of Halifax harbor doubtlessly would think that somebody in the near vicinity had tossed down one too many and let it go at that.

But that wouldn't be the end of it. A few minutes later, a noisy old motorboat would chug up to the merchant ship anchored nearby, and a nimble-footed seaman would scamper down a friendly ladder and hop into the boat. Then, as likely as not, the seaman might say to the boatman: "Shore, please, James."

As a matter of fact, the water taxi business is a particularly lucrative one in Halifax. One of the best that has sprung up since the war began. The taxi-boats they are known as the "mosquito fleet" by old-time harbor-workers because there are so many of them darting in and out of the middle-stream traffic operate to bring seamen ashore for a leave and to take them back to their ships. They also carry supplies out to ships while in port for a time but do not go into a dock

There's enough work to be done by these boats, approximately 200 of the little craft busy, their owners getting $1 per passenger for trip to any part of the harbor between the McNabs Island beside the outer harbor and $5 to the inner harbor, or Bedford Basin.

Most of the boats in the business used to operate on the inshore fishing grounds. Characteristically, they are noisy affairs low-slung, scantily-painted their smelly engines in rickety wheel-houses close to the rear, an open hold extending from the wheel-house to the stern where the passengers—odes it was the fish—are stored.

A taxi company which operates a fleet of nine in the city, also has a half-dozen boats in the harbor. Some of the craft have been fitted up almost luxuriously, their brightest feature being cabins fitted with automobile heaters for warmth.

Part Of Community Life

Spirit Of Kindness Brings Out The Best In People

Neighbors gathered at the home of the widowed Mrs. Ella Lenz, near Holstein, Iowa, one day last fall. They brought with them corn pickers, tractors and teams and wagons. Before the day ended the 3,500-bushel corn crop on the farm was harvested. The womenfolks prepared a fine dinner.

It is a simple heart-warming story, repeated in one way or another in many communities. But it points a beautiful lesson. The expression of kindness and good will has become common to community life.

Wherever it has extended, this spirit of mutual consideration has brought out the best in men and women. It has lessened trouble with cheer, pain with comfort and fear with friendliness. Its results justify Charles Dickens' Duke's assertion: "Good will is the mightiest practical force in the Universe."

This truth occupied a paramount place in the plan of living revealed by the greatest teacher known. It was the essence of the parable of the Good Samaritan, the active principle of the commandment "Thou shall love they neighbor as thyself." The present world tragedy shows the urgency of expanding the boundaries within which this healing influence is permitted to work. The roots of hate and war will be eradicated only when men realize the full significance of those words in Romans XIV. 7. "For none of us liveth to himself, and no man dieth to himself."—Country Gentleman.

Norway's Merchant Marine

Despite Losses About 80 Ships Still In Allied Service

Since the beginning of the war, Norway has lost a total of 24 ships by sinking according to an Associated Press compilation of December 14, 1941. Others have been seized by the Axis in Norway or ports elsewhere. Still at the service of the Allied cause are approximately 80 merchant ships, totalling about 5,500,000 tons deadweight. Among the Allied countries, Norway's merchant marine is exceeded in size only by Great Britain's and that of the United States.

The figure conveyed little to the editor. He asked, "How fine is that?"

The workman, too, seemed puzzled. He called to his neighbor on the next machine. "Bill, how many five thousandths are there in an inch?"

Bill scratched his head. "Cee, I don't know. But there must be millions of them."

C. G. I. T. "BUY A STAR" CAMPAIGN

All people interested in C.G.I.T. will have an opportunity to buy a Star from a C.G.I.T. girl next week beginning Feb. 9. This is your opportunity to help with this work among town and rural girls in Alberta.

In Alberta there are 2500 Canadian Girls in Training in 255 groups. Of these 1900 attended 35 certified camps during the summer of 1941. C.G.I.T. is a Church movement; it is a co-operative movement with other churches in the Religious Education Council of Alberta. It is a movement of Canadian girls in training to understand, through practice, the principles of democracy, to learn to live together, to train themselves to be leaders in our to-morrow and all through a sincere endeavor to live the Christian Way. The funds raised in this campaign are used to support the general work in the province; the general secretary, camps, supply depot, literature supplied to groups free, etc. Buy a Star. Show yours if interested in the future. Help and be glad you can.

DEMAND FOR "RE-TREADS"

Restriction by the War Time Prices and Trade Board on the sale of new rubber tires has created a demand for "re-treads". The new tires are needed to roll Canada's machines of war on to victory.

Dealers must not charge more for used tires or tubes than during the base period between Sept. 15 and Oct 11 last and must satisfy themselves that the customer has a real need for the tire or tube for the essential operation of his car

A "used tire" is defined as one that has been used for more than 500 miles.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor Vermilion Standard,

Dear Sir,

I am directed to publish the information that any candidates for positions on Town Council and the School Board are not receiving the official support of the Vermilion Taxpayers' Association. It is intended to have each member of the Association support any candidate whom he may wish to elect.

Jas. Robson, Sec.-Treas.

High School Notes

The students and staff wish to thank Mr. and Mrs. A.W.G. Morrison for their gift to the high school or a large Webster's dictionary, some books and some magazines. They are a very welcome addition to the library and are certainly appreciated.

The school board arranged for the hanging of a plaque in the library. The handsome plaque records the date of the fire and of the official opening with the names of the members of the school board at that time.

A number of students are afflicted with the mumps. We sincerely hope that they are not very sick and will be back at school soon.

Girls basketball has now been organized by the Sports representative The girls are fortunate enough to have obtained Mrs Carey as coach

The V.H.S. hockey team will travel to Vegreville on Thursday for a game and expect a return match here on Saturday night. Come out and help to cheer the boys!

JANUARY MILDEST FOR ELEVEN YEARS

Weather Service Reports Official Maximum Temperature 49

January was the mildest in 11 years, differing only one-tenth of a degree from the record set by January, 1931, according to the monthly weather statistics released Monday by the Edmonton meteorological bureau.

The maximum temperature for the past month was 49 degrees above zero and the low reading for January was 29 below. There was two and one-eight inches of snow last month as compared to no snow in January, 1941.

The sun shone for 107.6 hours in January, 1942, as compared with 100.6 hours in January, 1941.

FOR A GOOD AIM

Steel helmets made in Canada for Canadian soldiers are anti-magnetic because, otherwise, they would affect the instruments used for firing guns and would cause poor aim.

VERMILION RED CROSS HOTES

The aluminum campaign which was held in Vermilion at the end of the past year and sponsored by the Red Cross proved very successful with 2241 pounds net cleaned sheet and cast aluminum sold to an Edmonton firm. All taking part in this venture are to be congratulated.

Leading roles in this campaign were taken by Mr. W.P. Pilkie who donated a matinee at the Columbia theatre, the price of admission being a contribution of aluminum. The boy Scouts were in attendance at the theatre helping with the collection and removal of aluminum to the bin provided for this purpose. Mr. Bert Burr, representing the Board of Trade was in charge of the campaign with a band of willing workers to assist him, also being responsible for erecting the bin. Mr. John Mir contributed generously by transporting the aluminum from here to Edmonton. The Red Cross wishes to thank all who so generously gave of their time and energy.

TURKEYS START LAYING . . . SPRING MUST BE HERE!

There is an old saying that turkeys never start laying until spring has arrived. If that is so, spring must be here because a turkey hen, belonging to Mrs. Hiram Hodgins, south of Vermilion, went to work and layed an egg on Thursday morning. Here's hoping that that turkey's harbinger of spring is correct.

WILDMERE WINKS

People of the countryside were profoundly shocked when they heard of the sudden death of Miss Ruth Cash on Friday morning. She was known as a very friendly girl and was well liked by all who knew her. Her passing leaves a gap that will be hard to fill and deepest sympathy is extended to her parents and sister.

Monday was Candlemas day, but we do not believe the bear saw his shadow. At least not in our part of the country—yet.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Bill Frissell (nee Margaret Francis) of Edmonton, on the birth of a daughter on Jan. 27th. Bill is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Abe Frissell of Battleview. He has joined the Ambulance Corp in the army.

Mrs. Frank Dibben, Basswood, met with a rather painful accident last week. When carrying a bucket of water she had been canning meat in, she slipped and the water scalded her arm and chest quite badly. We wish her a quick recovery from her injury. She has been staying at the George Dibben home since.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Frissell and son Eddie moved last week onto the farm of L. Graham in Wildmere.

Harry Howard was a delegate to the Trustees' convention held last week in Calgary.

Mrs. Adam Smith was a visitor to Edmonton for a few days last week seeing her two sons, Alex and Norman. She returned home on Saturday and Norman accompanied her to spend the week end here.

The writer and husband spent a very pleasant evening Mr. and Mrs. Linden Padden and family on Thursday.

Miss Mary Sandey spent the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Smith.

Messrs. Edwards of Vermilion were callers out through our part, and at the Rendell home on Monday.

Mrs. Frank Gibson and Mrs. Ham York of Basswood spent Wednesday at the home of Mrs. John Wilson.

OIL PLANT NOW ON CONTINUOUS OPERATION

Deliveries to be Increased to Three Cars per Day in April

The Oil Conditioning plant of the Vermilion Consolidated Oils Limited is now on regular schedule and is operating 24 hours per day. One car of final oil, containing 35o barrels or about 8,750 gallons, is being loaded daily. Contracts call for this to be stepped up to two cars per day after the first of March and three cars after April 1.

The output of the plant is being purchased by the Canadian National Railways and is taken to Jasper for use on the mountain runs.

JUVENILES VERSUS WAINWRIGHT SATURDAY

Another top notch hockey attraction is scheduled for this Saturday night when the Vermilion Juvenile Bombers will clash with the Wainwright Juniors. The game starts at 8.15 sharp in the Vermilion arena. If this encounter is anything like the last three games we have enjoyed here, it is well worth every person's time to witness. The games are certainly breath-takers and no fooling, and our boys display is deserving of the support of every person in town—let's see a crowd of 500 in attendance at the game Saturday night.

LOCAL STAGETTE CLUB ORGANIZED

The Stagette club was originally formed in Saskatoon, Saskatchewan. This club started out as a bridge club and then the idea of the girls in this group was to do some worthwhile work so they had to get a name and organize as a charitable club. The work of this club soon became public knowledge and the following few years saw other girls in other cities and towns interested in affiliation. This meant securing a Provincial charter, and it wasn't long till there were six organized Stagette clubs in Saskatchewan. This was previous to 1939.

Upon further organization of the clubs, first in Calgary and then in Edmonton, it was necessary to secure a Dominion charter and the Stagette club is now a chartered charity club at Ottawa.

There is a National executive and a convention is held in the city or town where the executive resides, each year.

Mrs. B. H. Corey, an honorary member of the Calgary club has organized the Vermilion Stagettes and members of the present time are:

President—Marjorie Stewart

Vice-Pres.—June Durch

Secretary—Dorothy Hebbelthwaite

Treasurer—Jessie Swanson

Educational Convener—Mil Noonan

Committee—Lavonne Broughton, Nora Nelson

Charity Convenor—Margaret Shand

Committee — Maureen Younger, Lena Ahlsburg, Lucy English

Social Convenor—Alice Miller

Committee—Phyllis Wiebe, Jessie Kaeble, Edna Jones

Membership Committe — Betty Caldwell.

The purposes of the club are to carry on worthwhile charitable activities, and war work, and to advance and improve the social and mental perspective and development of each individual member.

The maximum membership is 25 and the limiting of the membership keeps up the enthusiasm, and since the group is small, keeps each member in the group with her own job to do.

There are now nine clubs throughout Saskatchewan and Alberta.

All monies raised by this club are used for charitable purposes and war work. The club has planned a card party to be held Wednesday, Feb. 18th at 8 p.m. in the Masonic hall. Bush whist and bridge will be played and tickets will be sold this coming week, or may be secured at the door.

The support of the Vermilion citizens will be greatly appreciated by the members of the club.

DEATH GOTTLIB KLASHINSKY

Gottlib Klashinsky, father of B. Klashinsky, passed away at the hospital on Wednesday, morning Feb. 11, at the age of 81 years. The funeral will be held from the Holy Name church on Friday morning at 10 o'clock with interment in the Roman Catholic cemetery.

The deceased came to Canada from Europe in 1904 and settled in Saskatchewan, moving to the Vermilion district in 1926. He has made his home with his son Barney and family since that time.

SIX VERMILION RINKS AT MANNVILLE BONSPIEL

The Vermilion Curling club is well represented at the Mannville bonspiel which started on Tuesday of this week, there being six rinks entered there. No doubt by the time this appears in print the spiel will be practically completed. The Vermilion skips are H. R. Parker, S. C. Heckbert, Ed Carley, F. M. Stewart, Jack Beresford and Harry Hartnett.

Victory Loan Campaign Swings Into Action Monday

His Worship J.W.G. Morrison, K.C., is chairman of the district committee for the Victory Loan campaign and has as his committee Messrs. Jas. R. Robson, C.W. Robinson, O.J. Algot, Frank Ilkiw, J.T. Fyfe, John Shaw, E. A. Mercer, G. M. Cundal, A. E. Williams, S. C. Heckbert of Vermilion is unit organizer for the loan and has already forwarded necessary supplies to Derwent, Mannville and Islay.

Canada's second Victory loan goes on sale Monday morning next and district residents are urged to purchase their shares in victory as early as possible in the week. Advertisement in today's paper indicates the names of those selling the Government bonds.

Denominations of the bonds are $50, $100, $500 and $1000 and the bonds may be purchased on the instalment plan, in the case of a $100 bond the sum of $10 being payable with the application and other payments on the following basis: on April 15th, $15; on May 15th $15, on June 15th $20, July 15th $20 and August 15th $20.25. This makes it possible to purchase bonds out of current earnings and everyone in the district is urged to assist Canada's war effort and provide the money with which essential materials and supplies may be obtained for our fighting men.

Bond purchases will be an excellent means of saving and it should be noted that if, in the future, before the bonds mature, they may be used as security for loans at the banks—this is a most desirable one and will obviate the necessity of funds being tied up for any definite period.

Bonds are obtainable to mature in September 1941, March 1945 and in March 1954; the longer term bonds bear interest at the rate of 2% and will be redeemed on maturity at 101, thus making a net yield of 2.07%; those who at present have funds in savings deposits and who receive but 2½% interest will readily see that it is to their advantage to convert savings deposits into Dominion of Canada loan. The entire security of the Dominion of Canada protects the investment and there should be no hesitation in purchasing the loan.

Residents of the district who desire to assist in the sale of the loan are asked to communicate with the unit organizer as soon as possible.

Elevator men in the district will have bond applications on hand and will doubtless be glad to advise farmers and others with respect to the purchase of the new loan bonds.

The district of Mannville, Islay, Derwent and Vermilion each has a separate quota in the loan; Buy your bonds through your LOCAL representatives or bank and help your district win its quota flag.

The district tributary to the above mentioned centres are:

Mannville—Ranges 4 and 5, Townships 48, 49, 50, 51, 52.

Islay Ranges 4 and 5, Townships 47, 48, 49, 50, 51 between the Battle and Vermilion Rivers.

Derwent—Ranges 5, Township 2, the north half of 52, 53, 54, and sections one to twenty four in 55

Vermilion—Ranges 6 and 7, Townships 48, 49, 50, 51 and the south half of Township 52 in Range 7.

Many Classes, Generous Prizes for Races and Costumes at Gala Ice Carnival

Variety of Events Will Feature Program This Year

Advance tickets are now being sold by various business places, Elks, school children and others for Vermilion's annual gala ice carnival which is being held under the auspices of the local B.P.O.E. in the Vermilion arena on Friday Feb. 27th.

Net Proceeds Given Away

Net proceeds from this big event will be donated to the Air Cadet Flight recently formed here, and to the public school sports equipment fund. For these reasons the public are urgently requested to patronize the carnival in hundreds.

Variety

Variety will feature the 1942 carnival, and committees are making the final arrangements for fancy skating, a juvenile hockey game, pee wee hockey when the real "little fellers" will get into action, and speed races for young and old.

Costumes

Handsome prizes are being offered for all races and also for costumes of every classification, as follows:

Girls under 10 years, 1st and 2nd, best dressed; Boys under 10, 1st and 2nd best dressed; Girls 11-15, 1st and 2nd best dressed; Boys 11-15, 1st and 2nd best dressed; Girls 16 and over, 1st and 2nd best dressed; Boys 16 and over, 1st and 2nd.

Adults: Best dressed team. Best dressed Lady. Best dressed Gent (individual).

Best Novelty, open—Group or three or more; children or adults.

Fancy Skating Teams

The leaders on the fancy skating display with this year be ably assisted by Jean Mooney and Hugh Craig of Prince Albert. The team made an excellent display at Vermilion's big carnival last year and their return here will be welcomed by all who appreciate skating at its best.

Hockey Games

In addition to everything else, curling will be treated in two hockey games. Vermilion Juveniles will battle with the Lloydminster outfit in a game which will also be the... for pee wee class.

Watch for detailed program in Monday week and also in next week's Standard.

SCOTT, PORTER, ELECTED TO COUNCIL MONDAY

Andrew, Brass and Knoll Successful Candidates for School Board

Dr. W. H Scott and Cliff Porter headed the race for aldermanic honors in Vermilion on Monday and will thus be members of the town council for the next three years in the natural course of events, Defeated candidates were Jas J. Part and Melvin Hill. The poll was Scott 123, Porter 95, Part 89, Hill 79.

There were 16 spoiled ballots, due mainly to electors voting for three candidates instead of two. One voter indicated his choice with the numerals 1 and 2 which also threw that vote out. The confusion no doubt arose from the fact that there were to be three school trustees elected.

Vermilion electors again showed their tendency to elect new men to the council, defeating Melvin Hill, who has proved a valuable man on that body for the past three years and has headed the poll when elected at that time. Cliff Porter is entirely new to municipal bodies while Dr. Scott is really an old timer at the game but has been out of it for the past year, retiring then to contest the mayoralty, which race he lost by one vote.

Ratepayers must be well satisfied with the manner in which the school affairs are managed as the two trustees seeking re-election were returned, these being H. A. Andrew who headed the poll and Dr. J.J. Knoll. A new comer to our governing bodies also takes in place on the board, Bill Brass political second baby here. Jas. D. Adam, K.C., was the defeated candidate in this case. Successful candidates were elected for two year terms.

The poll result was Andrew 209, Brass 166, Knoll 141, Adam 139. There were three spoiled ballots.

The school board for the ensuing year will be comprised of Messrs. Ian Taylor, Leith Tyner, B.A., Andrew, Sidney Brass and Dr. Knoll.

Town council for 1941 is Mayor Morrison, E. N. Stewart, A. E. Kaiser, R.B. spencer, R. W. Rushell, Dr. W.H. Scott, C. Porter.

SERIOUS CAR ACCIDENT WEDNESDAY EVENING

Seven-Year-Old Boy Badly Hurt

Bruce Meester 7 year old son of Mr and Mrs H. Meester was badly hurt when run into by a car driven by A.W. MacKay at the arena rink corner about 8 o'clock Wednesday evening. Bruce was going skating and was running across the intersection to the rink when struck by the car which came from the east. Apparently the boy did not observe the car as though it was going to go straight along the hospital road instead of turning north, and the car driver likewise did not see the boy who suddenly emerged from the dark area into the ring of light shed by the corner street light, until too late. Details of the accident are unknown to the standard but Bruce suffered a broken leg, injured hand and many cuts and bruises. He was picked up by R. H. Spencer medical aid commissioner and then rushed to the hospital. This Thursday morning he was reported as resting easily and doing as well as could be expected

FROG LAKE CHAPTER I.O.D.E. HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

Officers For 1942 Named

Fifteenth annual meeting of the Frog Lake Chapter I.O.D.E. held recently, served to review for members the activities marking their past year of work. War work and library are two of the main avenues of the chapter work. The library has been the chief source of revenue during the year under the capable supervision of Mrs. W. B. Elford.

During the year knitted garments have been sent to the men in active services. Blankets, quilts, babies and children's clothing have been collected and sent to bombed areas in Great Britain. $10 was donated for parcels for men on overseas service.

Mrs. J. J. Cuthbert was named regent, and Mrs. J. May is first and Mrs. F. Lavin is second vice regent. Other officers include: Miss Anna Anschuk, secretary treasurer, Mrs. C. Earp, Educational and Echoes secretary, Mrs. P. Davies, standard bearer; Mrs. J.W.G. Morrison, war work convener.

Vermilion School of Agriculture Alumni To Hold Reunion

The alumni of the Vermilion school of agriculture plan on holding a reunion and dance in the Masonic hall, Edmonton, on Friday, Feb. 27th, according to the January issue of the Radio.

A number of general news items, district bulletins, etc., have been crowded out this week due to last minute pressure on advertising space.

Railways Aid War Effort

President Of Canadian National Railways Says This Is A War Of

The prime function of the railways to-day is to do their part in carrying out the war programme, and the whole effort of their workers will continue to be directed to their war duties, R. C. Vaughan, president of the Canadian National Railways, declared in an address which he delivered as guest speaker to the Canadian Club of Montreal.

"Railways in Action," was the title of Mr. Vaughan's address and in stressing the role being played to-day by Canadian enterprise he said "This is a war of transport—transport on land, transport on sea, transport in the air. The railway is a mighty war machine, and war conditions present a challenge to management and to railway workers which will be met to the full. We will not be satisfied until we are certain that Canada will say at the end of the war, no job was better done than that of the railways."

Mr Vaughan said that at the outbreak of war Canada had nearly 43,000 miles of steam railway, and of this 31 per cent. was operated by the Canadian National. Previously there had been a period nearly ten years of reduced earnings yet the operators of the properties had maintained lines and equipment in good order and when war came Canada found itself in possession of an asset of incomparable value, railways serving every community, large and small, between the Atlantic and the Pacific. "Even the light traffic lines which had long represented a heavy drain on the net revenues of the railway came to have an added value to the nation," said Mr. Vaughan. Great new industries began to take shape in communities where there had been no industry before; landing fields, schools and depots for the Commonwealth Training Plan—more than a hundred in number; and great military camps appeared, many of them situated on vacant or barren land Each had one requirement which had to be met; it must be served by a railway to make its operation possible. Shipbuilding plants were established or enlarged—it is again finding the railway essential to bring them the material for their work. Foodstuffs from tens of thousands of farms rolled in refrigerator and other cars to our ports to be dispatched overseas, and that great stream continues. "The natural resources of forest and of the mine were required as never before for the new mechanical warfare, and the railway with its steel stretching into the so-called wilderness of Canada brought these resources out to be used either in the Dominion, in Britain, or elsewhere."

Mr. Vaughan recalled lines which had been built for the development of the country and which had led to the opening of northwestern Quebec and the establishment of such a great enterprise as the Noranda mines. the building of lines in Manitoba which made possible the opening of the Flin Flon claim, now the enormous Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Company, and he continued: "It was suggested from time to time that practically all of the National transcontinental main line between Quebec and Moncton should disappear. That line is now the most vital railway line in the transportation of war material from Canada to Great Britain. Other suggestions included the abandonment of the Canadian National lines between Ottawa and Winnipeg, and between Toronto and Winnipeg, and it would not be difficult to recognize the effect, particularly at the present time, of such a step had it been taken. I mention these suggestions to show how fortunate Canada is to have available for her wartime needs adequate railway mileage into and through all her important territory." Improved financial conditions were dealt with. Mr. Vaughan finding these due to increased efficiency and economy. In 1941 the physical volume of traffic on the Canadian National was 17 per cent. greater than that handled in 1928, yet the operating expenses in 1941 were twenty million dollars, or eight per cent. less than in 1928.

In concluding Mr. Vaughan said: "In the Canadian Active Forces to-day there are some nine thousand men from the Canadian railroads, and a large additional number are in the merchant marine. In the shops of both railway companies heavy weapons for the armies and navies of the united nations are being fashioned. In its shipyard at Prince Rupert the Canadian National Railways is building cargo ships and minesweepers, while officers from both railways are on loan to Canadian, British and other governments to direct many important branches of war effort."

The German army had 791,000 horses in active duty in June, 1940.

New Plastic Material

Expected To Solve Problem Of Shortage in War Industries

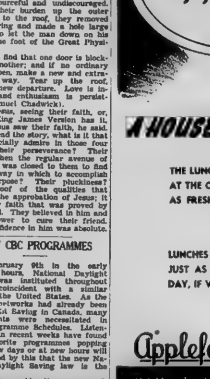
Excelite, a new construction material somewhat resembling plastic, has made its appearance as a substitute for critical war materials in the U.S.

The product, announced by Designers for Industry, Inc., is expected to solve the problems of many manufacturers unable to obtain materials because of priorities. Materials used in the new product include a major portion of wood excelsior, water, a small amount of silicate of soda, soy bean protein and quicklime. Advantages claimed for the plastic-like wood are that it is strong and resilient; heat insulating; is easily machined without danger of breakage, can be sawed, planed or nailed, and will not swell or bulge. The use of long cut strands of wood which have not been acted upon by chemicals is responsible for the strength of the product.

The man of the hour didn't get there in a minute.

"PIN-MONEY" FROCK IS GAY

By Anne Adams



Just a little "pin-money" will keep "every dime working" when this frock is to work in! Pattern 4952 by Anne Adams is fun to sew, too—it doesn't require a lot of time. Its simplicity is convenient front buttoning, the unshirred sculptured collar and cuffs which could be in contrasting piggie on a separate dickey-dear—make the dress all of one fabric. The optional pockets are scalloped, too. You'll find this frock slims down a larger figure cleverly and yet gives you the freedom while you work. Let the Sewing Instructor help you make this adorable dress! In the illustrated gay wear, perhaps another with long shirtwaist sleeves of the new Henry Purcell's Dido and Aeneas. Other contrasts to be heard are John Brownlee, baritone, of the Metropolitan Opera, and Hazel Jobin, tenor, Edwin McArthur, Sir Ernest Macmillan, and Arthur Benjamin are among the well known conductors who will take part. Some of the operas to be heard are: "The Bohemian Girl, by Michael Balfe; Sinuia England, by Sir Edward German; The Immortal Hour, by Rutland Boughton. Others Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermot Ave. E., Winnipeg, Man.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

FEBRUARY 15

THE HEALING MINISTRY OF JESUS

Golden text: He had compassion on them and healed their sick.—Matthew 14:14.

Lesson: Mark 1:35-3:12; Luke 4: 42-44; 5:12-32.

Devotional reading: Psalm 103:1-22.

Explanations and Comments

A Paralytic Healed, Mark 2:1-12; Luke 5:17-26. Some days after the events recorded in our last lesson, Jesus returned to Capernaum When it became known that he was in the house, the people came in crowds to see him. They filled the house, jammed the door leading to the street, and hung around in such crowds outside that no one else could enter. When four men, who had heard of Jesus' wonderful deeds of healing and believed implicitly in his power, approached with a paralyzed friend on a light pallet, no one would make room for them. The four men were unmoved and undiscouraged. Taking their burden up the outer stairway to the roof, they removed the covering and made a hole large enough to let the man down on his bed at the foot of the Great Physician.

"If you find that one door is blocked, try another; and if no ordinary way is open, make a new and extraordinary way. Tear up the roof, make a new departure. Love is inventive, and enthusiasm is persistent." (Samuel Chadwick).

And Jesus, seeing their faith, or, as the Revised Version has it, When Jesus saw their faith, he said unto As you read the story, what is it that you consider the faith of those four men? Their perseverance? Their ability when the ordinary avenue of approach was closed to them to find another way in which to accomplish their purpose? Their pluckiness? Their good-natured qualities that aroused the approbation of Jesus? It was their faith that was proved by their deed. They had faith in Jesus and in his power to cure their friend. Their confidence in him was absolute.

NEW CBC PROGRAMMES

On February 9th in the early morning hours, Dominion Daylight Saving was instituted throughout Canada, coincident with a similar move in the United States. As the Eastern networks had already been in Daylight Saving in Canada, many adjustments were necessitated in CBC programming Schedule Supervisors who in recent weeks have found their broadcasting programmes up on new days or at new hours will understand by this that the new National Daylight Saving Time is in force.

All other considerations are secondary to winning the war these days, and those responsible for CBC programmes in the new schedules are generally ruled to war service in one way or another. Recently a new series featuring Canada's contribution to the Director of Public Information has been commenced, under the title "As A Matter Of Fact." This is heard daily, except Saturdays and Sundays, at 7.00 p.m. CST, and 8.00 MST. These times are subject to change with the advent of the Daylight Saving schedules, which at the writing have not yet been announced.

A new series of interest to Canadians on the cultural side is the weekly broadcast of the Toronto Opera, from Toronto. This is heard on CBC networks at 7.30 p.m. 6.30 p.m. MST (again subject to change with Daylight Saving), in the opening broadcast in January, the soloists British contralto Eugene Goossens, directed Handel's Acis and Galatea, and the second programme Rene Bampton, talented young soprano of the Metropolitan Opera, sang arias from Henry Purcell's Dido and Aeneas. Other soloists to be heard are John Brownlee, baritone, of the Metropolitan Opera, and Hazel Jobin, tenor, Edwin McArthur, Sir Ernest Macmillan, and Arthur Benjamin are among the well known conductors who will take part. Some of the operas to be heard are: "The Bohemian Girl, by Michael Balfe; Sinuia England, by Sir Edward German; The Immortal Hour, by Rutland Boughton. ANNE TEDLOCK BROOKS

What has gone before: Tamar has visited the new landowner on the old plantation to tell her father of finding the document which made her half owner of the place. As she is about to leave her horse bolts and she is thrown violently. When she recovers from the shock she finds herself being assisted to her feet by Christopher Bande, the young mining engineer. Bande volunteers to take her home in his car. On the way they decide to see how the squatters live and how they eke out an existence. They pass Phoebe and the nearby streams. Bande feels a sudden desire to take her into his arms. On their arrival home she invites him to stay for lunch.

CHAPTER VIII

Tamar had her first misgivings of Major Towne when they were sitting at the luncheon table in the big square dining room at Shadwell.

Her father at the head, she at the foot, Christopher Bande and the Major opposite each other. Phoebe had called in one of her daughters to help with the serving and Malinee carried off her new duties with a pompous dignity that amused Tamar.

They were finishing the fourth and course of the excellent meal that Phoebe had cooked when Tamar made her discovery. The first time she had seen the Major she had not had a chance to learn much about him. Dinner conversation two nights before had leaned toward the desultory fashion of generalities that strangers in any place discuss rather than business at the table.

To-day Tamar wondered why she had not noticed these things earlier. The Major had a way of looking at you suddenly, disconcertingly, as though seeing you for the first time, although while he was speaking he kept his eyes lowered to his plate. It gave Tamar a odd feeling as though he did not want to look you straight in the eye, even as though there might be something furtive in his dealings.

The time was short, so that business had to be discussed at to-day's table. "Isn't it strange that this document would not come to light until all the old people were dead?" Major asked without previous warning of any doubts he might have entertained on its authenticity.

Tamar saw her father's face go white. His voice was suddenly like steel as he answered: "Major Towne, I must admit that it may look a little strange to you. But all of the papers found in the old house were not gone through as carefully as they might have been. There was no need for it. I had worked with him and knew the state of his financial affairs.

"My own hands I placed that packet of documents in the trunk with other inconsequential papers. The Cricket Hill lay idle for 15 years. I'd never entertained a thought of mining it until a few years ago, and then just as I had a chance to borrow money for the equipment the bank which was lending it to me closed its doors almost overnight."

"Isn't it a bit queer that you had not thought of these papers when I first mentioned leasing the mine?"

"Perhaps it may seem queer to you. But we've always taken the gold about Tehhannoka as a matter of course. You know it's something to dream about. Why one of our cooks, a 13-mule stretch, is made with ore that assayed $2 per ton. It's worth at rough calculations $50,000. This is the last word of one of the oldest gold fields in America. Even when you offered to lease the mine and start operating it, I didn't get excited. I've seen too much gold in my lifetime to become excited over it."

Major Towne gave him one of his exasperating direct glances. "I never be able to understand it. The Calhoune mine produced enough to interest its owner. I hear he took a thousand dollars a day from it. What happened that these mines have remained idle all these years?"

Tamar felt anger rising within her. She spoke before she thought. "Perhaps because we think of other things in life besides money, Major Towne. And partly because other gold fields called to adventurous men. Now as far as the paper I found this morning is concerned I'd like for you to come with me to the library."

She rose and the three men followed. Tamar climbed the stairs together. The old trunk still stood there where she had left it, on the landing between the two wings of the south. In neat piles stood the other things she had removed from it this morning.

Tamar had changed into a white sports dress for lunch and as she started to sink down beside the brother took her arm. "Wait, Tamar, you'll soil your pretty dress. What is it you want?"

"To show the Major some of grandfather's writing on other papers."

Her father reached for several packets and pulling the one to be compared from his pocket, he scanned to the window for better light. "If you'll examine these closely you'll see that the handwriting on each of that generation is the same."

Bande stood beside the Major and looked unnecessarily over his shoulder. To him there was no doubt. Also he thought the Major was playing a poor game of cards even to pretend that he doubted finding of the paper. He looked back at the girl who stood under the light. He saw the anger in her eyes and the flush on her cheeks.

"Well," began the Major, "it does look the same," he admitted slowly.

"If you'll look at the paper closely you'll see the name Sheridan & Sheridan. That means there is probably a duplicate filed somewhere in the dusty files of that law office downtown. Shall we go see?"

Christopher Bande thought of the incredulity of all that had happened to allow this paper to lie in dust unnoticed all of these years. Any place that he could think of, the papers would have been raked with a fine-toothed comb to find possibilities of increasing the wealth of the inherited estate.

Major Towne made a movement toward the library door. "It isn't necessary," he said. "Of course, I can see that the writing is the same, but perhaps for——"

"I wouldn't think of doing anything before we check on it," Knox Randolph interposed quickly. "Come with us, Tamar. I think we'll need your signatures on the new contracts. And as a matter of fact, I believe that we'll have some legal advice from the Sheridans."

In the clear look that her father gave her, while they walked down the stairs and the quick pressure of his hand, she knew that he was looking toward her future as well as that of the future of Shadwell and all that it meant to them.

The Major said, "Let's go in my car."

Then they rolled down the drive to the entrance which led out to the highway. The midday heat lay shoulder high and considerate. I am always noticing this on the frequent railway journeys I make, which because of the various wartime restrictions usually are very irksome. People are tired, but somehow they do not lose temper and they are wonderfully decent and civilized to each other. The war has increased, not decreased, their mutual consideration.

Though the enemy is far more cruel and vicious than he was in the last war, our people show no trace of a hysterical, revengeful spirit. They have even been charged with showing too little of it—and what a compliment that is!) They do not hoot and scream for vengeance. They do not lose their heads over either defeat or victory. The mere intoxication of war seems to have passed them by. They are calm, on the whole, a sober, thoughtful people, a trifle grim beneath the easy humour.

In all this, then, there is no trace whatever of that deterioration associated with wars. Where there have been changes they are improvements. I would much rather live with these people than the people of Britain in 1938—J. B. Priestley in Overseas News Agency.

AN "OLD LOOK" MAY MEAN YOU NEED MORE VITAMINS

Skin, Nerves Show Vitamin Lack

A tir, edg once—to look into your mirror and see a haggard, nervous face, an old-looking skin.

To-day we know better. You may only lack vitamins. Instead of saying farewell to youth and beauty, spruce up your diet!

Though all the vitamins are necessary for health, you must be sure to have enough B1 if you'd have steady nerves and youthful skin. You can get lots of B1 in whole wheat bread, peas and beans, pork and liver.

For a healthy skin you must be sure of enough Vitamin C. A serious deficiency may mean skin abrasions. For lots of C eat green leafy vegetables, eggs, milk and meat.

All these foods are ordinary ones, as you see. You can easily get enough of everyday foods, tasty vitamin-rich menus. Tells vitamin needs for adults, children and how to keep vitamins in cooking.

Volunteer Craft

Motor Boat On Thames Manned By An Over-Aged Crew

The motor yacht Titmouse veteran of the heaviest air attacks on the Port of London, has the most varied crew of any of the Thames River Emergency Service vessels.

The skipper, tall, robust, 50-year-old George Terrell, went to sea as a youngster and then took up an industrial career. He served as M.P. for 18 years. When war broke out he joined the Home Guard, but he transferred to the River Home Guard and was made a commander.

The Titmouse is the only craft of the river service manned entirely by volunteers, all recruited by Terrell. The crew is Rudes lawyers, a doctor, a parson, a chartered accountant, engineers, business men, and an ex-master mariner who is also a Trinity pilot.

Although crew members are all over military age, they do 24 hours' duty at a stretch once a week. They find their own uniforms, feed themselves, and so cost the country nothing.

Two of the crews have been commended by the chairman of the Port of London Authority for their work during heavy raids, during which casualties were run to hospital ships.

How Troops Are Placed

Chinese Military Leaders Say 400,000 Japs in South Pacific

The Japanese invader has thrown 400,000 men into the grandiose expansion program in the South Pacific, Chinese military leaders said.

They said these forces, of some 16 divisions, comprise they were parceled out as follows:

Malaya: Five divisions, 125,000 men

Philippines: Six divisions, 150,000 men

Thailand (for action against Burma): Three divisions, 75,000 men.

French Indo-China: Two divisions 50,000 men.

Supporting these troops are some 3,000 first line planes, of which 500 are in Malaya, the Chinese estimated.

Some of the hats now being manufactured are 23 per cent. skimmed milk.

Bamboo plants reach a height of 60 feet or more. 2450

GREAT INTEREST SHOWN IN TOWN AFFAIRS BY THE RATEPAYERS

The annual meeting of the ratepayers or the town of Vermilion, an account of which was reported out last week, was held on Friday evening January 30th in the Memorial hall and drew a goodly representation of 46 citizens. As the meeting is old news now, it is not the Standard's intention or going into detail regarding it, especially as this paper devoted three columns to a minute survey of the financial statement in its issue of Jan. 29th. As was stressed in that survey, the town is in really good financial circumstances Our collection of taxes both current and arrears, is proceeding now on a sound systematic basis, municipal debentures are all for the first time in 25 years or thereabouts; in another year the last of the E.L. & P. debentures will be wiped out, indeed, part of the issue is already in the sinking fund of the plant. Again in 1942 the long term debentures on the public school will finally be retired thus leaving only the 12 year old debenture on the high school the only liability of that nature for the town at large

J. D. Adam, K.C. was moved to the chair for the meeting and conducted the affairs in a business like manner. In spite of all that could be done the meeting continued until 12.30 a. m. with the result that school and hospital affairs were passed over in a hurried manner In some towns the practice is to hold the annual meeting of the school and hospital on the Friday previous to that set out in the town act. Any move which would allow more time for the consideration of the business of those two important boards would in the Standard's opinion, be timely move.

The mayor gave a resume of the year's work and noted that the council has held the astounding number of fifty meetings during the year. Many important matters were dealt with including the appointment of the new secretary-treasurer agreement with the Frances Public Service regarding the use of natural gas as fuel in the E.L. & P. plant Ray the Bureau Co. for equipment; new highway culvert south of the track; hauling field; as well as the multitude of ordinary matters re taxes, roads, parks, sewerage etc. The mayor dealt with the tax situation showing the wonderful improvement since the year 1936 in which the town finances were at a very low ebb. His Worship felt that the town was now surely and solidly set on a firm business foundation in this respect it must be remarked that the trend for betterment of the town standing and affairs has been decidedly marked for the past six years.

Each of the councillors was called upon in turn to report on the division or work that he was responsible for Councillor Kaiser reported for the town finance committee, and further augmented the mayor's statements regarding how far we had proceeded from our bankrupt condition of 1936. It had taken however several years of hard and consistent work to reach the point we have now arrived at, according to Mr. Kaiser and there must be no let up of this minute attention to the affairs of the town by its members of the council. Kaiser also showed just where the ratepayers dollar goes by dividing the cent on the various services rendered by the town into cent per centa. These figures will appear elsewhere in the Standard

Reporting for the Parks and Cemetery committee Mr Kaiser ran into a barrage of questions regarding the distribution of trees. The discussion on this subject was wound up by the following resolution being passed — That the practise of free distribution of trees to be planted on private property be discontinued" and that the Parks committee look into the question of trees dying on the boulevard

Councillor Stewart reported for the finance committee of the plant, explaining the financial report in detail, and he also went into the set up of the new sinking fund recently brought into existence As stated in the financial statement survey in the Standard, the earning of the Utilities was a very profitable one for the citizens of Vermilion.

R. B. Spencer in charge of the Police and Fire departments reported for those bodies; we had two serious fires during the year and numerous little ones, five feet of new hose had been purchased and certainly not before it was needed. Crime was kept down to minor offences and not so very many of those

R. W. Bushell who was in charge of the unenviable position of being in charge of relief activities in the town, pointed out that practically all relief in Vermilion is classed as indigent, that is, people who are physically unfit for work, hence the whole rest of their upkeep is thrown on the town.

Retiring Councillor Neil W. McKay chairman of the Public Works committee gave a resume of the activities in that regard, which were for the most part kept down to repairs of sidewalks, roads, etc., but a considerable amount of new walk had been laid on the south side and some road grading had been done. A new drain had been put in from the arena rink corner over the top of the hill. Expenses were kept at a minimum but Mr. MacKay thought that the town should inaugurate a regular sidewalk building program, doing a certain amount each year as the town is sadly lacking in that respect.

HOSPITAL BOARD

Mr. Parker, the member from the town on the hospital board, submitted his report, but on account of the lateness of the hour, did not go into the statement in detail. He commended the town for paying off all current and arrears of requisition during the year.

SCHOOL BOARD

In the absence of Dr Knoll, chairman of the school board, Mr. Don Taylor gave the school report. Excellent financial standing has been attained as was previously noted in the survey. This year too, a completely new wiring and lighting system, long overdue, has been installed in the public school. In one room the new fluorescent lights have been installed. The new lights are a wonderful improvement.

Principal L. H. Bussard gave a report on the high school re pupils, the attendance, etc. and Principal Jas. J. Part did likewise for the public school. Mr. Part further broke up educational expenses showing that the cost per child attending the public school to be only $31 per year

After numerous votes of thanks had been passed to the chairman of the meeting, the school board, hospital member, and town council, the meeting adjourned.

ALL SCHOOLS TO GO ON DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME

Vermilion Alberta, Feb. 9 1942
Vermilion Standard, Vermilion.
Dear Sir:

There seems to have been some misunderstanding about the time which should be used in schools now that "daylight saving time" has been adopted

As I understand it, the Dominion Government has decreed that on clocks shall be set one hour ahead, feeling that in this way we can save power and get in another small slap at Hitler.

Our Department of Education does not wish to stand in the way and I am sure that our local people, even though some will be quite inconvenienced by it, do not wish to stand in the way of any move which will improve our war effort.

Exceptions to a rule such as this make it almost impossible to draw lines anywhere and, I believe, could result in almost total ineffectiveness. Let us therefore give it a fair trial and if we find extreme hardship in some cases, let that be time enough to consider exceptions

There flows in our veins the same stream which courses through those of the Britons who have so ably demonstrated their ability to "take it" We can take it too if we can feel that in this small measure we are furthering the cause; we'll be glad to.

Yours faithfully,
C. M. Laverty.

MILD WEATHER CONTINUES —

Very mild weather continues and no cold snap has developed although for a few hours last Thursday night the thermometer slipped to 5 below for the first sub zero reading in four weeks. By Friday morning at 8 a.m. it was 18 above and the low points even during the nights all week have been around the 20 above mark, with day temperature above the frost point entirely.

This winter bids fair to go down in history as one of the mildest on record.

CANTON-WATSON RED CROSS

A meeting of the Canton-Watson Red Cross auxiliary took place at the home of Mrs. W. Proctor of Hindville on Feb 6th. A very nice parcel of completed work was turned in and more work was given out. Members will be pleased to hear from anyone having clean woollen rags to dispose of, such as worn underwear, socks, sweaters etc. These are being collected for use in making blankets. The proposed concert at the Canton school on March 6th has had to be cancelled, owing to various circumstances, but it is hoped to arrange some other function at a later date.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. R. P. Hind of Hindville, on March 4th and will take the form of a quilting party. Anyone interested will be very welcome. Many hands make light work, so come along and do your bit.

The Spirit of The Pioneer Mother Flames Anew Today

THINK BACK to the old days — when Canada was young.

Think of the high courage, the indomitable will of those pioneer women. Within the stockade or in the open field, they toiled — yes, fought — by the side of their men for the safeguarding of everything they held dear.

In the hearts of the women of Canada, this old spirit flames anew today! Gone are the heavy muskets, the log barricades — but the love of freedom, the stubborn resolve to win through at all costs — these things remain unchanged, unchangeable!

Grimly quenching their tears, mothers say "God bless you" to their fighting sons — everywhere young women are serving where duty calls — the women of Canada are bound together in one common cause.

In thousands of Canadian homes, women are revising their family budgets, planning new economies, making extra sacrifices — so that more and more money will be available for the purchase of Victory Bonds.

They know — these women of Canada — that every dollar loaned now means more tanks — more guns — more planes — more ships — more of everything which is needed to smash Hitlerism and bring Peace to all the family hearths of the world.

Come on Canada!

BOWTELL BULLETIN

A very enjoyable evening was spent on Friday last at the school when a social party was held in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Norman McClellan. This estimable couple have long been the backbone of our community and the party was in the form of cards and dancing. Winners at cards were Betty Gilles, Mrs. O. Repp, Denise Imbault and Marion McGinnis consolation for the ladies, while the gents' prize was more were Jack Harley, Harry Perkins, Tom Sherwood with the con solation going to Jack Morrison. Lunch was served and immediately after a ring was formed around Mr and Mrs. McClellan and Mr. George Shepherd on behalf of the people of the district, presented Mr. McClellan with a handsome wrist watch with words of appreciation and felicitations on the celebrating of his 70th birthday as follows.

"Dear Sir,

It is a rare and splendid privilege for us to meet you at this time and congratulate you and your good wife on your long and very pleasant association with us. We congratulate you also on your having attained your seventieth birthday, for this in itself is an achievement reached only by a few.

We recall that you have been the mainspring of all our local activities, especially remembering the school. Your untiring interest has been the chief means of this institution's continuity and existence and we want to express our gratitude to you for this.

It has been your lot to see great changes in our district since you first arrived here from Ontario, pioneering conditions and overcome and feel that in your humble way, you have contributed something towards its maintenance so maybe improvement.

We desire therefore on our own behalf, and on behalf of each of our neighbors who could not be present to mark the occasion of our great pleasure at this opportunity of telling you how much we appreciate your disinterested activity in our behalf and to wish you and Mrs. McClellan many more years of happiness and activity amongst us, and ask you to accept this small gift as a token of appreciation of your friendly companionship that you may have some time to remind you of your friends and happy association with us.

Yours sincerely,
Neighbors of Bowtell S.D. and vicinity.

Mr. McClellan, although taken by surprise, answered in a very fitting manner. Dancing was then enjoyed until 2.30 and all left for home, sunshine holding in the district for a long time was concluded with the singing of Auld Lang Syne. The music for the evening was kindly supplied by Miss M. Morrison, Miss Ingvald and Mr. F. Scott.

Miss Taylor was a supper guest at the Morrison home on Friday evening

The card and party at the school will be held on Feb 20th The jumpers one week owing to the annual ratepayers meeting and other activities

Miss D. Ingvald, Eddie Rieder and Mr and Mrs Tom Sherwood and family enjoyed dinner at the Perkins home on Sunday

JUVENILES HOLD VECREVILLE JUNIORS TO ONE-ALL TIE

Game Had Spectators Hanging Over Boards Throughout Three Periods

Anyone who can't get a kick out of anything else should have been at the Vermilion arena last Saturday night and seen Stan Waldenberger's Juvenile, made up of boys ranging from fourteen to eighteen years of age, hold the bigger, heavier, older and more experienced Vecreville Juniors to a one-all tie. The game was the most exciting seen here in a decade and was all the more interesting because on the Thursday night previous, our boys had taken a 9-0 trouncing at Vegreville. The locals didn't think they had a chance to win before the game, conceding every advantage, as they did, to the visitors, some of whom are too old even for regulation junior hockey, which calls for 20 and under, however they went out there and gave an exhibition that will long be remembered

The rarefied air was enhanced because for a large part of the game the visitors turned on four and five man power attacks with the result that the local goal was being plastered with rubber most of the time—and there is no doubt but for the scintillating play of Chap Cooper in between those pipes, the score would have been again decidedly in Vegreville's favor How this kid managed to stop the shots he did, no one knows, but the good had on many narrow squeaks that the home crowd was left weak and speechless at the end of the regulation 60 minutes

On top of it all and with Vegreville having a decided edge on the play especially in the first period, Vermilion was the first to score. Early in the second period Dune Easton was aged to weave his way around the husky visitors' defence and slipped a forward pass to Ted Reid. Ted picked the corner of the net with a sure-fire shot The crowd nearly went wild at this happening and for the rest of that period and half way through the third the locals hung grimly to their slim lead, only to see it stop away when Hamtuk poked one in from a melee in front of the Vermilion cage

The visitors treated not a classy team. It will be remembered that these boys formed the nucleus of the team that won the "B" circuit Alberta Junior championship two years ago and they again played in the provincial playdowns last winter. They are an experienced well coached crew and are a pretty good team to see in action That our boys were able to hold them here means that we have a mighty good team coming up, and everyone should see them in action on Saturday night, which is Vermilion's big hockey night.

$100 FOR A HEADLINE

(An Editorial from the Canadian Veteran)

"Send us the facts, and if proven, we will gladly pay $100 for the information which will enable us to print a headline disclosing the fact that the Red Cross has sold, as a commercial organization, material donated to it for distribution to men on service or to others in need," the Canadian Veteran said in an editorial in its September, 1940, issue.

If there is any truth in the rumors spread by a vicious, slanderous campaign, let them be brought into the open. Let us have the facts, not malicious whispers which harm the cause of those who need the help of the Red Cross by drying up the wells of kindly contribution and endeavor. So, in the spirit of "put up or shut up," The Canadian Veteran offers "$100 for a headline."

To date the reward has not been paid—and the offer is still open. It will be paid to any individual who can submit definite proof that the Red Cross, as an organization, has knowingly sold any donated articles of clothes for whose benefit they have been given.

C. G. I. T. "BUT A STAR" CAMPAIGN

All people interested in C.G.I.T. will have an opportunity to buy a Star from a C.G.I.T. girl next week beginning Feb. 8. This is your opportunity to help with this work among 'teen age church girls in Alberta.

In Alberta there are 2900 Canadian Girls in Training in 255 groups. Of these 1900 girls attended 25 mid-week camps during the summer of 1941. C.G.I.T. is a Church movement: it is a co-operative movement of seven churches in the Religious Education Council of Alberta. It is a movement of Canadian girls in training to understand, through practice, the principles of democracy, to learn to live together, to train themselves to be leaders in and to-morrow and all through a sincere endeavor to live the Christian Way. The funds raised in this campaign are used to support the general work in the province; the general secretary, camps, supply depot. Literature supplied to groups free, etc. Buy a Star. Share yourself interested in the future. Help and be glad you did.

TO THE RATEPAYERS,
Islay Municipal Hospital District, No. 4,
Islay, Alberta.

We have conducted an audit or the books and accounts of the Islay Municipal Hospital District No. 4 for the year ended December 31, 1941, and now present our report thereon together with financial statements for the period under review.

In the absence of specific instructions, no provision has been made for additional bad debt losses for the year, the reserve for bad debts being brought forward from December 31, 1940 unchanged, except for a reduction in respect to accounts written off during the year.

Depreciation has been provided on fixed assets at the rate of 5% on cost, representing total provision for the year of $996.75.

During the year agreements previously entered into with contributing municipalities for the adjustment of arrears of requisitions receivable, were approved by the Board of Public Utility Commissioners, and amounts receivable in respect thereto as stated on Schedule "2", are based upon the adjustments as so approved.

Inventories or supplies are in accordance with the secretary's estimated valuations.

Subject to the foregoing and to certain matters of detail which we have communicated to the Board, we report that:

a) We have received all the information and explanations we have required.

b) In our opinion the Balance Sheet, Exhibit "A" is properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the state of the affairs of Islay Municipal Hospital District No. 4 according to the best of our information and the explanations given to us and as shown by the books

As the war spreads to all parts of the world people are finding themselves more and more restricted in the variety of articles which they may purchase freely. The continent of Europe has been greatly affected in this regard, for as the Germans have extended their authority over the land, the economic blockade has of necessity been enforced by the Allied nations. Since the outbreak of hostilities, the people of England have experienced strict rationing of food, gasoline and fuels, and clothing. So far, on this continent, that aspect of the war has weighed lightly upon us. For some time now, housewives have assumed a voluntary, and very effective system of rationing bacon and other pork products. Last summer a voluntary system of rationing gasoline was put into effect, and this was followed by more strict basis, and rubber products and sugar have been added to the list of restricted articles. From the outset of the war we have found that metal products are increasingly scarce, and therefore as time goes on we shall find more and more of a scarcity of articles which we are accustomed to purchase. In all that they have been asked to do, both in voluntary and enforced rationing, Canadians have co-operated cheerfully, and there is no doubt that any further restrictions which they are called upon to accept, will be met with in the same spirit Premier Churchill has predicted that in 1943 there will be a gigantic allied offensive, and when that time comes there is no doubt that Canadian industries will supply no small part of the necessary weapons. Those we must expect that more and more raw materials will go into the war effort, while others will be cut off from use because of the curtailment of communication with the source of supply. With the result that we will find articles which we are accustomed to purchasing, disappearing gradually from the market.

Development Of Synthetics

An interesting aspect of the curtailment of the supplies of certain metals and other materials is the development of synthetic substances which can be used as substitutes. In Germany this method of overcoming shortages of basic materials has been used very extensively and we have heard stories of the ardent, if not wholly comfortable Nazi, who drinks synthetic coffee, walks on shoes of synthetic leather and wears suits of synthetic fabric. In this country we have several substitute materials which are being used increasingly to take the place of fabrics and metals no longer available. Rayon, a synthetic silk has been in common use for some time, and a newer substance, nylon, is now on the market and is widely used in placed of silk.

Made from wood pulp, and coal tar products, the basis for these materials is plentiful in Canada, and with them at hand, the cutting off of silk imports from Japan will work no hardship here.

* * *

Use Of Plastics

Another type of synthetic materials which are being widely used as substitutes for metal and other hard materials are called plastics. Chemically developed from resins, which have their origin in certain plants, these materials have been found to be remarkably adaptable for many uses. They combine lightness with great durability and it is thought that they will become more and more common as their production develops. Already we are accustomed to seeing them in many household appliances such as door knobs, light switches and various other articles.

They are used successfully for certain airplane parts, which adds to their value at this time. It is interesting to note that Henry Ford has recently taken out a patent for a new type of automobile, with a body of plastic material. In the patent, Mr. Ford says: "The object of my invention is to provide a body construction in which plastic body parts are employed, not only for the doors and side-panels, but also for the roof, hood, and all exposed panels on the body." "Plastic parts," he continues, "have many advantages in that they can be made of a cheap material by mass production, may be readily replaced in case of accident, and result in lighter construction." No doubt when the war is over, and many of these plastics materials are no longer needed for war purposes, a quantity will appear on the market, they will come into even more common use, and replace many of the articles we ordinarily use, bringing an improvement, because of the many desirable features they possess.

Don't Let Your Liver Make You an Invalid

Pimples spoil the soft contour and they're the forerunner of those blues in which the poor fellow has no interest. This is — that it may need the purgative aid Dr. Pierce's Pellets supply.

Of Your liver is the largest organ in your body and most important to your health. It supplies energy to muscles, interest and glands. If unhealthy, your limit lacks that energy and ambition unfortunately—youthful vim disappears. Again your liver pours out bile to digest food, but if it doesn't flow freely, food ferments and poisons get into your blood. Where your trouble goes and under proper digestion and assimilation of it—you—you're poisoned with the waste that decomposes in your intestines. Nervous troubles and rheumatic pains arise from this poison. You become constipated, stomach and kidneys get out of order, you look bad, headaches that I could hardly describe—and left hot—eat at once. After eating only one hot the awful misery is gone, you feel like a new person. Get Dr. Pierce's Pellets at once. Dr. J. Pierce, Toronto, Ont.

The Individual Citizen's Army

A Weekly Column About This And That In The Canadian Army.

By Alan Maurice Irwin

Last week the only reference made in this column to the Army slang had a slight note of acidity. This week as Ed. Wynn used to say "The programme is going to be different." For once the resurrection of Army slang from the dim mists of a peaceful past ties up very directly with a piece of news full of interest for the members of the Individual Citizen's Army and their army of relatives and friends.

The term is "square-pushing" and the news the promised issue of a "walking out dress" to all Canadian other ranks." Perhaps I should clarify "other ranks." This term means all soldier other than commissioned officers. It is a phrase, which is a commendable war time economy, and it saves breath, a wise thing to do at the present time. The term not available, it would be necessary to speak of "officers, warrant officers, non-commissioned officers and men." So the two-word substitution is an economy.

The relationship between the story of the new uniform and the slang term "square-pushing" is very close in the piping times of peace—and I admit there are those who never associate baggies with peace—the soldier was issued with two uniforms, one in which to train and fight, and the other, frequently variations of marked and blue or the case of the rifle regiments, for walking out after the day's training was over. This "walking out" uniform in barrack was known as the "square-pushing" uniform, and although today's young soldier is perhaps not familiar with "square-pushing rig" as a colloquial definition the term does apply to him because by the middle of March he will be the proud possessor of—to revert to the piping times of peace again—what we used to call a "best suit."

This new uniform consists of a smartly cut jacket and slacks, black low shoes of a lighter weight than the issued "ammunition boots" worn with battle dress, collars and tie and pillbox. In general appearance, although it is cut of the same weight of serge as were our jackets in the last war, it very closely resembles the jacket worn by officers even to the brass-buckled cloth belt, the two side pockets have the appearance of being sham pockets and there are patch pockets in the sides. This uniform, with which the "old pass" soldier is permitted to carry a "swagger stick" therefore becomes the modern equivalent of a square-pushing uniform.

With the aid of a copy of "Soggs and Slang" dated "at present 1914-1918"—which is the personal property of a member of the staff of the Individual Citizen's Army in Ottawa, I have been able to locate several definitions of "square-pushing." The term is first recorded in the 1890's as being current in garrison artillery units and its origin is thought to be derived from the fact that soldiers were frequently seen escorting nursemaids as they pushed their perambulators around the park. It appeared in a modified form of townplanning. Later the term "square-pushing," according to the authority, was applied to a soldier going out in the evening "to court a particular girl or perhaps to find one." In 1914-18 this phase of army slang was revived again to apply particularly to boots and, since members of the Canadian Expeditionary Force were amongst the best paid allied soldiers, it is quite likely that many took to the privilege purchased of civilian boots to wear with their uniforms when off parade and attending social events, i.e. "square-pushing."

All of this becomes very apt now again as the new issue of "walking out dress" includes—something unheard of prior to A.D. 1941—to use the Ordnance term, "shoes black, low, leather, pairs one."

Hitler Is Running Up Reserve Army For Spring Campaign

The London Daily Mail reported in a despatch from Madrid that Hitler had reached all active divisions from France, Belgium and Holland to build up a reserve army for the Nazi spring campaign. Their places in the occupied zones have been taken over by garrison divisions of men over 40 and boys from 16 to 18, the newspaper said.

Prime Minister Churchill may have been wrong when he said it would be impossible to rebuild and repair the bombed House of Commons. Charles Marshall, a Chesham Bucks, historian, has dug up complete original drawings for architects to work from.

The Victoria River Downs Ranch in Australia is said to be the world's biggest. It covers an area of 10,000 square miles, or one-third of the area of New York State.

SO YOU'RE GOING TO DO A PLAY!

Casting The Play

The books arrived two days ago and notice was posted at once giving time and place for reading tryouts. I thought we might cast Ronald Mitchell's play "A Husband For Breakfast." It is a roaring comedy and I thought might be well worth the royalty of five dollars we will have to pay for it.

The group have arrived. Five girls and, two boys. It is a dismal day, but we are determined to get a great deal of it as Welsh dialect is very hard to carry through a 30-minute play. Just a stray phrase has been left here and there to give the right atmosphere. As I look over the group I feel that Carol may have the best voice and give the best interpretation of words but Marion or Helen certainly have the physical requirements. So we begin. I sit with my eyes closed in the corner, and listen as they read, having cast them tentatively. After a page or two, I stopped them, made some notes in my book on their approach to the reading, and changed them around. This time Nan was asked to read the lead with Peggy as the gossipy neighbor who has just dropped in. The boys alternate the reading of the men's parts. And so it goes, until we have read the play through. Then I ask if there is any special part that anyone wishes to try out for again. Then while they are chatting, I weigh the physical equipment that each girl has against their ability to read, taking into consider. their ability to do parts of hard work, and select the cast as follows:

Marion, for the lead, as Mrs. Jones. She is a heavy part, and she looks the way the woman should look. Marion has always had difficulty with lines, but this is her one big chance as the play is a festival number, and I think that she will try out for it again. Then while they are chatting, I weigh the physical equipment that each girl has against their ability to read, taking into consider. their ability to do parts of hard work, and select the cast as follows:

NEW AIR MAIL SERVICE SPEEDS DELIVERY

Effective with the arrival of Train No. 5 at Edmonton on Friday morning the 13th inst. arrangements have been made for a connection for Air Mail from Train No. 5 to Trans Canada Airways leaving Edmonton every morning to connect with T.C.A. at Lethbridge.

This will mean that a letter posted in Vermilion will arrive in Vancouver at 11.35 the next morning and generally speeds up letters going to west coast points. This will also mean a saving to letters going to the east by at least one mail delivery, getting letters to Montreal within twenty-four hours from leaving Vermilion.

This new service will mean speeding up of all air mail for points in the U.S.A. also, and should fill a need that has been existing along this line ever since the establishment of Air Mail.

OBITUARY

RUTH CASH

The funeral of Miss Ruth Cash was held on Sunday afternoon, February 1st, at two o'clock in the Vermilion First United church, and was conducted by Rev. L. G. Sieber who spoke on "Jesus, the Teacher", so truly appropriate for one whose wonderful personality was always so bright, conscientious, loyal and sincere in all her associations. Mr. Sieber said, "I have been thinking of Jesus as Teacher. In days gone by Jesus taught with graciousness, humility, alertness, enthusiasm and knowledge. He taught the love and care of God, the Heavenly Father, and the love that men ought to have for God and their fellows. He even took children up in his arms and taught it to them.

How much more do we follow in His profession with graciousness, humility and love. Ruth followed in the Master Teacher's way."

All who knew Ruth considered it a real privilege and her friendship will ever be a cherished memory. As Longfellow asks so we feel we must too.

Oh, what hadst thou to do with evil Death
Who wast so full of life,
Thy Death with thee
That thou shouldst die before they hadst grown old!"

And Christ said to Mary . . . "I am the resurrection and the life; he that believeth on me . . . shall never die. Believest thou this."

Ruth, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Cash, was born in Vermilion, went through our schools, University of Alberta one year, the Camrose Normal school where she graduated. She taught school in Irricville for four years and at Tofield two and a half years.

Many of the people from three new districts joined those of Vermilion and community in paying their tributes of esteem to one whose memory will be long revered. The front of the church was banked with bright and assorted floral tributes, therefore, beautiful floral tributes to the family.

Pall bearers were Dr. C. W. Jessop, Lorald Stephens, Howard Stephens, Edmonton, David A. Andrew, Mr. Stevens and Mr. MacDonnell, both of Tofield high school staff. The funeral arrangements were carried through by Mr. Stinson of Tofield.

The love and deep sympathy of Vermilion friends is extended to father, mother and sister Evelyn.

CARD OF THANKS

To the friends and acquaintances from everywhere who have come to our aid at this time.

Not one kindly thought, or word, or deed has gone unappreciated, and we take this way of thanking one and all. No one shall go unacknowledged.

It seems, at such times, that one's people are brought to more acutely detect and feel the world of friendliness and fellowship that lies about. The acquaintance the kindness, the comradelike feeling and interest have been a solid support. More than this there is the influence and assurance that she, and all the dear ones who pass over, are ". . . facing on, as does in the love of There as the love of Here. . . . She is not dead, she is just away".

Life is full of these, and all solemn and lofty events that are common to all. Indeed, in these days, the whole world is shaken with stress and anguish. There is no mark to do and to bear, that no one should selfishly leave himself in his own grief or burdens.

For the present, as we ponder all these things from personal grief to world grief, there can be no worthier aims for us all than to " . . . address ourselves to our task—in good heart and sober confidence, resolved that we shall stand by one another — and do our duty, God helping us, to the last".

Knowing that no one can suffer grief, or harm, or be in need, without ill to all, let us hope and pray and strive for a truer sense and recognition of the unity of mankind. We are truly, and inescapably brethren; and members of one family. Yet slowly and painfully, by disasters and calamities, do we come to understand this sublime fact, and all that it involves.

We send this out with a feeling that somehow we are discharging an obligation to the departed and to the public within the sphere of our acquaintance.

— W.S. Cash, Mrs. Cash, Miriam.

In the House of Commons, Minister of Finance Ilsley intimated a war program for coming year "which will strain the human and material resources of this country to the limit," a program which "in my opinion and in the opinion of my advisers, is the extreme limit of what this country can do, having in mind its human and material resources."

SWINE PRODUCTION DISCUSSED AT INTERESTING MEETING

A well attended and interesting meeting was held in the Columbia theatre on Friday afternoon last under the auspices of the Alberta Department of Agriculture, when the problem of swine production and marketing was discussed. A sound technicolor film entitled "Bacon for Britain" was also shown. This depicted the damage done to swine when in transit from the ranch to the stockyards. Every time a club is used to persuade a porker into a truck, it leaves a bruise on his carcass and means a reduction in the grade of that animal.

The meeting was conducted by R. A. Andrew, district agriculturist, and R. W. Sheppard, supervising grader, live stock products, Edmonton. A trip was made to the stock yards and Press Mr. Sheppard picked out hogs at random, weighing out their faults and corrections.

BONSPIEL STARTS TUESDAY; THIRTY RINKS EXPECTED

The annual bonspiel of the Vermilion curling club is scheduled to start on Tuesday morning Feb 24th, with every likelihood that some of the games will be played on the Monday night previous if stories continue to come in at their present rate. Prospects point to at least thirty rinks competing and if the north and south roads get broken out there will be more as inquiries have been received from points on the C.P.R. north and the C.N.R. line to the south.

Five competitions will be played with four complete sets of handsome prizes for each one. The two principal events are the Grand Challenge and the Brunswick Hotel, two secondaries, the Pilkie and Vermilion, and then for the boys who don't crash that the prize class in these four there is a chance to redeem their fortunes in the Consolation event, the Alberta.

H. R. Parker is the bonspiel secretary and entries close at noon on Monday, Feb. 23rd.

MAYOR MORRISON REVIEWS TOWN BUSINESS IN 1941

Interesting Facts Revealed

Mayor Morrison in a recent review of business for the town during the year 1941 revealed some interesting figures regarding the postal turn-over and shipments of livestock and grain.

During the year there were 95 cars of cattle shipped from Vermilion netting a return of over $160,000; 141 cars of hogs valued at over $280,000; 182 cars of wheat valued at about $170,000, making a total from these three sources alone of over $600,000, which was distributed throughout the farming community. The quantity of grain shipped was only about half of that in 1940. It is estimated that $40,000 has been paid to farmers under different government farmers' assistance acts

The post office is a good barometer of local business conditions and in every division the Vermilion post office had a larger turn over than in 1940.

LLOYDMINSTER PROLITES TO PLAY HERE FRIDAY

Against Juvenile Bombers

Our Juvenile Bombers are due for another real test this Friday evening when they clash at the local arena with no other team than the Lloydminster Prolites. This visiting team is made up of both veterans and juniors of the hockey world and are led by the scrappy veteran Jim Kinney, one of the best ice hockey generals ever to appear on Vermilion ice.

Hockey fans should take notice that the game is on Friday night instead of Saturday and will start at 8.15 as usual. The Juvenile Bombers will be at full strength.

VERMILION TO HAVE MISSIONARY WEEK

The British government maintains that a very important enterprise in the midst of war, is the propagation of God's Word in heathen lands. Also in British West Africa much of the administration in some lines of medical work has been turned over to British evangelical societies. Vermilion has a missionary couple serving in this important work. Their business in Africa is to preach the Gospel. Many opportunities are opened as they minister to the bodily needs of the natives. The Vermilion public are to have an opportunity to see what is being accomplished.

Mr. and Mrs. George Shields, now home on furlough from British tropical Africa, will be holding a week of evening lectures commencing March 2, and continuing through the follow four Sunday. Lectures on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday will be illustrated with colored views. Meetings will be held in the Mission building of the Christian and Missionary Alliance. You should be interested in what Britain is doing. Here is the secret of Britain's success. We will see her power further as her people give due attention to the service of God. You should attend at least some of these meetings. Do not neglect that which is most important.

HONOR THE GRAVE. BUY VICTORY BONDS

Vermilion District Still Far From Victory Loan Quota

Victory Loan Headquarters regrets to announce that the people of this district appear to lack interest in the Victory Loan campaign which is at present being conducted.

The Vermilion area has been given a quota of $50,000.00, which has in turn been allocated as follows:

Vermilion District	$26,000.00
Mannville District	12,000.00
Derwent District	6,000.00
Islay District	6,000.00

These amounts are not large, considering the territory which is included in each of the sub units and it would be a matter of very considerable regret if any one of the districts were to fail to make their quota.

Doubtless the adverse weather has had something to do with the unsatisfactory results to date, but district people are urged to make it a point to see that their subscription to this essential loan is forwarded, without delay to any one of the representatives named below or direct to the Unit Headquarters at Vermilion:

Subscriptions will be received by—

Vermilion	Derwent	Mannville	Islay
C. W. Robinson	G. J. Algot	R. A. Mercer	J. T. Pyfe
Billie Pilkie	Frank Hlav	C. G. Torrance	R. Lambert
Bank of Commerce		Bank of Commerce	Miss M. Stone
S. C. Heckbert			John Shaw

Owing to rural conditions it is unlikely that YOU will be called upon . . . it is clearly the duty of every citizen to purchase a bond; subscriptions as low as $50.00 will be received, and bonds in denominations of $50.00, $100.00, $500.00 and $1000.00 may be purchased on the deferred payment plan, making it possible for wage earners and farmers to assist the financing of the war at this time.

The purchase of Victory Bonds is not the privilege of only well-to-do people, it is the privilege of all.

The men of our fighting forces have offered their lives, to their country —they have given their time and equipment of every kind; if we fail to provide the money for essential purchases we are not being true to our Country.

ORDER NEW OIL RIG FOR VERMILION FIELD

Damage suffered when the portable rig of General Petroleums, which was practically destroyed in the recent explosion and fire at Princeville No. 2 well, in Vermilion field, will not be allowed to cause any serious delay in the development of that area, according to officials of the company. Already preparations have been made for securing a three-purpose rig which combination hoist, draw works serviced for cable and rotary drilling.

It is learned that the powerful rig was covered by insurance and no particular difficulty is expected in obtaining compensation and delivery of the new drilling outfit.

VERMILION OIL FIELD ACTIVITY

The following interesting extract is taken from a recent issue of the Western Oil Examiner, published in Calgary. The Mr. Phillips mentioned therein is president of Dautre Petroleum and also of the Calvary Stock Exchange. He recently returned from a business trip to Toronto.

"However as The Exam. had previously intimated last week, Oil, was Mr. Phillips particular line and he evidenced himself as amazed at the amount of interest being shown. Everywhere it was made clear that a remarkable swing to oil development was under way and there was particular interest being shown in the Vermilion district, probably as a result of the missionary work accomplished by Mr. Webster of the oil controller's department.

NEW COUNCILLORS WELCOMED BY MAYOR

Retiring Members Are Thanked

At 9 o'clock on Monday evening the 1941 town council passed into history and the 1942 council came into being with two new members sworn into office. The new members were Dr. W. H. Scott and Clifton Porter, replacing Councillors Hill and MacKay.

Mayor Morrison, on behalf of himself and the council body, thanked the retiring councillors for their services during the past three years, which services he felt were appreciated by the citizens generally. He especially referred to the dependance of the council upon Mr. Hill for his technical advice and knowledge with respect to the many things which came up for consideration in connection with the plant, air port and other town activities. His services were invaluable and were cheerfully given in the best interests of the town. The council was grateful to Mr. Hill and Mr. Mackay, as a token of some day they would see their way clear to rejoin the town's governing body.

The Mayor then welcomed the new members and left it to them to make an immeasurable help in the conduct of the town affairs. Following the installation the Mayor gave his annual address to the council.

The address in which the Mayor outlined proposed activities of the town for 1942, will appear in full in next week's Standard.

1941 TOWN COUNCIL HOLDS FINAL MEETING

Retiring Members Recommend A 3-Mill Cut in Tax Rate

R. B. SPENCER DEPUTY MAYOR

A special meeting of the town council was held on Thursday night Feb. 12 with Mayor Morrison and Crs. Hill, Bushell, Spencer, McKay and Kaiser present. This was the last meeting of the old council.

Correspondence read: Dept. of Transport, Ottawa; Dept. of Public Works, Edmonton; Dent Hamers, Vermilion.

The letter from the Dept or Transport, acknowledging receipt of recently submitted brief, was ordered filed.

Letter from Dept. of Public Works re roadway plan was ordered filed, and the sec'y instructed to thank them for the plan which was given free of charge.

The monthly balance sheet was submitted, examined, and duly signed by the Mayor and Sec'y.

The following motions were passed:

Kaiser—McKay: That R. Spencer be deputy mayor for the next three months.

Kaiser—Hill. Resolved that Lot 1 Blk 37 be sold to N.A. Hamers for $25 cash.

By-law 1.n. 1-42 was read three times.

Bushell—Spencer: Resolved that By-law No. 1-42 having been read three times be now passed and signed by the Mayor and Sec'y, and ensrossed by the latter.

This By-law is for the purpose of closing a lane now showing on the town plan as running right throught the High school. It is intended to give the lane to the trustees of the Vermilion Centre S.D. 1466.

Bopbell—Kaiser; McKay—Hill: Resolved that By-law No. 2-42 be read first and second time.

This By-law deals with business tax and will get balance of readings at the next meeting.

Hill—McKay: That at least three mills be cut from tax rate for 1942, bringing rate to 47, and estimates be made accordingly.

Estimates were considered at some length, and a policy of strict economy will be practiced. It is hoped that the school will be able to also cut down.

Subject to confirmation by the council

SCHOOL BOARD HOLD REGULAR MEETING

Mayor Morrison Makes Handsome Donation to High School Library

The regular meeting of the board of the Vermilion Centre school district was held on Thursday night, Feb 5th with Chairman Dr. J.J. Knoll and trustees Tyrer, Taylor, Andrew and Barr present. Harry Scott, caretaker of the public school also attended.

Principals Dussard and Part of the high and public schools attended and gave their reports for January.

The minutes of previous meetings were read and adopted.

Prin. Bussard reported that Mayor Morrison had donated a large dictionary to the high school along with a number of magazines.

Tr. Andrew moved that a letter of appreciation and thanks be sent to Mayor Morrison for this generous gift. Cd.

Tr. Barr moved that board purchase the piano from M. Simonsen's store, a Newcombe at $125, the piano to be tuned after moving to public school. Cd.

The Secy read a letter from the A.T.A. asking that fees to the Assoc be made in ten payments, in place of twelve as at present. Cd.

A letter was read from the Canadian Legion re suitable display of flags on and in each class room of the high school, as well as pictures of Their Majesties, the King and Queen.

Moved by Tr. Taylor that Board purchase a large Union Jack flag for the high school and that repairs be made immediately to ropes now defective on flag pole and that pictures of Their Majesties be hung in suitable places in the high school and that small Canadian flags be always displayed in each class room. Cd.

Tr. Taylor moved that Miss Lawrence be granted 10 days sick leave as up to Feb. 7th, 1942. Cd.

Moved by Tr. Taylor that accounts as submitted be paid, having been verified. Cd.

Meeting adjourned.

MONEY IS AVAILABLE

Occasionally one hears the suggestion it is going to be difficult to subscribe the $600,000,000 victory loan, but when it is noted that savings banks deposits in Canada amount to $1,639,900,000 the task need not be of such great difficulty. — Niagara Falls Review.

Increase Your Bond Purchase

As the war lengthens, Great Britain's needs grow and grow, and as Canada's armed forces increase in steadily month by month in terms of men and equipment, the Canadian government has been forced to estimate of what money must be obtained from the people of the country in order to prevent any slackening of pace.

Monday of this week, the Second Victory Loan organization commenced a campaign to raise at least $600,000,000. In all likelihood, much more than that will have to be raised later in the year.

No private citizen is in a position to shrug his shoulders when told about particular problems at Ottawa. Because in this instance particularly, the government problem becomes the problem of each citizen which the government represents. As the government revises the general estimate of new money to be found, the private citizen must revise his estimate of how much he shall subscribe to the loan and another or others later in 1942.

Only if the majority of citizens accept the necessity for a revision of the amount of Victory Bonds they had planned to buy in 1942, will higher Victory Loan objectives be reached.

The most earnest plea which the country of Canada can make to the individual citizen at the present time is that he do everything in his power to increase his purchase of Victory Bonds.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

(This paper does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by correspondents.)

The Editor, Vermilion Standard.

Dear Sir:

Vermilion is a democratic town in a decidedly democratic country, yet some strange activity, not at all reminiscent of democracy was afoot in our midst as recently as Monday, Feb. 9—and perhaps predating that day. Perhaps there is some explanation for this peculiar phenomenon and if there is it is time such explanation came to light.

What I would like to know is this: Why is it that in several households where the title deed to the home is held jointly by husband and wife, only the husband was permitted to vote while the wife (in some cases accustomed to cast her vote for the past twenty or thirty years) was deprived of her vote?

Why is it that in other homes where the ownership of the house and lot was in one name only, three or four adult members of the family were permitted a vote each?

Also, why were country owners of town property, who had been on the list of a previous democratic country, yet some strange activity, not at all reminiscent of democracy was afoot in our midst as recently as Monday, Feb. 9—and perhaps predating that day. Perhaps there is some explanation for this peculiar phenomenon and if there is it is time such explanation came to light.

They were not accidental occurrences for the land owner in several instances protested his or her right to vote and yet was denied it.

I suggest that the Ratepayers' organization clear the matter up by collecting a list of qualifications qualifying a citizen to vote, and conversely a list of disqualifications depriving a land owner and former voter, of his or her right to vote, and that these lists be complete. I also suggest that these lists be audited by a competent lawyer and the complete lists then be published in the Vermilion Standard. I would further suggest that a committee appointed by the town council check the voting lists and voting procedure at all subsequent Vermilion annual elections.

We all know how the polls are manipulated in Germany, but [illegible] lost every vestige of democracy—the voice of the people. It is an insult to anyone's intelligence to be told how to vote, and each person should treat any and all such advisers with the contempt he merits. Our closed voting booth is a safe institution protecting private opinion. Preserve it as such!

Yours truly,

A Citizen of Vermilion.

What Has Gone Before: Knox Randolph and his daughter invite Major Towne and Christopher Sande to the old plantation home for lunch. They are to discuss the finding of the papers that make Tamar half owner of the place, and the idea of a new contract that will give the Randolphs a more equal share of whatever gold is taken from the mine. It is here that Tamar's suspicions are aroused by Towne's actions. Later they start for Dick Sheridan's office to draw up a new contract and Tamar, seeing Ranny, tells him the news also.

CHAPTER IX.

"I know something that you should have learned before your father agreed to lease the land. I found it out purely accidentally, too." Ransome Todd leaned toward Tamar, who had settled back again in the chair across from his desk.

Ransome picked up a pencil and traced figures on his blue blotter. Tamar, watching them, saw that they consisted of circles and triangles decorated with dots and dashes. "Heavens! Stop it, Ranny! You're ruining your blotter."

He grinned and started to erase them but gave it up as a bad job. "You know the Felten family, Tamar, who live on a branch of the Chestatee."

"Why, yes, of course, I saw them this morning." She remembered the dirty children, the barking of the dogs and the scratching, dusty chickens around the shack. A fleeting picture of Maddrap's bolting with her and of Christopher Sande's hard arms catching her up also came to her.

"Miss Felten called in yesterday afternoon just before the bank closed, on a little business. He was in to see me for cashing a note and when asked about the possibilities of paying it in two months he said they were excellent. EDMONTON — Extension of the debt moratorium for one month was recommended by the House by the adoption of a resolution proposed by J.M. Pugsl, Redwater. The moved said extension of the debt holiday to March 15 was necessary so as to permit intersection and passage of protective measures. Members from both sides of the House agreed that debt relief legislation was necessary, and expressed the hope that forthcoming legislation would stand up in the courts.

ALBERTA LINKS TO NATIONAL HIGHWAY

Completion of the Trans-Canada highway as a national motor road is assured in 1942, road crews in northern Ontario having made good progress on the final sections.

When this road is finished, motor fans will be able to travel directly across the dominion. As has been explained, this will mark the ending of a new era in the history of dominion transportation

In order to complete this final link of the national road, the Ontario government is spending over $4,000,000.

The Alberta Motor Association has reported to have its provincial government alive due regard to the changed situation when there is an all-Canada highway.

Meeting in Calgary last month, the A.M.A. passed the following resolution:

"Resolved that the government of Alberta, in view of the coming opening of the Trans-Canada highway between eastern and western Canada, be urged to make all possible highway improvements looking to the increasing opportunities for connecting the highway system in the southeast and eastern part of the province with the neighboring highways in the United States and province of Saskatchewan.

WILDMERE WINKS

(Crowded Out Last Week)

There was a splendid turn out to the R.W.B. club meeting on Wednesday afternoon last when twenty-two ladies journeyed to the home of Mrs. John Wilson. The quilt donated by Mrs. Wilson was all finished but binding is. Numerous items came up for discussion on the ways and means of raising money to buy more cloth for sewing. It was finally decided to hold a whist drive and rummage sale at the school on Friday, Feb. 27th and a short dance will conclude the evening. So folks, remember the date and try and be there to help our good cause along. A nice lot of finished work was turned in, more wool given out, but no cloth for those who like to sew. Next meeting at the home of Mrs. Harry Howard, on March 4th. We have a new member in the person of Mrs Henry Smith.

Mrs. Gaylord Gibson left on the Saturday morning train for an extended visit to the west coast with her son Donald and her daughter Mrs. Homer Pare and family in the north.

Only four people turned out to the annual ratepayers' school meeting at the school on Saturday. Trustees are now J. Wallington, Cliff Cushen and John Wilson, who is also secretary. They were joking that next year the 4 were going to serve coffee and lunch to see if that would bring out the folks.

Yvonne Morsael was a week end visitor to her grandparents' home Mr and Mrs. Adam Smith, Wildmere. They drove her home on Sunday.

Mrs. Riley, Teddy, Tommy and George and Gaylord Madill were Sunday visitors to the home of Mr and Mrs. Robert Martin, Tulsadie.

Wm. Garnett Jr. was home over the week end from his war duties in the city. He looks well and was a spectator at the curling rink Saturday evening.

Mrs. Sam York left for her home at Lone Lake this week after visiting our parents and friends in Dewberry and other districts for the past month. She is taking little Lorene Madill back with her for awhile.

A big crowd attended the curling on Saturday evening. A couple of games were played by regular players then four teams were picked from the visiting spectators. Though some had never played the game a lot of fun was had by all. Lunch and hot coffee was served in the house afterwards.

Albert Howard got his call for military training on Feb. 16th. He will be the 4th young man who has answered the call of the colors from our little district of Wildmere.

Pte. Laurence Graham of the south ern city slipped while training last Monday and wrenched his ankle quite badly, spending every Laurence. He reads the Standard through the kindness of Mr. Furness.

We understand a number of people we know are on the sick list: Isabella Cleland, Jack Kennedy, Herman Eben and Lawrence Samuelson, all of the west country. We also wish Marion Sample who has been ill with scarlet fever a quick return to health

The Wildmere-Tolland Telephone Co. will hold its annual meeting at our school on Saturday afternoon Feb. 14th. All ratepayers are requested to attend this meeting.

J.C. Wallington has been nominated to run as councillor for our division this coming year. Annual meeting at Ganton school Sat Feb 21st

SEEDTIME and HARVEST

By R. K. Nesbitt
Director, Agricultural Development
North West Line Elevators Association

Seed Fair

For the next two or three months we shall all be thinking about seed. Farmers will first decide what acreage must be devoted to wheat, coarse grains, corn, peas, flax, potatoes, etc. Then a decision respecting the most suitable variety of each crop must be made. Then if new seed is necessary, will commercial seed do, or should registered or certified stocks be secured and used for each?

One of the best ways to obtain and to give ideas on these problems is to attend the Provincial Seed Fair

The Alberta Seed Fair will be held in Edmonton, ... Oct and 22nd, and a Seed Judging Course will be held in conjunction therewith.

University Farm Week has become one of the most important agricultural gatherings in Saskatchewan. This year it will be held as usual, at the University during the period January 13-16 Besides the Seed Fair other important events included in Farm Week will be annual meetings of the C.S.G.A., (Saskatchewan branch), the Saskatchewan Field Husbandry Association and the Saskatchewan Agricultural Societies Association.

It is anticipated that the Manitoba Provincial Seed Fair and Short Course will be held as usual, but the date has not yet been set.

This year, again, the Agricultural Department of The North-West Line Elevators Association will erect an educational exhibit at Provincial Seed Fairs. The chief factors concerned in grading seed will be illustrated and germination seeds and ungraded weed seeds will be on display.

Allies Pool War Weapons For A Common Cause

London.—Production Minister Lord Beaverbrook told the house of lords that the Washington combined raw materials board plans to produce 400,000 tons of synthetic rubber annually of which Britain expects to get 50,000 tons.

British war factories "in the space of six or seven months," have doubled the output of finished materials, Lord Beaverbrook said.

Last week's tank production, after Sir Andrew Duncan became the new minister of supply, was the largest since the beginning of the war, he told the house.

Promises of material aid to Russia, he declared, were fulfilled up to Jan. 31, "with the exception of one tank." British tanks played "a very big part in the defence of Moscow," Lord Beaverbrook said, adding "but we must send Russia very shortly immensely increased shipments of tanks and aircraft."

Lord Beaverbrook said it was his job to persuade producers in Canada, the United States and all other Allied countries "to bring forward their program consistently with the Allied needs in the battle line all over the world."

The principal production that will have to be dealt with is not from the factories of Britain, he said. His main function would be "to tap every source of supply, to tap the principal sources of supply and for a time the United States will become the biggest source of supply."

"Canada is of high importance and must be rapidly growing upwards," he said. "Canada has all the facilities for creating output and certainly Canadian output will grow."

The minister said the Allies have not only pooled "all weapons produced in the United States and Britain as well as other Allied countries, but also have set up boards to dispose of these weapons."

Lord Beaverbrook said large quantities of machine tools had been sent to Russia and Australia and added: "Now the minister of production must look to the position here where the machine tool industry can be developed."

He said there is a shortage of new weapons, "but if we are to make additions to foreign countries, if we could keep for ourselves all we produce, there would be no shortage of war weapons."

Lord Beaverbrook pointed out that in addition to the supplies from Great Britain to the fighting forces "large numbers of tanks were sent direct to the Middle East from the United States, and we have also received Canadian tanks, too. They have never come to this country."

Strong Naval Base

According To Report Nazis Are Arming Port Of Narvik

Stockholm.—Reports from Norway say Nazis are evacuating civilians from the Norwegian port of Narvik

The movement apparently is preliminary to making Narvik one of Germany's principal naval bases in the North Atlantic. Fortifications and docks—evidently for submarines —are nearly complete on an island in the main fjord.

Fine While It Worked

Dog Smuggled White Bread From North Ireland Into Eire

Belfast.—Customs officials disclosed that a dog has been smuggling white bread from North Ireland into Eire. The dog has been seen several times at a frontier bridge between North Ireland and County Donegal. Its sluded guards, but one got close enough to see that he had a loaf of bread tied to his neck.

Sabotage in South Africa

Johannesburg, South Africa. A fresh outbreak of sabotage which disrupted telephone and telegraph communication between the Transvaal and Cape Province resulted in assignment of escorts for line repairmen. Two linemen have been attacked while attempting to repair damaged communications.

Enlists For Service

Halifax.—Gnr. Howard Soong, 22-year-old son of a former Cantonese banker now believed to be in Hong Kong, took the oath of allegiance for active service with the Canadian army here and pledged himself to "fight for China's allies." He went to school at Moose Jaw

Outlines New Duties

Churchill Gives Idea Of Work Lord Beaverbrook Will Do

London.—Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons that Lord Beaverbrook, Britain's newly-appointed minister of production, will represent Britain in various pooling arrangements with the United States in a capacity corresponding to that of Donald M. Nelson, head of America's war production board.

All labor questions, Mr. Churchill added, will be settled between the minister of labor, Ernest Bevin, and the new minister of production, Lord Beaverbrook.

Of Lord Beaverbrook's selection for the production portfolio, it was explained entry of United States into the war with its consequent far-reaching measures for pooling of resources had necessitated a change in the British setup and that the Canadian-born publisher not only has close contact with American production chiefs but also "the confidence and good will" of President Roosevelt.

Airplane Losses

British Losses To End Of 1941 Were 3,861 Planes

London.—British air losses to the end of 1941 were 3,861 planes, against German losses of 6,440 aircraft and Italian losses of 2,119, Air Secretary Sir Archibald Sinclair declared in a written reply to a House of Commons question.

Axis losses include aircraft destroyed by the Free French but not those accounted for by naval aircraft of ships of the Royal Navy and merchant marine.

Free French losses are not included in the British figures.

Terms Of Sale For Used And Repaired Tires

Ottawa.—Terms of sale for used and retreaded tires and tubes were placed under strict control in an order issued by Supplies Controller Alan H. Williamson.

The new order provides that used tires or tubes may be sold only at prices equivalent to prices charged for used tires or tubes in similar condition during the basic period—Sept. 15 to Dec. 11, 1941—and "in no case at more than 75 per cent. of the published retail price for a new tire, tube or casing of the same size, brand and grade."

The ruling requires also that motor vehicles owners must turn in to the dealer a tire or tube of corresponding size before purchasing a used, repaired, retreaded or recapped tire or tube.

"He (the vehicle owner) will receive no trade-in allowances of any kind," Mr Williamson said. "The tire or tube he turns in must be removed, at the time of the sale, from the rim of a 'running' wheel or spare.

"After the purchase has been completed the owner must not have in his possession—on his car, in his garage, or anywhere else—more tires than are necessary to equip his running wheels and one spare."

Except under permit from the controller, no tire repairer may charge a higher price for repairing, recapping or retreading a tire or repairing a tube, than he charged for the same work during the basic period.

Manufacturers were forbidden, under a recent ruling, to equip a new automobile with a spare tire.

A special provision of the new order makes it possible for the new automobile purchaser to buy a used, recapped or retreated tire, and a used tube, provided he has no spare.

New tires cannot be purchased in this way.

If a tire or tube is stolen, the vehicle owner must apply to the nearest local prices and supply representative of the wartime prices and trade board for a certificate. This must be presented to the tire dealer when he goes to buy another tire or tube If the vehicle qualified only for used tires before the theft, it would qualify only for a used tire to replace the tire which had been stolen.

For the purpose of the order a "used" tire is defined as a tire that has been on a "running" wheel "or ten miles or more

While the announcement did not say so, it was manifest that the order was another result of the rubber shortage which Mr. Williamson has frequently described as serious New tires, tubes and casings are already under rigid priority control, with purchases limited to persons and organizations deemed essential services. 3431

Egg Shipments

Will Now Be Sent To Britain In Dried Powder Form

Ottawa.—Canadian eggs for Britain are to be shipped from now on in dried powder form instead of in the shell, the special products board stated. The change will make no difference in the contract prices for export eggs in 1942, nor in the demand for all the top quality eggs that can be made available for Britain. The bonus of three cents per dozen on grade A eggs to producers will be continued. Exporters will continue to offer eggs to the special products board, but the eggs will be shipped for drying as directed by the board.

Will Be Self-Supporting

Registration Fee Pays For Operation Of Gasoline Rationing Plan

Ottawa.—"The gasoline rationing plan which goes into effect on April 1, will be self-supporting," Munitions Minister Howe said. He explained in a statement that expenditures necessary for the printing of the application forms and coupon books, the cost of registration offices and any other expenses involved in the operation of the plan, will be met out of the $1 registration fee which the car owner will pay.

Helped British Aviator

Vichy.—A Belgian who gave shelter to a British aviator who parachuted from his wrecked plane was condemned to death by German authorities in the Flanders town of Laethem St. Marie. The condemned man was Sylvian Vande Velde, Brussels papers said.

Sugar For Feeding Bees

Ottawa.—Under an order issued by Sugar Administrator S. R. Noble, every beekeeper who needs to buy sugar for feeding bees must apply to the administrator, through a provincial apiarist, for permission to make such purchases.

HOME ON LEAVE

Lieut. Barney Medland, Winnipeg, crew member of the torpedoed British aircraft carrier., Ark Royal, claims looking into a camera is worse than facing Nazi U-boats and torpedoes. He should know, for he is Lieut. William Fowler of the Ark Royal before she toppled over near Gibraltar. Lieut. Medland is home on leave, but Lieut. Fowler is still at Gibraltar "mopping up."

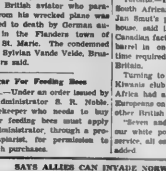
Fast Work

Canadian Factory Produces Gun Barrels in Less Time

Toronto.—Bernard Schonegevel, a South African and leader of Gen. Jan Smut's party in the provincial house, said in an address that one Canadian factory has produced a gun barrel in one-third the production time required for the same barrel in Britain.

Turning to manpower, he told the Kiwanis club luncheon that South Africa had a higher percentage of Europeans on active service than any other British dominion.

"Seven and one-half per cent. of our white population is on active service, all on a voluntary basis," he added



SAYS ALLIES CAN INVADE NORWAY NOW

The Allied powers are strong enough now to make a successful invasion of Norway whenever the time seems ripe, Crown Prince Olav declared in Toronto. He and the Princess Martha inspected Norwegian airmen in training. They also visited the Norwegian camp at Lethbridge. The Princess said the Muskoka country made her "homesick for Norway

British Army Casualties

Official Release From London Given Number At December 31

New York.—A British press service released said 71.3 per cent. of casualties suffered by British land forces up to the end of 1941 involved troops from the United Kingdom.

Quoting official information cabled from London, the service said British army casualties were estimated at 160 000 as compared with 18,000 for Australia, 7,000 for India and 6,000 for New Zealand. (With a population of only 1,600,000, New Zealand thus has the highest ratio of casualties.)

The service put South African casualties at 8,178, those of Canada at 3,235, and those of Newfoundland at 106.

Approved By The King

Awards Granted To Three Members Of Royal Canadian Navy

Ottawa.—Navy Minister Macdonald announced he had received word from the British admiralty that the King had approved awards for three members of the Royal Canadian Navy

Lieut. R. C. MacMillan, Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve of Charlottetown, receives a bar to the Distinguished Service Cross. Lieut. J. M Ruttan, R.C.N.V.R., of Port Arthur, receives the Distinguished Service Cross, and Lieut. George Douglas Cook, R.C.N.V.R., of Montreal and Lakefield, receives a bar to the George Medal.

Price Ceiling

Services Performed By Optometrists Come Under Regulations

Ottawa —Services performed by optometrists are ware placed under price ceiling regulations in an order published in the Canada Gazette.

The order also includes all glasses lenses, frames and other articles supplied by an optometrist whether or not he performs services

Also provided was an order that sales slips, bills, advertisements or catalogues may be accepted as prima facie evidence in prosecution under price-ceiling legislation.

Need Increased Production Of All Feed Crops

Toronto Canada's 1942 agricultural program calls for increased production in all feed producing crops across the Dominion with special emphasis on coarse grains Dr G S H Barton federal deputy minister of agriculture told the Ontario Crop Improvement Association

Apart from what Canada had less than a month s feed supply on hand before the 1941 crop was harvested and termed this a very unsafe position."

Eastern Canada could not "coast along in feed production" assuming it could look to the west for all the supplies it needed and receiving publication to bring them east Free freight for feed was justifiable under war emergency conditions but it was doubtful if it could be considered sound practice except on a purely temporary basis

Dr Barton said western wheat reserves could also be maintained with much less acreage than was regarded normal prior to 1941 when a substantial reduction was made if production conditions were reasonably favorable

The west was in a position to increase its coarse grains acreage again this year and still seed all wheat requirements and this was part of the crop production program

A proposed fertilizer policy, with financial assistance from the Dominion was designed to assist eastern feed production

Dr Barton said a 25 per cent. increase in available crops would be required

Yields would be 20 per cent in hog production compared with last year was a need to increase the purchase of fertilizer was essential [illegible] the Department was last [illegible]

[illegible] experiments would [illegible] increase of [illegible] 1941

With respect to labor Dr Barton said [illegible] the best which could be hoped for was that every production farm would have experienced farmer whether operated as a unit or in conjunction with some other farm and that sufficient labor would be obtained to man the key positions

Says Britain Is Confident That We Will Win War

Ottawa.—Leonard W. Brockington, former special assistant to Prime Minister Mackenzie King told a press conference that Britons have a great enthusiasm for Canada but lack a general understanding "of just what Canada is doing in the war."

Mr. Brockington arrived in Ottawa after two months in Britain. He plans to resume law practice as associate counsel for an Ottawa firm but will devote as much time as possible to war activities, he said

During his stay in Britain he interviewed well-known personalities from Prime Minister Churchill to George Bernard Shaw

General de Gaulle, leader of the Free French, had given him a message for Canadians and it would be released shortly

"I saw many evidences of magnificent work Canadian scientists, doctors and nurses are doing" he told newspapermen.

There was no general view in Britain regarding the possible length of the war but the most optimistic opinions of a short war were held by Russian Ambassador Ivan Maisky.

The English people looked on the government's proposed manpower plebiscite as Canada's own business and had no criticism of any intention for either wanning or not wanting an imperial war cabinet, he said.

Also that the fall of Singapore was not regarded likely while he was in England Mr. Brockington described the stolid British people as inclined to take a general view of the war and to show less concern than Canadians have indicated debate.

"The war can be won in a number of places and could certainly be lost in the one place -great Britain," he commented

The British people had "an amazing reputation for the fighting qualities of the Russians," and no one was more confident of success than the Russian ambassador.

"I never heard the shadow of a whisper of the possibility of defeat." he said. It was generally agreed that nothing could happen to put Great Britain against the wall as she had been after the collapse of France and Dunkirk.

Gas Rationing

Will Be No Effect On Hours In Eine Station Wins

Ottawa.—The hours during which gasoline may be sold to the public will not be affected by the gasoline rationing plan

"Everyone seems well satisfied with the 7 p.m to 7 a.m. closing and Sunday sale ban," Munitions Minister Howe said. Service station attendants are particularly well pleased as they now are able to lead normal lives. For the present no change is intended in closing hours."

Fewer Immigrants

Largest Number Entering Last Year Were From United States

Ottawa. — Immigrants entering Canada in 1941 numbered 9 329 and more than half of them came from the United States, an immigration branch statement showed Not since 1931, when 6 276 arrived has the total been so small The 1941 total was down almost 2 000 from 1940 when 11,324 entered the Dominion.

Post-War Development

Leslie Lord Reith has been given the new title of minister of works and planning, with the task of guiding town and country in post-war development schemes, Arthur Greenwood, minister without portfolio in the war cabinet, announced in the House of Commons. Lord Reith has been minister of works and buildings and first commissioner of works.

Every 15 minutes throughout the year one motor vehicle death occurs.

BOWTELL BULLETIN

Nineteen ladies were present at the last meeting of the Busy Bees which was held at the home of Mrs. Perkins. Fifteen of those present were paid up members and four were welcome visitors. These latter were Grandma McGinnis, Mrs. Gow, Mrs. Rhodale and Mrs Repp. It was decided henceforth that lunch should consist of sandwiches and no cake due to the sugar restrictions. $2 was sent to the Army and Navy cigarette fund and this we understand will be doubled and sent in cigarettes to our boys overseas. Five gallons of gas was also supplied to Tom Sherwood to get Marion Morrison in order that she could play at the dance in honor of Clifford Shepherd who is home on leave from Vancouver. A quilt, kindly started by Mrs. Morrison is to be finished by the B.Bs and tickets will be sold on the same. It was moved by Mrs. Perkins and seconded by Mrs. Ireford that Mrs. Sherwood buy the prizes for the card parties. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Ireford and lunch will be served by Mrs. Gannon and Mrs. McClellan.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Minard on the birth of a baby son recently in the Vermilion hospital.

Clifford Shepherd who was home on leave visited his many friends in the community, and also spent a few days at the home of his aunt and uncle Mr. and Mrs. T. Sherwood. He left on Wednesday on his return trip.

Harold Knutson is home again. He recently underwent an operation at the local hospital on his nose.

Grandma McGinnis who recently celebrated her 80th birthday was present at the B.B. meeting and is looking and feeling very well.

Harry Perkins was elected as trustee for the Bowtell school district at the school meeting on Thursday. Geo. Shepherd was the retiring member of the board.

A very enjoyable evening was spent at the school last Friday, a party being held in honor of Clifford Shepherd who was home on furlough from his regiment in B.C. A large crowd was in attendance and music for the dancing was kindly donated by Marion Morrison, Denise Dupuis, Fred Scott and Aubrey McGinnis. After supper Harry presented Cliff with a pen and pencil set from the Bowtell community as a memento of their esteem and good wishes and Cliff responded to the generous gift with a pleasing little thank you speech. Also attending the gathering was W. Scheil who is with the same division as Clifford.

Mr. and Mrs. Shepherd were supper guests at the Harrison home on Friday.

Noticed here and there: Mrs. flow on her way to the dentist; Eddie at the King home.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By W. G. L. Strange
Director, Research Department, Searle Grain Co., Ltd.

A most fascinating and interesting piece of work that all farmers should attempt at this time of year, is the germinating of the grain they propose to use as seed. It is quite practicable for farmers to test their own seeds at home, and no special equipment is needed.

A fair-sized flower pot, or even a wooden box, say twelve inches by six inches deep, with a few holes drilled in the bottom to allow drainage, will do. The container should be filled with nice loamy earth such as can be dug out of a summer-fallowed field. Then 100 seeds should be planted about 1½ inches deep in this soil. The soil should be watered daily. The box should be placed in front of a window and where the temperature will be the ordinary house temperature. It should not be placed too near a stove.

In a few days the sprouts will begin to appear, and they can be counted and so the percentage of germination can be figured, the farmer can also observe whether the sprouts are strong and vital, or weak and feeble.

In the event that the germination is low, the a sample of the seed should be submitted for official testing. Any elevator agent can have such a test made.

Following factors have tended to raise price: North American winter wheat acreage sown for harvest in 1942 was 14% below last year—Crops in India have suffered recently from dryness and locusts—The parity price of wheat in the U.S.A. figures at $1.23; actual price at Chicago $1.30; — Cold weather has prevailed over Europe recently.

Following factors have tended to lower price: North American visible supplies of wheat on Jan. 30th were 799 million bushels as compared with 632 million last year—The crop conditions in U.S.A. and Argentina are generally satisfactory—The Argentine exportable surplus of wheat as of Jan. 29th was 244.8 million bushels compared with 171.4 million last year.

CLAYSMORE CLIPPINGS

Miss Winnie Wilke who teaches the Fidelity school, north of Clandmore, spent the week end at her home here.

This Edition was written for last week's Standard but was received too late.

Only a small crowd attended the card party held at the school on Friday evening, Feb. 6th, but a very enjoyable social evening was spent. 1st prize went to Miss B. Sands for the ladies and Lt. Barnett for the men. Mrs. H. Williamson and Mr. A Shand attached the consolation prizes. The next card party will be held on 2-11 day evening, Feb. 20. Everybody is invited to attend.

Quite a large number attended the free picture show held at the school on Tuesday Feb. 3. These are educational pictures of Canada and its industries. A portion is devoted to the war effort also. Another picture along the same lines will be shown on March 3.

Miss B. Sands spent the week end at her home in Edmonton.

LOOK FOR WIDE DRILLING IN VERMILION FIELD THIS YEAR

Outside Viewpoint Interesting

(The Western Examiner, Calgary)

When three tank cars of fuel oil were loaded one day recently by Franco Oils' re-drilling plant at Borradaile in Vermilion field, for use in the C. N. R. locomotives on the mountain division, it really put the new Alberta field on the oil map.

This oil was obtained by re-drilling two wells now numbering in excess of a dozen, in production in Vermilion. Four of the wells, Vermilion Con. No. 6 and No. 9, Ve nilion No. 2 and Princeville No. 2 are flowing, while the others are pumped. It is stated by Vancouver operators active in this new field, that production obtained from the 1500 ft. level makes a 200 bbl well commercial.

Walter Thorn of Franco Oils was prompt in his action to supply the requirements of the field and lost no time in bringing into operation the 200 bbl plant now in operation at Borradaile, which is supplying the railway fuel oil.

Those interested in the field are gratified at reports from Dr. Geo. M. Hume, of the geological survey and Jos. S. Irwin, independent geologist, who are quoted as saying that the wells will quickly reach settled production and that the decline curve will be gradual, in other words the wells will be long lived. The crude has a broad base and by cracking, aviation fuel of high octane rating has been obtained and operators expect in the near future to be furnishing part of the gasoline for the Empire air training scheme.

Large gas producers, with a flow up to 65,000,000 c.f. a day such as Vermilion Con. No 4, produce from shallower horizons than the most prolific oil sand. Some of the wells have enough gas in the oil sand to produce without pumping. Evidence of this was the recent fire at the Princeville No. 2 caused by the sparks from iron pyrites blown from the well. The rotary rig was lost, but the well suffered little damage and is again on production. General Drillers will have a new rotary delivered from the supply house in a short time. Standard rigs are being replaced by rotaries in this field.

Capital is reported to be coming into the field from all over the continent.

An aggressive drilling program is expected to be carried out this year, the following being among those most prominent: Vermilion Con., Anglo Canadian, Princeville Pete, W. G. DeKoch and Geo. Richardson of Los Angeles and Vancouver; The Western Drilling Co. (P.L. Cord subsidiary), Premier Investments, Vancouver, and William H. Patterson and Associates, of Vancouver.

A new rotary rig has already been shipped to the field by W. G. DeKoch, to add to the drilling equipment available for active season just opening up.

Synthetic Rubber

Think Substitutes Will Prove Better Than Natural Rubber

Prof. G. L. Clark, noted University of Illinois chemist, whose research efforts contributed to commercial development of synthetic rubber, predicts that substitutes in America soon will be better than natural rubber

Starting his research in 1925, Clark set up a laboratory to X-ray crystals and show the molecules of which it is composed. He found that when rubber is stretched, some of long, twisted molecules line up into crystals and that this partial crystallization, which ends when the stretch is released, is a property that every substitute or synthetic rubber must have.

He also found that the manner in which ordinary rubber stretches is different from that in which it reforms to its previous shape Plotting the elongation against the extent of the stimulation he showed the stretching process as a smooth upswinging curve while the "unstretching curve has a series of humps like a rocky hillside.

In 1935 he learned that a molecule of rubber weighs 500 000 times as much as a molecule of hydrogen, although all previous estimates placed the weight at only 68 000 times. No molecule this large had ever been made by chemists. After his finding they set out to make molecules of molecular weight up to 500 000, and when this was done useful synthetic rubber became feasible

Awarded British Empire Medal

Steward On German-Captured Tanker Aids British Patrol In Rescue

Thomas Huggett, a steward aboard the German-captured 8 046-ton tanker San Casimiro, was awarded the British Empire medal for his feat a year ago in surreptitiously painting a three-foot-high "SOS" deck sign which enabled British patrols to recapture the ship.

The San Casimiro was taken by the German battleship Gneisenau last March in the western Atlantic when a prize crew under Lieut Otto Grenz was put aboard her

You'll never get through our patrol, Britain seamen told the lieutenant who stowed them below deck

As the tanker neared England en route to a German-held port, a plane from the aircraft carrier Ark Royal flew over

Mixing a paste of flour and water, Huggett evaded the prize crewmen, found a bit of unshabbied deck, and painted his big sign

When the Nazi commander, Lieut. Gerat, discovered it, he told Huggett; My compliments A nice job. Now scrub it off."

But a British plane had spotted the sign and in a short time the battle cruiser Renown appeared on the horizon and recaptured the ship despite Nazi attempts to scuttle her

Interested In Geography

War Has Proved A Great Stimulant To Students

War is a definite boom to the science of geography according to Dr Raymond E. Murphy, of the Pennsylvania State College

War pumps fresh blood into the study of geography, which is allowed to stagnate in times of peace," says Dr Murphy "Whether we like it or not, we are concerned in the affairs of the entire world Our entrance into the war should redouble a wave of interest in geography throughout the country"

The study of geography boomed during World War I, but was allowed to stagnate in the years that followed, Dr Murphy said. This lethargic attitude was reflected in a lack of interest in the subject among students he added

Exported From Orient

Western World Depends On Tropical Regions For Its Spices

Spices are grown chiefly in the tropical regions of the Orient, the main countries of production being the Netherlands East Indies, India, China, Japan, the Malay Peninsula, and certain islands off the coast of Africa, notably Madagascar, Pemba and Zanzibar. It is in the large group islands that we know as the Netherlands East Indies that the Spice Islands, the Moluccas Islands that are often referred to as the Spice Islands. The waterways of India are thick with pepper-laden pattimars, native boats that look like a cross between a canoe and a cradle. Lumbering ox-carts, lazy mules, amble along the roads leading from inland plantations to seaport warehouses. Picturesque fragile-looking sail boats, manned by turbaned natives, ply between the islands of the East and carry the fragrant bales of cinnamon and cloves to the chief harbor of export.

"I cannot understand the smugness of the United States," he said. "I have had some investigating to do recently, and at the bottom of all of it is this sense of superiority and satisfaction: 'It can't happen to us. We are too great. Well, ladies and gentlemen, what more we must have, if we are to live as our ancestors lived, as we have lived in the past, is more sacrifice for democracy."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

FEBRUARY 22

JESUS APPOINTS AND TEACHES THE TWELVE

Golden text: Even so let your light shine before men; that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father who is in heaven. Matthew 5:16.

Lesson: Mark 3:13-19; Matthew 5-7; Luke 6:12-49.

Devotional reading: II. Timothy 1: 8-14.

Explanations and Comments

Jesus Appoints The Twelve, Luke 6:12-16. It was in "these days" that what Luke records in this ninth chapter occurred; he is not making any effort here to be definite as to time. In these days Jesus went into the mountains to pray and continued there all night in prayer. Luke refers to six prayers of Jesus which the other Evangelists omit: the prayer at his baptism, after curing the leper, before calling the disciples, at the transfiguration, on the cross for his murderers and when dying. Jesus was a Man of prayer.

In the morning he chose from among all his followers a little group of twelve disciples. These he named apostles, messengers. "The number twelve is significant and symbolical, a clear allusion to the tribes of a new Israel. And by that choice of twelve Jesus did two things; (1) He made a tremendous claim for himself. Every Jew knew in a moment what the choice of the twelve implied. It implied that Jesus was the promised and long-expected Messiah. It meant that he was the fulfilment of ancient prophecy. And (2) it provided the apostles themselves with a constant stimulus in devotion and support of faith. It carried their minds back to the promises" (J. D. Jones).

They were ordinary men, these twelve, men from the ordinary ranks of life. Four of them were fishermen, one was a tax-collector. Mark 2:14. Meyer divides them into three groups. In the first are men of action and leadership: Peter, John, James and Andrew. In the second are the men who reasoned, questioned and doubted—perhaps they might be called the contemplative group; Philip, Bartholomew, Matthew and Thomas. In the third are the men of Practical and political tendencies: James, Thaddeus, Simon and Judas

The first disciples were called by Jesus soon after his baptism and temptation. Recall our lesson for February first. Early in his Galilean mission, he chose The Twelve for the privileges and responsibilities of constant, intimate companionship. Thereafter much of his time was spent in teaching them and preparing them to take up his work.

Cheese Shipments

With regard to cheese, the Dairy Products Board has been following a definite schedule of shipments to Great Britain and enough cheese is on hand, in addition to that already shipped, to more than fill the quota of 112 million pounds by the end of the fiscal year, March 31, 1942. This will represent an increase of about 15 million pounds over the previous fiscal year

Health

LEAGUE of CANADA presents TOPICS of VITAL INTEREST

EPIDEMICS AVOIDED IN BRITAIN

Sir Wilson Jameson, Chief Medical Officer of the British Ministry of Health, in his report on British Health Services in Wartime in Bulletins from Britain, received by the Health League of Canada, explains that epidemics have been avoided in England during the war years.

"We were naturally dreaded the appearance of serious epidemic disease in the unusual conditions in which people were living," Sir Wilson writes, "and in order to assist early diagnosis we established a system, under the management of the Medical Research Council, of more than thirty emergency public health laboratories covering the whole country." Some of these as Sir Wilson explains were new creations; others, which had been in existence for years, were brought into the scheme. "As a result every Medical Officer of Health has now a first-class laboratory within a maximum radius of 30 miles," Sir Wilson states. "Not only does the laboratory do all the bench work needed but the staff go out and help with the field work."

Sir Wilson Jameson admits that one of the fears of the Ministry of Health was that, with the inevitable damage to water mains and sewers by bombing attacks, there would be a great increase in the incidence of typhoid fever. Happily that fear has never been realized. Sir Wilson explains that the disinfection of mains under repairs, by means of chlorine, has proved an excellent safeguard and neither in London nor elsewhere has there been any outbreak of typhoid fever due to damage to mains and sewers as a result of air raids. On the other hand, he admits that there have been a number of epidemics of paratyphoid fever traceable in a majority of instances to infection associated with premises where bread and various kinds of pastries are made

Soybean Production

The increased production of soybeans in Canada is due mainly to the realization by stockmen that soybean protein can be used satisfactorily to balance the coarse grains oats, barley, corn, which constitute the bases of rations used for growing and fattening live stock and for the production of eggs and milk

The Week in Legislative Circles . . . In Edmonton

EDMONTON During the first six months of 1941 construction in Alberta increased by nearly 50% of the previous year. Leading all other items was forestry, production of wood according to the department of trade and industry report, was 111% higher than in the same period of 1940 total of the 215 234 it has produced, valued at $2,397,200 Gains were also recorded in coal, oil, cement, lime and in butter, live stock products, cheese and cream and sales. Horse exports declined but it is expected that this matter will show considerable improvement when rubber and gasoline restrictions are completed, as war restrictions prevent Alberta's shelves from being filled with the normal line. The type of synthetic rubber tubing consists also of wood fibre, but is not natural rubber The trouble appears to be that the plant would prove to be too small for economical production.

Word has just come that Alberta is now a member of the Canadian Association of Consumers. Mrs Andrew Mutch, Edmonton, and Mrs Arthur Allen, Lethbridge, are the Alberta members of the executive and it is hoped that a provincial branch will be formed. Mrs Mutch said that the association would be glad to have farmers' wives join. The association's objects would be to protect consumers from unscrupulous traders, to encourage co-operation among consumers and to secure legislation for consumers' protection.

It is hoped by the Alberta Government that the new Alberta Natural Gas Company will be able to supply natural gas to Edmonton and Calgary by the end of 1942. The company is now laying pipe lines from the Turner Valley gas fields to Calgary and Edmonton. Natural gas is now being used in Medicine Hat, Bow Island, Foremost, Redcliff, Suffield, Manyberries, Cypress, Taber, Coaldale, Lethbridge, Stirling, Raymond, Magrath, Cardston, Warner, Milk River, Coutts and Aden.

Premier Aberhart has announced that the Alberta Government will not be responsible for any debts incurred by municipalities in connection with the Alberta Natural Gas Company. The Premier said that the Government would not guarantee the bonds of municipalities which would be used to finance the purchase of gas from the company.

In the Legislature debate on the Throne Speech continues to occupy the attention of members. Main substantial contribution was that of Hon. J. Martin of Peace River, had charged lack of co-operation.

According to Hon N E Tanner no official war has been received or plans to establish a synthetic rubber plant in Alberta but it was learned that established Alberta would be in a favorable position. The type of synthetic rubber under consideration is made from petroleum and natural gas The latter is a report that the plant would prove to be too small for economical production.

Importance Of Sea Power

The present war was envisaged by the leaders of Germany as a conflict in which air-power would destroy mobility to land battles, destroy cities and workshops on the home front, and break the stranglehold of naval blockade. In this way the Nazis hoped to shorten the period required to secure victory and thus save during that period the wasting effects and depletion of fuel materials and foodstuffs.

The German plan aimed above all at rapid conquest. It was recognized that Germany, like other continental conquerors might be unable to fight a long war successfully. To this end, therefore, to be a lightning victory on land, using air-power and mechanized force to the full, followed by the seizure of Britain's sea-power and the imposition of peace on a cowering Britain. A lightning invasion of that peace were rejected. The plan took careful account of the known weakness to which Germany was exposed in the Great War. It set out to eliminate, in turn, the risk of fighting on two fronts and the risk of a long war. Air-power was to be the new factor which would outside the old conception of stalemate on land and blockade on the sea. Air-power in addition to the artillery providing the barrage behind which the mechanized troops would smash their way through entrenched positions. Air-power would pulverize the enemy's production and demoralize his workers. Air-power would reduce the strength and curtail the movement of warships, giving supremacy at sea to the small but efficient German navy.

* * * *

A Plan That Failed

The plan which the Nazis considered would revolutionize warfare and bring speedy victory failed to take into account, however, the changes which air-power has made to sea-power itself. It is the oldest kind of mistake in the long history of warfare: the mistake of applying a ruthlessly new solution to an old problem and of overlooking the fact that the problem in the meantime has become no longer quite the same.

To understand fully the effect of air-power in modern total war, it is necessary to understand the true and meaning of sea-power, for it was sea-power, in the end, which broke the might of German arms in the last war and sea-power to-day embraces air-power. Sea and air-power has the capacity to win this war for either Britain or Germany. Without overwhelming advance guard of bombing aircraft and fighters, her ships can cross the seas to land whole armies at numerous points along a vast and therefore poorly protected coastline. Wherever superiority in the air can be secured, superiority at sea already exists to make it good. Germany's difficulty in invading Britain is that she must attack with questionable air superiority and great inferiority at sea, an island bastion the defence of which is organized on the inside of a circle. Britain's advantage is that, given air superiority she can attack a sprawling and indefensible coast at scores of points, and can secure communications to every bridgehead she builds thereon.

* * * *

Sea And Air Power Combined

However long the war lasts, Germany is unable to make good her original error the error of believing that it is cheaper and better to build bombers than to build battleships. To her traditional failure to understand the true importance of sea-power was added a failure to grasp the revolutionary effect of sea-power combined with air-power.

British and Allied sea-and-air-power will turn back the invader and will maintain the Allies' communications and supplies, whilst drawing ever closer the net of blockade around the enemy. It will support and make possible the coming land battles which will bring the final victory. It is the supreme weapon which can win that victory outright.

The Speed Of Lightning

Fast as lightning" is not a definite rate of speed, scientists say it varies greatly. The speed of lightning has been measured at from 14 feet to 48 400 miles a second. The average speed is about 24 500 miles a second. After the first stroke or "leader" there may be several discharges following each other so rapidly that they appear to the eye as a single flash.

Many Years Ago

At one time the British Isles were connected to the continent of Europe. The North sea did not exist, but there was a great river that flowed north and met the sea between the shores of Scotland and Norway.

All kinds of social knowledge and graces are useful but one of the best is to be able to mumble with your mouth closed.

Easily Bribed

Every Japanese officer above the rank of colonel is open to bribery and each of them expects to retire a wealthy man at the end of the war, Rev. James C. Endicott, on furlough from the United Church Chinese mission said when he addressed a meeting of the United Church Ministerial Association at Toronto.

Can Grow Again

Flatworms have no blood, and branches of their food canals extend to all parts of their bodies. Each segment grows into a new complete worm if the original is cut into pieces.

Is Your Liver Poisoning You?

Are you sick and tired out every morning — always constipated — can't eat without pain and distress? Your liver is poisoning your system — permanent ill health may be the result!

● Your liver is the largest organ in your body and most important to your health. It supplies energy to muscles, tissues and glands. If unhealthy, your body lacks this energy and becomes enfeebled, troubled with disappears. Again your liver pours out bile to digest food, but if your liver is sluggish, this bile accumulates in your blood. When your liver does not get out of order proper digestion and nourishment stop—you're poisoned with the waste that decomposes in your intestines. Nervous troubles and rheumatic pains arise from this poison. You become constipated, stomach and kidneys may work properly. The whole system is affected and you feel "rotten" headachy, backachy, dizzy, tired out—a ready prey for sickness and disease.

Pills, salts, purgatives are never sick, and have won prompt relief from these miseries with Improved Dr. Chase's Liver Tablets. The liver is toned up, the other organs function normally and lasting good health results. Today "Improved Dr. Chase's" are the world's largest selling liver tablets. They must be good! Try them yourself NOW. Let "Dr. Chase's" get you back on the road to lasting health—feel like a new person. 3761 3dh

"At 15 I was ill. Money Was Scarce. I suffered from constipation. I never felt well. I started taking Dr. Chase's Liver Tablets. They set me right. I am now a picture of health. A wonderful relief. Every one should try them." Mrs. Florence Williamson, Montreal, Que.

"Has Been For Years, His Perfect Health"

I was badly run down and horribly nervous. My digestion was poor and I was always constipated. Dr. Chase's Liver Tablets made me better and I have had nothing like it for years. I am now very well and giving you many good years. After years of bad health "Dr. Chase's" made me feel fine. Mr. Roy Dagneau, Chatham, Ont.

The Individual Citizen's Army

A Weekly Column About This And That In The Canadian Army.

By Alan Maurice Irwin

A few columns back this space was devoted to that branch of the Individual Citizen's Army administered by the Master General of the Ordnance. It was remarked that there would be more coming on this subject.

Now, following the arrival in Great Britain of an advance party of the First Canadian Base Ordnance Workshop seems to be a good time to re-open the subject.

"Biggest" seems to be the controlling adjective for pieces about the M.G.O.'s branch. First we had the biggest mail-order house now comes this new Base Ordnance Workshop which is without question the biggest repair and service station in the world.

But it isn't so much the new workshop I want to talk about as the unconventionality that characterized its formation.

Unconventionality is as much a trade mark of the M.G.O. branch as superlative adjectives. Which is just as well since this is an unconventional war.

Prime piece of unconventionality to put off the beating of the mill rapidly expanding branch of the Canadian Army by a civilian. As such there was a precedent for that in English history.

Now, and this brings us back to the Base Ordnance Workshop, here is another example of the type of unconventionality that is going to be put to use before the war is over. Ex-private, who had made his name a big one in the operation of peacetime industry, overnight was promoted to Lieutenant-Colonel and appointed to command an army organization. Well known brigade, Imperial Oil and Tiger. Precedent? No pattern existed. The ex-private, who had been too busy in the years between wars to carry on in the militia, was O. C. Record, of Toronto, Colonel O. C. Record, Master-General of the Ordnance—who reversed the process when he was appointed to his present position.

How come? If you'll stand for a bad pun the answer is "comme ca."

When Lieut.-Colonel Victor Sifton first volunteered his services for the duration of the war he was appointed Executive Assistant to the Minister of National Defence and his name is still painted on the opaque glass of an office door in the same floor as Col. Ralston's office.

The legend reads: "Executive Assistant, Lieut.-Col. Sifton." For economy reasons it was obliterated by a sheet of paper pasted over it when Sifton took over the M.G.O. job.

But when he took over the new job Lt.-Col. Sifton became Mr. Sifton—denoting himself just exactly the same number of steps that he promoted Lt.-Col. Record!

And on the door of his present office there appears just this: "406. Private"!

Unconventional? The word seems pale.

Just recently President Roosevelt appointed William Knudsen Lt.-General to do the same job in the United States.

"Lieutenant" is pronounced Lootenant in the United States and is accorded somewhat the same pronunciation by the British Navy soldiers and civilians in the British Empire pronounce it, as you know, "Leftenant." This last army slang, it is true, but it is in line with minor researches into colloquial terminology embarked from time to time by this column.

We have scouts at work and hope to publish the result of their reconnaissance next week.

To Lessie' Lost Radium

An electric "hound" to track down really bits of radium and to protect hospital and laboratory workers against dangerous stray X-rays has recently been developed. Resembling a portable radio receiver, it can detect invisible radiation from as little as one ten-millionths of an ounce of radium.

SO YOU'RE GOING TO DO A PLAY?

One Scene At A Time

How long will it take to do a one-act play? That depends on how much time you have at your disposal. If you are staging a show for raising funds, well, you know how long your have. We are commencing our festival work now, and festival is usually held at Easter time. I can hear you gasp and say, "But my cast get stale long before they finish if they were to work that long." I retort, "Not if the play is well chosen with lots of meat in the lines, clever situations, and plenty of conflict, with smart repartee." For a one-act play you should have from 12 to 16 rehearsals to prevent the show with confidence and assurance that all your players will give a top-notch performance

To get the most out of a rehearsal, divide your play into scenes. From one character's entrance to their exit is often advantageous. Plan then to practise in small groups. For example in our play, Mrs. Jones and Miss Pugh open the play and chat for several pages. My first rehearsal will take care of that scene and they will be the only ones at rehearsal that night. The next night I asked to spend some time that evening looking over lines at home. You will notice I said, "looking over," not learning. Here, I do not approve in memorizing lines until we have had several rehearsals and the cast know what type of people they are representing.

Mrs. Jones will be asked to write out all the characteristics about herself she can find in the play. Perhaps she was born what education she has had, what her parents did for a living, how many others there were in her family, has she a family? What her husband does for a living? How much she earns, and a dozen other things, I hear you say. "Surely you can't find all those things in the script?" Not all of them but a great many are disclosed if you look closely enough. Use your imagination to find out the others from the facts you already know. I tell the class. Yes, they groaned the first time I asked them to do this, but they got so they are quite accustomed to it, and vie with each other to see who can fill the most blanks. It is the preparation for they then go at the characterization as if they were working with another individual. "Would Mrs. Jones do that, Marion?" I will often ask when she runs something I think may not be right. We stop the rehearsal and decide the answer and thus become better acquainted with our characters. Often after school time one in the neighborhood who somewhat resembles one of the characters in the play, we visit them, watch how they walk sit and talk, and then go home and copy them to our own satisfaction. It helps and they don't know.

Other rehearsals this week will be succeeding scenes as other characters arrive and join in the conversation. I try and stay everyone's time, but demand that in turn they don't waste mine. Everyone be prompt at rehearsals.

Good-bye until next week.—Mary Ellen Burgess, Box 328, Regina.

SELECTED RECIPES

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

All-Bran Apple Butter Bread would win a prize in any bread-baking contest! The apple butter keeps the loaf moist, and the bran gives it a toasted, nut-like taste. Fortunately, it's a quick bread that can be turned out easily and inexpensively by the following recipe:

All-Bran Apple Butter Bread
1¼ cups All-Bran
1¼ cups apple butter
1 teaspoon lemon juice
¼ cup shortening
½ cup sugar
1 EGG
1½ cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup seedless raisins

Combine All-Bran with apple butter and lemon juice; let soak about five minutes. Cream shortening and sugar thoroughly; add egg and beat well. Add All-bran and apple butter. Sift flour with baking powder, soda and salt; add raisins. Combine with first mixture, stirring only until flour disappears. Pour into greased loaf pan and bake in moderate oven (325 degrees F.) for 1 hour and 10 minutes. Cool before cutting.

Yield: One loaf (8½ x 8½-inch pan).

Too Much For Him

A minister advertised for a manservant. The next morning a well-dressed young man rang the bell.

"Can you start the fire and get breakfast by 7 o'clock?" the minister asked.

"I guess so," replied the young man.

"Well can you polish all the silver, wash the dishes and keep the house neat and clean?"

"Say, parson," answered the young fellow, "I came here to see about getting married, but if it's going to be as much work as all that you can count me out right now."

The word "salary" goes back to the time when Roman soldiers were given salarium, or money to buy salt. And people not worth their salt seldom draw salaries long

20 WAYS TO SAVE SUGAR BY USING BEE HIVE SYRUP

Made from Cane

Chemists discovered Fructol — in 1918, the "Canada Food Board, Ottawa" ordered it banished, which used in pure cane sugar and other cane syrups are perhaps the most nutritious and most economical sugars you can buy. Fructol is the "Invert" sugar that makes Bee Hive Syrup "the syrup with a thousand uses". Bee Hive Syrup is not an "intense sweet"; it is food as sweet as sugar, therefore the natural food flavours are permitted to dominate more pleasingly.

- Sweeten your cereal, fresh fruit and porridge with Bee Hive!
- Use Bee Hive Syrup when making apple sauce, stewed rhubarb, stewed apricots, etc.!
- Use Bee Hive Syrup as a sauce on rice, bread, cottage and other farinaceous puddings!
- Sweeten your coffee, and cocoa with Bee Hive!
- Use Bee Hive Syrup in pouring!
- Use Bee Hive Syrup for cake icings!
- Use Bee Hive Syrup in fruit pies!
- Use Bee Hive Syrup in making candies!
- Use Bee Hive Syrup as a milk shake! It helps digestion!
- Try Bee Hive Syrup in custards and ice cream, in gingerbread, cornmeal puddings, chocolate cake, fruit cake, jelly rolls, fondant, marmalades, oatmeal cookies, gingersnaps, and in many other delicious, wholesome recipes.

Doing Their Part

Wild Rose Hips Provide Fruit Juice For Britain's Babies

Even Britain's wild roses have been called on to do their part for the nation.

Countrywomen, boy scouts, girl guides and school children last fall searched Britain's hedgerows and commons for the annual crop of "hips"—bright red fruit of the wild rose. Processed by manufacturers, 500 tons of this fruit has become a syrup 30 times richer in vitamin "C" than orange juice which now is scarce.

This quantity will met the requirements of 2,500,000 babies for a year, allowing 18 drops of syrup a day for each child, it is estimated. One ounce of the syrup is sufficient for a child for one month.

About one-fourth of the gold produced is used as coinage in normal times, with the remainder being consumed in decorative, jewelry, gilding and gold-leaf work.

Get Pilot's Wings

Civilian Flying Instructors May Wear The Insignia

Civilian flying instructors at British commonwealth training schools will soon be permitted to wear pilot's wings on their civilian uniforms, it was stated in the annual report for 1941 of the Canadian Flying Clubs' Association to the board of governors.

This permission, granted by the department of national defence for air, will come into effect as soon as the official uniform of the association for elementary flying training school employees is approved by the department, it was reported.

Tuesday morning St. Paul lost one of its most esteemed families in the removal of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Dowdell and two sons Keith and Lyle, to Vermilion. Mr. Dowdell transferred to the C.N. at Vermilion late last year but the family stayed at St. Paul pending more settled arrangements. They will all be greatly missed by St. Paul friends. A number of United church associates surprised Mrs. Dowdell recently by a happy visit when they presented her with a beautiful friendship lamp and she also received a gift from the W.A. whose efficient president she had been for the past two years. The two boys were also given parties by their school friends as they were prominent in sports circles. Keith, secretary-treasurer of the United church S.S. and Mr. Dowdell secretary of the church board. This is a family that cannot well be spared from any town and we congratulate Vermilion on its good luck. —St. Paul Journal.

Jas. C. Pasky manager of the local branch of Paper Commerce visited the Edmonton convention held in Calgary last week. The Pasky's King's pass to beat Chap Cooper from close quarters. Early in the second period Lew Williams scored a sensational goal unassisted to even matters up and from there on the home-town had little to worry about, taking a decided edge on the play. Spectacular though with two goals and Son Nolan with one.

Mrs. W. P. Pilkie received the sad news this week of the death of her nephew Pte. Pilot Walter G. Smith, who was killed in action in air operations on Feb. 8th. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Smith of Hamilton Manitoba. Shortly before going over back in '96, which docks were torn down recently. "Tom", said Bill, "I was here before there was even a shed to mark the spot". While he is now stationed at Rocky Mountain House, say, place west of Port William is regarded as home by Mr. Marshall, and he gets a great kick out of droppings in on old friends anywhere on the prairies.

Bill Marshall of Rocky Mountain House, who is now a government timber scaler, was a visitor in Vermilion last week. Bill is an old timer and helped to construct the coal docks at the Vermilion railway yards, away back in '96, which docks were torn down recently. "Tom", said Bill, "I was here before there was even a shed to mark the spot". While he is now stationed at Rocky Mountain House, say, place west of Port William is regarded as home by Mr. Marshall, and he gets a great kick out of droppings in on old friends anywhere on the prairies.

W. I. REVIEWS WORK FOR 1941

The first regular meeting of the W.I. for 1942 was held on Wednesday evening Feb. 11 at the home of Mrs. C.C. Smith. A pleasant feature of the evening was the presentation of a "Silver Birch" cake plate to Mrs. Marfleet, in appreciation of her excellent work and long service as the secretary. The hostesses were Mrs. Smith and Mrs. E. Bohne.

The annual report for 1941 was given as follows: There have been nine regular meetings and one executive. Roll Calls have been interesting and well responded to. Sources of revenue have been the Mystery box and a whist drive.

A course of four lessons on "Health and Nutrition" was taken from the provincial Extension Department and Miss Milne of the same department gave a lecture and demonstration on "ideas for gifts and bazaars" which was well attended.

The constituency conference was held in Vermilion in the Orange hall on July 3rd but with short sixty delegates and visitors in attendance. There was a very large and interesting display of handicrafts. Miss Milne was the judge for the thrift problem. Mrs Culford was our delegate, Mrs. C. C. Smith was in charge of the register and Mrs. J. Cameron and Mrs. Bohne were in charge of the refreshments. A copy of our new magazine "Home and Country" was on display and several of our members took subscriptions.

Cash donations were made to W.I. emergency war fund, W. I. national war fund and to the local Red Cross to help with Xmas parcels being sent to local boys overseas.

Four dirty bags were filled for the Marfleet Martinez and two letters of thanks were received from sailors who had received a bag, which made us feel that the work was very worth while.

Several nice letters have been received from our English W.I. with which all members are extended to all members for their generous help during the year and to Mrs. Culford who got a copy of the new or her address in the Brunswick hotel twice during the year. With good wishes for a 1942 better W.I. for 1942.

A. M. Marfleet, Secretary.

Perfect Vs Smoky Lamp Chimneys

The latest in victory signs is a perfect V which appeared on a smoky coal oil lamp chimney at Bill Bate's house. Bill lit the lamp and it immediately smoked as a result of the wick being turned too high. On regulating the flame Bill found the smoky residue to appear on the chimney was in the form of a perfect V on each and a half high located near the top of the lamp chimney.

EDMONTON COACH LIKES VERMILION HOCKEY BOYS

Good Training Received

While in Edmonton last week two members of Vermilion's Juvenile hockey team, Raymond Spencer and Les Williams, practised with the R. E. A.C.'s and made an instant hit with the coach of that team. In fact he wanted them to play in the city and obtain the necessary releases. When he had a pat on the back for the Vermilion coach, Stan Waldenberger, stating that Raymond and Les must have been receiving some excellent coaching here at Vermilion. The fact that our two boys made such a favorable impression means that our Juvenile Bombers must be playing heads-up hockey. Hopes are held out that the Edmonton A.C. Juveniles will play an exhibition game here before the end of the season.

SUPER HOCKEY ATTRACTION FOR VERMILION FANS

Edmonton Club To Play Here on Saturday, March 7

A super hockey attraction has been arranged by the officials of the Vermilion Juvenile Hockey club whereby the Edmonton Athletic team will play here on Saturday evening March 7th, that is next week. The game is scheduled to start at 8.15 p.m.

The Vermilion club has guaranteed the Edmonton organization a considerable sum to cover their expenses and an extra big crowd is needed to meet this added expense.

Coach Roy Paul of the Edmonton team says that he is bringing his very strongest lineup, as from what he has seen and heard of the Vermilion players, the E.A.C. outfit will have to travel at their fastest clip to set the Vermilion boys back on their heels.

Vermilion officials are going to considerable trouble and expense to supply us with a super hockey attraction so show your appreciation hockey fans by cancelling all engagements for Saturday evening March 7th and attend the hockey game. There is room for one thousand people in the arena.

VICTORY LOAN PAST THE HALF-WAY MARK

(Special to the Standard)

REFRESHMENT BOOTHS AT ARENA CARNIVAL NIGHT

The Vermilion Staggette club and the Air Cadet Flight will operate a refreshment booth at the arena rink during the carnival on Friday evening. Hot dogs, coffee, soft drinks and everything usually found in a refreshment booth will be on sale at the rink and a little patronage on your part is solicited by these energetic young people.

RECORD ENTRY AT BONSPIEL; 38 RINKS COMPETING

The largest number of rinks ever to enter the Vermilion bonspiel are now curling it out for the handsome trophie displayed in Stephens Ltd store window. 38 quartets were drawn on Monday night, two more than have ever entered before. The rinks are made up of 32 visitors and 16 local.

Visiting rinks are: Milne of Lashburn; Wouters, Edam, Sask.; Scudamore, Lloydminster; McConnell, Innisfree; Olsen and Jones, Innisfree; Barrick, Irma; Schultz, Vegreville; Millard, Grain, Edmonton; Seward, Cairns, Olivet, Kitscoty; Beers, Tilley, Mitchell, Islay; Bedard, Barwell, Crooks, Cooper, McFadden, McKinnon and Burch from Mannville.

Local quartets are skipped by West, Spencer, McFadden, McLean, Heckbert, Corley, Chesnick, Burr, Waldenberger, Marfleet, Clark, Ingalls, Bunnell, Firth, Parker, Dawson.

The Barrett rink from Irma is skipped by the well known Biffy Rose, who has curled in the world famous MacDonald Brier classic at Toronto, representing Alberta.

The draws were started on Monday night, eight rinks seeing action then and with the 38 entries, it will take until Saturday evening to wind up the five competitions of the big 'spiel.

CONVICTS DRIVER, DELAYS SENTENCE

Walter H.G. Fischair, of Edmonton, was convicted by Mr. Justice O'Connor in supreme court Monday on a charge of manslaughter arising out of an accident near Vermilion last September and remanded to Saturday for sentence.

The charge arises out of a fatal accident near Vermilion last September when Mrs. Olive E. Stokes, of Winnipeg, was killed and her husband, George Stokes, and Mr. Fischair suffered bad cuts and body injuries.

Mrs. Stokes, according to evidence at the preliminary hearing, died of a fractured skull and multiple fractures and shock.

ELECTION CARD

Having been nominated for the position of Councillor for Division 1 of the Mishaum Municipality, I solicit your support at the polls on Saturday, February 28 and if elected, I will look after your interests to the best of my ability.

Vote for a progressive candidate.

CASTLE SCOTT.

Hat Worship the Mayor ... to the great loss sustained ... the departure of Cy. M. Hill who will be a tower of strength during his three year term. His Worship dealt with the great assistance rendered by Mr. Hill in the installing of gas at the power plant and wished him good luck.

Mr. Hill suitably replied especially stressing the great harmony which has existed in the council as a result of which the council as a body is feeling in council would continue in the present year.

His Worship gave an address on the splendid progress being made in the town executive improvements and improvements required. A copy of this address is filed with the minutes, and appears in this issue of the Standard.

Mr. Maxwell, representing the Northern Life Assurance Co. attended the meeting and outlined a scheme for providing a retiring allowance for town employees on reaching the age of 65 years. It was agreed by the council to establish the scheme at the next meeting.

Recommendations of committees for the various depts. for the year 1942 as submitted by the Mayor and the Council were appointed as amended.

Motions made and carried:

Scott—Kaiser That a by-law be prepared to adopt Council Estimates for 1942.

Stewart—Porter That W. H. Graham, Secy, be appointed assessor for 1942 at a salary of $100.

Kaiser—Stewart That two No 2 Leahy oil burners be purchased for the R.L. & P. plant.

Meeting adjourned.

COUNCIL SETS NEW RECORD FOR NUMBER OF MEETINGS

Fifty Held During Year 1941

The council of the town of Vermilion set a new record for the number of meetings during the year 1941 when it held 50 sessions. The number of meetings held during the year at the meetings alone. In addition to the regular meetings of the council ... responsible for committee work which ... sessions on each of which ... during the year with no information whatever except the secretary's records of the interviews at the annual meeting.

Coming into the hours a little further ... it is that 150 hours each during the year were spent by the council as a whole spent ... hours or over 18 days of 24 hours each in looking after the business of the town. It further means that every councillor spent nearly 30 working days of eight hours each attending council meetings, irrespective of all other time they spent on matters pertaining to the welfare of Vermilion.

It is probable that residents of this district have substantial amounts in bank savings accounts, in Government Post Office savings accounts and elsewhere Victory bonds increase the interest return and, at the same time, provide the greatest measure of security obtainable.

How He Understood It

A Welsh regimental choir was singing carols to the officers' mess after dinner.

The colonel called the unmusical sergeant-major.

"Look here," he said, "go and tell the choir to sing 'Sweet and Low'."

The sergeant-major went out and bawled to the leader:

"If you blokes can't make less noise the colonel says you've got to clear off."

The Individual Citizen's Army

A Weekly Column About This And That In The Canadian Army.

By Alan Maurice Irwin

Funny how one thing leads to another, isn't it? Last week's column ended with a reference to the pronunciation of the word, "Lieutenant."

Two correspondents and a large volume of the Oxford Dictionary supplied information on the origin of British mispronunciation of an Anglicized French word. As the two correspondents (could they be the sum total of this column's readers?) also made some entirely irrelevant comments upon the writer's mentality we'll pass them by and concentrate on the dictionary's explanation.

Apparently both pronunciations are correct. The dictionary points out that the derivation is from the Latin "locum tenens" which became in French "lieu" in place of, "tenant" — to hold. In the 14th and 15th century English settlements were wide the word variously as "lieu" and "lieu" — tenant and the latter spelling later degenerated into "lef" — "luf" — tenant. Hence the British pronunciation — leftenant."

So I know the pronunciation doesn't match the spelling. But just think for a minute—how do you pronounce "though" — "cough" — or "through" for example?

The foregoing isn't as irrelevant as it may appear. It is the subject of to-day's army tip offers. Officers all the way from Lance-Corporal to Field Marshal.

You didn't know Lance-Corporals were officers? Sure they are and very important ones, too! To be meticulous, he is a Non-Commissioned officer, one of the three types of officers to be found in the average citizen's army. Another type is the officer who holds His Majesty's commission coming in rank from Second Lieutenant to Field Marshal. There are more Lieutenants than Field Marshals!

Add there are more Lance-Corporals than Lieutenants

To get this record straight here is the infantry list: Lance-Corporal, Corporal, Sergeant, Company Quartermaster Sergeant, all these are Non-Commissioned officers. Next comes, Company Sergeant Major Regimental Quartermaster Sergeant, Regimental Sergeant-Major; these are warrant officers. Commissioned officers are Second Lieutenant, Lieutenant, Captain, Major, Lieutenant-Colonel, Colonel, Brigadier, Major-General, Lieutenant-General, General and Field Marshal.

And don't ask me why a Lieutenant-General is senior to a Major-General when a Lieutenant is junior to a major!

Where does the Canadian Army get its officers? The answer is, from the ranks. Every candidate for a commission to-day, except in a few cases where civilian technical qualifications are the deciding factor in the appointment, is dressing in khaki serge at the time his name is considered

He may reach commissioner rank in one of two ways. I almost said one is the hard way. As a matter of fact both ways are hard from the point of view of the outsider but quite possible of attainment by the soldier who has the necessary quality of leadership educational qualifications, and guts.

Many an officer has worked his way up through the non-commissioned and warrant ranks. Others, and they are more numerous when there is a war on, have been selected as private to go to the Officers Training Centre for a strenuous course.

In each case the recommendation is made by the man's commanding officer who submits the name to the District Officer Commanding. If the latter concurs the name is placed upon the eligible list and in due course as vacancies occur at the training centre, the embryo officer goes up for training.

Appointments to the rank of Lance-Corporal and promotions to higher non-commissioned ranks are made by regimental commanders upon the recommendation of company or other officers. Warrant officers, with the exception Regimental and Staff Sergeants-Major whose warrants are issued by the Minister of National Defence, are promoted in the same way.

Of one thing you may be certain—the man who looks your boy into action, or your boy, when he lends others into action, will be well-trained and thoroughly competent to undertake his heavy responsibilities.

"I want simple clothes that I can wear all day long!" Anne Adams answers your fashion plea with her new design, Pattern 4868. This two-piece dress is so adaptable you'll want more than one version. A pinstripe fabric will show off the bias panels in the shirt, and accent the action belt and the unusual notched collar of the blouse. Three darts on each shoulder add a tailored touch. The blouse may have short, three-quarter or long sleeves and a contrast collar if you prefer. A contrasting blouse and skirt are smart, for instance in two shades of green. The Sewing Instructor shows you how to finish this frock neatly; how to face the action belt in one example Pattern 4868 is available in misses' and women's sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 takes 4½ yard 39 inch fabric.

Send twenty cents (20c) in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly Size, Name, Address and Style Number and send orders to the Anne Adams Pattern Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 176 McDermot Ave. E., Winnipeg, Man.

Japanese Fraud

Singapore Law Officer Tells Of Intrigue 20 Years Ago

As law officer, for a period in Singapore of 20 years ago, I had a notable experience. There was an epidemic of fraud in local Oriental commerce: the flooding of the market with lend pencils devoid of lead within, and with reels of sewing cotton found on close examination to be a little too much reel and much too little cotton. Japanese origin was clear: Chinese probity was anxious to be vindicated. A deputation of the Chinese business community approached me with an offer of voluntary aid to expose the evil and to identify and convict the cheats. Chinese sentiment is essentially practical; their first suggested contribution was the manufacture of special machinery to measure cotton reels at retail and the offer to install the necessary plant and personnel at their own expense the Straits dollar equivalent of £12,000. I think it was Chinese worth and humor need to be appreciated. Japanese characteristics of ill-temper and vice need to be explained. P. O. Langley in the London Times.

THE PARABLES BY THE SEA

Golden text: Hearken: Behold there went out a sower to sow. Matt. 13:3.

Lesson: Matthew 13; Mark 4:1-34; Luke 8:1-18.

Devotional reading: John 21:15-23.

Explanations and Comments

The Parable of the Growing Corn: the Growth of the Kingdom of God is Sure, Mark 4:26-29. This parable, known also as the Parable of the Seed Growing Secretly, or as the Parable of the Blade, the Ear and the Full Corn, is given only by Mark. Less notice has been taken of it than of any other parable in the Gospels. The reason has been ascribed to the fact that its interpretation is not so self-evident as in the case with other parables.

A parable is a story told for the purpose of illustrating a truth. "So is the Kingdom of God," this parable begins. So is the Kingdom of God: what you are to be God's method of working in Nature is also his method of working in the spiritual realm. The phrase "Kingdom of God" can only be defined by studying the various ways in which Jesus used it. In his parables we see that it has to do with man's spiritual nature and possibilities, his inner life. This parable portrays the slow but sure growth of the Kingdom of God in the hearts of men.

Parables of the Hidden Treasure and the Goodly Pearl; or the Parables of the Treasure Trove and the Pearl Merchant: the Supreme Value of the Kingdom of God, Matthew 13:44-46. In the thirteenth chapter, Matthew records what we term the Parables by the Sea. The first one, that of the Sower, shows the different reception of the Word by the hearers, and the second, that of the Tares, shows the intermingling of the good and the bad in human society; both emphasize the number of those without the Kingdom of Heaven, and would naturally tend to dishearten the disciples.

The third pair of parables, that of the Hidden Treasure and of the Pearl of Great Price show the supreme value of the Kingdom, and make it to been an incentive to the disciples to devote themselves to best gifts. The latter parable differs from the former one in that the prize, instead of being found as a surprise, is found only after diligent seeking. "It was related," says Dr. Alexander Maclaren, "of Jewish teacher to give two illustrations of the same truth, since the more elevated Hebrew style tends always to parallelism."

The Parable of the Net, which closes Matthew's series of parables, is a comparison to that of the Tares, and emphasizes the fact of judgment with reward or punishment; it must have been to the disciples a solemn warning.

Health League of Canada Points Out Vital Interest

NEGLECT OF HEALTH

The general public failed to use the remarkable discoveries of science and medicine, which, if properly used would prolong life, cure many diseases and make Canada a healthier nation. So said Dr. J. E. Davey, M.O.H. of Hamilton, Ont., in an article in a special health supplement published by the Hamilton Spectator.

Dr. Davey said: "In spite of this, however, the fact remains that our knowledge has overpassed our will to action. Too often we know what should be done or left undone, but fail to put this knowledge to practical use. Individually and collectively, we are sinners above measure in the simplest and best known rules of good health. We know the foods with best nutritive values, but discard them for non-essential; we know immunization will protect but neglect to be immunized; we know the dangers of fecal infection, but continue to hold fast to diseased teeth or tonsils; we know that over-fatigue, late hours, food fads and questionable habits contribute largely to reduced vitality and premature old age, but continue our indulgences against better judgment. We know that flies, rats, mosquitoes and vermin carry and do help to spread disease, but we fail to take the necessary steps to eradicate them. We know that noxious weeds, smoke, noise and dust contribute to ill-health but, nevertheless, these nuisances continue with very little serious effort toward their abatement; we know that neglected colds are very communicable and frequently lead to serious pulmonary, cardiac or renal trouble, but, in spite of this, we continue to circulate socially or in business or in overcrowded street cars, coughing and sneezing our bacteria indiscriminately, leading to the infection of others, to our own detriment as well as theirs. We know that over-eating, sedentary habits and worry contribute to high blood-pressure with resultant cardiac complications, but we continue to over-eat, fail to exercise and permit our worries to disturb our rest without much effort to remedy the situation. We know that poor housing, overcrowding, improper lighting, heating and ventilating facilities, lack of adequate sanitary conveniences, all contribute largely to ill-health and disease in a human, but we allow these conditions to multiply in our social systems with only a feeble cry here or there for their correction."

Spoken Word Ample

Noted Composer Managed Very Well When He Was Angry

When Johannes Brahms wanted to insult anyone, he didn't bother putting his thoughts into music. He managed pretty well with the spoken word. One night at a gathering he became involved in a bitter controversy, and vented his opinions in an uncertain temper. He finished up out at everyone with blistering invective, he reached for his hat and coat. At the door, he turned, bowed and bowed to the audience. "If there is anyone here that I have forgotten to insult" he said sweetly, "I apologize."

Very Particular

Into the editor's room stalked a very big man.

"You the editor of this rag?" he snapped.

"I am, but—"

"Well, my name is Knowles E. Blimps. Yesterday your paper called me a thief, a robber and a blackleg."

"We did," agreed the editor; "and I—"

"I've called to tell you that my middle initial is 'E' and not 'A' as you printed it. If you can't spell my name correctly, just leave it alone."

The Change Of Time

On Monday, Feb. 9, when the change of time took place, the sun rose twenty minutes earlier than it did at the first of the year. On March 10 the sun will rise an hour earlier than it did at the first of the year, and on March 31, under daylight saving, the sun will be rising at the same time as it does now under standard time.

CHAPTER X.

Tamar wondered at the sound of Ransome's voice. He had seen Christopher get out of her car. Could he possibly be jealous?

"Take you somewhere?" she asked sweetly.

Ransome's eyebrows shot up. He had heard that tone before. It had danger signal in it. They were now he was only 10 and a member of the exploring party, and she by some right had attacked the Castle of De Soto, and he must take her orders. "Yes, my liege," he grinned.

"Sunny, you make me so mad!"

There's sparks in your eyes, Tamar, he wanted to say. Instead he asked, "Will you lunch with me, Miss Randolph?"

"Why not?"

"Shall we try the Kandy Kitchen?"

"It would be a bit embarrassing." I just turned down an invitation from a gentleman who is now eating there," she said honestly "How's about it for some oysters from the grille?"

"Right And I'm starved" He motioned toward the empty rail around the Courthouse. "If you're careful, you can squeeze it in here beside that Packard without smashing your fenders."

"Ranny, don't go to making fun at Tahlahneka now. Those empty parking places do have their advantages," she said, turning in beside a ramshackle spring wagon. "That looks like the Fristoe conveyance"

"What model is that style of conveyance? Or aren't the new ones out yet? Oh!" he said suddenly, "Putten? I'd surely like to talk with him again."

"Better not," she advised. "Beitar let it go unnoticed. If he should repeat your questions and it get back to the major, then he would be suspicious of your interests."

"Yes, but if they' took are out of the Cricket Hill in February," he said hotly, "he neds to be more than suspicious."

Ranny sprung out of the green coupe and as he walked around to help her out, continued: "I've thought of it a lot since you signed those contracts. Maybe we did wrong to let it be kept a secret."

She laid her hand on his white linen sleeve. "Please don't, Ranny Things are going so well out at the mine"

"All right. It's your mine."

"I'm not dressed for dining in a hotel grille," Tamar said suddenly remembering her slacks.

"Well, perhaps not the Waldorf-Astoria," Ran agreed. "Come on, now, you know that there won't be a soul inside excepting a lone traveling salesman or two. Perhaps Dick Sheridan and his father."

Marjean, the waitress flicked off the table as they sat down; did it deftly with a twist of her wrist and the red-checked towel. With another motion she set two glasses of water down. She handed them the menus and said, unusually: "What'll it be to-day?" While she waited for their decision, she pushed her red hair aside with the back of her hand. The most experienced waitress in Tahlahneka!

Tamar looked at her in dismay. Then she remembered that the grill's oysters really made up for the lack of service.

Ransome ordered expertly and in his deep voice that left Tamar with the feeling that he was now acting out of character. She mentally shook her head. Would she never remember that they were no longer grown up? And that after all, Ran was the youngest executive in his father's bank, and had a right to express assurance in his very fine speaking voice.

He had changed so much in his four years away at college. They had met during the holidays at Shadwell and other places for Christmas parties and Easter vacations during these four years; but somehow she was always surprised when she saw him.

"Penny!"

"Oh, Ranny, I was just thinking about how funny I felt the first time I realized that you were grown up"

"Man's estate and all that!" he asked "Well, you gave me a shock, too, young lady. I left you with long curls bouncing around your shoulders while you raced around the meadows on Mackap Came back to Shadwell to bring some of the Christmas cheer that we keep in bottles, and what do I find? A dewy divine debutante."

They both laughed and looked up to see Dick and his father coming into the room. "Here come Sheridan and Sheridan" said Ransome "If you dare ask them to sit down and ruin my perfectly good luncheon date with you, I'll beat you."

Tamar slid forward on the edge of her seat. Hello," she welcomed the Sheridans. "Of course I don't mind your asking them to eat with us, Ransome Do sit down Ransome was just saying that he never gets to see you any more"

"No, only morning, noon and night," grumbled Ransome to Dick. "Excuse me, sir, this isn't meant for you," he apologized to Mr. Sheridan.

The older Sheridan's eyes beamed "It's too bad that we can't accept your pressing invitation Ran but we have a most important matter to discuss while we eat. Come with me, my boy"

"Thanks Mr Sheridan. You're a real pal. Cn on, Dick, I'll pay for your lunch some other time"

"You're terrible, Ranny. Honestly you are," Tamar said, as they settled down once more

"If that's a sample of your Southern hospitality, I'll take vanilla Ready?" she asked as Marjean approached with a heavily loaded tray.

"Excuse me, for a moment I'll have to telephone Dad at Phoebe'll make him wait for me."

Ransome watched her as she walked across the dining hall to the telephone booths. Her voice was always in the quiet of the room. He wished he could make her see how much he loved her, wished that she'd forget they had been childhood companions all their lives and she for a brief time seen anything romantic in such words as come from college men. Also he wished that she had lengthened out and broadened through the shoulders.

"Of course, Phoebe. Hear me? I won't be home for lunch. I'm terribly sorry, Phoebe. Yes, I know how good it is but do go on and give your poor starving father his lunch. Oh, all right, I won't eat dessert, and I'll have some then when I get home."

Ransome grinned Phoebe must evidently concocted one of her favorite desserts and was disgruntled to think of her going without it.

Tamar ate her oysters with relish. She was hungry, and they were her favorite sea food. She glanced at Ranny's tea and dropped two lumps of sugar in it and mechanically spread a slice of lemon on it. She looked up suddenly, and found him observing her with a smile playing about his lips.

He said: "Just as if we had been married for years!" And was sorry immediately.

"Wish you could have gone to the derby last week" he hastened on. It wasnt any fun without!

"I thought Selby went. She's lots of fun and I understand that she had a grand time," she said maliciously with undertones and things in her voice. Selby had told her about the dancing at the big ballroom of their boats in the evening

"Maybe I will go next year" Ranny wondered if he would be a swing one year from that very day.

The Sheridans were through with their lunch and leaving, they noticed, and Tamar glanced at her watch. "I promised to take Mr Sands back to the Cricket Hill in an hour. The time is up, Ranny, so I'll have to dash."

Ransome picked up the check and walked over to the cashier.

Weren't the oysters good to-day, Mr. Todd?" asked Marjean, anxiously studying the frown on his forehead

"Very fine oysters" he said.

He held the door open for Tamar and she hurried to her coupe.

In the doorway of the Kandy Kitchen he could see the tall frame of Christopher Sands. In another moment he would be coming out to the car Ranny nodded and said stiffly Nice to have seen you, Tam"

She was busy with the starter and said Thanks for the why Ran-some Todd, what's the matter with you?" Then she wanted to clap her hand across her lips to close off her question Ran was jealous! She had thought so a little while ago and now it was perfectly evident His eyes had a puzzled gleam of something in them

Not a thing Tamar But did it ever occur to him that it might not be exactly the thing for him to run around with the country boy himself and stand up the girl he was taking around the Cricket Hill? I'm not really sure

The cutting remark died over her lips. I never have taken care of myself and stand up she said defensively.

Remember the time I pulled you out of the quicksand? And the time I drove my car full of fighting and wrestling men into the tunnel of the moon? And I rebuilt her son and a big rock fell on the opening during a storm?"

"I went away Ran-ne" she smiled at him "I'm a big girl now.

"And a very desirable big girl, too" he said gently "Here comes your engineer."

CALL FOR SERVICE

Lieutenants F. B. and W. R. Cooper and Nursing Sister Rosie Cooper

A stirring example of responsible service with the fighting forces has come to light through two recent enlistments into No 40 Company, Canadian Dental Corps which is attached to No. 4 Training Command Depot with headquarters at Toronto. Lieut. H. M. McDougall Command Dental officer

Doctors W. R. and F. C. Cooper graduated from the University of Toronto in 1935 and their sister graduated as a nurse from the Hospital for Sick Children Toronto two years later

Together they established the entire staff of the dental office conducted by them at Moose Jaw.

Lieuts. W. R. and F. R. Cooper were formerly Doctors W. R. and F. C. Cooper of Moose Jaw, Sask., and Nursing Sister Rosie Cooper, their sister and dental nurse

The dentists enjoyed an extensive practice at Moose Jaw but when the call went out for health services with the fighting forces they closed their office, Miss Cooper leaving to join the Canadian Army Medical Corps as nursing sister with Lieuts. Reid and Pryce entered the dental service of the Royal Canadian Air Force and are now with No. 4 Training, Command Depot with headquarters at Toronto. Lieut. H. M. McDougall Command Dental officer

Got Used To It

Unmanned Soldier Sets A Good Example To Others

An unmanned young soldier out in Hawaii had a message for you.

He didn't know he had a message.

But he had. A correspondent touring the new defenses of Hawaii found him in a secluded dugout, where he was sleeping on the hard ground. Asked if that wasn't pretty tough, the young soldier grinned, spat and delivered his message:

"Was. Not now. Used to it."

The sooner we get into that frame of mind about how tough it is to undergo the thousand little inconveniences that go with war, as well as the real sacrifices, the better. The rest of the war will be in sight when 11 000 000 people are saying about how tough it is to make their own sacrifices." "Was. Not now. Used to it." Calgary Alberta.

RED CROSS NOTES —
VERMILION BRANCH

A general meeting of the Vermilion Branch of the Canadian Red Cross was held in the Memorial hall on Monday Feb 16.

A letter from the Canton-Watson brothers was read asking for a Saturday meeting of the Red Cross so that some of their members could attend. It was decided to hold the April meet on on saturday, April 18 and to invite auxiliaries to attend.

Mrs. J. J. Knoll was asked to contribute as a member on the Provincial Council for this branch.

Mrs. Melvin Hill was asked to investigate possibilities for Home Nursing classes and report back to the branch.

This branch has been asked to donate towards donnage bags for air crews who are rescued from the sea. These bags are carried upon ships and contain many articles of necessary clothing. The meeting voted $10 to buy one bag. This province has undertaken to make up and fill 300 bags.

Collections towards appeal for Russia amounted to $17.75 this being made up of donations of $9 and $8.75 collected by Mr. Mike Kovalchuk.

— o —

Mrs. Albert West, convenor of the Ways and Means committee reported that the Telephone bridge was a decided success and wishes to thank all who helped in this undertaking and also Mrs. Melvin Hill Mrs. N. McKay, Mrs. Chester Lipsey and Father O'Sullivan who so kindly offered their homes for these affairs.

— o —

A display of Red Cross work was held in the Memorial hall on Saturday Feb 17 and a large number of ladies attended. Mrs. Norton and Mrs. Hockett showed the work while Mrs. Harry Scott and Mrs Bunnard had charge of the tea. A silver collection was taken up the proceeds being 19.25. The ladies of the Red Cross wish to thank the public for their attendance and for the interest shown in the work. The main object of the tea was to show the work that was being done and the collection was taken up to pay for the necessary expenditures involved.

LADIES' SPIEL MARCH 2 and 3

The Vermilion Ladies Curling club are holding their annual bonspiel on Monday and Tuesday March 2 and 3. All non-members are cordially invited to make up rinks. Entry fee for non-members is one dollar each.

up up from Walmwright and brought it back to Vermilion last Saturday. The writer and husband had three people who were snow-bound and very glad when pulled out of a drift. They were Mr and Mrs. Fred Goddard of Chauvinand and Mrs. Goddard of Walmwright, who had been up visiting at Chauvinand. They were on their way back south when the storm hit. They stayed at the writer's until Tuesday. Mrs Goddard of got a ride with the Edgerton cream man to her home and the young couple went back to town and on home. We enjoyed their stay very much and hope they all had a pleasant trip home.

Not a very large crowd turned out to the municipal meeting at Dunstan last Saturday. Aubrey Rendell was elected by acclamation as councillor for Div 2. In place of Jim Dunbar who now resides in the part put into the related division. The counter for me to live in the division he represents. In 1941 I was not here been vaccinated. James Wallington and Alfred Green, Evelyn will take place on next saturday Feb 28 at Peter Jensen's. Remember the date and place folks and come out and vote for your choice—be sure you vote.

Only a very small number attended the telephone meeting on Saturday. Mr Harry Howard still remains President, John Wilson Sec-Treas., committee Jas. Kennedy, Billie Smith, Jas. Wallington.

All new trustees were elected in the Basement S. D. No 2, Wood River. Frank Tebbow, Fred Hallson and Wm. Steele retiring ones were Mrs. Gallagher and Mr. Gilbeline. The third, Don Gibson, is at the coast.

Pte. Laurence Graham of Calgary, made a hurried surprise visit to his home in Dunmore over the week-end. He came on Saturday morning and left Sunday morning. It was short, but everyone was pleased to see him again. He spent a short while on Saturday evening with his many friends at the rink. Laurence likes army life and the southern city very well, he looks A1 but has been suffering from a heavy cold in the past few days.

Noticed around Little Moss Mobil staying with her aunt Mrs Geo. Scott for a few days, Elmer Isley had the flu, Mrs. Ole Beaumont, Mrs. Corp. Norman Smith home on two weeks furlough from the Air Force. Mr and Mrs Thos (Billie)le selling off their stock and machinery private ly prior to their departure to make a new home in the vicinity of the coast they will be greatly missed, but we wish them every success. Teddy Riley a visitor at the Wallington home on Friday evening. The writer had a very pleasant chat with Mrs Bickle of Kitscoty on Friday in town Mrs Bickle was a former teacher in our part a year or so ago. Billie Smith got knocking the telephone trouble in the storm and finding it was the writer's home; Jean Gilbeline in hospital with a sore ear for a few days last week.

A JOB TO DO

We in Canada have got to pay and pay. If we stop paying, we shall have to stop arming, and if we have to stop arming, we might as well throw up the sponge. In view of the fact that only two alternatives face us, victory or national debt, we shall have to go on battling and paying. Canadians have a job to do. Thousands of them are doing their job on the battle field, in the air, and on the sea. Hundreds have given their lives for freedom. If those men at Hong Kong were willing to sacrifice their all for their country what citizen will hold back a few paltry dollars? The 1942 Victory Loan must be a success. —Bulkley Valley Interior.

Canada's external trade in 1941 was the highest in history of the Dominion. Total value excluding gold: $3,085,120,854 against $2,275,169,811 in 1940 an increase of 35.7 per cent.

Total income tax revenues for the 10-month period from April 1, 1941, to Jan. 31, were $191,149,263 compared with $202,046,588 in the corresponding period of the previous fiscal year.

THE LEAST THAT CAN BE DONE

Let every Canadian citizen get busy and each do a small part in making the New Canadian War Loan a success. This is the least that can be done by the Canadian people, who have as yet suffered very little adverse effects and discomforts from the war. —Calgary Herald.

Major William Tervois of Myrnam was re-elected to that office by acclamation at the recent elections there. Bill will be well remembered here chiefly as a high school student, taking all of his secondary education at the local school a few years ago.

W. E. Mackenzie of Edmonton was a visitor in town on Monday.

CURRENT FLASHES

Little Jerry Hardy had rather an unfortunate accident at school recently while playing hockey. He was goalie and the puck (a piece of wood) flew up and hit him on the mouth, breaking two teeth and cutting his lip badly. Miss Petrie rendered first aid and then Jerry was taken to town for medical attention and had some stitches put in his lip. Jerry is just seven years old but he proved a brave little soldier through the ordeal.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wilson and Stanley of Edmonton spent last week at the Fred Wilson home. They returned to Edmonton in the blizzard and had a hard time getting through.

The snow plow has been over the roads a couple of times, cleaning some of the sidewalks also, as the mailman has to get through.

The rural mail route starts March 3rd and will be a great help to those who will now have to go short distances for their mail instead of six or seven miles. No more convergent ing in the old post office Sunday and arguing about the affairs of the world.

Mr. and Mrs. MacArthur spent a pleasant evening at cards at the Wil son home last week.

A number of ratepayers in the district went to Minburn for nominations of councillors for the new enlarged M.D. of Minburn of which we will be a portion. Candidates are Mr. Geo. Phenney and Mr. Castle Scott. The elections are on Saturday, Polling booth at Jim Tibbs'.

Mrs. Wilson and Edith spent a nice afternoon at the Brooks' home where they saw the new baby. They also spent an afternoon visiting Mrs. Woodruff.

We hope our neighbor whose birth day falls on the same day as George Washington's had a happy one this year His name is George also, so many happy returns for Washington's namesake.

Noticed here and there Herman Woodsira making the rounds of the different homes to let them know of the voting date.

FAST, OPEN HOCKEY GAME FRIDAY NIGHT

Juvenile Bombers Defeat Lloydminster 5 - 3

Displaying a flashy brand of hockey to score five goals in the first period, our local Juveniles turned back the Lloydminster high school team by a 5-3 count on Friday evening last. The game was witnessed by a good crowd. Aier ringing up all their counters in the opener the Waldenberger-coached Bombers were held by the Borderites, who made a real battle of the tilt by threatening to overcome the lead, especially in the last period.

Lloydminster opened the scoring a bare three minutes after the game started when big Bob Jenkins went through like a streak to lay a perfect pass out to his right winaman, Juvilin, and that boy gave Cooper no chance to save. The lead was shortlived however as Nolan, who turned in a stellar performance, went through on his own to tie it up. A minute later his feat was duplicated by Man Manyluk, and that worthy defence man deserves a pat on the back for his display on Saturday evening also. Once they started scoring nothing could stop the local kids, and Klein Kanton dented the hemp on Ted Reid's pass out from behind the goal. Raymond Spencer did the same thing on Les Williams timely pass. Wil Hans went through on his own for the final Vermilion goal, feinted a pass, and then beat the goalie on his own instead. This ended the Vermilion scoring and the rest period found the score at 5-1.

In the sandwich session the Bombers suffered numerous penalties which disorganized their attack, and this must also be said of the final period The penalties were however, all accidental, and the game was really clean throughout.

In the last period Lloydminster came through with two goals, their number two counter was scored by Jenkins, who broke right through and was in the clear from the local blueline in, and the third was scored by Juvilin on Jenkins' pass. The big Jenkins is a streak on the ice and has had a couple or years or junior hockey in Saskatoon and North Battleford. He is a treat to watch perform, is a hard man to catch and is harder to stop.

Russell Carroll was chief referee assisted by Bill Prest of Lloydminster.

STOP THIS MENACE

THE MENACE of a hateful way of life casts its shadow across our homes. Victory Bonds will raise up a shield against it.

So buy Victory Bonds to the limit. We cannot be half-hearted while this danger threatens our very shores. Let us go full out now and give such vigor to our country's effort as to speed the day of victory.

This is the least we can do — to lend our money for our country's defence. Buy a share in victory today—buy Victory Bonds.

HOW TO BUY—Give your order to the Victory Loan salesman who calls on you. Or place it in the hands of any branch of any bank, or give it to any trust company. Or send it to your local Victory Loan Headquarters. Or you can "borrow your employer to start a regular payroll savings plan for you. Bonds may be bought in denominations of $50, $100, $500, $1,000, and larger. Salesman, bank, trust company or your local Victory Loan Headquarters will be glad to give you every assistance in making out your order form.

On Tuesday March 17, St. Patrick's day, a dance will be held at the hall here. Full particulars will be advertised in next week's standard.

Kevin McDaniel is home from his regiment on two week's furlough.

The usual weekly whist drives will commence Friday March 6th at the school. A nominal fee of 10c will be charged.

In a paper we were reading during the week we came across the word "pseudo-sentimentalistic-intellectual ezotoxicosis". Could any of our readers tell us the meaning of the word?

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Armstrong and Bridge and Kevin McDaniel were guests at the home of Mr and Mrs J. Williamson, Friday.

Miss G. Gray spent the week end at her home in Kitscoty.

We are convinced that Ned can manage the Fargo better than he can Ned and.

Maclean's magazine dated Jan 1 1942 states, "Since the beginning of the war 150,000 young Irishmen from Eire have crossed over to England to join the British Army." As the population of Eire is not much more than one-fourth of the population of Canada, that is the equivalent of an enlistment by Canada of between 600,000 and 700,000 men. Eire is friendly with British soldiers I was told they were conscientious.

Oh yes, freshmen are in the news and on the right side too. There are 500 good men and true must the freshmen here to continue. St. Patrick's Day by attending in their hundredth the dance to be held at the hall March 17th

(Crowded out last week)

Miss G. Gray held a St Valentine party at the school and invited a few smiles on the kiddies there were present but only eight.

No thanks, old boy, I regret that I cannot accept the gift or egg I mean cut

WHY?

Why I cannot accept your cut Mr Jay.

I have no it is enough watches.

Tell her I admire her principle all right

But that it she came here there would be a fight

In reply to a reader we wish to state that there will likely be a St Patrick's Day dance in the Island hall. Watch the standard on full particulars and advertisement

Farmers Shou'd Check Equipment Now and Save Time Later

Implement dealers have adopted the practice of repairing their equipment during the winter months This is particularly desirable now when a shortage of labor is possible in some districts

A break down during the busy season is not unavoidable but the chances of interruptions at least when equipment has been thoroughly repaired A shortage of repairs may cause delays which might be largely avoided Worn parts can be replaced during winter months

When mowers are used the hatchets may be oiled and repaired so that time is not wasted in the summer When balers, binders, shredders and other belt equipment are frequent visitors at stops Those should be cleaned in the early of working and various belts the fasteners are adjusting

Mayor Outlines Proposed Town Activities for 1942

The following is the address of His Worship Mayor Morrison, K.C., delivered at the first session of the 1942 council held on Monday evening, Feb. 16.

Gentlemen of the Council,

Having presented for 1941 what our local paper, and what we fully believe ourselves, the best financial statement in a town and that the Town School District and Hospital District are all in first class condition", I am asked now by members of the 1942 Council to emulate that record and even go one better. Our municipal machine has not been wont to travel but having safely travelled this far we should fix our eye to the future with a firm determination, under no circumstances permit the administration of our affairs to lapse into that undesirable condition in which they floundered a few years ago.

The estimates for the year will be placed before you for final approval. The Council felt that due to the increasing expenditures and rise in cost of living we should endeavour to lighten the burden of taxation even at the sacrifice of municipal effort or convenience. The larger assessment poll for this year should materially contribute to wards easing the tax situation. It is true that the efforts of last year to clean up arrears of taxes be continued. In this connection the Secretary has been given a free hand to use what ever measures he deem necessary to enforce collection.

Public Works

Our streets must be maintained and kept in a good state of repair. If anything of a permanent nature can be undertaken I would suggest the resurfacing of whatever streets or portions are adopted for improvements and covered with coarse sand or gravel. This kind can be had at very little cost from the gravel is being crushed east of town for use on the new highway. I would however, say before any work or gravel is being crushed east of town for use on the new highway. I would however, say before any work or gravel is being crushed east of town for use on the new highway between the two down-hill roads. This street should be connected with the Dominion Hotel to the old Orange Hall and S. Grais's implement warehouse. Very desirable residential properties lie on either street awaiting proper street facilities. A sidewalk should be laid down on the south side of 39th Street North from Alberta Avenue to the high school and on the north side of Main street at least from Kennedy's Filling station to the arena hill. The street running east and west on the south side should be regraded.

Assessment

A general assessment of the town is due for 1943. It may be necessary to take early steps in this direction and have the work commenced completed before the end of the year. In this connection I feel in view of the proposed changes in the assessment rolls might well be done by a local valuator and thus obviate the necessity of bringing in outside help. I do not like to see in sending any more of our money out of town than we can possibly help.

Air Field

The Council should keep the proposed landing field in mind. Any expenditure necessary should be made in connection with the town but this must of necessity be limited. I feel that an area for this purpose should be included in our estimates.

School of Agriculture

The Council should also keep the re-opening of this school before it and do everything possible to that end. I think it required by the school and the lumbering field we should work in conjunction with the Board of Trade so that whatever representations are made may be co-ordinated.

A Case of Divorce

I sometimes wonder if the time has not arrived when the Relief Works and the Sanitations Departments should not be divorced or re-contacted so as to get better results at a minimum or cost. The matter should receive the serious consideration of the councillors concerned.

Junior Fire Brigade

In view of the becoming scarcity of men either by enlistment or becoming too old to fight fire, I would suggest that an effort be made to organize a Junior Brigade to work under the senior It will be true we will be organized body that we should expect recruits for your senior brigade, besides that boys would be of invaluable assistance in case of a large fire even if only to keep the hose clear and prevent curiosity

Parking By-Laws

The street lights in the vicinity of the Arena rink should be improved. Approaches to these premises cannot be too well lighted. The street crossings should also be completed so that it will not be necessary to detour out the street in order to cross over as at present. It is would be done I would like to see this street widened so as to lessen the dangers to traffic and to pedestrians.

Power Plant

The power plant is now being changed over from coal to gas. It is hoped within the next year or two the plant will react to the change with increased revenues. We should arrange to procure a service truck instead of depending upon a private automobile for the necessary outside work. A distinct change in connection with the running of the plant was the adoption of the Reserve Fund By-law. The plant is now being equipped with a standby oil burning equipment, comprising a large tank and oil burners. The construction of a sump at the plant as suggested by Cr. Hill to take care of waste water should be given consideration. This water now flows to Main street west where it collects near the high school.

By-Laws

It is proposed to submit a new building and a new fire by-law and consideration should be given the proposed cemetery by-law, all three now being long overdue. A new business tax by-law has been prepared. The changes effected are mainly those adopted by the Council last year.

Parks

I feel that regardless of how meritorious the work of beautifying the town may be, the Council should delegate its jurisdiction over tree planting. This is a work that demands more attention than can be given it individually by members of the council. I believe we would get better results if we were to make a grant to the Vermilion Horticulture Society which body is familiar with what may be required along this line. It would be inconsistent to this Society to map out a definite program of beautification. The Society would no doubt work in conjunction with the Parks committee.

CLEAN TOWN PROPERTY

I would ask that all property owned by the town be cleaned up of debris with which some of them are littered and is concerted effort made to give the town a thorough cleaning this the year. I feel implement agents will co-operate in this respect. I see numbers of empty cans and kitchen refuse decorating the lanes back of several premises The Sanitary Inspector should be directed to inspect all lanes in town once a week and to notify residents of breaches of the Sanitary By-law.

Remuneration for Councillors

Another matter that might engage your attention is that of remuneration to members of the council. Ratepayers should not expect their representatives to sacrifice time and energy in their service without due compensation. Hospital and Municipal districts provide pay for their elected representatives and I do not see why town councillors should not be placed in like category.

Water and Sewer System

One of the main objectives of this and successive Councils should be the installation of a water and sewer system. Vermilion will soon come into a period when this will be accomplished. If, in the meantime something could be done to relieve the situation in our business block a much needed improvement would be effected.

Bright Prospects For Vermilion

I believe Vermilion enters upon the year with brighter prospects than in any year of its history and that the people will be behind the Council in any effort to foster the further growth and development. A great opportunity lies before this and successive Councils to lead the way.

ISLAY

(Crowded out last week)

Come on Islay and district!—Help the War by buying to school and the War by buying to school and Victory Plowdays gone now since the drive began and we are doing well. But let us double the "Well" and make it V for Victory. Every dollar you put in burns Hitler up a little bit more.

Last Friday night the Red Cross social was held and a good time and a good meal had. A nice sum was realized by the Branch.

On Tuesday night a farewell party was held at the Manse for Mrs. R. Martin. Mrs. Martin has been a faithful worker in our Knox W. A. in fact in the many organizations in the village. We will miss her intensely. A faithful helper in the Sunday school as teacher for some time. A good neighbor too, both Mr. and Mrs. Martin's places will be hard to fill.

On Friday at 8 p.m. in Knox church the World Day of Prayer will be observed. An invitation is extended to all women.

We are sorry Mrs. Hutton is confined to the house these days. We hope she will be up and around soon.

Mrs. Cameron Mitchell has been in for a few days also and we hope to see her out again soon.

Two ladies' rinks travelled to Dewberry for a friendly curling game last week. They report one win and a loss—and a grand time.

Call at the P.O. and one of the Story Loan committee will assist you.

WOODVALE

It seems hard to find any news and still harder to get it in to line to Vermilion these days.

The new daylight saving time does not save much coal oil or gas yet on the farms, only makes extra light burning in the morning and therefore is as yet, not very popular. Specially no choring with a lantern is not a very favorite pastime. However with the lengthening of the days we'll soon all enjoy the extra evening hour.

Mrs. Bob and Mrs. Jim Rankin received the sad news of their mother's death early this month. Mrs. Bob Rankin left immediately for Bellingham, Wash., where her mother lived with one of her brothers; while it was thought better for Mrs. Jim Rankin not to undertake the long trip after her recent illness and operation. Their many friends offer their sincere sympathy.

We forgot to mention in our last report that Hazel Rankin spent a week in Edmonton and visited the Commotion and Pick families, formerly of Woodvale.

The children enjoyed a Valentine party at the school on the 13th. All had a good time were lots and lots of hearts in evidence.

Jim and Kathleen Proudfoot were visitors at the Van Warmington home over the week end of 14th.

Hail storm on Sunday morning prevented them from visiting their many friends in the district as they had planned to. Roger Watt took them back to Islay Sunday afternoon from where they travelled via motor-boat to Dewberry where Kathleen is teaching. Later in the week Jim returned to Sanaime, B.C. where he is with the R.C.C.S. On Saturday they paid a visit to the Gouther families and Jim had a look in at the school where he taught for two years.

Mrs. Brown has bought the Ole Lindford place where Mr. and Mrs Stewart are living at present and who will probably be leaving the district in the spring for which their many friends will be very sorry.

Failing stars are quite common on bright nights but to see one fruitful a bright comet-like tail is a beautiful sight not often witnessed. Florent Van Wazenhove believed it on Feb. 6.

CAMPBELL LAKE

We are sorry to hear of Mrs. H. Mufleh's illness and wish her a speedy recovery.

Despite the weather, and the very bad roads, the card party held at the school on Fri. Feb. 20, was a huge success both socially and financially. Nine tables were in play; and the honors went to Mr. and Mrs. O.B. Calder, Mrs. Geo. Dallman, consolation Miss Jessie Dunigan. Gentlemen, John Kinney, T. R. Reeves, consolation Shawn McDonnell. The balance of the proceeds was spent in dancing to poppy music dispensed by Mr. and Mrs. George Cowan. Everyone says a good evening of great success, and hope there'll be another one soon.

The McCormick family and the Fisher family, from north of Clandonald, were visitors at the McCambridge home on Friday.

District Delage: Acheson's sawing outfit at the Plochbeck farm; Hoyle's sawing at Swanson's; Orton Stones cleaning grain at most of the district farms; Beryl Swanson chopping at McIntyres; Cunningham sawing at Dollansky's; Swanson, Dunsmuir and McCambridge opening cross roads to the Clandonald highway.

FIRST FUNCTION OF NEWLY-FORMED STAGETTE CLUB IN VERMILION

The newly formed Vermilion branch of the Stagette club held their first function on Wednesday evening in the Masonic hall, when a card party, both bridge and whist being played. The affair was a pronounced success with an attendance of 81 people. Honors in whist were awarded to Mrs. W. A. Regan and Mr. C. E. Watcher, Mrs. Jim Banks and Mr. V. Deltombe were high lady and gent at the bridge tables.

The evening was suitably rounded out with a delightful lunch, followed by a sing-song. Mr. Norman Taylor, a visitor, rendered two impromptu numbers.

Miss Marie Stewart, president of the local branch of the Stagette club, welcomed the guests and also briefly outlined the work the club hopes to carry out in Vermilion and district.

This new organization, with a present membership of eleven young Vermilion ladies, plan to carry on charitable and war work, with the proceeds of this function and like ventures in the future.

The Stagettes hope to see every one at their next party.

Prizes for the Wednesday evening function were kindly donated by Miss Marie Leitrand, Mr. W. P. Pibble and Mr. Thos. Watts of the Northern Hardware.

"MERE MAN" SERVES AT AFTERNOON TEA

One of the most successful teas of the season was held last Wednesday at the home of Mr and Mrs. S. C. Heckbert, under the auspices of the W.M.S. of the United church. The highlight of the affair was the cooking by "mere man" the members of the church.

The men were charming in their best bibs and tuckers—and what a plot of ground in the kitchen! Amid the spring buzz; and what shiny shoes. Such graceful tid-bits of chat, as "Have you tried Bisquick for breakfast—(deep hush) "Two lumps or one, Mrs. Heckbert? We are very generous with our sugar today" or "Pickles, pickles, can we sell you pickles", in a dulcet tenor How the home cooking sold Jars of jam and pickles changed hands with the greatest rapidity, while as for buns, even those sold and bid for in the deepest recesses of the kitchen by the shrewdest bidding very mysteriously rescind.

Yes, the experiment was a success and the ladies thank the men. The United church are tendered to Mr. and Mrs. Heckbert for the use of their spacious and attractive home. Mr Elford for his assistance in advertising, and to the men who so gallantly assisted, as well as to others who contributed towards its success.

Among those seen assisting were Messrs. Agar Adamson, G. Stephens, W. L. Robinson, J. Welsh, W. S. Cash, D. A. Andrew, Ivr Stephens, Dr. Charlie, Dr. A. H. Wood, L. V. Tysoe, M. Hill, N. MacKay, G. Hay, H. Jenkins, S. C. Heckbert, A. F. Kaiser, H. Easton, Dal Davies, Frank Baker, R. Carroll—but, let me whisper, the kitchen was manned by the female army.

Jos. McCumbaldge spent the week end of Feb. 14th at the home of his friends. He returned to Edmonton on Monday morning.

Miss Rita Cyr and Miss Lillian Anderson formerly of Vermilion spent a wonderful trip by aeroplane recently from Edmonton to Peace River. The trip all way just took 2 hours and ten minutes.

Gordon Wilson son of Mr Clark Wilson has arrived safely in England with a contingent of Canadian infantry.

Gordon Munroe who recently joined the R.C.A.F. is now stationed at Edmonton for training.

BOWTELL BULLETIN

The winners at the card party were Mrs. Carroll, Mrs. Dave Harrison, Mrs. Perkins, consolation (censored), for the women, and for the men in order of merit Mr. Gow, Mr. Gannon, Oscar Anderson, consolation Dick Payne. After lunch was served by the ladies Jean and Rose conducted a few games which were greatly enjoyed by all dancing followed until 2 a.m. to music supplied by Mrs Mar Wood. We must not forget to mention the sing-song by Harry and Dick in which the crowd joined immensely. The next party will be held on Friday March 6th.

A correction is forthcoming on last week's bulletin, it was Mr. Harrison who so kindly started the quilt and not Mrs. Morrison as stated.

Mrs. Carroll of town was noticed calling at the Harrison home on Friday.

Some fifteen friends gathered in town on Saturday night for the show after which they went to the home of Mrs. King to wait for the 2.30 train to see Cliff shepherd and his friend off to camp. Cliff had four days extra leave due to a short cold. Among the party farewelling him were his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Fiber wood, Alex and Jack Morrison, Denise, Eddie, Mabel, Mr. and Mrs. B. McGinnis and family.

The ladies are busy making a quilt on which tickets will be sold at a later date. Proceeds are for war work.

Did we see Dick Payne sit for four-teen hands of cards at one table, or tell we not?

This stormy weather cuts down the milk supply.

There is to be a free picture show again at the school on Tuesday, Mar 3 of 8 p.m. The last one was very good folks. Everyone is cordially invited no matter where you live.

The members of the C.G.I.T. wish to thank all who supported their recent Bingo campaign. The amount raised was $24.20. This means that a Camp Fellowship will be awarded this group. Three girls will also receive individual awards for selling five dollars' worth or more of stamps. They are: Connie Bushell, Betty Barr, Mary Wright.

Cost Of Modern War

In connection with Canada's most recent war loan, some interesting figures regarding the cost of modern war were given out. This information was assembled by the Dominion Public Relations Committee of the Second Victory Loan at Ottawa. The figures are, of course, approximate, but they reveal that a soldier's personal equipment, excluding his rifle, costs ninety-five dollars. A Bren machine gun costs three hundred and twenty-five dollars; a two-pounder anti-tank gun, fifteen hundred dollars; a universal carrier (baby tank), five thousand dollars; and a cruiser tank (twenty-eight tons), one hundred thousand dollars. Ammunition, too, costs a great deal. Rifle and machine gun bullets cost five dollars for a hundred rounds; anti-aircraft gun shells, two thousand dollars for a hundred rounds; and a five-hundred pound bomb costs one hundred dollars. A fully equipped infantry battalion, including forty-one officers and eight hundred and ninety-six other ranks, with personal equipment, motor transport, Bren guns, universal carriers and stores costs three hundred thousand dollars.

All the foregoing figures apply to the army, but the air force and the navy are correspondingly expensive to equip and maintain. An elementary trainer plane costs eight thousand dollars; an intermediate trainer (Harvard), forty thousand dollars; bombers, from one hundred to three hundred thousand dollars, and fighters (planes from twenty-five to fifty thousand dollars. One parachute costs two hundred and thirty-five dollars.

Turning to the Navy we find that a regular type mine-sweeper costs six hundred thousand dollars; a corvette, five hundred and seventy-five thousand dollars; and a motor torpedo boat, one hundred and fifty thousand dollars. In conclusion the report states that the daily cost of maintaining one thousand soldiers in Canada is fifty-five hundred dollars. To keep the same number overseas, the daily cost is seventy-one hundred dollars.

Pay As You Go Policy

We are told that the cost of the war this year alone will be greater than was that of the entire four years of the last war to the people of the Dominion. Wisely looking forward to the post-war period, when a large public debt will mean less financial stability, the government is trying as far as possible to finance the war on a "pay as you go" basis. Taxes and borrowing are the two main sources of government income and an attempt has been made so far, to raise the money for the war half from the taxes and half from loans. As our war effort increases it is likely that both these sources of revenue will have to be used to the utmost. Taxation is already heavy, and because of the price control regulations, sales taxes, and possibly income taxes, will not be increased. It is expected, however, that corporation and excess profit taxes will grow as may the National Defense Tax. Savings will be demanded increasingly in the form of war loans, and to ensure the growth of savings accounts, as well as to devote more labour and materials to the war work. It is likely that many luxuries will disappear from the market. After March, no new cars will be made either here or in the United States, except for military purposes. No doubt many other things, some luxuries, some commonplace articles, will cease to be produced. It has been hinted also, that we may expect rationing in more things than sugar and gasoline

More Speedtires Necessary

Mr. G W. Spinney, national chairman of the War Finance Committee, recently addressed the Winnipeg Canadian Club and the Winnipeg Board of Trade, and in the course of his address he said: "Capital expenditures outside the strict scope of war needs, except essential expenditures for the preservation of the health of the people, should not be condoned." Compared to the people of Britain, we have not yet made any appreciable sacrifice of money or luxuries, but it appears that if we are to do our part in contributing to the defense of the Empire, we must be prepared to give up more and more, both of money, and of the many comforts which we enjoy. That Canadians will respond to this need there is no doubt, and there is no doubt either, that the more we sacrifice, the more satisfaction we shall feel in the part we are playing in the war that we are now fighting in order to maintain the principles of democracy.

Danger! Liver Trouble is Serious

"Ten Days For Yours, Mrs. Parker"

Are you nervous and irritable — can't sleep or eat — tired out all the time? If you're like that, a faulty liver is poisoning your whole system! Limiting ill health may be the cost!

If your liver is the largest organ in your body and more important to your health — by supplying energy to muscles, nerves and glands. If your liver doesn't pour out each day a pint of bile into your bowels — trouble and poisons arise from this process. You become constipated, stomach sour, kidneys can't work properly. The whole system is upset. Then you feel "punky," headachy, dizzy, tongue coated over — bloody poisons in blood and digestion.

Thousands of people are never sick, and have won prompt relief from these miseries with "Improved Fruit-a-tives Liver Tablets." The liver is toned up, the other organs function normally and lasting good health results. Today "Improved Fruit-a-tives" are Canada's largest selling liver tablets. They must be good! Try them yourself NOW. Let "Fruit-a-tives" get you back on the road to lasting health — and like a new person. 25c, 50c.

I was badly run down and terribly constipated. Other than your good I was always constipated. "Fruit-a-tives" soon had me feeling like that nothing like it for making you well and keeping you well. Mrs. A. J. Schweyer, Gleb, Ont.

The Dangerous Way

War Cannot Be Won By Hoping The Axis Will Collapse

The Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph says: Mussolini is a vain, fat, bald-headed man of 59, who also loves to go around thumping on his bare chest in emulation of youthful virility. He, too, may well be flirting with the undertaker, but that does not prove that Italy is about to break into thirty thousand pieces. The more we refrain from indulgence in wishful thinking about how soon the Axis countries are going to fall apart, and the quicker we get busy about the matter part the better it will be for us

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Below the Rio Grande where the mountains are purple and the people picturesque, a meal pie is something to be remembered. It's a work of art, seasoned to perfection, glorious to taste. As a modern touch it's made with bran cereal and topped with grated cheese.

Mexican Meat Pie

¾ cup corn meat
¾ cup boiling water
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup All-Bran

* * *

½ clove minced garlic
3 tablespoons fat
1 pound ground beef
½ tsp. salt and pepper
2½ cups canned tomatoes
1 tablespoon chili powder
1¼ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
¾ cup dry grated cheese

Add corn meat to boiling water; cook until thick. Add All-Bran and spread ½ inch baking dish to ¾-inch thickness. Brown garlic in fat; add meat and cook, stirring to break meat into pieces. Add green pepper, tomatoes and seasonings and simmer until thick. When vegetable has partially evaporated, about 15 minutes, pour into baking dish and top of cooked meats; sprinkle with grated cheese. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 15 minutes.

Yield: Eight servings (8 or 9-inch casserole).

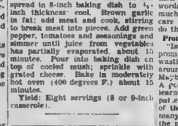
COLORFUL CROSS-STITCH MAKES THIS LOVELY RUG



All Crosses In Same Direction

Cross-stitch is the fashion that makes your home charming—a handmade cross-stitch rug! Or RUGS—for you can make several with fast, sturdy cross-stitch.

The first thing is to rule squares on your rug canvas (3 squares on a 36-by-54-inch piece leaving a 1½-inch margin on all sides.

How to stitch, following for each square our pattern diagram. Each little block stands for one cross-stitch; the shades are for colors—peach, turquoise, brown. In alternate squares you might have turquoise, peach, orange.

After completing all squares, make a border of one row of turquoise and one brown and stitch canvas to denim backing.

Our 32-page booklet has detailed instructions and diagrams for making this rug; also shows how to make lovely hooked, woven, braided and crocheted rugs. Includes Grecian! Navajo, novel styles.

Science magazine says the southern continents, South America, Africa and Australia, are separated by the great oceans, nevertheless they have much in common in their vegetation, indicating some former land connection.

SO YOU'RE GOING TO DO A PLAY?

As the rehearsals proceed and the pattern for the production is set and fitted into the lines, you will find that the young Thespians put down their scripts and start repeating the words from memory. Let them do as much of this as they wish. Encourage to secure a prompter, who will "take all prompts."

Prompter Important and Essential

"Can't it run early to drag in a prompter? Wouldn't a prompter be wasting a lot of time just sitting around for the next line?" Maybe some prompters, but not mine! A good prompter is invaluable! Rehearse the rhythm and pace of the last few for the business, the length of the pauses between speeches and many other important things about the play, so that she never makes a mistake and prompts too quickly the night of the performance or while other equally bad mistake, of not prompting quickly enough. A good prompter always marks her script half a page ahead "WARN"—"gun shot" or "WARN . . . bell ring," so that everything will be ready for the sound effects on cue.

A good prompter always sits in the same place and never follows the script line by line so she is always ready with the right cue, instead of engaging in conversation with those standing around her, a good prompter may pinch hit when one of the cast is ill or away on holiday. And finally a good prompter gets so accustomed to the various idiosyncrasies of the characters, and the inflections of their voices so if when time of production the year arrives and one of the members of that cast gets his call to the armed forces, or is transferred or has an emergency operation, the good prompter hands her prompters book to someone else and steps into the show like a veteran performer.

A good prompter is of invaluable assistance to the various small centres in helping to secure properties, costumes, and many other small things necessary for the successful show. The prompter knows the details of the show, the atmosphere being created and the ultimate end desired and the visitor here and there can often pick up an ornament, a piece of furniture, or a bit of jewellery, gloves, etc., that will assist materially in adding a top notch performance and one that will do credit to all concerned.

Pace and Rhythm of Whole Play

After several group rehearsals, then it is time to commence rehearsals of the whole one act play, or one act of a three act play, so that the rhythm and pace will be felt by the players. This the actors get the feel of the unified whole, how it starts, and develops; swells to a climax here and there, and how it ends. And above all, watch the time in minutes taken to do a whole act straight through without any breaks. You know there is nothing an audience dislikes more than sitting from curtain up till 8.15 until curtain down at 1.15 p.m. when any good three act play shouldn't take more than three hours at the most. Use the Stop Watch. If it is too long, cut it, even if you at first feel that you need every word, as the play proceeds, and before it has gone too far, delete some of the phrases. But, of course, do this carefully.

Next time we will talk about properties.

Enuf sed this time. Remember the self-addressed, stamped envelope when writing for further information.

Norway's Commander

Ability And Toughness Of Troops Have Made Them Famous

It can now be disclosed that Norway has its own Commando troops, especially trained volunteers, who for more than one year have been drilling "somewhere" in Great Britain, and whose ability and toughness are already famous. These Commando soldiers have been participating in all the last raids on the Norwegian coasts. The greater part of them are young men who have crossed the North Sea in small craft, mostly fishing vessels with the only desire: to fight the Nazis with every means and wherever possible. All of them have special knowledges of some part or other of the Norwegian coast, a knowledge very valuable for the planning and the carrying out of the important tasks now placed on the famous "Commandos." The Norwegian authorities regret the loss of one of the most able and brave Norwegian officers leading the assault on Maaloy. This same officer, a captain, was the first to step ashore at Svolvaer, Lofoten, in March last year, and was mainly responsible for the rounding up of the Nazis on the Lofoten Islands there. This time he rushed with a few of his boys directly to the German headquarters at Maaloy in order to also the whole group of Nazis by surprise, but was himself killed in the brief engagement before the German officers surrendered.

Radio Announcers

Proposal Is Made To Establish A School To Train Men

A proposal to establish a school for radio announcers was discussed by members of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters at the concluding sessions of their annual convention in Montreal.

The proposal for the school, which would seek to replace men entering the armed forces, was left in the hands of the newly-elected board of directors for further consideration.

Other problems facing the industry were discussed by the delegates, numbering more than 125 from across Canada, who represent the Dominion's privately-owned radio stations. The convention was extended because of a heavy agenda.

Aid To China

May Use Old Marco Polo Road To Transport Goods

New York.—The old Marco Polo road which winds between the deserts of Mongolia and the snows of Tibet to Turkestan in Soviet Russia may be used to transport American aid to China if the now threatened Burma road is severed, Harrison Forman, American observer at Chungking, said in a broadcast.

The Chinese government has established diplomatic relations with Iran," he said, and is also negotiating with Iraq. "The conveys of lease-lend material may still be sent across the south Atlantic and Africa to Iran and Iraq. They may then transship by rail up through Russia and across Siberia to the Chinese northern border, over 2,000 miles from Chungking."

This so-called "red route" by way of Lanchow in the far northwestern provinces of Kansu and Sinkiang has been so much improved since the beginning of the Japanese invasion that motor caravans use it regularly.

Changes Made By Churchill In His War Cabinet

London.—Prime Minister Churchill announced a reorganization of his war cabinet, the appointment of Sir Stafford Cripps as lord privy seal and house of commons leader and the replacement of Lord Beaverbrook by Oliver Lyttelton as minister of state in charge of production. Lord Beaverbrook will go to the United States.

The changes, involving a reduction from nine to seven in the personnel of the war cabinet, were believed a prelude to realignment of the main cabinet as demanded by powerful parliamentary critics.

The two ministers dropped from the war cabinet were Sir Kingsley Wood, chancellor of the exchequer, and Arthur Greenwood, minister without portfolio.

Clement Attlee, who has been Mr. Churchill's deputy in the house of commons, becomes Dominions secretary, succeeding Viscount Cranborne.

Lord Beaverbrook declined to join the war cabinet on account of the state of his health, the announcement said. He will work in the United States to co-ordinate pooling of the United States resources in the war effort.

Sir Stafford, a Labor leader and rising star in the British political field, replaces Mr. Attlee as lord privy seal and will represent the prime minister in the house of commons. His appointment is one of those demanded by the press and public since his return from Russia, where he was ambassador.

Mr. Lyttelton, who has been minister of state in the Middle East, will exercise "general supervision over production," presumably along the same lines as Lord Beaverbrook had followed.

Also remaining in the war cabinet with the prime minister were Labor Minister Ernest Bevin, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Sir John Anderson, lord president of the council, who was responsible at one time for much of Britain's civilian defence organization.

London's newspapers were united in praise for two new members of the Prime Minister Churchill's war cabinet, Sir Stafford Cripps and Oliver Lyttelton, but some demanded that other changes be made.

The Daily Mail (Conservative) said: "We congratulate Mr. Churchill on his decision to reconstruct his government. Further important changes in the government are still necessary and coming. Better men can be found for a number of ministries outside the war cabinet."

Both Sir Kingsley Wood, chancellor of the exchequer, and Arthur Greenwood, minister without portfolio, should have left the cabinet long ago. The Mail declared, because "neither is of the calibre necessary for an inner council in this grave hour, with direction of the greatest war in history."

The Daily Express, Independent and owned by Lord Beaverbrook who is leaving the post of production minister, said Mr. Churchill has not gone all the way his critics demanded. But he has met them squarely and given them a fair deal . . . Mr. Churchill has yielded to a clamor for a change. Give this new team a chance to lead Britain through the dark and hazardous days. More than ever now this country needs to act as enemies of unity and strength of purpose to the whole alliance."

The News-Chronicle (Liberal) said one of the benefits of the reorganization was the removal of those "who for a long time past troves plainly been overpromoted, and asserted it left unsolved production problems and until they are "radically resolved, premier will remain faced by a basic weakness in his organization for victory."

Sunk Own Ship

German Ship Sprewwald Was Torpedoed By Axis U-Boat

London.—The admiralty announced that an Axis U-boat has sunk one of its own ships, the 5,083-ton German steamship Sprewwald.

The vessel Jan. 31 sent out an SOS stating it had been torpedoed 70 miles north of the Azore and giving the name of a British ship which the admiralty knew was not in the vicinity.

Later the SOS was repeated "with great u gency" and the true name of the stricken ship was given. British patrols searched the area and found a patch of oil three miles wide. The admiralty made no mention of possible survivors.

Loss Of Tankers Serious

Munitions Minister Says Gasoline Shortage Is Becoming Acute

Ottawa.—Canada's gasoline shortage is becoming more acute and the loss of tankers has recently reached serious proportions, Munitions Minister Hon. Clarence D. Howe told the Canadian Press.

Sinking of United States tankers in the gulf of Venezuela recently would not directly affect the Canadian supply, Mr. Howe said.

"We are losing tankers, though, and the gasoline situation is getting steadily worse," he added.

"Gasoline rationing coupons are still likely to be good for five gallons each when the rationing plan becomes effective April 1 but if conditions warranted it a change in the amount allowed purchasers would be made," he said.

The government's original announcement of the gasoline rationing plan gave five gallons as the weekly amount of gasoline allowed for each coupon but warning was issued that the amount might be adjusted as supplies varied.

Transfer Farm Workers

Nazis Order 400,000 Russians From Northern To Southern Ukraine

Berne.—Germany has ordered the transfer of 400,000 Russian farm workers from the northern to the southern Ukraine as part of a gigantic food production program for 1942.

This announcement followed the earlier disclosure that the Nazis plan to resettle large sections of White Russia with farmers from occupied Denmark, Holland and other countries as part of their agricultural expansion program.

Canadian Bomb Plant Largest Of Its Kind In World

Montreal.—Large quantities of 500-pound general purpose bombs and other similar products are being produced in a new Canadian plant, E. P. Brunning, director-general of the munitions production branch of the department of munitions and supply, told the Montreal Electrical Club at a luncheon meeting.

The plant, probably the largest bomb plant of its type in the British empire, if not in the world," is a model of efficiency, Shells in different calibres, and, in a short time, when all facilities are running at maximum production, will be turning out more than 2 000,000 shells a month.

Big sizes of cartridge cases are being produced in this country and more than 15,000,000 cases a year have been delivered, some by filling plants, others to Allied countries where deficiencies had become acute. In a few months time, when all plants are complete, Canada will be supplying artillery cartridge cases at the rate of 30,000,000 a year.

Canada has produced in excess of 10,000 000 fuses, while the total quantity of fuses, primers, tracers and other similar equipment already supplied is upward of 25,000,000. Ammunition boxes have been produced by the millions.

There are 18,000 persons employed in filling plants of whom 10,000 are women. At full capacity a total of 27,000 will be employed. A further 20,000 workers are employed in 150 factories manufacturing ammunition components. To produce the chemicals and explosives for use in filling plants, 24 projects have been built at a cost of $120,000,000.

Batavia, N.E.I.—The Japanese lost at least 200 pilots in the battle for Singapore, according to information given the news agency Aneta by three Australian fliers who escaped to Java in the final hours of the siege.

The young pilots said that, with the Japanese already in possession of the Kelang airdrome, they repaired their damaged planes in a nearby garage, and took off for Java through a hail of enemy machine-gun fire.

Greece Under Nazis

Says Thousands Will Die Of Starvation During Year

New York.—J. Wes Gallager, Associated Press war correspondent, returned home from London for a brief visit and a chance to regain the 35 pounds he lost in a two-year swing through 10 European countries and four different wars.

Most impressive of all to Gallagher were the Italian-Greek and the German-Italian-Greek campaigns during which he travelled "with the half starved Greek army."

Greece, said Gallagher, who remained in Athens after the Germans took over, has received "the worst treatment of all the defeated countries."

When he left Greece last June, he said, natives from whom all for " and things of value had been taken, were digging for roots to harvest locally. By a responsible authority told him he expected at least 2,000,000 to die of starvation during the year.

Miss Gilmour went to that area last September to serve with the Women's Transport Service. She her arrival in Britain she has been attached to the Polish army as an ambulance driver.

After The War

All Germans Should Be Disarmed For At Least A Generation

London.—Lord Vansittart, former chief diplomatic adviser to the government, declared that after the war "all Germans have got to be kept disarmed for at least a generation" and "that generation has got to be used for their re-education."

Addressing the "Never Again Association" recently formed to attempt to prevent future wars, Lord Vansittart said, "at the end of the necessary period of regeneration I shall expect Germany to have been made happier than she has ever allowed herself to be."

Lord Vansittart said those who condemn the Nazi creed but are inclined to be indulgent toward German people only are serving to further an "active pan-German or pro-German campaign."

He declared that he assumed Churchill and Roosevelt mean what they say in the Atlantic charter item of disarmament of aggressor nations" and added

In that case there will be practical occupation by all the Allies of all government, there will be complete destruction of the German army, there will be drastic control of German armament-making firms and German disarmament will be a sinister farce as it was the last time

Believe Japan Is Soon Due For A Major Reverse

London If Australian fears of a Japanese invasion are realized, and if Japan tries to attack India and push across the Indian ocean to Madagascar, a suggested possibility, the Nipponese Japanese may be sowing the seeds of their future undoing.

Japan is no more invincible than some people once thought Hitler was, says the authority who has studied it in Russia. And there is a limit to Japan's ability to stretch out her resources over about one-third of the globe

Japan already is spread rather thin in an attempt to do everything at once before the might of the United States and Britain make themselves felt. If this extension is carried too far, Japan will have exposed an Achilles heel to the United Nations.

To sum up the present Japanese position:

They are operating over about 6,000 miles from Burma to their own mainland islands.

They are heavily committed in China which they have been unable to subdue in four and a half years. Chiang Kai-shek has an estimated 3,000,000 men to oppose them. Perhaps half of the available Japanese men under arms are tied up there or along the Soviet border.

They are engaged in a major operation in Burma.

They are trying to overwhelm Sumatra Borneo, Celebes and Java.

A large part of their forces are involved in Baten Philippines.

Under the circumstances an attempted invasion of Australia and India might be equivalent to attempting the impossible.

The Indian ocean naturally offers a tempting prospect to Japan. Her naval forces could have considerable access to it past Singapore through the Straits of Malacca. The line of supplies to Burma, the United States Burma road could be cut. Russia could be isolated from China.

Japanese submarines could operate considerable use of the Indian ocean Fleet and air force. It is a question whether Japan has enough to spare for it and still dominate the western Pacific. It would require a large Japanese force continuously to operate in the broad gulf between India and the United States has established in New Zealand and Australia.

If the U S Pacific fleet is weakened substantially, for Indian ocean operations, the United States might be forced home to withhold down the Japanese in the south Pacific. The Japanese might be exposed to the United States

If Hitler tries to drive through to the Suez and Japan across the Indian ocean to meet him, Japan's navy might be exposed to the United States

Train Air-Borne Troops For The British Forces

London.—The British army has air-borne troops in training and parachutist forces ready now for action, Capt. David Margesson, war secretary, announced He declared new armored divisions have been formed and those in the Middle East" reinforced

Outlining this broad picture of strengthened striking power, Capt. Margesson said that because of equipment shortages and the need for older type weapons already in production the army had been unable until last fall to convert large numbers of infantry into artillery and armored units of which we were woefully short

Without disclosing any details of the strengthening of armored formations he said he described only as the Middle East the war secretary declared that the reinforcement "process is continuing

He said that in Malaya, however, British forces had been up against "hardened soldiers with four years experience in a style of warfare with which we were totally unaccustomed."

In that ill-starred campaign he said, there had not been time for troops to get essential preliminary battle training—often not time even for them to become acclimated to the equatorial jungle climate after their long, sea voyage in cramped quarters.

Capt. Margesson declared the British army is training air-borne troops, and already has a number of parachute and air-landing units ready for action

This was the first official announcement that the British army is planning to use air-borne infantry like that which has served Germany and Japan well.

In addition, he said, a number of new armored divisions have been formed

"We have practically completed formation of the required number of anti-tank regimental," he said, recounting the progress of army development

On the situation in Libya, he said that at present the British forces "in some respects were at a disadvantage with the Germans" in tank weapons.

He referred to "the insidious and false suggestion" which he said was "now finding some expression in newspapers of the United States" that Britain is "willing to accept arms and equipment from any and every source, but not willing to send our soldiers out to fight with them"

"Of every 100 men killed and wounded in the land fighting in Libya since the beginning of the war," he said, "about 70 have come from this country."

He said the sending of troops to foreign theatres must be considered in the light of first, the absolute necessity of defending this country, "an arsenal from which arms are flowing to all the Allied nations" and second, "the availability of shipping."

Taking Armored Course

Men Of Canadian Infantry Division Will Train In England

Somewhere in England.—A number of officers and non-commissioned officers of a Canadian infantry division which is being converted into an armored division will come to England for training attachments to the Canadian armored formations overseas, it was learned here.

They will spend some weeks with the Canadian army tank brigade which now is prepared for active operations with the armored division training in southern England. They will also visit British armored units and tank gunnery schools.

Specially selected, they will be taught the latest developments in armored fighting and return to their own division to pass on the information they have acquired and thus accelerate training in Canada.

VERMILION PRESBYTERIAL W.M.S. MEETS AT MANNVILLE

The 17th Vermilion Presbyterial of the W.M.S. met in Mannville on Wednesday Feb 18th with a splendid attendance, delegates being present from Lamont, Vegreville, Mannville, Vermilion and Lloydminster. Mrs. Archer of Lamont, presbyterial president, presided.

The Vermilion auxiliary conducted morning worship with the theme "The Master's Call to Service". Reports from all auxiliaries, circles and bands showed increases in giving, and in missionary reading. Other points included Islay, Marwayne, Penhan, Minburn, Innisfree and Lavoy have contributed to the missionary program.

The afternoon devotions were taken by the Vegreville auxiliary. Mrs. W.J. Bell of Lloydminster was the chairman. The high light of this session was Mrs. Archer's address on the subject "Prize Calling" in which Donald Gordon had called representatives of eighteen leading women's organizations representing one million women, to Ottawa. These ladies were to spread the prize calling program country wide to all smaller women's organizations, groups, etc. 95 per cent of the fund raising in Alberta is done by the women.

Mrs. Archer's one desire was to impress upon the minds of these present, three words, "Thy Kingdom Come". She reviewed the life of the early church, its growth, then darker years, then again brighter until the year 1942. At this time our minds thought that the world would be revolutionized in our generation. She has given us set backs. Dark days are threatening. She concluded that all evening programs and war work were parallel to mission work and both will contribute to the establishment of the Kingdom of God.

The Mission Band of Mannville sang "We're a story to tell to the Nations" and Mis Maisie Leitch recited "God Bless Canada", very effectively.

While everyone was gathered together at the supper tables, the Rev. W.C. Leland proposed the toast to Mannville and congratulated the W.M.S. for their service for others. To this Mrs. Wm. Hall of Lloydminster replied, concluding with "Others, Lord, yes others,

Let this my motto be.
For this men live for others
Dear Lord, we live for thee."

Hints on conserving sugar were suggested by other speakers.

The evening session was opened with a women's trio which sang "Beneath the Cross of Jesus". Installation services were conducted by the Rev. E. C. McLeod of Mannville.

Mrs. Archer then was our guest speaker. She is a returned Missionary from Korea who is now superintendent of the Nurses Training school at Lamont. She came to Lamont years ago with a definite purpose to fit herself for foreign mission work. She did Home Mission nursing, then went to Korea in 1916 and helped to found hospital and training school in Hamheung. She returned to Canada in 1938 and has not been permitted to return to Korea. Since 1910 Japan has had a governor-general in residence in Korea, now a part of the Empire of Japan.

Miss Sandell's illustrated address showed the growth of missions, both in schools and hospitals, and convinced her audience that the seed which has been sown will never be uprooted. Her co-workers have been allowed to live in their home and continue with their work.

Mr. Davidson, who followed the address and the Presbyterial was closed with the singing of "Blest be the Tie that Binds".

Billy Rose and W. Barr Rinks Big Winners in Bonspiel

Curling Classic Completed Saturday Night — Perfect Weather Conditions and Ice Prevailed

The Vermilion bonspiel, which can rightfully be classed as the biggest and among the most successful ever held in town, was completed on Saturday evening after five days of steady curling. The finals in four competitions were played on Saturday evening while the Grand Challenge winners were decided Friday. The entry list of 32 rinks set a new record for local spiels and was made up of 22 visiting quartets and 16 home. The weather was ideal, cold enough for keen ice but not just comfortable for playing.

The entry of Billy Rose, nationally known skip from Edgewick, also proved a great attraction and was a sure drawing card for big galleries.

Grand Aggregate

Bill Barr grabbed off a considerable amount of glory when he amassed the tidy total of 9 wins with only one set-back for the best record of the bonspiel. He won the Brunswick Hotel competition and tih in the Grand Challenge, besides being the only rink to chalk up a victory over the redoubtable Billy Rose. Barr suffered his lone defeat in the finals of the Challenge at the hands of Wes Sargent's Mannville quartet. Rose had the second best standing with 7 wins and one loss.

Cup Winning Rinks

Personnel of the rinks winning the various cups were as follows:

Grand Challenge—Billy Rose, Beverly Rutan, Diedrich. This rink was entered under the name of Berrch of Irma.

Brunswick Hotel and Grand Aggregate—Bill Barr, Harry Jenkins, Curtis Martin, Carman Lang.

Pilkington—Bert McFadden, Bert Williams, R. Chrysler, G. Majeau (Mannville).

Vermilion Hotel—Ed Chesnick, Bill Dreyer, Jack Beatty, Jack Carroll, (Vermilion).

Consolation

Wes Waldenberger, Vermilion
2. I.D. Inness, Islay
3. W. S. Wouters, Edam, Sask.
4. Jas. Ingleish, Vermilion.

In spite of the vast amount of work involved, Secretary H. R. Parker ran the bonspiel through without a hitch, and the whole affair was a decided success.

On Wednesday evening the Curlers' banquet which has become quite a feature of most bonspiels was held in the Elks hall with 175 curlers and their friends in attendance, Curling runs done to the W.A. of St. Saviour's Anglican church. Wes Waldenberger the club president, acted as chairman for a short and interesting program.

GETS TWO MONTHS ON DRIVING COUNT

Walter H. G. Sinclair, salesman, was sentenced to two months in jail by Mr. Justice McNamee in supreme court Saturday after being convicted on a charge of dangerous driving. Sinclair, Ronald Marland, also on a sentence was passed, said an appeal would be filed. Bail was set at $1,000. The charge arose out of a fatal accident near Mannville last September. Mrs. Olive E. Stokes, of Winnipeg, was killed and her husband, Roy Stokes, and Mr. Sinclair suffered leg, arm and body injuries. Mrs. Stokes, according to evidence given, died of a hemorrhage, multiple fractures and shock.

Guy Patterson, K.C., acted for the attorney-general's department.

NEW MARK SET FOR CANADA'S VICTORY LOAN

(Special by Wire to the Standard)

OTTAWA, Thursday March 5. — Officials in charge of Canada's second Victory Loan have raised their sights and are now driving toward a new mark of $900,000,000. The nominal and minimum goal of $600,000,000 was passed at mid-week with announcement that total subscriptions to close or business on Tuesday amounted to $615,398,750 from 788,727 subscribers.

Appeals for oversubscription were issued by Hon. J. L. Ilsley, minister of Finance and C. W. Spinney, chairman of the National War Finance committee. Big new subscriptions made public the middle of the week included Imperial Oil, Ltd. and Associated companies for $6,500,000.

COME ON, VERMILION! LET'S GO OVER THE TOP FOR THE VICTORY LOAN

With the end of the drive only one day away the Vermilion district still requires your subscription to the Victory Loan in order to approach the record established during the last loan.

Hitler, Mussolini and Hirohito do not want you to buy bonds — they would like to see the Victory Loan only moderately successful — but we are sure the answer of our district by boosting our loan records will prove to them that the "over" war and that we are not merely spectators of a gigantic upheaval.

Military canteens should act as stimulant, rather than a deterrent to our effort and every citizen of this area should bear his share of the burden imposed upon our country; bonds are not meant merely for the so called "big shots" but may be purchased from regular income or from savings according to your desire.

If you have not already bought a bond, BUY ONE TODAY, go to your bank or your local representative do-nate $5 or $10 and then arrange to pay the balance due on the security by August 15th, 1942 when you have done that you will enjoy the satisfaction that you have done something to further the cause of freedom — our men in the fighting services look to us NOW, let us not fail them.

BUY A VICTORY BOND TODAY — or TOMORROW . . . MONDAY WILL BE TOO LATE!

Dr. J. J. Knoll Chairman Of New School Board

Committees Appointed — Reduce Requisition to $20,200

A special meeting of the trustees of Vermilion Centre S.D. No. 1146 was held on Feb. 23rd, 1942, with Dr. J. J. Knoll, Donald Taylor, D. A. Andrew, Leigh Tyner and Sidney G. Bryan in attendance.

This was the first meeting of the new Board and the members elected took the Declaration of Office and Oath of Office.

Waiver of notice of this meeting was signed by all trustees.

Moved by Tr. Andrew that Dr. J.J. Knoll be Chairman of this Board for the ensuing year. Cd.

Moved by Tr. Taylor that the following committees be appointed for the current year.

Finance—Taylor and Andrew
Grounds—Andrew and Bryan
Teachers & Supply—Bryan, Tyner
Building—Tyner and Taylor. Cd.

Tr. Taylor moved that a hearty vote of thanks on behalf of this board and the citizens of Vermilion, generally, be extended to the retiring board member, Wm. Barr, for his service during the six years he was on the school board and that the Secy convey this message to him. Cd.

The Board then attacked the estimate for the year 1942 and after considering every phase of the situation Tr. Tyner moved that we requisition the Town of Vermilion for the amount of $20,200 for year 1942. Cd

A special meeting of the trustees of Vermilion Centre S.D. No. 1146 was held on March 2, 1942 with Dr. J. J. Knoll, D.A. Andrew, L. A. Tyner and S.G. Bryan present. Donald Taylor, the other member being absent in Ottawa.

Waiver of notice of the meeting was signed by all trustees present.

Moved by Tr. Tyner that the board agree to a reduction of $400 from the 1941 requisition, which was $20,600, being approximately one half a mill reduction on the 1941 requisition. Carried

LOCAL STAGETTE CLUB TO SPONSOR ST. PATRICK'S DANCE

The local Stagette club held their weekly meeting on Tuesday, March 2, at the apartment of Miss Noonan and Miss Shand.

The president of the club, Marjorie Maxwell, was elected convener for the dance which is to be held at the Elks hall on the 17th of March. An interesting program of entertainment has been planned and an enjoyable evening is assured. Complete information will be found in next week's Pepper and Others are already being sold.

The girls have been planning charity and war work at their meetings. A donation has already been made to the local Red Shield for the purchase of wool and was very gratefully received. The club plans to do more in this line very shortly.

We are very glad to say that our membership is increasing and we now have eighteen of the maximum 25 members enrolled.

STUDY GROUPS TO PLAN REVISION OF CURRICULA IN ALTA. HIGH SCHOOLS

Meeting Here Friday Evening

The Vermilion sub-local A.T.A. to action upon the Department of Education's motion that study groups of citizens and teachers be formed to discuss and offer suggestions for revision of the high school program. A meeting of the Citizens' Teachers study group has been arranged for Friday, March 6 with Vermilion High school local A.T.A. President as the chairman. The meeting is called for 8 o'clock sharp.

* * *

New plan for a second revision of Alberta's high school curriculum has been put in motion by the department of education and first changes in the set up are expected in the Grade 10 program early in 1942, according to the 56th annual report of the department which has been tabled in the legislature. First curriculum changes will make a few terms ago.

The starting point in the newest changes proposed will be from "agriculture study groups" to be formed throughout Alberta. These groups will be made up of teachers, parents and administration representatives such as inspectors in various districts. It is suggested these groups name a chairman and secretary and study high school curricula. The department of education will furnish reference books and other publications which the groups may desire to their own use in preparing draft curriculum lists.

Formation of the groups will be aided by locals of the A.T.A. throughout the province. Teachers are being asked to take the leadership in the work and arrange to parents organizations to take part. There are home and school associations in many sections and these will be asked to participate.

Thoughts On Rationing

If all our rationing, as it comes, is as easy to take as is the new order for sugar rationing, we could count ourselves lucky. Restrictions regarding rubber tires are really the first to strike deep into our everyday life. But because rationing that pinches is on the way, we can start now to take rationing in our stride. As loyal Canadians, all we need to know is the regulations regarding each item—and our fundamental honesty will see to it that we keep within our allotment. Housewives may find it handy to keep a record on the kitchen calendar of when sugar is bought and how much. Car owners can hold each other up to a high level of efficiency concerning tires and gasoline.

Donald Gordon, controller of the war time prices and trade board, is right in giving us a chance to prove to him and all concerned that "Co-operation not compulsion is the strength of democracy." Nation cards to cost no extra money needed for war materials. Let us not by our selfishness lose the battle and so make life on a one far-off event because of too few thinks and too few places. We believe in the fundamental principles of democracy, honesty, unselfishness, the ability to pull together. Let us live by them

* * *

Necessity For Regulations

Leaders of the Ford Trade in Britain issued a manifesto entitled "A Spirit to Implement the Law" which appeared in a Bristol newspaper at the time rationing began over there. It reads

"In time of war the food trade becomes increasingly important in the life of the nation. Fluctuations of prices or scarcity of supplies quickly affect every home in the country. We of the food trade, therefore, are charged with a great responsibility

We realize the necessity for regulations, but no law can cover every case. There are countless occasions on which it must be left to the individual to decide how regulations should be interpreted Who, for example, can give a watertight definition of profiteering or hoarding? Everything depends on the spirit with which the individual applies the regulations to his business and his business.

"In this war the front line is not in our doorstep, we all need the front line spirit. Even in the absence of apparent danger it is not easy to maintain a spirit of comradeship and self-sacrifice equal to that of the trenches Yet the line between manufacturer wholesaler, retailer and consumer is a life-line of the nation

"The creative power for the great task before us can come from no human source. We need a superhuman discipline which reaches down to the smallest detail of our lives. We must look to the spiritual resources stronger than security or profit. This is our part in moral rearmament, in the building of that line of faith, honesty and unselfishness, on which our nation depends.

"If, even as a consequence of the tragedy of war, this spirit could be achieved, foundations of economic peace and prosperity might to-day be laid which would be the finest inheritance for the world of tomorrow."

* * *

Privilege And Responsibility

We can keep our thinking straight about rationing We haven't been bombed yet. Our daily life is very little different from what it was in peace time. Our gratitude should spur us on to do our utmost. Next Sunday we may hear announcement of further rationing—and the Sunday after that, and the Thursday after that. What if we are caught with but one day's supply on hand. Let's laugh and get into our stride. showing that democracy works because democrats are willing to work together.

Women have a special privilege and responsibility in the daily life of the country at this time They do at least seventy per cent. of the nation's shopping. Many of them will be thinking with their sisters overseas, that they can begin by accepting the responsibility that lies on their side of the counter. They have determined to carry out the spirit as well as the letter of the regulations with regard to buying, to consider the needs of others and to refrain from selfish hoarding They have also determined to make frank enquiries when puzzled by a rise in price, instead of suspecting profiteering and grumbling about it, to co-operate with merchants by paying bills promptly; to take pride in thrift, and to see that nothing is wasted. In this spirit they believe that they can fight to conquer the fear, greed and selfishness which are the ultimate causes of war Itself. Such a spirit cannot be rationed. It is as vital a need as our daily bread, if we are to build up a world where we and our children can rejoice in the freedom and fellowship of God.

While rationing takes from us on one hand, it gives to us with the other. It gives us more and greater opportunities to build up a strong basis of civilian co-operation in Canada, a quality of citizenship that prides itself in honesty, and shows itself counts it a privilege to share in the sacrifices that will increase in the future

Reserves of coffee, the national beverage in Norway, are exhausted Before the war Norway's coffee consumption per capita was the heaviest in the world Meat, fish and dairy products have practically disappeared.

People Do Not Change

Change Does Not Matter When Everyone Is In Fashion

The prospect that wartime civilian styles will be simplified is far from remote. But the maiden out to get her man need not worry.

Many years ago F. Marion Crawford who had extensive knowledge of the race on three continents made a sage observation. "Fashion is droon," he said, "appears to exercise less influence upon men and women in their relations toward each other than does any other product of human ingenuity. Provided everyone is in fashion everything goes on in the age of high heels and gowns tied back precisely as did five and 20 years ago, when people wore flat shoes and when gloves with three buttons had not been dreamed of."

The Individual Citizen's Army

A Weekly Column About This And That In The Canadian Army.

By Alan Mackie Irwin

Since we occasionally dip into Army slang in these columns let's take a look at the word. "Jeep." Now a "jeep" as any follower of "Popeye" knows is an affectionate little animal that is not to be found outside of the artist's imagination. Right? Wrong! A "jeep" is as the M.G.O. would express it, a "car, light utility, J.P." What's that? Many of you probably know the answer as well as I do now that the Canadian Army Train is on its way across the

"Used for reconnaissance work, this little four-passenger car can go anywhere a tank can go," says the soldier who explains it to the thousands of men, women and children who visit the travelling army exhibition train set to tour and cities from coast to coast in the interests of democracy." Nation cards to cost no extra money needed for war materials. Let us not by our selfishness lose the battle and so make life on a one far-off event because of too few thinks and too few places. We believe in the fundamental principles of democracy, honesty, unselfishness, the ability to pull together. Let us live by them

"The jeep is only one example of what will be on display at railroad sidings all over Canada as the individual cities of Canada get their opportunity to look his Army over at close quarters.

"Other display exhibits are signalling apparatus at work; models of pontoon and folding-boat bridges in service; types of Norwegian Lapplounder guns—the new Lee-Enfield rifle and short bayonet are there, so are the tommy and tank-hunter. There are displays of kit and equipment, a mobile dental clinic, a small hospital ward and a medical inspection station. One car is devoted to the work done by soldiers who have been taught trade necessary to the maintenance of mechanized equipment at Technical Schools or the Canadian Army Trades School at Hamilton.

Mothers who wonder if their boys get enough to eat will long after the train fully reassured after a visit to the Army Service Corps exhibit with its airtight rations, big cheeses, fresh vegetables, jams, jellies, eggs and other hearty foods.

For probably the first time the thousands of blood donors who give their blood at Red Cross Blood Donor Clinics will see what it looks like after it has been processed at the laboratory and is ready for shipment. Bottles of the powdered blood now being shipped overseas regularly are included in the Medical Corps exhibit.

Almost as interesting as the train itself is the personnel numbering 83 soldiers and six officers. These, headed by Lt.-Col. J. E. McKenna, of Montreal, include men from every part of the Dominion.

They form a miniature expeditionary force composed of representatives of every Arm and Service. Some have seen active service—some have not. But all are experts in some item to be found in the exhibits and answer questions put to them by visitors.

One known as "Frenchy" for obvious reasons, showed another side of his character at one of the first stops made by the train. On sentry duty at the entrance he willingly stood guard over babies left in his care while the parents viewed the exhibits.

By the time the Canadian Army Train has completed its itinerary it will have travelled more than 15,000 miles and will have been on exhibition at more than 200 places.

So far it is early to predict how many Canadians will end their Army this way but, I'll venture a guess. On its opening day the individual citizens army showed itself to 4,264 persons an average of 2,264 at each of three stops—or 721 persons per hour. My guess? Well over a million! In fact I'll go further and say it will be nearer two

Don't miss this train when it hits your neck of the woods—it's worth seeing—it's your train—it's your Army!

British Legation Members At Athens Made Gallant Rescue

Three members of the staff of the British legation at Athens, who, after escaping to Crete when the Germans drove there, risked their lives to save other members of the legation staff, have been awarded the M.B.E. (Member of the British Empire).

Rodney Bond, Tyrell Carlisle and Edward Patrick Dillon got to Crete by boat and learned that another boat carrying relief of the staff had been sunk by enemy action and that the party was stranded on an island between Greece and Crete.

Taking food and medical stores, the three men went to the island, although they were in constant danger of bombing, and rescued all the party.

Compressed Flour

New Process Developed Which Saves Considerable Shipping Space

A novel idea for the saving of about a third of the shipping space required to transport flour across the Atlantic has been worked out by chemists of the United States Department of Agriculture. The flour is subjected to pressures as high as 16,000 pounds per square inch. This pressure "squeezes out all the empty space between the flour particles."

When this compressed flour was made into bread, after several months the loaf was from 15 per cent. to 20 per cent. smaller than the loaf made from unpressed flour. The taste was all right. The only apparent difference was that there was more bread in a slice.

War Great Road-Builder

Major-General Fritz Todt Planned Military Highways In Germany

The report from Berlin says that Maj.-Gen. Fritz Todt was killed in an air accident, but Fritz Todt wasn't a soldier. He was a road-builder who was bigger than any major-general. The autobahns he laid down in Germany made him one of the greatest road builders of all time. They were planned to accommodate military transport. They ran from the Baltic to Austria, and where they fringed France and Belgium and the Lowlands, were connected by similar highways with other lateral roads to make the transfer of motorized troops possible everywhere at any time

Dr. Todt had no doubt as to the conquering purpose of his roads when he was ordered to continue one through Czechoslovakia. The Czechs understood the hidden meaning in that four-tracked traffic-way, along which they had even to give police rights to the Germans. It was the Trojan penetration of their land.

Then, when the central European troubles were kept brewing, and had disputing went on after Hitler rode into Vienna and stumped Chamberlain at Munich, Dr. Todt was given his army to improvise the Siegfried Line whose great depth spread out and on during the months of the "phony" war. That line now runs the length of German-ruled Europe. It is the structure that is behind which the German armies mean to make their stand when driven back within their own borders. They are to bring up reserves or retake themselves to retreat along Todt's autobahns built in peace their needs in victory or in defeat.

It is true that Dr. Todt was made a major-general given an immense army, mostly composed of conquered peoples forced to labor in it. For the German, Todt had called on to labor for itself, this Todt army, this phalanx of bewildered European slaves, formed from Russian frontier, and as the Germans advanced deeper into Russia last year, threw up other fortifications among which must have been Line of defence on which the Russian forces have been unwilling to let the Germans rest, now that they are in retreat, back down the roads Todt built.—Winnipeg Free Press.

Tribute To Dr. Dafoe

Debt Owed To Famous Doctor Who Cured For The Quints

The extent to which Dr. Dafoe has succeeded as physician to the five most famous little girls in the world is readily apparent with one look at them. The five Dionne sisters are fine, healthy and attractive little girls. They are physically and mentally splendid, and to Dr. Dafoe's great skill and personality must go a large measure of the credit.

Dr. Dafoe, in addition to the expert care which he had given the Quints, must also be thanked for his role in bringing thousands and thousands of tourists to this district. His skill in having the Quints alive at their birth and the fame which followed the achievement, his own individual charm, and the great appearance of the man, which could not have been more typical of the role of "the doctor," made him loved throughout the continent; and the resulting benefits to this district are immense.

Some form of great tribute, a tribute which would express the appreciation of this district for the grand job Dr. Dafoe has done, is now in order.—North Bay Nugget.

Nazi Warships Damaged And Out Of Action

London.—The 26,000-ton German battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau and the 10,000-ton heavy cruiser Prinz Eugene apparently have been knocked out of the war for some time to come, according to a naval review presented in the House of Commons by the First Lord of the Admiralty, A. V. Alexander.

He also announced: "I can reveal that His Majesty's submarine Trident successfully attacked a cruiser of the Prinz Eugene class off the coast of Norway Feb. 23 and obtained a hit."

"The 10,000-ton Prinz Eugen herself accompanied the twin battleships in their escape through the English channel from Brest.

"Aerial reconnaissance subsequently showed a ship of the Eugen class in Trondheim in tow of tugs and damaged aft," he said. "It seems probable that the ship was the Prinz Eugene, in which case all ships which escaped from Brest have been damaged."

The ocean-going Trident has been dogging Germany's Norwegian sea route and it was the Trident that sighted the heavy cruiser. On Nov. 29, the Trident was credited with a successful attack on seven German transport and supply ships. Three were seen to sink and four were so damaged that their loss was considered probable.

The admiralty's communique on the Trident's attack on the cruiser added that it was one of a number of the destroyers escorting the enemy cruiser who also hit by torpedo."

Britain has formed her naval personnel three or fourfold over peacetime strength, Mr. Alexander said

Remarking that the Battle of the Atlantic has become a battle of the seven seas, he said that no one who has Britain had less than 2,000 ships at risk on all oceans.

He reported the United States was taking measures "to make the task of the U-boat more difficult" while Britain was providing shipboard fighter aircraft protection for convoys and had year has mounted 12-.303 anti-aircraft guns on merchant ships.

Merchant and fishing vessels, he said, now have about 76 enemy planes, probably destroyed another 40 and damaged 89.

German U-boat construction undoubtedly had reach an unprecedented scale and U-boat flotillas are growing steadily, he added.

A new period of raider activity by a "both German and Japanese" surface prowlers may be approaching, he warned both British and United States, after almost a year without mercantile losses from German surface raiders.

Alaska Highway

Report Proposed Northern Route Is Entirely Feasible

Edmonton.—" A spokesman for 8 United States army commission that returned to Edmonton from an inspection tour of the proposed route of the Alaska highway as far north as Fort Nelson, B. C. said construction of the highway through Canada, the northern tip of British Columbia and the Yukon is "entirely feasible"

Whether or not the road will be built is not within the province of the commission, he said. Their job primarily was to see the route at first hand and make a report to Washington as to whether the construction of the road was possible.

The commission decided "no barriers exist," he said, but there added if the road is constructed it will be a huge job

The commission was headed by Col. W. M Hoge, of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers He will 'send the report of the commission to the chief of the corps of engineers at Washington

Serious Tin Shortage

Metal Trades Receive New Instructions Prohibiting Use

Ottawa Metals Controller G. C. Bateman, forming the tin shortage "critical" said new instructions to metal trades prohibit use of virgin tin except with his written permission.

Purchasers of tin and tin alloys in future must state in detail how it will be used and must certify that stocks on hand, plus tin ordered, will not total more than 30 days' supply

Must Conserve Food

British People Told Heavy Shipping Loses Mean More Restrictions

London.—The British press is driving home to every man and woman in these islands the stark meaning of Hitler's new submarine attack on the ocean lifelines of the nation, and has bluntly warned the people of the United Kingdom they will have to tighten their belts further and accustom themselves to still harder living if this latest threat to their existence is to be overcome.

Prompted by Prime Minister Churchill's grave news that shipping losses are heavier, the nation's newspapers almost without exception laid the onus for greater effort and greater self-denial on the individual

Must Take Job Seriously

Sir Stafford Cripps Warns People Of Altitude Toward War

London.—Sir Stafford Cripps, lord privy seal, told the House of Commons the government would not permit a "business as usual or pleasure as usual" attitude toward the war from new on.

On the home front, Sir Stafford said, steps will be taken to halt "dog racing and kindred displays" which he called "completely out of accord" with the "solid and serious intention of this country to achieve victory."

Help Of India Of Vital Value To The Empire

London.—It is of vital value to the British Empire that the people of India should fight for the defence of their country and with Britain in repelling the Axis, Sir Stafford Cripps, lord privy seal, told parliament. "Supremely," he said, is helping British loan part of her colonial empire and said this could be repaid "on condition that we hold it in the interests of the world and the people who live in those parts."

"In the present onslaught of the Japanese in addition to the "already enormous forces of Germany and Italy now growing powers," plans upon Britain a "heavier burden than any we have yet borne," he continued.

"But we are more confident to-day of our ultimate victory," but "ten weeks, and it may be for months, there will be acute anxiety and difficulty."

The government fully realizes that Britain must do her utmost to make a new period of relative calm, he added, and the decision regarding India will be followed by a debate very shortly."

He said Former Minister Arthur Greenwood's department devoted to post-war reconstruction would be continued although arrangements for its direction have not yet been decided upon by the government.

Answering Mr. Hore-Belisha's suggestion that the chiefs of staff should meet alone, Sir Stafford said figures of the Prime Minister Cripps, he showed that in "90 or more per cent." of cases they meet alone, and that it is only on very special occasions that Mr. Churchill presides.

Mr Hore-Belisha, former war secretary, declared he welcomed the reply to the government but that "it must stand or fall by the manner in which it meets the needs of this war."

Other cabinet members speaking in the second day of the House of Commons war debate declared three big needs are

1. That the army be given control over its own supporting aircraft, instead of the R.A.F.

2. That an immediate "generous" gesture be made to India, and that colonial policy be revised.

3. That the government take drastic steps to obtain a maximum of production, and a minimum of civilian consumption.

Mr Hore-Belisha declared that indequate air support for the army and navy had been a constant factor in British reverses

Another, he asserted, was underestimating the enemy

He told the house that Britain was pressured to have reached parity with Germany in plane production, but that "neither the army nor the navy has the types required."

"The navy," he said, "lacks land-based torpedo bombers. . . There is no dive-bomber. . . There is no air-plane armed with cannon sufficiently powerful to explode tanks.

"There is inadequacy of machines of the kind to carry parachute troops, and not enough transport carrying planes . . . and gliders."

Matter Of Diplomacy

That Canada Should Continue Relations With Vichy

London.—The British government considers it to be "in the common interest" for Canada to remain in diplomatic relations with Vichy, Foreign Secretary Eaden said in the House of Commons.

"In reply to a question received from His Majesty's government in Canada for an indication of their views as to the desirability of maintaining diplomatic relations with the Vichy government, His Majesty's government in the United Kingdom stated that they considered it would be in the common interest if H.M. government in Canada remained in diplomatic relations with the Vichy government," the foreign secretary said in replying to a question by Geoffrey Mander, Liberal.

Mr. Mander than asked: "Isn't it rather odd that one part of the Empire should maintain diplomatic relations and another part not?" There was no reply.

No More New Bicycles

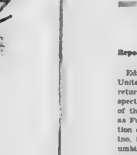
After April Stocks Will Be Reserved For Delivery Work

Montreal. — Canada's youngsters will have to make their old bicycles do because there will be a virtual shutdown shortly in the manufacture of new bicycles, George S. Braden of Toronto, general manager of the Canada Cycle and Motor Company, Limited, said on a visit here.

Braden told delegates attending the convention of the Canadian Bicycle Manufacturers Association that the need of using materials for war supplies will result in the virtual elimination of the manufacture of wheel goods such as tricycles, kiddy cars, juvenile bicycles and wagons after April.

He said stocks now available will be earmarked for factory workers and for delivery and messenger work.

RESCUED FROM THE SEA



Saved from the Atlantic are these members of a tanker recently sunk by a German submarine. The survivors, clad in rubberized outfits with which the lifeboat was equipped, were rescued after 11 days by a Canadian warship. Twenty-nine of a crew of 53 were rescued. The captain died the day before the rescue.

Coal Control

Would Place Britain's Coal Mines Under Control Of National Board

London.—The national council of labor approved a scheme to place Britain's coal mines under control of a national coal board representing the government, the coal owners, and the miners.

The plan was drafted by sub-committees of the Mine-workers Federation and the National Council of Labor as an alternative to complete nationalization

The main aim of the proposed establishment of a national coal board is to obtain maximum output by a system of unification and make the best use of all available labor

In House Of Commons

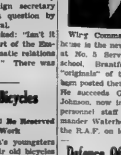
London.—Sir James Grigg, promoted from the civil service to the cabinet post of secretary of state for war, will sit in the House of Commons as soon as a place can be found for him Sir Stafford Cripps leader of the house announced there had been speculation previously as to whether Sir James would sit in the upper chamber or be raised to the

Defence Of Coastal Areas

Five Thousand Trained And Equipped Reserve Forces Ready

Ottawa.—More than 5,000 fully trained and equipped reserve army troops from Military District No. 3 (Kingston, Ont.) are to be prepared to be rushed to the defence of coastal or other areas in the Dominion should the need arise, Col. P. H. Gardiner of Kingston told a meeting of reserve unit officers here

He announced an area command headquarters for the organization of the new brigade group authorized by defence headquarters. Some 80 per cent. of the men in this group will be from Ottawa, he said.



Wing Commander R. H. Waterhouse is the new officer commanding at No. 3 Service Flying Training School, Brantford. One of the "originals" of the station, he had been posted there as squadron leader. He succeeds Group Captain B. F. Johnson, now in Canada as senior personnel staff officer Wing Commander Waterhouse is a member of the R.A.F. on loan to the R.C.A.F

Scorched-Earth Policy In Russia Balks Nazi Plan

Berne.—The devastating effect of Russia's scorched-earth policy, serious labor shortages, and the flight of thousands of potential workers before the German army were reported to have crippled Germany's attempts to gear the economy of occupied Russian areas to that of the reich.

The German press has complained of hardships and difficulties created by the Russian scorched-earth policy

The newspapers said almost the same areas more than 50 per cent. of the population departed with the Russian army, taking most of the horses, tractors and other implements, and that in Dnieprepetrovsk alone 200,000 out of a total population of 380,000 left the city.

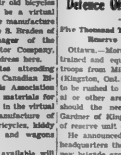
Those leaving usually are described by the Germans as being "taken away" by the Russians.

The Nazis also complained about the number "taken away" from the Baltic states. Germans have said more than 50,000 persons, all skilled workers or professional men such as engineers and doctors, left with the Russians, and that more than 100,000 left Estonia.

The Germans have issued a decree providing for compulsory service of doctors dentists druggists nurses and members of auxiliary medical branches in the Baltic states

In the Ukraine the Deutsche Ukraine Zeitung said the agricultural situation is difficult because the Russians killed or removed the best workers and because of a great shortage of equipment

In Bessarabia the labor shortage was said to be so great that even the Rumanian population has been conscripted for farm work A new decree ordered all persons between the ages of 12 and 60 to work on the farms from sunrise to sundown.



"YOU'VE EARNED A REST," RALSTON TELLS CANADIAN CORPS LEADER

Lieut.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton commander of the Canad . . . . Canada is to a "deserved rest" as Hon. J. L. Ralston, minister of defence, put it. Mr. Ralston is shown here talking with Gen. McNaughton at a press conference in Ottawa The Canadian corps commander, commanding on Canadian war materials, declared Canadian made tanks are the best made a . . . . . designed them are the best there are

Wants Britain To Inaugurate Air Offensive

London.—Viscount Trenchard, marshal of the Royal Air Force, told the house of lords he believed Britain should hit Germany hard from the air. That the great German army has to face the Russians attacking in front and our bombing forces attacking to the rear"

"Interrupt the life of their nation," he said. "The Royal Air Force is pining to do it. It is the sole weapon that can get to the heart of Germany."

He said that probably no more than half of the available Russian forces has been used against Germany. The other half, he said, has been engaged in mirelaying or attacking ships

Lord Trenchard also said of the fleet, dealing with the naval aspects of the war, asked the government to give information in secret if necessary on the full building program so the country can have confidence in our naval position and will know when Britain will have an opportunity to regain our position in the Pacific."

New German battleships he said, are bigger than Britain's and highly modern

People do not seem to realize that in no other way we can win the war in a day or a week is through the navy," he added. "We may need tanks and aircraft to win victory, but you can lose a war by not having enough ships

Lord Samuel, discussing the war cabinet changes, said he thought it would have been better for the Dominions and if Viscount Cranborne, new colonial secretary, had remained in the Dominions office and been included in the war cabinet

He expressed regret that the war cabinet is not directly represented in the house of lords

Service Is Extended

Brief Messages May Be Sent To Canadians In Japan

Ottawa.—Through the neutral channels of the International Red Cross messages, brief and personal in character, may be sent to Canadians in Japan, and in German-occupied Estonia, the post office department said

The service is already in existence for messages to Canadians in Germany, Austria, Italy, Czecho-Slovakia, Poland, Belgium, and Netherlands, Luxembourg, Norway, occupied France and the Channel Islands.

Irrespective of their destination, the messages are first addressed to the International Red Cross at Geneva, Switzerland, and from there they are directed often by tedious route to the country where the addressee is located.

All along the way, the message is scrutinized by censors of various nationalities, and the post office warned that persons seeking to get in touch with relatives or friends by this method should confine themselves to family news or inquiry as to the well-being of the addressee or his relatives or friends.

Nothing of a political, economic or military character is permitted," the regulations read

The Canadian wishing to make use of this Red Cross service must apply to his local postmaster for the special form for which a small fee is charged.

The fee for the form covers the cost of postage from Geneva to Canada after it has been in the hands of the addressee and he has written his reply on the back

Postal authorities also announced that all mail service to Malaya, which includes the federated and unfederated Malay States and to the Straits Settlements, "including Singapore," had been suspended

Lifeboat Was Crowded

IRMA TIES JUVENILES IN SATURDAY NIGHT GAME

Visitors Overcome 3-Goal Lead

The Irma hockey team overcame a first period 3-goal deficit to tie the hockey match at the arena against the Juveniles last last Saturday night and the game ended four all.

The local youngsters started out like world beaters and run up three goals in the opening period. Ted Reid started activities when he scored following a 4-way pass play after a face off near the Irma goal, the Easton brothers and Manjuk all assisting in the play. Lee Williams slapped in a long one from the blue line and Dune Easton tallied the third. In the second period Irma came to life and rapped in two goals and then Spencer scored a good goal on Williams' pass. Irma got their third goal and then tallied the only scorer of the third period to knot the score at 4-4. No overtime was played.

The locals had a decided edge on the play and had far more scoring chances, but seemed determined to try and drib them that through the Irma goalie who seldom had to move to block all shots.

ANOTHER MEASURING STICK

It is said that in certain quarters outside Canada, people have been led to believe that Canada's war effort is much less than it really is.

Just so long as we can carry on with a free conscience, we should be too busy to worry about what others are thinking of us. At the same time, the nation which in the last war gave the lives of 58,000 young men and repeated back many of thousands more who were sick and wounded, cannot relish the thought that any outsiders should consider Canada a slacker in the new world effort to preserve free dom.

Secrecy shrouds much of our effort. Only very occasionally does a responsible minister lift the curtain for a moment and reveal to the world the gigantic proportions of the material which flows steadily from Canadian shores to the various fields of battle. Only the Navy, the Army and the Air Force heads know the full story of the fine-rish activity among the members of Canada's armed forces. But there is no other part of this war effort which is as open book to the world—that is the story of the monetary totals of money being raised by the Canadian people through taxation and through loans not only to equip our own forces but those of our allies.

In this Second Victory Loan period, Canadians again have an opportunity to add, on their own behalf, to the sum total of the nation's effort. Only by overwhelmingly subscribing to such an extent that outsiders say, "That is what we'd expect of a country of only 11,000,000 people!"

News from the Wartime Prices and Trade Board

At regional offices of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, including Edmonton, all rationing, rentals and enforcement, as well as prices and supply, are now located in the William son building, Edmonton.

Warning to Merchants

A warning to merchants who with out question, fill requests for sugar in excess of the quantities allowed under regulations is given by Walter S. Campbell, Prices and Supply representative for Alberta under the W.P. and T. Board.

"As a result of information given to us, says Mr. Campbell, "we have sent out certain persons to make sugar purchases for the Board, in excess of the amounts allowed for their families. In many cases it was found that merchants filled these orders without any question whatever, and without taking the name of the purchaser. Retailers, as well as consumers, are bound by some-rationing regulations, and cannot observe them."

The regulations allow sugar at the rate of three-quarters of a pound per person—50 per more than the basic allowance in Great Britain—and supplies may be bought for two weeks in advance. A family of four may buy 12 pounds of sugar each two weeks and a family of six, 9 pounds.

Where the housewife wishes to make marmalade, she can obtain the extra proportionate amount of sugar required when buying the oranges, or on production of the purchase slip.

INTERESTING ITEM CLIPPED FROM THE V.S.A. "RADIO"

The following item appeared in the last issue of "The Radio" publi-shed by the Vermilion School of Agriculture Alumni:

THE V.S.A.

I wish we could find space for some of the comments our gang write regarding our old School. Its value seems to grow and grow as we find how much it has helped us in our various occupations. It is interesting to note that the Department of Education is giving generous credits to those who took the course and quite a number of boys had found that this extra training has given them an edge in the Air Force and other positions they were trying for. The School is still empty—though we see Brysons all striding down the thoroughfare of past years, and crowds of the future.

As most of you know, a committee drafted a resolution which was widely circulated and enthusiastically used. Newspapers and organizations have championed our School. We must continue to boost and when the right time comes, see that the V.S.A. is again in its right place—at the forefront of farm life and education.

We all owe our grateful thanks to Mr. Walter Perley, '26, of Calmar, who has been so active in keeping the school spirit alive and giving much valuable time and effort to the cause of our school and Association.

No other country in the world is better equipped than Canada to produce, with minimum manpower, the prodigious quantities of foodstuffs required by an Empire at war.

Stamped forward to do more work in less time and at less cost during the years of drouth and depression has taken on greater importance now that our war-time program is men and munitions has created a shortage of labor and materials.

The importance of farm equipment has been recognized by the highest material priority rating for civilian goods, and even with this preference—as great is the manufacturing program for war purposes—it may not be possible to meet the demand for farm equipment this year.

It will be necessary, therefore, to take extra good care of your present equipment. Check it over to see that it is in good working order. Replace damaged or worn-out parts now. Use your machines carefully, paying particular attention to frequent and thorough lubrication of working parts. If it is essential that you have a new machine, it is to your interest to place your order as early as possible.

Through its extensive network of branches and local dealers, the Massey-Harris organization is prepared and equipped to give that prompt, reliable service depended upon by generation after generation of Canadian farmers. Keep the pioneer spirit of progress modern methods. Your implements important—your local Massey-Harris dealer is ready to help you keep your equipment in good working order.

The Week in Legislative Circles . . . In Edmonton

FARMERS MUST ORGANIZE

EDMONTON — If farmers wish to obtain justice they must organize on trade union lines. This was decreed by A.E. Free, M.L.A., when he spoke in the budget debate in the Assembly Wednesday. Until farmers organize in this manner they will never get satisfactory returns for their labor, Mr. Fee declared, and since agriculture is in such a poor condition it was imperative that they organize for collective bargaining now.

SOLON E. LOW ADDRESSES INDEPENDENTS

Hon. Solon E. Low, provincial secretary, addressed an info mal meeting of independent members in that group's committee rooms this week. The topic was of importance to all; details of the tax transfer agreement under which the dominion assumes provincial income tax rights. "The meeting was entirely non-political and purely for information purposes," said Alfred Speakman, independent leader.

VACCINATE FOR SMALLPOX

Smallpox is a menace to the people of Alberta, according to Dr. A.M. Bowlby, Minister of Health, and parents ought to have their children vaccinated without delay. In the annual report just issued by the Health Department, the Deputy Minister said that there has been no wide outbreak of the disease in nine years, but that only 30 per cent of resident pupils of school children are vaccinated, and that the situation is dangerous should a serious type of smallpox break out. "The province is in a very serious position. A false sense of security has been created," said Dr. Bow.

TURKEY HILL TID-BITS

Our apologies once again for our failing to send in our Tid Bits.

Some time ago Mr and Mrs Hall entertained under the auspices of a party and dance at the school Tenbabies of cards were played with first prizes being won by Emery May — Mrs Ben and Mr James Ross. Consolation were won by Dorothy Gislason and Dick Chitty. Mrs Davis was assisted in serving lunch by Mrs Reynolds and Mrs. Lorne Jack Schaffner. Mr and Mr. Ross and Mr. Hall were also present.

Miss Mahaffy and the school children put on a Hallowe'en concert at school which was very well attended and enjoyed by all. This dance was a nice profit of $10.00 which is a worthy cause. Another dance is to be planned for March 17 but more definite later. Please keep the date in mind and especially for a good evening of pleasure.

In a letter received recently by Portland George Hall wishes to take this way of thanking the boys of the Leduc club for the box received by him from them. He appreciates the thought as well as the contents and says "many thanks to all". He is well and enjoying life in England but thinks little of the billeting arrangements.

At time of writing Jimmy Powell is in Edmonton.

The young people of the district attended the dances at Avondale on Thursday night and last notes were published.

We understand that Charlie Yanna is awaiting his call to the Air Force. He has probably left before this . . . Anyway, the very best of luck Charlie.

Elks' Carnival Held At Vermilion Arena

The Elks' ice carnival, so long looked forward to was held on Friday night last and drew a crowd estimated at 600 people. It was featured by the sparkling display of fancy skating by Jean Mooney and Hank Craig of Prince Albert, who gave two duo numbers and Mrs Mooney gave a fine solo exhibition. The crowd liked their acts and were loth to see them leave the ice.

Hockey Games

Something a little different this year were the two hockey games on the program. Pee-Wee players limited their stuff at the commencement, while the Juveniles and Mannville played a 2-all tie in two periods of hockey as a grand finale. Every effort though they had been in the rink only nearly three hours by the time the last hockey game started, about ninety per cent of the fans remained and were well rewarded for so doing, as the local youngsters had to fight an uphill battle against a two goal de-fict before pulling out with a tie

Costumes

The number of those in costumes was a distinct disappointment and left a big gap in the program. Possibly a liberal estimate of the costumes present would be thirty, and these were mostly in the small boy and girl classes. Consequently features which for the grand parade and judging of the various fancy dress classes lacked interest and dragged for the spectators. In an effort to build up this portion of the program prizes had been increased greatly over last year, but even this failed to help matters. It appears as if the general public just will not take the trouble to fit up a masquerade costume and some other feature will have to be found to take this spot in the program. For instance there was a tiny dollar prize in the novelty group class and this drew only one entry. Those in costume were good, but there just weren't enough of them.

Races

The races were good, most of them were close enough to keep the spectators on their toes, and created plenty of excitement. Miss Gilda Iwaniuk who hails from Dewberry was the big winner as she skooped a fast pair of skates to all competitors by winning three races in a row.

Sandwich Refreshment Booth

A first class refreshment booth was run by the Air Cadet Flight and the staggette club and appeared to be well patronized. The boys "made hay" by peddling real "red hots" to the decidedly chilly spectators

A SIMPLE CASE

That your government needs your money does not need to be argued here. War costs rise every day. So to a the survey of losing the war. It is quite plainly a case of pay, or be defeated — as simple as that. — Leo Ding, Evening Free Press.

Labor, whether hired or family is one of the larger items of expenditure in farming. This is particularly true if allowance be made for family labor, as it usually should have to be paid if all labor were hired

Cadets and Public School Benefit

As a result of the carnival whist, was sponsored by the Elks, the Flight of Air Cadets recently inaugurated here, and the public school band, the band will benefit equally. There is no doubt but that the carnival was well enjoyed and the net proceed, are being divided between the two

16 YEARS AGO TODAY — 1926

The Steve Loch Silo Co. plans on erecting houses for the settlers in the Vermilion district at the rate of from six to eight per day. Construction commences this week.

Councillors elected in the recent Grizzly Bear M.D. election were S. E. Purser, A. H. Green, and Chas. Friedrich.

Jack Morrison, Andy Black, Ed Long and Don Montgomery won the Gopsil Challenge at Islay hospital this week.

The school board has purchased the property formerly known as the west end school and will refit the two rooms into modern school rooms.

Thirty-two Years Ago Today

A staff of men under the provincial public works department are engaged in digging holes and erecting posts for another telephone line in town. The number of subscribers for local phone service now exceeds 50.

Jim Common, Harry Bowtell, M.L.A., Brincombe, W. H. Cameron and Jim Kelley were visitors in Edmonton.

Four rinks of Vermilion curlers skipped by Bill Pirkie, A. J. Dimmell, Bill Telford and C. E. Slater defeated Vegreville in a White cup competition. Total scores were 50 to 47 for the four games.

The department of education is studying means to overcome current and future shortages of teachers. It was reported this week there had been enrolled from 2100 to 2200 students in the normal schools of the province, and that of these 1400 were being sent out to work one-third terms and so keep teacherless schools operating. The question of reducing the normal term from $100 to $90 is also under consideration.

MISS MARY MIX BECOMES BRIDE OF AC. C. CASEY

At an evening ceremony Saturday at First Baptist church, Edmonton, Rev. Daniel Young performed the marriage of Miss Mary Mix, of this city, daughter of Mrs. Neil McCrimmon of Vermilion, and A. C. Cecil Vasey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Vasey of Edmonton.

Mr. George Mix gave his sister in marriage. She wore a white sheer floor-length frock, styled with cobweb lace bodice and sleeves, a full skirt and wrist-length sleeves. Her veil was held in place by a coronet of red roses and she carried a bouquet of the same flowers. A silver basket, her only ornament, and silver slippers completed the bridal ensemble.

Mrs. Percy Ball, as matron-of-honor, wore a turquoise blue gown of silk crepe, toe-length and full skirted. Her hat was an off-the-face model to match and she carried a spring bouquet.

Mr. Duncan Foster attended the bridegroom, and showing the guests their places were Mr. P.D. Ball and Mr. Martin Mix.

During the signing of the register Miss Evelyn Wetmore gave a solo.

Dinner was served after the ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ball for immediate relatives. More than 40 guests gathered afterward for a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vasey.

The bride's mother was smart in a two-tone frock of town and Winston blue. Her corsage was of tailspray.

Mrs. Vasey wore an air-arm blue jacket dress, with corsage of red carnations.

The newlyweds left for a wedding trip to Calgary and Lethbridge. For going away the bride wore a Mach land brown ensemble with turquoise trimming, and brown accessories. A smakrat coat made the outfit complete.

JUVENILES PLAY TIE GAME WITH MANNVILLE TEAM

The local Juvenile Bombers got something of a shock when they clashed with the Mannville Black Hawks for a two-period hockey game at the close of the carnival on Friday night last. Mannville had spared no pains in gathering together an unexpectedly good team and it wasn't long before our boys found themselves on the short end of a 3-1 score with one period gone.

The kids came to life in the second and turned on some real power plays, managing to tie the count just before the final bell went. It was a good fracas and brought out such fortwo stars as Danny White, Clarence Parr and Parks, who were well supported by the Staden twins and Kreiler in goal for the visitors. Clarence Parr, Staden and Parks counted for Mannville with Bus Knoll getting one and Spencer notching two for Vermilion.

Many Vermilion School Of Agriculture Students and Teachers at Olds

(Extract from V.S.A. Radio)

A very good percentage of our last year students decided to complete their course at the Olds school after Vermilion was closed down. In doing so they have brought considerable credit to Vermilion and to themselves in their achievements. We are told that our boys are taking a leading part in school activities. Stan Gould and Vic Love are particularly prominent in the O.S.A. life.

In the Christmas exams our boys won laurels in taking the three top standings in the second year class. The winners being Stan Gould, Vic Love and Billie Woodbridge. Among the girls, Gladys Taylor won honors in taking second place.

Margaret Brown, '36, is pantry cook; Myrtle Killiam is assistant housekeeper; Kas Noonan is one of the waitresses. Miss Young and Miss Parbey are on the staff. Mr. McCurdy is engineer, while Howard Armstrong and H. S. Patrick are on the farm staff.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our beloved father and husband

Thomas Fowler

—Who departed this life on March 6, 1940.

"In our hearts your memory lingers
Always tender, fond and true,
There is not a day, dear father,
That we do not think of you."

—Ever remembered by his wife and family.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of

Thomas Gibb

—who passed away March 3, 1938.

—Fondly remembered by Wife and Family.

Mrs. Jos. Wesner has several rugs of various sizes and patterns which she has decided to sell and which were on listed for sale heretofore. A one interested is asked to see these quickly.

Postmaster Don Taylor is in the east at present where he will attend various meetings of the Postmasters Association, incidentally, if Don's plans didn't slip any he was Toronto Maple Leafs' fan the Chicago Black Hawks 3-2 last Saturday night. He will visit Chicago before returning home.

Mrs. C. L. Whitby attended the annual meeting of the United Church W.M.S. held in Edmonton the forpart of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Craig and little son accompanied Mrs. Chas. Mooney and Hugh Craig to Vermilion from Battleford last Thursday.

Miss Cora Larsen was in Edmonton last Friday where she attended the Vermilion school of agriculture reunion and get-together. She reports a very enjoyable and largely attended gathering.

Mrs. Mary Marshall and little son Doug returned to Lloydminster after spending two weeks visiting with the former's mother, Mrs. H. Metlamsher.

Tom Montgomery left this week to an extended visit to his old home town of Allandord, Ontario. It will visit his brothers and sisters whose ages range from 66 to 81 years. Don't how long he will be away from the editorial but he claims that this is not a permanent move.

Bob Monks has left on his return trip to Victoria after spending three weeks vacation with relations and friends north of Vermilion. Bob is working on one of the steamship lines at the coast.

Jim Panter was noticed leaving town driving a new Case tractor a few days ago. The machine was purchased through the local Case agent W. H. Little.

Friends in Vermilion of Bill Morton will be interested to learn that he has recently been promoted to the rank of a Major in the Canadian Army. He is now stationed at the Dundurn camp at Red Deer as an instructor. Bill commenced his military career as a Bad Boy with the 19th Alberta Dragoons. Since the outbreak of hostilities he has been stationed at Camrose, Camp Borden and Red Deer, and has achieved rapid promotion. He spent a year in Vermilion just prior to the war, working in the real estate business of Chas. W. Robinson.

News bulletins from the south were not received until Thursday morning this week hence several had to be held over until next week's Standard.

Owing to the Memorial hall being otherwise occupied on Saturday, March 7th, the I.O.D.E. lending library will be open on the previous day, Friday, March 6th. This change from Saturday to Friday is for that week only.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank the electors of the new enlarged Municipal District of Minburn for the support accorded me at the polls on Saturday last.

Castle Scott.

Charlie Spencer was an Edmonton visitor over the week end.

Gordon Munro of the R.C.A.F. was a visitor to his home here Sunday, from Edmonton.

Mrs. Vernon H. Cooper and little daughter Joanne are spending a month visiting the latter's parents Mr. and Mrs. John Carvell at Blumenhof. Mrs. Cooper's twin sister Mrs. J. Ford of Oshawa City, Ont., is also visiting her parents and this will be their first meeting in sixteen years.

With Mr. J. R. Sweeney, deputy minister of agriculture, and Mrs. Sweeney as their special guests, the Vermilion Association of the Vermilion school of agriculture entertained at a dance Friday in the Masonic temple. Mrs. R. H. Gendler, junior president, and Mrs. Gendler also were present.

More than 200 former students and their guests gathered, many coming from Calgary, Vermilion, Olds, Cheadle, Lloydminster, Westlock and Wetaskiwin. Journal

MATRON'S SLIM SPRING ENSEMBLE

By Anne Adams

There's a definite feeling of spring in this new frock designed by Anne Adams, especially if you make the jacket to match! Plan Pattern 4994 in a soft silvery silk or rayon print and you can wear it now and all during the spring season. Every detail is fashion-right . . . the soft neckline with optional scallop, the row of darts above the waist to cinch in the fullness of the bodice . . . choice of short, three-quarter or long sleeves, and those two panels in the skirt will deceive the eye on the width of your hips! The swil-ut jacket with long or three-quarter sleeves, is a slimming feature too and may match or contrast with the dress. If you choose contrast, do accent the unusual collar by making it of the same fabric as the dress.

Pattern 4994 is available to women's sizes 36 38, 40, 42, 44 46, 48 and 50 Size 36 dress takes 4 yards 39 inch fabric.

Send twenty cents (20c) in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly Size, Name, Address and Style Number and send orders to the Anne Adams Pattern Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 176 McDermot Ave. E., Winnipeg, Man.

Makes Perfect Mount

How Horses Are Chosen For Use By Russian Cossacks

The Russian cavalry is coming in for much praise just now. A Pole who lived in Russia a long time writes "The Russian cavalry horses are small but tought and capable of great exertion on little food.

"When a Russian peasant has bred a colt he takes him for a two-hour gallop in winter and leaves him for a whole night in the cold to 'cool off.' If the horse dies of pneumonia then it was not worth keeping if it survives it makes a perfect mount for Russian Cossacks. This rather harsh treatment has existed since the 18th century Napoleon learned it to his cost." London Daily Sketch

SO YOU'RE GOING TO DO A PLAY?

Properties are an essential part of the plays and a detailed list should be made early in the rehearsals. The director and the players each have their responsibilities in this matter and should be prepared to assume them right from the beginning

Floor Plan

The director should draw a floor plan of the set to be used in the play book, and place the furnishings in their proper position. This will discourage any argument as to movements later, if it is all laid out at the beginning. The type of furniture, with regard to the period, color of drapes, rugs etc., brica-brac needed, should all be listed. Then the dressers on the stage, the lamp on the table, the ornament on the book case, the pillows on the couch, the curtains in the window, etc. should be noted by the director, when rehearsals are still in the early stages Then there is no possibility of having a difficulty about any of these arrangements to change the scripts would be a simple matter. For instance, I am doing a play in late March and the script says, Williams' pears. I checked with the grocer the other day and he assured me we would have difficulty in securing pears at that time of the year. Seeing that it is an English play we are being careful to use the name of a soft, juicy apple which we will substitute for the name Williams' pears at present in the script. In this same play we need a piano of the period of 1845. At a bag the other day I mentioned that I must go to the second hand dealers to see if one could be secured. One of the ladies walked to the phone, called a number chatted for a few minutes, and then turned to me and said, "I have the piano for you. Will you pay the draying charges?" So it goes. I went to see it this morning and found it to be exactly what I required, square and black, very yellowed with age and a little tinkling sound when it is played. If enough interest can be aroused in the preparation of the play, there will be a packed hall the night of production.

Personal Props

Another list to be prepared is that of personal props for the players. Some directors ask the players to do this themselves, but often it is not thoroughly done, hence remembering the old adage, "When you want a thing done, do it yourself." I, as director make a list, which might somewhat resemble this:

Act I
Bible (altar)
Curtains at window (open)
Candles (at altar) out.
Music (piano)
Dish with candy (piano)
Two addressed letters (desk)
Two wine glasses (shelf in cupboard, upper right).
Two lamps (out) on table, down right, and on desk.
White thread, scissors, in bowl, on shelf, upper right.
Off stage, bell to ring (left)
Off stage gloves for maid (right).
And this list is checked by director last thing before the curtain goes up.

Next week, we will finish the preparation plots lists, costume and advertising. Please include a self-addressed stamped envelope if writing for any information. — Mary Ellen Pepper, Box 826, Regina.

Reforestation Plan

British Columbia To Plant Ten Million Trees A Year To Start

A big reforestation plan for British Columbia, calling for the planting of 10 000 000 trees a year to replenish the province's giant forests now being logged off, will get into full swing this spring.

Lands Minister A. Wells Gray said that all areas for replanting have been cleared and prepared in advance and spring planting began on demuded areas Feb 15. Hundreds of men will be employed to clear the land of snags and brush and plant the Douglas fir, Western hemlock and red cedar trees.

Trees production has now been accelerated in two branch nurseries the minister said, and for the first time the 1942 nursery production will provide sufficient planting stock to carry out artificial reforestation on a large scale.

The minister emphasized the magnitude of the scheme by saying that last year, with the plan not yet in full swing, 96,000 snags were felled in 15,000 acres of forests and 39 miles of roads were constructed for motor truck travel so replanting crews could get into remote areas.

Making Trouble For Nazis

Children In Many Occupied Countries Are Defying Germans

The inter-Allied information centre in New York said its London office had received reports from western Europe indicating an increase of active resistance by children to German occupation.

A Hollander who recently escaped and made his way to London told the centre's agents in Britain that secret societies of child saboteurs are springing up in his country with the avowed purpose of making the lives of the occupation troops untenable.

The children, the Hollander said, place sugar and sand in gassing tanks of vehicles, slash tires, cut signal wires or railways and set innumerable booby traps.

In Belgium, the centre said, children are defying the Germans by placing flowers on the graves of Royal Air Force men shot down over their country.

There were reports that Vidkun Quisling, the Norwegian "prime minister," is considering impressing children between 10 and 18 years of age to do forced labor for the Germans, but considerable opposition to the proposal has developed. Norway, especially on the part of the young themselves.

DISCOVERING WHY PEOPLE DRINK BEVERAGE ALCOHOL

Golden text: Wine is a mocker . . . And whosoever erreth thereby is not wise. Proverbs 20:1.

Lesson: Genesis 43:34; Psalm 104: 14, 15; Proverbs 31:4-7; Ecclesiastes 9:1-3, 10, 11; Isaiah 56:12; 7, Corinthians 10:6, 7.

Devotional reading: Psalm 16:1-6.

Explanations and Comments

Our Reason for Drinking: to Make Merry, Genesis 4°3:34. Joseph was in power in Egypt, and famine was "sore in the land." Joseph's brothers had come down from Canaan to Egypt a second time to buy grain, and Joseph invited them to a feast. He himself ate at a table apart, the brothers by themselves, and the Egyptians by themselves (for Egyptians would not eat with Hebrews).

From his royal seat Joseph sent a dish of meat to each of his brothers as a mark of honor, but he showed his special love for Benjamin by sending him five times as much as to the others. And they drank and were merry with him. There was an abundance of grapes from which to make wine, the water was bad, and the ancient Hebrews drank wine about as freely as we drink tea or coffee.

Another Reason for Drinking: to Gladden the Heart, Psalm 104:15. In Psalm 104 is about God's care over all his works, as its heading states. God made it so that grain will grow, the cattle and the crops to grow which man raises from the earth. He made and for wine to make his heart glad.

A Third Reason for Drinking: to Forget One's Misery, Proverbs 31:6, 7. About 650 B.C. a Chinese author said:

"Thus to the tyrant Shen, our King, 'Alas, alas! Tis's king so great, Not Heaven, but spirits doth your face red.

That evil thou you imitate.
You do in all respects, I am sorry what is wrong—
Darkness to you the same as light;
Your noisy feasts and revels you delight.
The day through you is black as night."

Similarly, the mother of King Lemuel admonished him to avoid wine and strong drink, lest drinking justice due to the afflicted.

All Are Exempt, Isaiah 28:1, 4 Corinthians 10:6, 7. Paul had been telling the Corinthians about the Hebrews in the wilderness, with most of whom God was not well pleased for they were overthrown in the wilderness," and he adds that the Hebrews were an example to the Corinthians of what to avoid: they should not do the evil things to which the Hebrews had lusted for the Beshta of Egypt (Numbers 11).

Few Vacant Lockers In Winnipeg's Central Storage Plant

Individual refrigerated food lockers located in a large central storage plant are the latest scientific methods of food preservation for Winnipeg's modern housewives.

The new system is a new part of the regular service of a large cold storage plant, makes it possible for any family to have in their private locker any type of fresh vegetable or meat with the assurance they can have the article cut weeks or months later still fresh and

Since the inception of the idea, private family lockers have increased from 300 to 500 with few vacant. During the hunting season when hunters bring in wild ducks, prairie chickens and partridges these are handed over for fast freezing and storage. Cooking of meat also includes plucking and cleaning if desired.

High speed ammonia compressors service the entire plant and nine men until recently installed has a capacity of 27 tons of refrigeration daily. The plant is located in downtown Winnipeg.

LIFE OF THE TEETH

According to Dr. M. H. Zimmerman, instructor at the School of Dentistry, New York University, most people do not look after their teeth properly. This lack of proper care has the result that by the age of 35 most people average four teeth lost; by 50, the number has increased to seven, and by 60, there are about 10 gone.

Dr. Zimmerman explains that much of the fault lies with the cleaning department of teeth care. The simple rotary movement that children make when brushing their teeth is not enough. They are first teeth, but adults must actually scrub their teeth more vigorously. This includes daily massaging of the gums and cleaning of the crevices between the teeth.

A small brush, with a stiff bristle is best to use. Unless there is some special dental condition, any good advertised brand of toothpaste will do. There are several directions to clean thoroughly: front, inside top and bottom, outside top and bottom and the same for both left and right side teeth.

[illegible] ing the teeth after every meal, but twice a day is actually sufficient, if the job is done thoroughly.

When trouble develops with the bone structure of the teeth, investigation by your dentist will be found is not eating enough green vegetables and not drinking enough milk. Milk provides the vital bone-building calciums and phosphorus, so necessary to healthy teeth and bone structure.

Enabling Act

A Canadian bomber squadron has a huge kite outfitted as a mascot. It belongs to a pilot officer from Montreal. When he goes out on an attack another officer takes charge of the wolfhound, which watches the Wellington bomber, with his master in the cockpit, soaring up in the sky. When he returns it welcomes him with barks that can be heard above the racket of the engine —Canada's Weekly (London).

Identity Established

The Langster family, Chatham, Ont., has established the identity of the chief responsible for repeated thefts of bottles of milk from their back porch. The miscreant is a dog, which had no difficulty, apparently, in taking off with a bottle of milk in his teeth.

A ton of charcoal sells for about $30, while a ton of poor quality diamonds would bring about $75 million, yet both are composed entirely of the same element carbon

CHAPTER XI.

Tamar looked at the two men out of the corner of her eye. Ranny was positively glowering. He looked up with a warm glow. It was fun to see Ranny jealous! "Are you ready, Mr. Bande?" she asked softly sweetly

Ransome Todd opened the car door. Bitsi Bande himself followed his gentlemanly instincts. Tamar thought. Ranny closed the door carefully. "Nice to have had lunch with you, Tam, dear."

For Ran to have added the word, dear, to his parting, was more than Tam could bear. "Tell Uncle Ransome hello for me," she said. "Everybody's related in the South, but especially around Tahlaheka," she explained to Bande. "Good-by, Ranny, dear."

Christopher Bande laughed as they drove out of town. "Of course you two are no more related than are you and I, Miss Randolph. What's it all about? Is Todd a little jealous?"

"Just a little possessive," she amended. "No, we're not related, but you'd think he is at least my brother."

"Brother! There's no advantage in that kind of a tie-up. I think he'd rather be more than a brother."

Tamar drove in silence for a moment. "He wants to take care of me. Thinks I shouldn't go driving around in the country now that the Cricket Hill is being mined again."

"I think he's right, much as I hate to admit it, Miss Randolph. Do use discretion."

I shouldn't have mentioned it again, she thought. "Here's our turn," she said aloud, driving into the dusty road that led to the mine. "I'll try to borrow a horse for you and we'll go riding, if you really would like it."

"There's nothing better," Sande said. He stood by the car for a few minutes chatting after her the ride. She noticed the little freckles across the bridge of his nose, and saw the auburn glints in his hair that the sun brought out; his hands were strong and tanned.

Tamar was not a handsome man, she told herself. But there was a charm, the spirit of adventure or whatever it was, that made men like him conquer raging streams, drive tunnels through mountains, cross steel ribbons over forbidding waters.

Tamar turned her car about and retraced her own tire tracks in the new dust that had settled since morning. Once more her hands were trembling at the wheel. Her eyes burned from the direct light of the sun, and she took out the forgotten dark glasses and adjusted them. She drove slowly, while she fitted them over her straight little nose.

A few weeks ago she had been in despair. She knew her father was trying to get a new loan at the bank when Mickey Vorres told her that in the excitement of his gold strike and his offer to take up the option and lease the land.

Her father had jumped at it like a drowning man grasping at a rope. He coming, Tamar knew, that he was not a really keen business man or he would have made investigations before he gave the option.

The new contracts accomplished, after she had been declared by law to be half-owner of the Cricket Hill things at Shadwell began looking up. The mining equipment had been moved in, and already the tiny chimney of the little engine that pulled the carloads of ore out of the hill could be heard for miles in the silent summer mornings.

As soon as the amalgamation mill was completed and the process perfected for its production, the gold bars would be made right on the grounds. As they pulled up a hill, she could hear the sound of a [illegible] and it announced she would see that it carried another load of equipment to be used in the amalgamation mill.

The first week, Tahlaheknans had driven out from their little town to watch the operations, but it was blistering hot the first month after the Major's strike, and they had settled back into their unbroken lethargy.

The citizens impartially discussed the gold "diggins" along with the tale of how old man Peiter had come into town roaring drunk, and evidently to sell a nugget he had discovered in a cartwheel rut, as he went to fetch his pay that day.

Tamar drove over to one side of the road and let the truck pass. She waved to the driver's good mornof greeting.

A woman will get just as much respect as she deserves, she told herself as she remembered Christopher at learning that she was driving when I alone.

She turned into the drive at Shadrach's and Ransome's indignation well, and Aristotle loped across the lawn. "Like foh me to polish de cah, Mis Tamah?" He stood on one foot, methodically scratching the back of his leg with the other.

Tamar said: "You did a grand job the last time. I'll give you a quarter if you'll get this dust off. Be careful and don't make a single scratch on it!"

He opened the door. "Shall Ah drive it around to de back and hose it?"

Tamar stopped aghast. Where is my mind, she groaned. She got out and the car and stepped on the starter.

"Not unless I want to see it wrapped around the linden tree out there. Thanks, I'll take it around. And Aristotle, hear me, you're not to touch that car's wheel unless I give you permission!"

"Yas'm. Dat's what Ah's thinkin'."

With Aristotle busily throwing a stream of water on the car, Tamar walked up the flagstone walk to the side door. She crossed the butler's pantry, known as the "butt'ry," and heard Phoebe singing "Roll, Jordan, Roll."

"Wants t' go t' heabin when Ah die

"T' see Sweet Johdon- is dat you Honey?" Her black smile-wreathed face appeared in the open door. Good times are back at Shadwell, good times like ol' Mammy used to tell about, Phoebe thought. "Time yo' got back! Yo' Mammy been listenin' for yo' step on de staf's. She's got de chase boo'd and waitin'."

Canadian Air Force Operation Units Doing Good Job

Straightforward, straight-shooting Canadian youths make up the personnel of Royal Canadian Air Force operation units stationed along Canada's eastern seaboard and any attempt to describe them as "glamorpainter is laughed off.

They say their job of keeping free from enemy activity the Dominion's door to Europe and adjacent waters is mostly "routine" and often "dull," and that is the way they want it told

That holds true from Wing-Cmdr. H. N Carscallen of Hamilton, Ont head of one of the units who says "no performers certain spotted operations" and let it go at that down to the newest recruits

You could compare Pit.-Lt. L. L. (Slim) Jones of Saskatoon favorably with any fighting Spitfire pilot "The glamor cops of the R.A.F." Only 24, he has the appearance of a senior in college But he sports the striped ribbons of the distinguished Flying Cross and Air Force Cross

He left home in 1937, working his way to England on a cattle boat with the idea of getting a ground job Ginger's job. He did, but a short time later was flying bombers with the Royal Air Force coastal command

More or less as an after-thought he said he had been given the A F C [illegible] "It was just part of the job," he explained

Lt. P. D MacLaggan of Fredericton said his biggest "thrill was landing on a town's reservoir, causing great excitement in the township [illegible] a short while ago one of his crew mates was killed in a crash

It's all in a day's work," he believes, and most officers he's come up by Cpl. A K North of St Catharines Ont

"Thanks, Phoebe." Tamar crossed the kitchen with its old fireplace at one end, and its new electric range at the other. The old, struggling for recognition against new modern replacements

"Heah's dat gingabread Ah made for you. Wif de last oh de New Orleans molasses Lap up dat sauce, min' me, now! Yo' lookin' peakid lahk yo' been busyin' yo'self so much lately."

"Thanks, Phoebe. It does look good."

Tamar shrugged her shoulders in the blue sweater, and slid into a chair at the kitchen table. I'll bet Christopher Bande would like the gingerbread she was thinking. He with his old Boston-brown-bread-and-baked-beans background. Christopher was not of the elite circle of Boston he wouldn't be out doing [illegible] like hands, and liking it herself. Or was that all story-book fiction"

Phoebe sat and shelled peas into a yellow bowl, her eyes divided between Tamar and the bouncing [illegible] outside. Chatterer in hand- stopped in mid-air Her mouth opened boldly, but no words emerged.

"She looks jes lak Ah feels when dat good-fob-nothin' Billie comes foolin' around me an' Ah c'ms home an he steals fum Stafford". Phoebe thought. She clamped her lips together and continued her pea-shelling.

Phoebe stood as I watched Tamar as she left the room. That wasn't like Tamar. Tamar always had a smile and a word for everybody, and especially for Phoebe's thoughtfulness

"Sumpin' on yo' min'. Chile, ah knows de look!" Phoebe said to herself

Tamar went upstairs and chatted with the workmen. They had their [illegible] after five o'clear had taken a quick shower and changed into [illegible] pajamas Tamar had to keep [illegible] to admire the kitchen men. If she didn't she found it straying back to the events of the morning.

Her father came up and joined them in the late afternoon He left the car [illegible] over the large [illegible] the window facing the [illegible]

The telephone jangled and [illegible] Tamar answered it. It was Ransome Todd. "Hello, Tam, dear," he greeted her. "Just wondered how you were getting along."

"Why, fine," he vaguely wondered how she dinned the truth before he had spoken it

Tamar went methodically to the nearest guest room It was always kept in readiness, but she inspected it carefully and found the bed [illegible] seemed spread She looked up to find her father in the doorway

"How badly is he injured" she heard her voice ask

Fat Girl Left Alone at Parties

"Ruthie's fat but awfully nice." the hostess said But the men preferred the slender girls somehow

If you're a "Ruthie" you needn't accept such a fate. You can lose two pounds a week choosing foods that cut you down to 1200 calories a day. Instead of the high calorie[illegible] maybe 4,000—you get now.

It's easy! When you know your calories you can have just as much fun and a stewed chicken has only 100 calories a serving (creamed chicken has 425) and a baked white potato (100) is as filling as a swee potato (200).

Desserts, too, may be on your reducing menu as long as they're low-calory. Just such an apple snow, 125 a cup—but NOT chocolate blanc mange, 451!

By being smart about your food you can win a smart figure, even everyone admires yours!

To know your calories, see our 32-page booklet. It has a calory chart, 42 delicious low-calory menus, recipes for slimming desserts. Includes a 3-day liquid diet to start your reducing.

BRIDE-ELECT FETED AT UNION SCHOOL

Union school was the scene of a very pretty and pleasant event when the friends and neighbors of Miss Beulah Hinds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Graham Hinds, gathered in honor of her approaching marriage and gave her a shower of lovely and useful gifts.

The school was prettily decorated with pink and white streamers and white bells.

Master Raymond Cox and Miss Colleen Hinds dressed as bride and groom entered the room with the basket laden with presents and in a few suitable remarks Miss Marion Mcleod presented them to the bride-elect.

A pleasant evening of games and music was spent after which everyone left for home wishing her all kinds of future happiness.

HEAVY AGENDA AT REGULAR COUNCIL MEETING

The regular meeting of the council of the town of Vermilion was held on March 2nd with Mayor Morrison and Crs. Spencer, Bushell, Stewart, Scott, Porter and Kaiser present.

Correspondence: Vermilion Centre Rd. 1186 re water near high school; Vermilion Centre S.D. re estimates for 1942. Drs. Knoll, Stephens and Bradford re M.H.O.; Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities re membership; National Institute for Blind re donation; F. G. Lowes re pump re sale; City of Edmonton re Phillips; Vermil. Taxpayers Assoc. re parks, lighting etc; Unemployment Insurance Comm. re town employment; Dept. of Mun. Affairs re pension scheme; Dept. of Att.-Gen. re same; University Hosp. re Whitt; A. Bradshaw, Edmonton Wire) re gas installation; H. G. Alexander, Vegreville re gas installation; E. Fry re position of town foreman; Tom Smith re position of town foreman; Vermil. Taxpayers Assoc. re dangerous pool of water.

The minutes of the last regular and intervening meetings were read and on motion of Bushell-Spencer adopted as read.

The Sec'y was instructed to reply to the R.D. that the Master of Roads is having our immediate attention.

Letter from Vermilion Lodge requisition from $20,000 to $26,500 was discussed and given approval. Cr. Kaiser gave a report on a meeting held on Feb. 24 attended by the finance committees of the town and school.

Letter from the medical men of Vermilion objecting to the fee of $100 per annum for M.H.O. was tabled until the matter can be studied further.

It was decided to table letter from Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities re membership.

Letter of F. Leverseige re using his car for business of the E.L. & P. was handed to Cr. Bushell, Chairman of Utilities for investigation, and report at next meeting.

Letter from Province of Edmonton was filed as the Mayor intimated that an appeal had been filed.

The Sec'y was instructed to advise Taxpayers' Assn. that matter of parks, lighting etc. were having our consideration.

Letter from the Unemployment Insurance Comm. Dept. of Mun. Affairs, and Dep. Attorney-General in connection with the assessment of town employees were read and ordered filed as the plan at present would appear to conflict with Town and Village Act.

The Council endorsed actions of the Sec'y in disputing claim of University hospital for payment of a bill contracted by J. T. White, and left the matter in his hands.

Wires from A. Bradshaw and H.G. Alexander re approval of gas installation were considered and ordered filed.

E. Fry and Tom Smith applied for position of town foreman, but it was decided to carry on at present, and advertise the position if and when a permanent foreman is appointed. Cr. Spencer, Chairman Public Works was asked to study the situation.

Vermil. Taxpayers Assoc. called the attention to a pool of water near the high school and called out dangers. This matter is being attended to.

Following motions carried:
Scott—Kaiser: That Council that we grant $10 to Nat. Institute for Blind.

Scott—Porter: That B. E. Bury be engaged to define bus stops over the Prov. Government Telephone System is changing its pole line.

Bushell—Scott: That council sit as a court of revision for the appeals re assessment on March 16 at 8.30 p.m.

Bushell — Spencer: That Prince Public Service be notified by letter re regulations in connection with installing stand-by oil tank.

Spencer-Bushell: That salary of Gordon Williams be increased by $5 per month owing to extra duties not contained in original agreement. The above increase to be retroactive to date of commencement of duties.

Scott—Porter: That zoning committee appointed Jan. 12, 1942 be revised by deleting name of M. Hill, (retired) and Cr. Scott be appointed in his place.

Scott—Kaiser: Resolved that we make requisition to the Can. Bank of Commerce for a loan of $38,000 for the current year.

Stewart—Porter. That a cheque in the amount of $750 be paid to the C. Bank of Commerce, Edmonton, on account of W.B. Bennett and Co. contract; the balance of $500 to be paid upon presentation of clearances from all laborers and suppliers of materials in connection with contract.

For: Stewart, Bushell, Spencer, Porter, Scott; Against, Kaiser.

By-law No. 242 was given two readings. This is an amended business tax by-law which will put final reading when approved by Dept. of Mun. Affairs.

Porter—Spencer: That By-law No. 242 having been read three times be now passed, signed by Mayor and the Sec'y and engrossed by laster.

This By-law changes name from Utilities Sinking Fund to Utilities Reserve Fund.

By-law No. 6-42 was given two readings. This By-law provides for allowing Tax Consolidations and will get final readings as soon as approved by the Minister of Mun. Affairs.

Kaiser—Scott: That accounts as listed be passed and ordered paid.

Stewart—Bushell: That E. L. & P. accounts be passed and ordered paid.

The Sec'y reported a rate from one Board Co. of $7.20 per $1000 for fire insurance at the Power plant and was instructed to try to get other companies to come in line.

The leave of absence granted W.A. Taylor as engineer at the plant was extended indefinitely until Mr. Taylor can feel definitely what his prospects of returning are.

Subject to confirmation by council.

VERMILION TO STAGE A WAR-TIME FAIR

Britain's need for the products of Western farms will be the feature of Vermilion 1942 Fair, conducted at the express request of the Dominion government's representative at the recent Western Canada Fairs Convention in Winnipeg, every effort will be made to foster competitions which will reflect benefit to the war effort.

An outstanding aspect of this particular fair will be the Children's classes which are to be brought to the front in every possible way; boys and girls throughout the entire district are urged to obtain a copy of the special prize list which will shortly be prepared for their information. Prizes will be offered for livestock, garden products, school work and handicrafts and an entire building will be reserved for display of the work submitted.

Dominion and Provincial government officials are co-operating to make the 1942 fair of real benefit to the children of the district and to the province as a whole.

Plans in formation at the present time include unusually interesting and practical agricultural demonstrations and it is expected that farm boys and girls will secure information which will be of permanent value.

Mr. J. M. Munnich, representing the Dominion government recently addressed the Western Canada Fairs delegates and urged that the fairs be carried on; he outlined proposals for more practical work and stated that the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa was already preparing exhibits for use on the Western circuit. While expressing regret at the inability of the government to make grants under present circumstances, Mr. Munnich urged that local committees work in close harmony with his department in order that requirements of the Motion Picture Bureau of the agricultural products might be better understood and appreciated.

Every Business Required To Have Trade Board License

Every business or firm buying goods for re-sale and every business engaged in supplying services relative to a price ceiling, is required by law to have a Trade Board license. Except farmers, fishermen, gardeners, livestock and poultry producers (unless buying for resale), employees of a person or firm and operators of private boarding houses, it is necessary for all firms and businesses that have not already done so, to obtain licenses, says a bulletin of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. Application forms, to be obtained free at all post offices, must be filled in and mailed free to the Board at Ottawa. A license indentification card will be issued to each applicant, who will also be placed on the mailing list to receive copies of Board bulletins affecting his business. No fee is charged.

CHANGE IN MANAGERS AT VERMILION CREAMERY

Jim Banks Transferred to Foam Lake, Sask.; Succeeded Here By Roy Sheppard

Jas. C. Banks, manager of the local plant of Burns Creameries for the past six years, and employed there for the past nine years, left on Tuesday morning for the larger creamery at Foam Lake, Sask., to which point he has been transferred.

Mr. Banks' successor here is Mr. Roy Sheppard, a creamery man of long experience, who comes at the present time from Edmonton, but who has managed creameries at such towns as Stettler and Camrose.

LOCAL STUDY GROUP STUDIES REVISION OF HIGH SCHOOL COURSES

A meeting of teachers and citizens forming a study group to consider and suggest revisions of present Course of Study for high school, was arranged by the Vermilion Sub-Local A.T.A., for Friday March 6th at the high school. Mr. Gordon Hay gave a comprehensive outline of the present curriculum, and compared its organization and subject matter with that of the H.S. program prior to 1937. Mr. Hay then led the discussion which followed. He cited as two suggestions for proposed revisions being submitted for consideration by the Revision committee, interest being keen, and the time for discussion so short that a second meeting of the Study Group has been arranged for Monday, March 16th.

GRAVEL CRUSHER HARD AT WORK

The government gravel crusher and crew have been operating a mile and a half north-east of Vermilion for the past two weeks and are building up a new mountain of crushed rock which will be used for surfacing the highway between Lloydminster and Edmonton. The gravel crushing crew first worked east of town where 15000 cubic yards of crushed rock now awaits use in the spring. It is stored beside the new highway near Bordadale.

Work is carried on for 16 of the 24 hours and it is quite a sight to see the myriad of lights flashing around and about the scene of activity at night.

BISHOP OF EDMONTON VISITOR TO VERMILION

Administers Rite of Confirmation to Large Class at St. Saviour's

The Bishop of Edmonton, the Right Reverend W. F. Barfoot, M.A., D.D., was a welcome visitor to St. Saviour's church on March 8th. At the morning service he administered the Apostolic Rite of Confirmation to a class of twenty, in the presence of a capacity congregation who were deeply moved by the impressive ceremony and by the words of fatherly counsel he addressed to the Candidates, stressing the direct simple terms the need for definite faith and loyalty in practice by all who are members of the Christian Church. His address was informal talk to the newly confirmed immediately following the service.

The Bishop attended a meeting of the men's Study Group, a membership of which consists of men of different faiths, and took part in the discussion, giving evidence of his keen interest and wide knowledge of the problems confronting citizens of the British Empire in these times of severe trial.

At the evening service the Bishop took his Scripture Lessons and preached, also taking the concluding prayers and pronounced the Benediction. His sincerity and his direct simple manner of expressing the relevance of the Christian faith to conscientious living carried conviction to all those present and we are grateful for his visit and the inspiration of his ministry here.

Activity in the Oil Field

The Vermilion Consolidated No. 1 possibly better known as the old Discovery well on Battleview 2, is nearing the completion of two years steady pumping. It is a remarkable fact that it has never been necessary even to repair the pumping equipment in spite of its long service. To date this well has produced 16,282 barrels of oil.

—V—

Leaving the month of January Vermilion (tele) had five wells producing a total of 2961 barrels of heavy crude. The wells listed as producers during January were Acme 2, Confidence, Princeville 2, Vermilion 2 and Vermilion Con 2 (Battleview). Added to these producers are Richardson 1 and Acme 3

Western 1 and 2 will not have to have pumping units this spring in terms this spring.

In the meantime Mix has commenced drilling on the farm of Alberta Southern well and will complete it to production early this few days.

Tax Rate Lowered Two Mills

A special meeting of the town council was held on Friday evening March 6th with Mayor Morrison and councillors Stewart, Spencer, Porter, Scott and Kaiser present.

After consideration of estimates it was moved by Kaiser and seconded by Scott that the estimates for 1942 as amended be adopted at 43 mills and that a by-law be prepared accordingly. This was carried.

The 1941 mill rate was 45 mills.

The council also approved the taxing of a bowling alley license to Geo. Grasby

BISHOP OF EDMONTON VISITOR TO VERMILION

Administers Rite of Confirmation to Large Class at St. Saviour's

The Bishop of Edmonton, the Right Reverend W. F. Barfoot, M.A., D.D., was a welcome visitor to St. Saviour's church on March 8th. At the morning service he administered the Apostolic Rite of Confirmation to a class of twenty, in the presence of a capacity congregation who were deeply moved by the impressive ceremony and by the words of fatherly counsel he addressed to the Candidates, stressing the direct simple terms the need for definite faith and loyalty in practice by all who are members of the Christian Church. His address was informal talk to the newly confirmed immediately following the service.

The Bishop attended a meeting of the men's Study Group, a membership of which consists of men of different faiths, and took part in the discussion, giving evidence of his keen interest and wide knowledge of the problems confronting citizens of the British Empire in these times of severe trial.

At the evening service the Bishop took his Scripture Lessons and preached, also taking the concluding prayers and pronounced the Benediction. His sincerity and his direct simple manner of expressing the relevance of the Christian faith to conscientious living carried conviction to all those present and we are grateful for his visit and the inspiration of his ministry here.

VICTORY LOAN CAMPAIGN SUCCESSFUL

Islay "Leads the Poll"

Despite the disappointment of the earlier days of the Victory Loan Campaign the Vermilion District has once again been entirely successful in response to the appeal of the Minister of Finance for war funds

With a quota of $50,000, divided as follows: Manville $12,500, Islay $8,000; Derwent $6,000 and Vermilion $23,500, each of the sub units went "over the top" in good style the Islay district under the captaincy of J. T. Fyfe and with Miss Muriel Stone, Messrs. Lambert, Shaw and Anderson as committee created something of a record by disposing of bonds to the amount of more than $16,000 or within slightly more than 32 per cent of their quota

Manville came through as usual and turned in nearly that amount while the Derwent team successfully surpassed their allotment, the Vermilion sub unit contributed over $10,000 and the area as a whole better than $50,000.

Citizens of the district, in addition to assisting in the war effort, have bought security for the future to a substantial total and will have no cause for regret.

While a great many of our people could not be reached personally owing to difficult road conditions, it is felt that there will be another loan before the close of the year and all are urged to make sure that they are in a position to subscribe to the next loan.

Jim Brandner and the committee wish to extend to all workers and to those who have resulted in such a successful drive.

ALASKA HIGHWAY A BOON TO ALBERTA

Recent announcement that the U.S. Railway to Alaska will be built through Alberta is regarded as one of major importance to this province, in the opinion of officials of the Alberta Motor Association.

At its last annual meeting, the A.M.A. passed a resolution favoring construction of this highway as speedily as possible and urged the full cooperation of the governments concerned.

The agreement between the U. S. and Canadian governments provide for this highway being returned to Canadian ownership after the war.

Undoubtedly Alberta will share important tourist benefits from this highway and it is essential that this province build its highway system up to a standard that will prove attractive to tourists.

Ultimately, thousands of U.S. tourists will travel through Alberta on their way northward and this province will gain in importance as one of the major tourist areas of the dominion.

Air Brakes For Bombers

Are Necessary To Keep Diving Speed Within Reasonable Limits

There is no danger in great diving speed, be it as high as 600 miles an hour; the danger comes in the subsequent recovery and the large centrifugal forces developed in a curved flight path. When the diving speed is very high, the radius of the recovery curve must also be high; otherwise the centrifugal forces would be enormous. The airplane might be built to withstand such forces, but the pilot would suffer a blackout of his brain. Flaps or air brakes may therefore be used to keep the diving speed within reasonable limits. Without flaps, diving speed is high, the radius of recovery is large, the height from which the bomb must be released is considerable and the aim is uncertain. With wing flaps is set up a combination of circumstances which is much more pleasing to the bomber—lower diving speed, small radius of recovery, release of the bomb fairly close to the ground, and greater certainty of hitting the target.—Scientific American.

Food For The Workers

Times Have Changed

Customers Are Not Entertained Any More By Barbarian Barber

It has been remarked, says the Portland Oregonian, by our more serious observers, that the barber shop tradition has been altered in the conversational habit of the barber. There are few barbers nowadays who entertain their customers with a diversity of views on politics, pugilism, religion and baseball.

The loquacity of the barber was a justified jest in those times when the country editors called him "the tonsorial artist." To-day these paeans of confidence and counsel must be invited by the customer ere they are offered.

If one sounds the barber one discovers that he is as well informed as ever, but mostly he doesn't choose to talk about it.

New Kind Of Gun Powder

Safe Powder In Which No Nitroglycerin Is Used—Has been announced

Development of a new, safer powder—in which no nitroglycerin is used—has been announced by the Universal Powder Company plant near Olympia, Wash.

C. F. Ramsay, vice-president and general sales manager, said the firm has no military orders. Contractors who approach the company use its entire production.

A secret mixing formula is responsible for the development, Ramsay said, adding:

"A machine gun bullet can be fired into this powder and it won't explode. It is more powerful and much safer than nitroglycerin. Only a detonator can explode it."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

THE MIGHTY WORKS OF JESUS

Golden text: What manner of man is this, that even the winds and the sea obey him? Matthew 8:27.

Lesson: Matthew 8:23-34; Mark 4: 35-41; Luke 8:26-56.

Devotional reading: Psalm 18:1-6.

Explanations and Comments

Even the Winds and the Sea Obey Him. "If after a day of labor and excitement, the busy, incessant demands upon him, evening came and found him spent and weary, Jesus needed but to say, 'Let us go unto the other side,' and the disciples did all the rest; they brought the boat to the nearest landing-place, and he stepped aboard and was their Passenger. Some of them were skilled fishermen as well as faithful friends, and he could trust himself to their hands. If the wind served, they would run up the sail; if not, they rowed, taking turns with the oars; and it pleased them well if, wearied with his work, and soothed by the motion of the boat and the breeze upon the lake, he fell asleep, to awake only when the boat's keel grated upon the shingle at the place where he would be." (W. W. Bixby).

Once, as all the Synoptic Gospels record the event, so violent a storm arose that the waves were filling the boat (Mark 4:37) in which Jesus and his disciples were crossing the lake of Galilee, and it so terrified the disciples that they came and awoke Jesus, crying to him, "Save, Lord; we perish," or as Mark (4:38) reports their cry, "Teacher, carest thou not that we perish?"

"Why are ye fearful?" asked Jesus, and then he answered his own question when he called them "Ye of little faith." After Jesus rebuked the wind and the sea and there was a great calm, the disciples marveled.

Even the Demons Obeyed Him. Matthew 8:28-34. Here we have a picture of two more possessed demoniacs (one man, Mark 5:2; Luke 8: 27) who met Jesus as he landed on the opposite shore, in the country of the Gadarenes. They dwelt in the tombs and were so fierce that no one dared pass that way. The demons cried out, calling Jesus the Son of God, and inquiring, "What have we to do with thee? Art thou come hither to torment us before the time?" The fact that stands out here is the implicit belief of all contemporaries in the existence of evil spirits that were in the habit of taking possession of human beings and also of animals, and the possibility of such events here described.

SELECTED RECIPES

SAVOURY STEAK

1½ lb round steak, 1" thick
1 tablespoon dry mustard
1 tablespoon Benson's or Canada Corn Starch
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons Manola
1 cup sliced onion
1 carrot, medium size, diced
1½ cups canned tomatoes
1 tablespoon Crown Brand Corn Syrup

Temperature: 325 degrees F.
Time: 1½ hours.

Method: Nick edge of steak so that it will not curl in the pan. Mix together the mustard, corn starch, salt and pepper. Press well into both sides of steak. Heat Manola in roasting pan; sear both sides of steak. Cover with onion, carrot, tomatoes and corn syrup. Bake, covered, for 1½ hours. Serves four to six.

GRAHAM MUFFINS

½ cup Crown Brand Corn Syrup
1 egg, unbeaten
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons Manola
½ cup seedless raisins, chopped
1 cup graham flour
1 cup sour milk
1 cup all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking soda

Temperature: 375 degrees F.
Time: 20 minutes.

Method: Measure corn syrup into mixing bowl; add unbeaten egg, salt and Manola. Heat well, and add graham flour and sour milk. Blend well; add sifted flour and soda. Mix; let stand five minutes. Pour into muffin tins oiled with Manola. Bake in moderate oven. Makes 1 dozen large, or 18 medium sized muffins.

BOARD OF TRADE HOLDS REGULAR WEEKLY MEETING

The regular meeting of the board of trade was held on Monday at noon with the president Gerald Stephens in the chair. There were thirteen members present.

Considerable discussion arose over possible use of the college which now appears imminent. A resolution from the Canton board of trade asking containment of bus and truck lines was tabled as being within the jurisdiction of federal authorities to handle when they deem necessary.

Note was taken of the departure of Mr. Jim Banks, manager of the Borden creamery here for the past six years, and regret expressed at his removal while wishing him the best of success in his new location at Prince Lake, Sask. Mr. Banks has been a valuable member of the Board of Trade executive, and a good citizen of the town.

Mr. Whitney Wilson reported that pipe for oil wells was now beginning to come through without much difficulty Mr Hill also reported that priorities had been lifted on considerable material for use of oil well drilling. These are projects upon which the board or trade has been working in order to aid the development of the Vermilion oil field as much as possible.

The next meeting of the Board will be held on Monday at noon in the Elks hall. All business men, farmers and visitors are cordially invited to attend and to branch any matter of municipal, provincial or national importance.

EASTERN WATCH BIG CROW

Members of the Eastern Watch Big Crow society met at the home of Mrs. R. P. Hind, Hindville, on March 4th, and spent a busy time quilting, finishing a quilt during the course of the afternoon. Another quilt was received from the Tolland W.P.W.A. and altogether a very nice parcel of work was brought in for shipment to the Vermilion Branch. Grateful thanks are due to the Tolland W.P.W.A. for their fine generosity in sending the quilt, which is the second received from this organization. Ways and means of raising funds were discussed, but nothing definite was decided upon. A number of old woollens were received, and more would be welcomed by the members, before shipping them off to be made into blankets. Lunches at the meetings have been simplified owing to wartime conditions.

The next meeting will take place at the home of Mrs. E.G. Grey of Woodvale on April 8th when a good attendance is requested.

A. M. A. WILL ISSUE 100,000 NEW STRIP MAPS

More than 100,000 strip maps will be issued shortly by the Alberta Motor Association. These maps have been improved from year to year and now are welcomed by motorists who look forward to the distribution.

The maps contain a great deal of accurate information dealing with highway routes garages and service stations and showing the official appointments of the A.M.A. hotels, lake resorts and other data eagerly sought by the motor visitor.

The maps are available at all official appointments of the A.M.A. in addition to being made available at the branches of the organization at Edmonton, Calgary and Lethbridge.

Prior to the maps being prepared, they are carefully revised by officials to make certain that they are up to date and accurate in every particular. They are checked with the latest information on highways as issued by the public works department of the province.

Consequently, the Alberta strip map is one of the most dependable of the kind issued in the country and serves a useful purpose in making it easier for the motor tourist who may be a stranger here to follow the highways he desires to travel and to see the scenic spots he has set his heart on.

The Week in Legislative Circles . . . In Edmonton

CHANGE IN ALBERTA HIGH SCHOOL CURRICULUM

A plan for the revision of Alberta's high school curriculum has been started by the department of education, and first changes are expected early this year in Grade 10. One feature is the establishment of curriculums study groups, composed of parents, teachers and administration representatives, to study high school curricula. Some have been already organized and are at work. It is Dr. Donald S. Cameron, K.C., Provincial secretary minister, that this method is the more democratic way of altering curriculums. Local A.T.A. units will aid in setting up the groups.

NO HOME LARGER N.D.'s THIS YEAR

Organization plans for the larger municipal districts call for not more than seven erections during the current year, it was stated in the Legislature by Hon. Lorne Maynard. Mr. A. Speakman, Independent leader, asked for an assurance as to the scope of present plans. Mr. Maynard said there was no detailed plan for the whole province, that improvement Districts are not being included, that several M.D.'s have indicated desire to be included in larger units and that natural boundaries are followed where feasible.

SATISFACTION OVER ALASKA HIGHWAY EXPRESSED

Satisfaction was expressed in the government circles Thursday when it became that Prime Minister King had announced in the Commons that the agreement had been reached relative to building an Alaska Highway through Edmonton. Thus was vivid ended the claims of many places northerners and the promotional efforts of government to have the international road routed as that best favored by nature for a defense highway. U.S. troops were in Alberta on Thursday, and more are expected immediately to commence construction of what may well prove the most important road in the north.

Very soft weather spotted the play to two neighboring hospitals last week, at Islay and Lloydminster. The local rink skipped by Wes Waldenberger at Lloyd won their first five games but were then overtaken by the Mi lea and attached fourth in the Challenge. Just what happened at Islay where four of our rinks were participating is not known as results have not yet come to hand.

Curlers here were particularly interested to learn that George Law, only son of Mr. and Mrs. John Law, formerly of Vermilion and now of Vancouver, was a member of the championship B. C. rink which competed in the MacDonald Brier competition in Montreal last week. The B.C. rink was the only quartet to defeat the cup-winning Manitoba four and also stood second at the end of the week's play.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear Son and Brother

George Little

—he passed away March 15, 19—.

Deep in our hearts is the picture
Of our loved one laid to rest.
In memory's frame we shall keep it
Because he was one of the best.
The world may change for you too in your
And friends from day to day,
But never will the one we love
From memory pass away."

—Fondly remembered by Mum and Dad, Frances and Eddie.

Harry L. Dunn returned home last week end from two months spent in eastern Canada where he visited at Walkerville, Windsor and also Buffalo, Harry was also at Niagara Falls and viewed the beautiful and fantastic shapes of the frozen waters. An interesting item regarding a former Vermilionite is that H. N. McDevitt, formerly on the Bank of Commerce staff here has recently been transferred from Toronto to Port of Spain, Trinidad.

B. H. Corey, field inspector for the Alberta Petroleum and Natural Gas Conservation Board, who has been stationed here for the past six months is moving back to Calgary. Mr. and Mrs. Corey plan on leaving in a short time on their return trip and are now offering for sale considerable quantity of excellent household and office furniture for sale.

Principal James J. Part of the public school was in Edmonton last Saturday as a member of the A.T.A. and School Trustees delegation which waited on the Department of Education regarding larger school grants. Other delegates from this division were trustee John Leighton and teachers Robert Elliott of Streamstown, Jean Aalberg, Elsiewyn, and James Smith, Kitscoty.

Peter McCallum, old-timer of Vermilion district, now of Calgary, spent a week here on business in connection with his farm. He is looking hale at nearly and old friends were very pleased to greet him again.

Miss Patsy Payne, commercial student in Edmonton, was a visitor to her home here on Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. A. K. Butler had as her guest last Saturday and Sunday, her mother Mrs. Hoadley, from Edmonton.

Miss Margaret Richardson from Edmonton spent last Saturday and Sunday at her home in town.

Chief of Police Fred Barnes has suffered a severe heart attack last week and is at present confined to the hospital. It is not expected that he will be able to return to duty to a month at least. B. Robinson is the acting chief at present.

In the casualty list of the R.A.F. appeared the following: "Littlewood, M., No. Vermilion, Alta., previously missing, now presumed killed in action. Father lives on Vancouver Island."

Mrs. A. Cameron who has spent the winter in Edmonton with her daughter Mrs. King and family, returned to Vermilion last week. She plans on visiting my sister at Streamstown in the near future.

The women of the Union district have made another generous contribution towards the "Bundles for Britain" appeal, sending in to the local I.O.D.E. last week the following:

1 boy's shirt, 2 children's dresses, 8 children's slips, 10 prs. children's bloomers, 1 pr. panties, 1 baby jacket, 2 baby gowns, 2 baby blankets, 1 large quilt and 1 wool baby jacket.

The donations are most gratefully appreciated.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Banks, little daughter Joan and baby son Morris, left by car on Tuesday morning for their new home at Pouce Lake, Sask. to which point Jim has been transferred as manager of the Burns Creamery. Jimmy has been here for nine years while Mrs. Banks is a Vermilion girl, being born and raised in the district. Their hosts of friends regretted to see them go and numerous farewell parties were held during the week previous to their departure. Among other things Jim was an active member of the Elks, and on the Board of Trade executive. He has been the mainstay of the Vermilion ball club for the past several years and still has an indin rubber arm with a good many innings of baseball left in it. Their hosts of friends wish this family the best of success and happiness in their new home.

CUMMINGS FLASHES

The Red Cross auxiliary held their meeting last week at the home of Mrs. W. J. Macnab. Their bundle basket is getting quite full and will soon be sent away. The meeting was held with a good turn out as members present and thought they had to travel with old clothes as the roads are blocked here and there. A letter was read from Mrs. Cudmore, a former member who is now in Alberta describing her home and conditions there and the prairies very interesting. A dainty tea was served by the hostess.

Mr. Boyd May from Calgary spent a few days recently at the parental home.

Jim Irving and Alex Arthur made a flying business trip to Edmonton last week.

Mrs. Dudley Hastle and children spent a nice afternoon recently visiting at the Wilson home.

Mrs. Wilson spent an afternoon at the home of Mrs. Edna McIntosh. The latter is looking well and is planning on returning to the city in a few days for additional treatment.

Pipes, pillows are in bloom on the Wilson farm.

J. McInnes on postmaster is now home from the hospital after undergoing several weeks there. He is reported as feeling much better.

Isabel Cleland is still a patient in the hospital.

The rural mailman seems to be having his troubles getting through on the roads as the roads have been in quite a number of bottles taken from the south country attended the hockey game in town on Saturday night and report a fine contest.

A letter from I.AC. Wilson states that he wishes he could get shaken on and have a tough old game on the arena rink in Vermilion. Who-ee he says everything is green and there is no shaking. Cabbages are ready to eat, spuds are growing fast and all kinds of garden stuff sprouting where the mountains of Moutine sweep down to the sea.

Water absorbs heat much more rapidly than air and will cool milk 3 times faster. Since the milk must give up its heat to the surrounding water, the larger the volume of water is, the lower the temperature the more quickly the milk will be cooled.

The Canadian Wool Growers' suggests that Canadian farms and ranches should carry a million more sheep which would establish an additional wool supply of 7 to 8 million pounds each twelve months.

THE C.G.I.T. MOVEMENT

The Canadian Girl in Training Movement had its origin in the days of the first World War, when it was felt that there was a definite need for a program such as ours. Outstanding men and women of the churches and the Y. W. C. A. met together monthly for two years in order to give their best thought and expert care to the formation of this organization. In 1915 the first National Advisory Committee was set up, which became known as the National Girls' Work Board in 1920. This Board still promotes the work across Canada. It has representatives of the following churches: Anglican, Baptist United, Presbyterian, Church of Christ, Disciples; also Y.W.C.A. and Student Christian Movement.

In 1911 there were in the Dominion 1000 girls in C.G.I.T. groups. All national groups are represented. B.C. alone had 10 Indian groups, 2 Chinese groups and 2 Japanese groups.

In 1940 the first Canadian Girl in Training Camp was held, with 100 girls. In Alberta we now have over 600 girls in camps each year, and in the Dominion 3500 girls attending the camps.

Leadership training is given at Normal schools, summer camps, by correspondence at conferences and rallies.

The Canadian Girl in Training Movement is a co-operative movement, in that several dominions sponsor its program. It is a Youth movement, in that its members are girls in their teens. It is a movement with an international viewpoint, which is shown by their study and support of missionaries. It is a movement dedicated to the girl to her home, school, the church and community, and the Christian attitude of the girl in these relationships.

We should be particularly proud of our C.G.I.T. in Alberta, which ranks very high in comparison with that of other provinces. This is probably largely due to the work of our Provincial Girls' Work Secretary, Miss Lillian Carscadden who has held this position with increasing efficiency for the last six years.

Miss Carscadden has promised to visit Vermilion in the near future. We hope you will watch this paper for further particulars, and read with interest further items about C.G.I.T. work which will appear from time to time.

RED CROSS NEWS

The following is a letter received by the local branch from headquarters in Edmonton.

Mrs. C. L. Whitby,
Secy. Red Cross Branch,
Vermilion, Alberta.
Dear Mrs. Whitby:

Enclosed find official receipts No. 2262 and 2264 for the splendid lot of work sent in. We were delighted to get the six turtle-neck sweaters, and of course, all the rest of the knitting and sewing and the large quilts.

The call for quilts and clothing for Britain grows greater each day, and we are delighted here when we get one large cases off two or three times a week. Shipments like yours help us to speed up our shipments to Britain.

With kind regards to your members and again thanking you.

Sincerely yours,
(Signed) K. Allison Director.

Chairman work committee.

Many thanks to Mrs. Peary and Mrs. James Barr for their donations of wool for the quilts.

There is still urgent need for knitting and sewing to be done, more so than ever, and a call to the work rooms in the Memorial hall will provide you with materials to work with.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE COMMISSION ISSUES IMPORTANT DATA

With benefits now payable under the Unemployment Insurance Act, all employers within the scope of the Act should understand the procedure necessary to apply for benefit. Mr. Wm. Carnill, Manager of the Local Employment and Claims office has furnished the standard with a statement of the necessary details.

Any person whose becomes unemployed he must get his Unemployment insurance book from his employer, take it to the nearest Employment and Claims office in the town he must keep as long as his book remains in the local office.

When he is at the office he must complete the required forms to make application for benefit.

The first nine days of unemployment for which he makes the claim are waiting days, and no benefit is payable for these days. It is not necessary that these days be run consecutively. If no work is found for him and he continues to be unemployed and satisfies the conditions, a benefit cheque is to be issued weekly.

The above procedure applies to all workers in the ninety districts to be expected to call personally at a full-time or part time local office.

For those who do not live within reasonable distance of a local office of the Unemployment Insurance Commission, other arrangements have been made. In a number of towns and villages a special part time representative will be sent out by the Unemployment Insurance Commission to deal with any benefit claims which may arise. All claimants for benefit will register with him, and he in turn will refer claims to the nearest local office for examination.

Persons living in districts where no office has been established and to which an itinerant representative is not sent will file claim for benefit by mail. Such claims will be sent to some who becomes unemployed should mail his insurance book to the nearest Employment and Claims office, state that he is unemployed and that he desires to register for benefit. A receipt for his insurance book and the necessary forms which every week who applies for benefit must fill out will be sent to him. These forms must be completed and returned to the local office.

If the claimant is qualified to receive benefit, he must continue to prove his unemployment by mail each week. After the nine waiting days have been completed, if he has no work and the other conditions are satisfied, his benefit will be paid weekly by a cheque mailed to him.

An advertisement is an invitation.

ISLAND HILL

Tuesday 17th March is St. Patrick's Day and that is the date of the big dance at Island Hill hall. All the old citizens will be there and a good many more; to crown all, the Victory orchestra will dispense snappy music. See advert in this issue.

Everyone had an enjoyable time at the whist drive Friday in the school. The winners were P. McDaniel, H. McDaniel, J. McDaniel, Bridge McDaniel, Mrs. Wm. Telford, Eva Williamson. Pt. four members of the same family to win prizes must be a record for a whist drive.

Benny Plaque who is home on leave from his regiment was given a stag party and received a right royal welcome.

It is the intention to hold another whist drive and dance at the school about Easter time. Full particulars will be advertised in the standard.

VERMILION CO-OP. SHAREHOLDERS ANNUAL MEETING

Discuss Credit Union

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Vermilion Co-op held on March 12th was well attended, with by business men and those interested in the co-operative movement.

The financial statement revealed a steady growth and improvement in many ways. A patronage dividend of 2 per cent was declared. Adequate reserves were also set up to provide for educational activities during the year.

Much credit is due to the board of directors and for a very satisfactory handling of the Association's properties and business. Keeping credit in the community from which it is derived is a commendable undertaking and to this end they have spared no effort or sacrifice.

A desire to learn of the possibility of a Credit Union being established, to provide small loans to farmers through the periods of the year when income is smallest, was expressed and a committee to look into the matter was appointed in the persons of E. P. Mullan, Geo. Currey, D. Cameron and C. A. Dixon. Farmers interested should get in touch with any of these men, co-operate, it can be done.

GAMING HOUSE CHARGE AT DEWBERRY DISMISSED

Last week a charge against Graham Gardiner of Hazeldine for keeping a gaming house was tried at Dewberry before Magistrate Adam.

His Worship dismissed the charge at the conclusion of the case for the Crown upon the application of Counsel for Mr. Gardiner on the ground that the Crown had not established a prima facie case, there being no evidence or gaming.

Constable Galbraith of the R.C.M.P. acted for the prosecution and F. J. Richardson for the defence.

ARMY TRAIN IN VERMILION APRIL 11th

Canada's "Army Train" which has been touring Eastern Canada since early in February, is now heading west, and will make its first showing in Alberta on April 11th, according to an announcement made today at Military District No. 13 headquarters.

During its first showing in Alberta, the train will be on display at nine different points in Northern and Central Alberta. Then, after a tour of the Coast, it will be seen at several other points in the Southern part of the province.

According to the itinerary for Alberta, which is only partially completed, the train will be at Vermilion on April 11th, Vegreville and Camrose on April 12th, Edmonton April 13th and 14th, Wetaskiwin and Red Deer on April 15th, Drumheller and Drumheller on April 16th.

The train is due to arrive in Calgary at 8 p.m. on April 17th, and probably will be on display in that city all the following day.

This "Army Train" is touring Canada to show the public the kind of equipment has been provided for Canada's Army. The train is divided into a number of units, the first being administrative and quarters for personnel, and the back half for display of Canada's various weapons of war.

The onset time that the train may be viewed by the public at the various points where it will be on display will be announced in the course of the next few days.

PHYSICAL TRAINING CLASS TO PRESENT VARIETY SHOW

The boys' and girls' classes are presenting a physical training variety show in the Memorial hall, Vermilion on the Masonic Hall. RICH OIL SAND STRUCK IN ALBERTA SOUTHERN

Widens Proven Area of Field

Rich oil sands were struck at 1747 feet in the Alberta Southern well drilled on L.S.D. 15 of 20-52-2, by the Jasper Drilling Company on which Wm. G. de Koch of Los Angeles is the managing director. The well was drilled under the supervision of D. Barlow with an ultra modern rotary drilling rig recently brought in from California.

Besides bringing in a new producer the Alberta Southern is the most northerly well in the field and widens the proven area by a quarter of a mile. The fact that the oil sands were struck at the regular level for two feet in spite of the lower elevation is taken as a very good sign and indicates to geologists and oil men the continuance of the oil strata and officials are now confident of obtaining good producers even further east.

The well is owned by the Albert Members this fall and a new rotary rig procured and after the days will be drilled into production.

The Alberta Southern marks the second completion in the Vermilion oil field already this year. The first was the Flobell No. 1 drilled by the Flobell Company, which is also a rich oil bearing sands and is now standing cemented, awaiting the installation of pumping equipment.

Shipments of conditional oil are being made daily from the Vermilion Consolidated Conditioning plant. At present there are nine wells equipped.

SO YOU'RE GOING TO DO A PLAY?

Requests from public school teachers in various parts of the province asking for a list of plays suitable for public school grades made me compile the following list which I do hope will help you solve your problems:

Public School Plays

Among the collection at hand I think you would enjoy for young children is Rose Fyleman's volume, "Nine New Plays for Children.", which costs $1.00. (Little Theatre series). It includes:

The Whisker—One scene, which takes place in front of a magicians' cave. Four characters, a princess, a magician, a rabbit and a goblin.

The Mouse—One scene, which takes place in a large room with a door and two windows. Three characters the mouse, the man's wife and one of their children.

Cinderella, "At Home"—Two scenes, in Cinderella's house after she has been married to the prince.

The Sampled—One scene, cast 12 girls, 1 boy and a voice.

Three Naughty Imps—Two scenes, with a cast of three naughty imps, school mistress, squire, policeman and several school children.

Bumpus Dance—One scene, cast includes a pirate and two fairies.

The Toy—One scene, cast includes a witch, her husband, their three daughters, a princess, a queen, a king and a wise woman.

Sleeping Beauty—Three scenes, cast, narrator, chorus, seven fairies, a bad fairy, prince, princess, dame, cook, queen, courtiers.

Fairies Christmas Causes to Suppose—One scene, cast includes Christmas, his secretary, a governess and three children.

The above may be secured in a "Translation of English edition" for 25c.

"My Little Play Book" contains many of the well known stories; the Three Bears, Goldilocks, three Billy Goats Gruff, Snow White and Rose Red, the Gingerbread Boy, etc., and costs 20 cents. "Pattern Plays", costing 35 cents seems new to turn stories from narrative form into play form. Methods in book every teacher interested in craftsmanship of plays should have.

Public and High School Plays

Eight modern plays, edited by John Hampden in a cloth bound volume, cost 45 cents. It includes:

The Prisoner and the Wood Cutter—One act, 9 boys, 2 girls and extras.

Robin Hood—One act, 14 boys and 3 girls, extras.

Queen of Chadonville—One act, 8 girls and 1 boy, good festival play

Michael—One act, 4 boys, 3 girls and 2 children, good festival play.

Midnight Chase (act I)—1 boy and 3 girls, good play.

Cathedral Play—Two boys, 1 girl, extras, scene is laid in breakfast room of Henry VIII's palace.

Three Plays Literature, 35 cents contains two I like: "Deizy's Hall" (from Little Men), and the "Friendly Writer" (from David Copperfield), in a cloth bound volume costing 35c.

The above volumes can be secured from Thomas Nelson and Sons, Ltd., 91 Wellington St. West, Toronto, Ont.

Non-royalty plays published by French:

Sauce for the Goslings—Three men and four girls, comedy, good enjoyment for all. (Costs 30 cents).

St. George and the Dragon—A play in two scenes, five characters—king, chancellor, squire, the king's daughter, St. George and the Dragon. (Costs 30 cents).

Royalty plays from French:

Pearls—One act, 2 boys and 2 girls—a boy and his two sisters are keeping house while mother is away. Stranger makes things look bad. The lad gets into trouble and the Stranger makes things look bad. Good interest throughout. Costs 40c.

Electricity-Perfectly Home—Three acts, and a prologue (royalty $10).

First Dress Suit—Two boys, 2 girls one son of the house gets a new dress suit for a wedding but when the bridegroom's suit gets lost many interesting things happen Royalty $5.

There are other plays available which might suit your needs and I shall be glad to assist you if you write me enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Farm Land Values

A Slight Increase Is Shown For Most Provinces

Higher farm land, values for Canada as a whole, and for most provinces, are indicated in the 1941 estimates, says an official report. The average value of occupied farm lands in Canada increased from $34 to $36 per acre. Increases occurred in the three Maritime Provinces, Quebec, Manitoba, and British Columbia. There was no change in Alberta and a decline of $1 per acre was reported from both Ontario and Saskatchewan. The Dominion average, while higher than 1940, is still much below the values reported prior to 1929 when values ranged from $37 to $40 per acre.

JESUS THE MESSIAH FORETELLS HIS DEATH

Golden text: For whosoever would save his life shall lose it; and whosoever shall lose his life for my sake and the gospel's shall save it. Mark 8:35.

Explanations and Comments

Jesus is the Messiah. Mark 8:27-30. To escape the crowds and have an undisturbed opportunity to teach his disciples Jesus went northward with them into the neighborhood of Caesarea Philippi. On the way he turned to them and asked, "Who do men say that I am?" Before asking this question he had spent some time in prayer, according to Luke's account, which would indicate how vitally important he regarded this conversation with them.

John the Baptist, Elijah, one of the prophets. These were the men whom the people called Jesus, the disciples told him. The remarkable thing about what men thought of Jesus is that they found no one living great enough to whom they could compare Him.

But who say ye that I am?" Jesus next questioned. It was not the opinion of the crowd, but that of his little group of followers that mattered supremely to Jesus, for he had failed with them, he had utterly failed in his mission. He was depending upon them to carry on his work. But he had not failed, for Peter, as spokesman for the group, answered with conviction, "Thou art the Christ." Christ is a translation of a Greek word and "Messiah" is a translation of a Hebrew word, both of which mean "The Anointed." He knew things were anointed with oil when attaining their kingship, and the Spiritual King was thought of as The Anointed. Jesus was anointed of God, until The Anointed, the Christ, Messiah, Jesus Christ was finally designated.

The Messiah Must Be Put to Death. Mark 8:31-33. In the mind of Jesus the Messiahship involved the cross, and he began at once to impart this thought to his disciples. The Son of Man must suffer many things. "It was a necessity arising out of the very essence of things, something bound up in the warp and woof of his work. . . . The message of the message of the Kingdom, but he knew that the Kingdom would never come by talking about it or describing it only. The Kingdom meant the cross. . . . He knew that God's purpose was only when men will die for them, and that his death for humanity's sins on Saturday morning. The last minute was made up handsomely; we left our job finished at 2:45 instead of at 3:00 p.m.

Health League of Canada presents TOPICS of VITAL INTEREST

HEALTH IN INDUSTRY

The maintenance of health in industry, particularly war industry, was the theme of a three-day postgraduate medical course, given at the University of Toronto, recently.

The course, which was open to medical graduates, particularly industrial physicians, was the first of its kind ever given here. It followed by nearly three months a special course for industrial nurses given by the School of Nursing.

Dr. J. G. Cunningham, director of the Division of Industrial Hygiene, Ontario Department of Health, said the course was of special concern because it included the major causes of lost time in industry.

Among the major causes are respiratory, gastro-intestinal, heart and ailments affecting the blood vessels and skin diseases. According to Dr. Cunningham, the course for nurses was particularly successful. There are five full-time industrial physicians in Ontario and 45 who are associated directly with industries on a retainer-part-time basis. There are also many physicians who are on call by firms for service in accident treatment.

Lecture in the course dealt with supervision in industry, with accidental wounds, injuries and burns and the control and management of sickness among industrial workers.

Father Of Quints Refused Extra Gas Under Rationing Plan

Olive Dionne, father of the quintuplets, is going to get just the same amount of gasoline as any other drive-for-pleasure motorist when rationing becomes effective April 1.

Mr. Dionne applied for inclusion in category "C" under rationing regulations on the ground that, as quints' guardian, he should be classed as a government official.

But, it was learned at Ottawa, that he is regarded as being in class "A"—entitled from 300 to 380 gallons of gasoline a year.

CHAPTER XIII.

"Can you tell me, please," a deep voice came from the big four-posted bed, "is this Heaven?" Christopher Slende made a movement as though to sit up, but reconsidering, sank back to the white pillow.

"Feeling better?" Tamar asked softly. "Sorry to disappoint you, sir, but you're still in Georgia."

Bande touched the bandage about his head, being careful not to disturb the position of his right shoulder. "There was a loud crashing noise, and that's all I remember."

"It's just as well. That was late yesterday afternoon."

Bande had slept fitfully during the night, moaning in his half-conscious state. Knox Randolph had spent most of the night sitting in the chair which she now occupied.

"I'm putting you to a lot of trouble. Am I going to live?" he grinned. "Now don't keep anything from me!"

Tamar smiled. "You'll be back at the Cricket Hill before this time next week. Dr. Forrester said. Lie still, now. Can you eat a little breakfast?"

"Well—no. I hardly think so. But never mind, I'll make up for it later." His eyes followed her across the room. It was a pretty place, but a little feminine for the occupancy of a rough engineer. Like himself, he thought with humor.

The next three days he was kept to his bed by Dr. Forrester. Tamar tried to help.

Their conversation touched up many subjects and Tamar felt that she had known him for years. The fourth day Aristotle and Phoebe helped him downstairs to the little breakfast room where Tamar found him when she came down.

She saw the newspaper propped up in front of the host's chair and thinking it was her father, she said: "You're late this morning, aren't you?"

The paper moved. "Better late than never!"

Tamar laughed. "How did you ever get down those stairs by yourself?"

"Phoebe and her offspring helped me. Aristotle pulled and Phoebe pushed. We made it just before I collapsed." He grinned at her disarmingly. "As a matter of fact, I feel disgustingly healthy this morning. I'm afraid I'll have to go back to work."

"It's too bad!" She touched the little silver bell at her place.

Phoebe came in with a tray of frosted orange juice in tall glasses. Tamar met across the small table from Christopher, her eyes studying his face. The swelling had receded from his brow, but he's right arm was still in its sling.

Christopher saw the tiny bluveined tracery about her temples, noticed with approval the richness of her white hands. Her black hair lay in small curls about her forehead. Amusing the child was a new role.

And she was in white again. Another white linen dress. For the first time in his life, Christopher Bande had been conscious of a girl's wearing apparel.

Tamar wore blue occasionally, but she was loveliest in white. A row of blue wooden buttons marched down the front of the dress, and her eyes beneath the black lashes reflected their blueness.

The small hands moved quickly with the well covered tray, and poured amber-colored coffee, served golden toast and perfectly poached eggs.

"Phoebe is a marvel," Bande sighed. "My stay here has completely disrupted my work. I don't want to leave. Do I have to?"

Tamar's lashes swept down over eyes that must have leaped. "Do you have to go?" she repeated in that one question, this time for his answer. "Why not stay on at Shadwell?"

"I'd never get anything done at Cricket Hill! Much as I'd like to live here the rest——" he broke off, quickly. "What's the news from the mine, Tamar?"

"Every thing is running smoothly. Of course, the major is anxious for you to get back, but I should say that the work is progressing."

After breakfast they strolled out to the terrace. Here a big green-striped umbrella shaded white chairs and a small round table. Tamar had handed him a cane in the hallway, and he leaned against her arm.

Tamar helped him into the chair and picked up a magazine. "This has all of the latest world news condenced into quick reading. This is the first copy . . . It came while you were in bed. I'll run up and get your Mother comfortable, and be back down in a minute."

As Tamar turned up the stairs, the telephone rang. "I'll take it up here," she called down to Phoebe who stirred in the kitchen hall.

"Tam?" Ransome Todd's voice said. "May I come out tonight?"

Tonight, Ranny?"

"Yes, tonight, Tamar," he repeated. "May I?"

"Of course. Come right on from your office. And we'll have dinner."

"I can't quite make it that early, but I'll be over for dinner."

Tamar walked slowly into her room. She sat down on the edge of her bed. Ranny would choose today! There were so few evenings left when she could have Christopher Bande all to herself. Even now he was loath to divide his time with her and the duty has been to keep until the convalescence was at a standard of efficiency as possible.

The outpost hospital work accomplished during 1941 covers the more than 1,000 miles of railway and 391 infants in hospital, requiring a total of 16,379 hospital days.

Additional nursing care was given in 382 homes by nursing visits to district homes by the outpost staff. These visits were in answer to calls or, to follow up service after discharge from active care in the outpost.

The large number of 1,627 persons were given care at the outposts for accidents and slight illnesses not requiring hospital care, it is stated.

The three classes of cases comprise a total of 4,050 persons of the total outpost hospital communities who received nursing service at the hands of Red Cross nurses in Saskatchewan, during 1941, for which department of Red Cross activity was designed and has been continued through its twenty-second year.

Women Prove Efficient

Have Been Trained For Productive Machine Work in T.C.A.

Showing the same industry and efficiency around the intricate mechanics of an airplane motor as they do around the kitchens of their own homes, women are becoming more and more in evidence at the Trans-Canada Air Lines maintenance and overhaul base in Winnipeg, Hillis.

A report of the personnel reveals that one-seventh of the employees at T.C.A. are women.

To-day women, as well as men, are needed to keep planes flying efficiently and safely. Trans-Canada machine work in T.C.A. marks a radical development, but it has proved worthwhile," declared James E. Bain, superintendent of T.C.A. maintenance and overhaul department.

Women are especially more efficient, said Mr. Bain, than men, the superintendent added. Plant authorities state that not only have the women proved more correct, efficiency and industry with them, but have raised the morale of the shop considerably.

If you were to make a tour of inspection in the plant you'd find Mrs May MacMaster, an employee of 11 months, adjusting and calibrating a revolution indicator. Her work with delicate instruments is exacting. So may be served with those in the home. declares she'll never go back to office work.

An instrument tester is Miss Maxine Dixon, who is fascinated with the delicacy and precision of the instrument with which she works. A large proportion of the instruments are overhauled in this plant for the R.C.A.F. Miss Dixon works with extreme patience, aware that pilots depend upon her for keeping their instruments right for safe flying. If you think heavy and dirty work fans girls you're wrong. Take the accessory shop for instance. It's dirty and hot, but no lovelier, but to Miss Mary Gosiak, who is an ignition harness expert, it is fascinating.

Axis Intrigues

Aid And At Stirring Up Revolt In India, It Is Said

Gen Chiang Kai-Shek's recent visit to Khyber Pass and his address to tribesmen across the border, in which men may help to offset Axis intrigues aimed at stirring up revolt at India's back door, well-informed observers said.

Private advices reaching London indicate that since the outbreak of war Axis agents have been working among frontier tribes supplying them with light war equipment, including field wireless stations and machine guns.

More ominous however have been reports of activities by Japanese agents who were said to be urging revolt among discontented politicians in Kabul with promises that Afghanistan would receive portion of British Baluchistan and an outlet to the Arabian Sea.

Good Advice

In the grammar lesson one day the teacher wrote a word on the black board.

"I didn't have to look at the word side."

Then she turned round to her pupils and said to them: "Behind how should I correct that?"

"Get a boy friend," he told her

Gardening

From practically any way you look at it gardening should prove an excellent investment this year. It is a patriotic to grow more vegetables now, to put idle land into use, and it is good, sound common sense, too. Vegetables have been getting more and more expensive in recent weeks, and the authorities hold out no hope of bargains this summer or fall.

Weather was only partly to blame for the scarcity that fall. The main reason was the increased demand. In the last years Canada has added something like a million workers to its army of war employed, and still more workers are going to be added in the months ahead. All these people are going to need extra food per fresh vegetables will play a big part in filling their requirements.

And gardening offers another advantage. It is one of the best health tonics the doctor could order. A few hours out among growing flowers and vegetables will work wonders in restoring sanity and balance during these trying times of war.

No Shortages

The war has interfered with a lot of things in Canada, and while gardening is no exception the interference will be hardly noticed by the average person who orders flowers and vegetable seed this spring. Before the war a considerable amount of the garden seed used in Canada was imported from Denmark, Holland and Hungary. This is completely cut off, of course, as well as practically all shipments from Great Britain. To meet the usual demand however supplies have been developed in Canada and also a wider range has been imported from the United States as the result of the report in serious shortages There is likely to be a little change in price but they suggest ordering early, especially where a wide range of varieties and types are wanted.

Biggest Crops

Vegetables are the biggest yielding crop one can grow. Not only can most lines be grown close together but will some things like lettuce and corn, for instance, a second crop can be harvested in a single season.

Small vegetables like lettuce, spinach, carrots and radish require rows only 12 inches to 18 inches apart. Beets, beans and peas need from 18 to 20 inches between, while potatoes, corn and staked tomatoes must have a couple of feet to 30 inches. Space may be saved with these by sowing quick-maturing such as lettuce and spinach are sided in between. The bigger things will not need the room when at first and by the time they do, the early crops will be out of the way. Where one is using a power garden tractor or a wheel hoe, of course greater space between the rows will be needed.

Religious truth, touch what points of it you will has always to do with the being and government of God, and is of course, illimitable in its reach.—Hitchcock

A Proper Diet

Nutritionist Tells How To Live To Be 130 Years Old

You can live to be 130 years old, if you eat right according to Dr Percy Rivers, retired dean of the School of University home economics department. The 130-year life span is said to be enjoyed with happiness health by the aged if the proper diet is followed.

Nutrition is the key to a life in which one enjoys the maturity of experience with youthful vigor," she declared.

Dr Rose's dietary chart to long-lasts and good health includes consumption of a pint of milk daily two vegetables one green and the other yellow and raw; two fruits, one a citrus and plenty of whole grain bread Vitamin concentrates were recommended for persons who lead sedentary lives

Plenty Of Pepper

There seems to be plenty of pepper for two or three years' consumption. Canada is said to have sufficient for at least a year and United States buyers bought heavily from the Dutch East Indies prior to the war, sufficient, it is said to last them about three years. But on account of extra storage and other costs some spice prices have been advancing across the line.

Grin And Bear It

With many of the country's dentists in military service, toothaches have become widespread in Germany The Koelnische Zeitung of Cologne reported "there simply are not enough dentists." The paper urged the people to be patient, to consult a dentist only "when the pain becomes too great or chewing is impaired seriously."

JUVENILES DEFEAT MANVILLE IN BENEFIT HOCKEY GAME

Score Was 3 - 1

The Vermilion Juveniles defeated the Manville Aces 3-1 in a benefit game here on Thursday evening before an enthusiastic crowd. The entire gate went towards the purchase price of an artificial limb for young Bill Hunter, 16-year-old Vermilion boy who lost his foot in a hunting accident last fall. The hockey boys have planned the game all winter and are indebted to the Manville team for helping them out in this respect. In spite of the short notice given of the game the fund will benefit to the amount of $42 which is a nice start towards the $125 required.

Scoring started early in the game as Dune Easton went in fast and pulled Kreller out of position before laying over a nice pass to Nolan, and that worthy, who has been getting plenty of goals lately, drove the puck home. Croft of Manville equalized the score however and turned in a good exhibition of hockey for the visitors. Dune Easton again paved the way for the homsters second goal, going through for a shot which Kreller blocked but Nolan grabbed the rebound and dented the cords with it. The last goal was scored when Williams, Spencer and Reid combined on a pretty passing play which culminated with Reid scoring. A second after the final gong sounded Croft sifted through and beat Conroy with a corner shot, to no avail however as the game had ended a split second before the counter was made.

Russell Carroll refereed.

Manville—Kreller, Croft, Symington, M. Mann, L. Mann, C. Barr, Ewing, Smith.

Vermilion—Cooper, Knoll, Manyluk, Davis, D. Easton, K. Easton, Nolan, Williams, Spencer, Reid.

H. H. HOGGINS RE-APPOINTED REEVE OF GRIZZLY BEAR M. D.

Statutory meeting of the Council of the M.D. of Grizzly Bear No. 474 was held at Wildmere on Friday March 13, 1942 with the following present: E. J. Coleman, A. Rendell, A. H. Green, H. H. Hoggins, R. Trosman, W. L. Beatty.

H. H. Hoggins was re-appointed as Reeve and R. Trosman appointed Deputy Reeve.

Dr. C. W. Stephens, M.H.O. for that part of Vermilion health unit within the M.D. and Dr. A. H. Sweet for the Islay hospital area.

Councillors' remuneration was set at $1 per day and 10c mile travelled for meetings and road supervision.

Estimates for current expenditure were submitted and a by-law authorizing a levy of 13 mills for municipal purposes was passed.

Islay Mun. hospital requisition $7500, agreed a rate of 2 mills be set.

A by-law to provide for payments of relief to indigent residents in certain districts, was passed. Vermilion R. Dty. requisition $14,444.64, rate set at 13 mills. Vermilion S. Dty. $9.00, rate set at 15 mills.

Discount of 10 per cent will be allowed on current taxes paid before the 1st day of June, 1942.

Municipal doctor rate was set at 7 mills.

It was agreed that Clause L in the Mun. doctor agreement be amended to read as follows: "The treatment of said doctor of residents in connection with infectious diseases as classified in the Health Act, for which immunization is necessary. These services are to be paid for by the M.D."

T. H. Best appointed auditor and Fyans Lumber awarded appointment of Weed Inspector.

Agreed that Council meetings be held on the first Saturday in each month.

PLEBISCITE DATE IS SET FOR APRIL 27th

Secretary of State McLarty has announced in Ottawa that the date of the plebiscite had been set for Monday, April 27th. Previously it had been expected that the date would be set in early May, but the government settled on the earliest date possible, compatible with having the enumerations of voters completed.

Electors will be asked to vote "Yes" or "No" on the following question:

"Are you in favor of releasing the government from any obligation arising out of any past commitments restricting the methods of raising men for military service?"

There will be no printed voters' lists as in the general elections. The lists as compiled by the enumerators and certified by the returning officers will be used. There will be just one enumerator in each polling division, rural or urban. In the rural subdivisions the enumerators will be appointed by the returning officer, in the urban sub-divisions, appointments will be named by the member of parliament for that electoral district and by the defeated candidate who polled the most votes in the elections of March, 1940; the M.P. and defeated candidate will name one-half each.

Provision is made for taking the vote of men in the army, air-force and navy both at home and abroad. Those who are interned or are "conscientious objectors" cannot vote.

TURKEY HILL TID-BITS

On March 11 Mr. and Mrs. Logan entertained the district at a party in the school. Eight tables of cards were played with prizes going to Miss Lillian Dugan and Dennis Noonan. Consolation prizes were won by Irene Chrisp and Ray Walker. After a very delicious lunch various games were played and innumerable small prizes were won by different people. At these parties small donations of money are accepted which soon grow into a sizeable amount. So far this season $10.10 has been collected to further the war work carried on by the Turkey Hill Ladies club.

At the time of writing three notes are heard to beat of excitement in connection with the coming masquerade dance to be held on the 17th. We sincerely hope it is to be the successful affair it promises to be.

Jim Powell is away east once again with horses. May he have good luck in disposing of his band.

Some of the Turkey Hill young people went to the dance at Woodvale on the 13th and to Thorncliffe on the 6th.

Alf Millis went to Edmonton recently, bringing back three horses He is now busy hauling wood to the school.

If every one of Canada's new army of wage-earners saves more, the country's effort toward winning the war will be greatly helped.

Every dollar you save means more labour and materials freed for making the war goods so urgently needed.

These savings, lent to the country in the purchase of War Savings Certificates or Victory Loan Bonds—lent to intensify Canada's war effort—will bring victory—and peace—nearer.

ALASKA HIGHWAY NOW UNDER CONSTRUCTION

EDMONTON — With the Alaska highway now in the first stages of construction, government circles are bent on maintaining the campaign for the actual Mackenzie river route, which is considered best of all. The present road, it is obvious, is intended as a feeder and an auxiliary to the chain of airports which was constructed during the past year. Work on the project is considered as urgent is evidenced by the great quantities of equipment now being rushed by rail to the end of the line.

POST WAR DEVELOPMENT IN NORTH

Economic aspects of the new route are considered of great importance to Alberta. The vast mineral resources of the North country will be brought within feeder distance of the main road, and development of these in turn will create markets for northern agricultural products. It has been rumored that British capital will soon be on hand for post-war development, and that this will attract population which will form the basis of a new industrial empire.

ACTION TO INCREASE OLD AGE PENSIONS

Pension action to increase old age pensions by $5 a month was taken by the Legislature Wednesday when the Bill was introduced and given first reading. Hon. Solon H. Low, provincial treasurer, sponsored the Bill. According to the Budget address, the new supplementary allowance would cost $800,000 annually, divided among some 10,300 pensioners at an average of $6. This will raise the pension to $25, on an average basis.

APPROPRIATION FOR ALBERTA ROADS

Including an increase of $96,000 over the previous figures, an appropriation of $2,143,400 for new roads and maintenance was passed by the Legislature this week. The $96,000 increase was earmarked for new main highway work. Fur district highways the total is $225,000, including an increase of $1,500. Maintenance on main and district highways was given a vote of $718,000 for the first named and $300,000 for the second.

NO POWER TO STOP JAPS ENTER ALBERTA

The province has no power to stop Japanese from B.C. entering Alberta, according to Premier Aberhart. Confirming reports that numbers of these people were arriving in Southern Alberta, Mr. Aberhart said in the Legislature that the province could protest and probably would take some action along this line. R.C.M.P. has up to that time informed the Premier that four families had arrived. It is said that much greater numbers are expected, and local Canadian Legion bodies are protesting.

NEW BILLS

Among new bills introduced in the Legislature are: a bill to prohibit fluctuation or enemy aliens from buying lands for the war's duration; bills to amend the Credit Union Act, the Legislative Assembly Act, the Public Services Act and the Solemnization of Marriages Act. Total for the present session is now past the fifty mark, considered light in comparison with previous sessions.

Arriving at a compromise, the town of Beverly and the province of Alberta have announced a settlement of a debt of $15,000, borrowed during past years. Settlement is to be made on a 33 and one-third basis. R. Rutan, administrator of the town, pleaded with ratepayers to take a keener interest in their affairs when he announced the compromise at a meeting of ratepayers in lake Saint Anne and thereupon passed.

CAMPBELL LAKE

On Friday nite we to the teacher and pupils of Campbell Lake school entertained the parents at the culmination of their ente prise. The projects had been very well carried out, such as the construction of two houses; one of which had the appearance of stucco. There were dolls to represent people of other lands, these were made completely by the pupils from wire frames to outer clothing. The children put on a short program and the balance of the afternoon was spent in readings, after which a very dainty lunch was served by the teacher ably assisted by four young boys dressed to carry out the spirit of St. Patrick. All expressed a very hearty vote of thanks to Miss Bristow and her pupils for such a pleasant affair

LAC Patrick McCambridge of Calgary is home on leave. He arrived on Saturday night. He was accompanied from Edmonton by Mr and Mrs. Pat Dynes and son

ISLAY

The Second Victory Loan committee wish to thank the people of Islay and district for so heartily responding in putting over our loan so successfully. It couldn't have been done without your help.

Those to the Bingo party in aid of the Red Cross on Friday March 20 in the hall. Everyone had a grand time at the last party.

Don't forget to come to the tea and sale of home products in the church on Friday March 27 during the afternoon.

Miss Grace Mersereau spent the week end with Miss Mary McEachern. Teaching fails to make Grace lose any of her pep.

Miss Patsy Torrance leaves for Hindersley Sask., where she has obtained a position in a store.

Mrs. J. McClelland, who is a patient in the Royal Alex hospital in Edmonton is improving very nicely after a very serious operation which she underwent some two weeks ago. Mr. McClelland and Harold accompanied by Mrs. C. C. Mitchell and Gordon Gould motored to the city on Saturday and returned on Sunday bringing with them Mrs. W. H. Barnes of Victoria. Mrs. Barnes has been in Edmonton with Mrs. McClelland's illness. Her many old friends here are very pleased to see her again.

The Women's Missionary meeting of the United church was held at the home of the Misses Muriel and Gladys Stone on Thursday March 12th. Mrs. Gallagher had charge of the devotional and Mrs. Harold White assisted the hostess with the lunch. A tea and sale of home cooking has been planned for March 27th. This will be held in the church.

Mrs. Jones, MacPadyen and Bruce returned to their home on Saturday after visiting for a couple of weeks with her sister Mrs. Edmund McPadyen.

Mrs. Playne and son Ronnie spent a couple of days visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Maire last week. Ronnie was home from his regiment on leave and left for the west coast over the week end.

The dance held in the Morrison school was very well attended and a nice sum was realized for the Red Cross.

NEWS FROM WARTIME PRICES & TRADE BOARD

A warning to retail merchants and business men that they cannot legally transact business after March 31st, unless they have a license from the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, is given by Walter S. Campbell, Regional representative for the Board in Alberta.

Primary producers, employees of licensed firms and professional men do not need licenses. Application forms can be obtained from any post office, and farmers are advised to take good care of what sacks and bags they have on hand. It is quite important that sacks should be kept dry, as damp rots burlap quickly. They also should be shaken out and spread out of the way of mice. Save your sacks because it may be a long time before ample supplies are again available. The entire output of cotton and duck has been allotted for military purposes.

SAVE YOUR SACKS

War in the Orient has cut off the main supply of jute, the raw materials of burlap, and farmers are advised to take good care of what sacks and bags they have on hand. It is quite important that sacks should be kept dry, as damp rots burlap quickly. They also should be shaken out and spread out of the way of mice. Save your sacks because it may be a long time before ample supplies are again available. The entire output of cotton and duck has been allotted for military purposes.

VACATION RAIL FARES TO THE PACIFIC COAST

WINNIPEG, Special rail vacation fares from the Prairies to the Pacific Coast will be on sale from March 27 to April 1st, according to W.E. Dubbs, general passenger agent of the Canadian National Railways. They will be available from all stations between Port Arthur, Armstrong in Ontario and Canora in Sask., to New Westminster, Vancouver, Victoria and Nanaimo

These fares will be good in coaches as well as in tourist and standard sleeping cars and will carry a return limit of 30 days. Stopovers will be allowed on both the going and return journeys.

These attractive fares will afford an opportunity for Prairie residents to spend Easter at the Pacific Coast and also provide a low-cost holiday to those who must take their vacation before the summer season.

A Message From H. M. E. Evans, Head of National War Finance Organization for North Alberta

To the Editor:

"On behalf of the entire War Finance Organization may I express to the weekly newspapers our great appreciation of their support which had much to do with the success of the Second Victory Loan campaign in North Alberta. Through your columns may we also convey a brief message of appreciation to all whose efforts contributed to that success.

"Primarily and directly it was due to the more than thirteen thousand individuals and firms throughout the country districts and the seventeen thousand five hundred in Edmonton who responded to the appeal by making purchases of bonds.

"Outside of Edmonton there were 54 Units, each with a Unit Organizer, and some 28 Sub-Units. Each Unit and Sub-Unit has a War Finance committee with continuing responsibility in its locality for that part of Canada's war effort. It is impossible to speak too highly of the work accomplished by the 55 or so Unit Organizers, Chairmen and members of these committees. In many places exceptionally difficult conditions were extraordinarily difficult due to poor harvest, weather, blocked roads, etc. It was the Victory Loan salesmen, some 8% of them throughout the country districts, who bore the brunt of these difficulties in the course of their canvass.

"Questions have been asked about the commission paid to salesmen and the public should know the facts. On the great bulk of the subscriptions to the Loan no commission whatever is paid. On all the sales to the big subscribers — the so-called "Special Names" — there is no commission. The same is the case with all the sales made through the Employee canvass. This Employee canvass has produced astonishingly good results this time. On the balance of the applications a small commission is paid to the official salesman who developed the business, his entire time for three weeks to the campaign. For this commission the salesman gives up his own business and stands his own expenses. The commissions are adjusted as between salesmen. For Victory Loan 1491 the adjustment fund was sufficient to raise the minimum full time country salesman to $30.70. For this the latter worked for three weeks and paid for his own gasoline, etc. The average commission, both city and country, on Victory Loan 1941 was $41.60.

"It has been a great thing to have this Loan such a brilliant success and North Alberta has borne its full share having exceeded its original quota by approximately the same percentage as the Whole Dominion."

"H. M. E. EVANS,
Vice-Chairman,
National War Finance Committee
North Alberta Division."

WILDNER WINKS

St. Patrick's Day, March 17th was celebrated this week.

These are a few late items. The J. W.B. club meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Howard on March 9th, while not so many ladies got there owing to the roads there was a quilt and of finished work handed in and a lot of unfinished work given out. Roll call was answered by a recipe using fried onions. Three t-shirt orders were ordered for boys' clothing as well as the sewing has been for girls so far. After the business Mrs. Howard served a very tasty lunch. The next meeting will be held on April 1 at the home of Mrs. Garnett in Sherwood.

On Friday evening March 6 a fate well party was held at the home of Mr. Gibson for Mr. and Mrs. T. Imlay, both moving from the district to the coast. Around thirty guests gathered and a pleasant evening spent in chatting and cards. Mrs. Frank Gibson then served a splendid lunch and coffee. After lunch J. Walkerton was called on to make a presentation to the departing friends. In a few words he spoke of how these people would be missed but was glad at their going that they were able to go to a warmer climate. A nice set of silverware was then given with the well wishes of all. Mr. and Mrs. Gallipoli thanked each and everyone and said even though they were away their memories of Sherwood would never be forgotten. The evening came to a close by singing "They are Jolly Good Fellows". They left the following day morning by train for the coast.

Pte. Earl Graham of Edmonton spent a day in town on Saturday, March 7. Owing to his short stay he did not get out to the writer's home, but we went in to see him and had a pleasant afternoon. He returned to the city the same night in company with Corp. Norman Smith who was going back to his duties after a two weeks furlough at home.

A wedding of much interest here was that of Beulah Nash of Vermilion, only daughter of Mrs. Emily Nash and the late Mr. Nash, and Russell Struthers of the R. C. A. F., the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Struthers of Wildmere. Rev. Mr. Sieber performed the ceremony on March 7th. A big wedding dinner was given on Sunday at the groom's home. Those attending were Mrs. Nash and Jim of town, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Marshall and five children, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Smith and three children Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Struthers and three children and Russell who was home on furlough found the time went far too fast but everyone was pleased to see the young folks again. On Wednesday evening a shower and dance was held in our school for the happy couple. They received a lot of useful gifts and a nice sum of money as well, then everyone joined in singing "They are Jolly Good Fellows". Miss Thelma Swenson, bridesmaid sang a couple of songs which were much enjoyed. Albert Smith, John Wilson and Walter Maughan furnished the dance music, J. C. managed the floor. A good crowd turned out to give the young folks a happy evening.

A committee comprised of Mrs. Jensen, Mrs. Wallington and Mrs. Walter (acting for Mrs. Gibson, who is at the coast) went in to see Rev. Mr. Sieber re the coming summer church. The people of our field consider it is costing too much and are unable to keep it up. Instead they want Mr. Sieber to come out a couple of Sundays a month. He did not think he would be able to come himself, and most likely the student is already chosen for this field.

The Curling cup was won by skip Bob Martin, Vern Rutherland, Roy Garnett, Cliff Struthers. A very interesting game was played between the winning rink and the rink skipped by Bill Smith before the cup was won.

Bill Garnett of the Air Force is home from Edmonton on furlough for two weeks.

Farmers and Maximum Price Regulations

All of us are now subject to regulations which would have seemed impossible three years ago. Undoubtedly we shall be required to conform to many more; and we will complain?

It is quite true that the proposed controls affecting business transactions, and many farmers must be uncertain as to their own responsibilities when selling their own produce or buying farm supplies.

Farmers should know that transactions between primary producers of agricultural products, involving their own produce, are exempt from price ceiling regulations of the War-time Prices and Trade Board. Order No. 103 defines these exemptions and, in part, reads as follows:

"1 (a) sales, exchanges, or barters of hay, grain, seed, seed potatoes, cotton bolls, farm implements or repair parts, machinery or repair parts, sacks, fencing, fence posts, milk cans, stock-lings, nursery stock, cordwood, fertilizers, bees, bee supplies, livestock, poultry, eggs, dairy products, maple products and other agricultural products and supplies.

"1 (b) custom-milling, seed cleaning and other agricultural services."

The above provisions, however, do not apply to sales, exchanges or barters made for purposes of resale. All resales of products or articles are subject to maximum price regulations

H. G. Wilson of Clareville was a member of an all-Canadian crew of wireless operator air gunners which graduated recently from the R.C.A.F. bombing and gunnery school at Lethbridge.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank Dr. Sweet, Dr. Stephens, the Matron and staff of the Islay hospital for the kindness and attention given to Doris while a patient there, and also friends and neighbors for their gifts of fruit etc. Everything has been deeply appreciated by myself and family.

Mrs. Lily Giles.

Mr. and Mrs. George Shields, Al. Hance Missionaries to Africa, have given several very interesting illustrated lectures during the past week. These lectures were given to gatherings at the home of Mrs. Lambert, in the United church parlors, and to pupils at the Public school.

Mrs. Jos. Weaver, son Al and daughter Trudy left on Tuesday on the first step of a trip that will see them finally in Toronto where it is likely they will reside in the future. They expect to spend a day or two in Vegreville and Edmonton and then a week or so in Winnipeg at Mrs. Weaver's family home, after which they will go to Toronto where Mrs. Weaver has a sister residing. The many friends and neighbors of these family circles will see them go and wish them much happiness in their new home

Mr. and Mrs. Art Wilson of Edmonton and formerly of Vermilion are now the parents of a baby daughter, born on Wednesday, March 11th.

Mr. Simonsen's sedan was the victim of a hit and run driver sometime during Friday night or early the following morning. Mr. Simonsen had parked on the street in good condition Tuesday night but was sadly battered Friday morning having been smashed into head on, with the fenders and doors bearing the brunt of the damage.

Don Taylor Jr., commercial student from Edmonton spent last week end at his home in town.

ENJOYABLE SOCIAL AT HUGHES SCHOOL

Raise Funds for the Red Cross

The Hughes school was the scene of a very enjoyable party Friday evening, March 13th, when a whist drive and dance were held — small admission charge was made and all proceeds from the evening came on to the Red Cross. There were six tables of cards high scores being won by Miss Wear and Mr. Jack Tucker and low by Dorothy McCormick and George Wickham. These prizes were turned in and auctioned off and sold and he sold a number of times realizing a pleasing sum of money. Supper was served by the ladies Pr., here the chief feature of course was the big birthday cake which was made by Mr. Cliff McCormick of a cake. This brought rapid bidding from both young and old and took in the sum of seven dollars, the final raise being made by a boy of six adjoining district who became the proud possessor of the lovely cake.

Dancing supplied by Mr. Bob Mc-Dancing Master and Mr. Arlo Harrison brought the evening to a close.

The proceeds from admission fee, sale of prizes and cake amounted to $18. This was paid to the Carbon-Hughes Auxiliary to the Vermilion Red Cross who wish to thank Mr. and Mrs. Cliff McCormick and Miss Enid Hart who sponsored the affair and all those who patronized and helped in this worthy cause as well as making it a very sociable evening

The Realities Of War

In newspaper articles and in talks over the radio, the statement has been frequently made that many people in Canada have not yet become fully war conscious or that the full import of the seriousness of the war has not yet been realized. That because we are so far removed from the scene of the conflict, we have been unable to appreciate its full significance. There may be a very small minority who view this world tragedy with apparent apathy, but one ventures to believe that the vast majority of our citizens have a full realization of what Canada is fighting for, and what defeat for the Allied cause would mean. Since the entry of Japan into the conflict on the side of our enemies the mass of anything has been brought home to us more vividly than the full meaning of the struggle in which we are engaged. For the first time since the beginning of the war the citizens have been operating submarines off the coasts of this continent, and with the sinking toll of merchant vessels having been landed on our east coast. Residents of Western Canada are fully aware of the dangers besetting our Pacific coast.

* * * *

Facing The Situation

If anything further were needed to bring to the average citizen a more complete understanding of the unique conditions which we are facing it is the ever increasing need for the services of the ordinary necessities of life. No one in whatever station he may occupy can fail to be affected in one way or another by the shortage. Being fully aware of this need for readjustment it can be assumed that we shall meet the situation with a minimum of complaint. Those of us who for various legitimate reasons, are unable to bear arms in the defence of democracy will have small reason for grumbling when we consider the hardships endured by our fighting men, many of whom have already made the supreme sacrifice, have not hesitated to leave the security of their homes and to go forth to meet the enemy.

The magnificent support that was accorded the second Victory Loan would indicate very clearly that the people of Canada have a keen appreciation of the necessity for furthering our war effort, and for providing the needed equipment for our armed forces. A significant feature of the loan was the number of small investors, indicating in a great many cases that many people of small means have made real sacrifices in their endeavor to furnish the sinews of war. Much has been observed in the press during the progress of the campaign, some quite pathetic, of poor people who invested their meagre life savings in the cause of freedom

* * *

For A Greater Effort

The time has long since passed when any thinking man can afford to adopt a smug attitude in respect to the progress of the war. It is not sufficient for us to pin our faith on the successful outcome of the struggle. It is true that we cannot conceive of any alternative other than that we defeat the enemy. But the war is not going to be won by any wishful thinking. It is going to mean that we cannot relegate our responsibilities to some mythical other fellow, but that each one of us will be required to put forth every effort, either voluntarily or forcibly, if we are to win this fight. We find ourselves engaged with a ruthless enemy whose declared aim is to dominate the world. If we are to retain our freedom and our democratic way of life then no sacrifice will be too great for us to make. Canada has no reason to feel ashamed of the part she has already played in the prosecution of the war, but still greater effort will be needed to win the victory which will ensure to us the retention of our religious freedom, the right of free speech, and the preservation of the ideals which freedom loving people have always cherished

Don't Let Your Liver Make You an Invalid

People who are off colour say they're bilarish or their liver is bad; the poor house hear serious this is — that it may be permanent ill health — your whole system poisoned and run down.

Q Your liver is the largest organ in your body and most important to your health. It supplies energy to muscles, nerves and glands. If it's sluggish, you're tired, headachy, constipated, nervous, irritable—troubled with disappointment. Again your liver power can help to digest food, get rid of waste and allow proper nourishment to reach your blood. When your liver gets out of order proper digestion and nourishment stop—you're poisoned with the waste that decomposes in your intestines. Nervous troubles and rheumatic pains arise from the poisons. You become constipated, stomach and kidneys can't work properly. The whole system is upset. You feel sick, sour, sunk, grouchy, lazy, blue, cant work or study, get no ready pep or ambition and distress.

Thousands of people are never sick, and have won prompt relief from these symptoms with "Improved Fruit-a-tives" Tablets. The liver is toned up, the other organs function normally and lasting good health results. Today "Improved Fruit-a-tives" are Canada's largest selling liver tablets. They must be good! Try them yourself NOW. Let "Fruit-a-tives" put you back on the road to lasting health—but take a new package. 25c, 50c.

"Constantly in Pain, then A New Woman"

For a long time I suffered constantly from pain. After trying many medicines and treatments which brought no relief, I had heard of "Fruit-a-tives" and I decided to try them. After using only one box I felt better. Today I am a new woman. I enjoy my meals, sleep well and am free from pain. I owe my health entirely to "Fruit-a-tives" and recommend them to everyone who is suffering from Indigestion, Constipation or Headaches."

Mrs. J. Hopkinson, Cornwall, Ont.

"Declared For Years, Now Feel Grand"

I was always bothered with Indigestion, Constipation, Headaches, and I could not eat or sleep well and had very severe attacks of nausea. I took many medicines and treatments but got no relief. Then I began using "Fruit-a-tives" and now I feel grand. I am never troubled with Indigestion, Constipation or Headaches and can eat and sleep well. I am glad to recommend "Fruit-a-tives" to others."

HOME SERVICE

SOFA REVIVED BY A NEW SLIP COVER

Made By Quick Pin-On Method

A ghostly dark brightly printed mess slip cover does wonders for your old sofa's morale! It picks up the spirits of beholders and sitters, too!

You can make it easily the pin-on way. You just pin the fabric directly to the sofa, snip off the excess material and sew piece to piece.

To start, remove cushions and pin fabric to top back with big pins. Pin it down over the inside back and seat of one section, allowing four inches for tuck-in between. Then trim around all the pins, leaving 1½ inches for seams.

Next, working in the very same way, pin and trim other pieces of fabric to fit other back-and-seat sections—and the likewise for front, arms, sides, back and cushions. Pin seams to place, remove to baste, then try on.

Finish with a deep, gathered flounce—or, what all the smart stores are showing, a stiff one with corner kick-pleats.

Our 32-page booklet diagrams each step in making and in trimming slip covers for chairs, sofas, auto seats. Has directions for barrel and chaise-net-back chairs; includes frilly and tailored cover styles. Suggests colors, fabrics.

The Individual Citizen's Army

A Weekly Column About This And That In The Canadian Army.

By Allan Maurice Irwin

Once upon a time the cockiest looking soldier you would encounter was the Highlander, characterized by the swing of his kilt and his glistening white spats.

Today kilts are very seldom seen and the palm for cockiness has to be awarded to the Tank Corps man who wears his beret at a jaunty angle and walks the streets with an air reminiscent of Kipling's cat to whom all places are alike.

And all pieces are alike to him. From the steel-walled turret of his tank he looks at everything he encounters with the unbiased, unembarrassed and unworried look of a man who knows he can brush aside any barrier, surmount any obstacle.

In the interests of the readers of this column I made an investigation as to what makes a "tanker" tick a few days ago.

Because I am not as young as I used to be and likewise quite on the chumsy side I have a few assorted bruises to report that the young fit well-muscled tank men escaped unscathed.

Perhaps I'd better begin at the beginning.

Commandant of the Training Centre said his eyes may have been twinkling. I couldn't see because of the side on the helmet. He climbed in a tank brought round for you to look at.

That was all right. But it didn't stop at that. When the tank arrived all 30 tons of it—a helpful sergeant poked his head out of the driver's hatch and said: "Shall I take the gentlemen for a ride, sir?"

Bob Bowman of the C.B.C., was the reason for the phrase. We looked at each other. We looked at the sergeant. There was no mistake about the twinkle in his eye.

We climbed in. By the time I had hoisted a middle-aged leg over the rim of the gun turret I seemed an awful distance from the ground.

A slightly hysterical major, who roared with laughter every time he spoke of the tank, advised me to stand on the gunner's stool with my head and shoulders in the open. "You'll see more from there." I felt more, too. And every time I looked inside during the quarter of an hour that we careened all the pond, having 1½ inches for seams.

Then, working in the very same way, pin and trim other pieces of fabric to fit other back-and-seat sections—and the likewise for front, arms, sides, back and cushions. Pin seams to place, remove to baste, then try on.

Finish with a deep, gathered flounce—or, what all the smart stores are showing, a stiff one with corner kick-pleats.

Leaves It To Experts

Britain's Food Controller Has No Desire To Do Cooking

Lord Woolton tells me that people are always asking him if he can cook. His answer is that he cannot.

He adds: "There was once a message shop at the back of the Bank of England. A man asked the owner to lend him £5. 'I'm sorry,' answered the manager-banker. 'The Bank of England and I have an understanding. I agree not to lend money and the bank agrees not to make sausages'."

"That," says Lord Woolton, "is my position. I leave the cooking to the experts—the British housewives."

Allies May Use Northern Front For Spring Drive

New York.—Cumulative military and political evidence indicates the imminence of highly-important operations centring about the area between the desolate North Cape at the top of Norway and the cruel 1,000-foot granite cliffs of the Russian Murmansk coast.

Major air and naval operations already are under way, centring Petsamo capital - ships, British torpedo planes undoubtedly operating from an aircraft carrier, other British warships and United Nations' convoys.

Free Europe, a review of international affairs published in London, said an Allied spring offensive in the west should have a good chance of success, for the force now concentrated in the British Isles presumably are stronger than those the Germans have disposed from Kirkenes, Petsamo to Hammerfeye, Norway.

This commentary declared both military and political reasons commended Norway as a spot where the Allies could strike with overwhelming forces. It added that control of Upper Scandinavia would give the United Nations a convenient link with Russia through Finland and would put them in position to strike directly into the heart of Germany.

An offensive at the top of Europe might well be the extra contribution to Russia's cause which the Soviet Union gives every evidence of expecting. Then a push to win a successful push could wipe Finland from the war, open and protect the whole Allied-Russian supply line via the excellent port of Murmansk and re-establish the Allies in Norway where they could organize and supply increasing resistance by the population.

A common British-Russian-American fighting front would be formed quickly across the thin tip of Finland and this front in time might provide just the impetus the Russians need to turn the whole German northern flank and collapse it upon the Baltic States and East Prussia

There are 1,500 miles of sea from the present U.S. bases in Northern Ireland to the North Cape, but it is barely 80 miles across the northeastern extremity of Norway to Russian territory, and only 50 miles farther east to Murmansk

Eight hundred miles straight south of Murmansk, reachable almost directly by railway, is the Stanaya Russa front where the Russians have pushed back closer to Germany than anywhere else. Staraya Russa is only 130 miles from Latvia and then it is just 400 miles to East Prussia.

Throughout the winter the world has almost forgotten about the Murmansk front and the Germans and Finns there have huddled somewhere about the city and on the Rybachi peninsula to the northwest. Well enough, it appears to make it necessary for Allied supplies to proceed on east to Archangel. The northern end of the Russian counter-offensive has, however freed sections of the railway line running south to Leningrade and beyond.

Doing Everything Possible

Argentina Making Effort To Investigate Conditions In Hong Kong

Buenos Aires.—Foreign Minister Enrique Ruiz Guinazu conferred with the Japanese ambassador concerning Argentine efforts to investigate British complaints of ill treatment accorded war prisoners at Hong Kong' foreign office sources said.

Argentina, as the representative of British and Canada in the Far East already has made representations to Tokyo and is seeking to have an Argentine observer designated as observer in Hong Kong.

Informed sources said Argentina had asked permission of Japan for a British ship to carry food and medical supplies to Hong Kong and Singapore.

Appeal Is Made For Increase Of Farm Products

Ottawa.—With legislation now before parliament implementing the Dominion government's agricultural policy, the combined forces of the federal and provincial agricultural departments move into a drive to assure the greatest farm production in Canada's history.

Speaking in a continent-wide broadcast, United States Secretary of Agriculture Wichard urged U.S. farmers this year to exceed even their unprecedented efforts to meet the needs of the American people and the "estimated needs of our Allies." He said the requirements "have been broken down by states and counties and farms so that each farm knows exactly what is expected of it in 1942."

Ranking agriculture officials here say it is impossible to state such a precise plan for the Canadian farmers. Much depends upon the weather, but they have the background of the 1941 production and this gives a pretty accurate idea of what can be possible this year under ordinary growing conditions.

Meetings already have been held by federal officers with the various provincial authorities. The latter have returned to their provincial headquarters prepared to carry th...ir campaigns for production to the farmers by advertising, radio and other media.

The major appeal is for all-out production of hogs to meet the agreement with the United Kingdom to ship 1,000,000,000 pounds of bacon and hams. The agreement, which started last autumn reaches the half way mark this year and Canada by that time will have supplied 300,000,000 pounds in addition to providing the domestic requirements for pork products.

However, this half-year covers the period when the run of hogs to the markets is always heavy as it will take a great effort to keep up this tremendous, unprecedented flow of bacon overseas during the last half.

In the past two months the three prairie provinces have supplied 65 per cent. of the Canadian contribution, the big part the prairies are playing to enable Canada to make good on its bacon agreement.

Unequal Contest

Japanese Had Great Superiority In Naval Strength At Java

London.—A Japanese fleet of 14 cruisers, 55 destroyers, 23 submarines and five aircraft carriers was in Netherlands Indies waters when the small Dutch and American fleets were forced into battle to defend Java, Premier Peter Gerbandy of the Netherlands government, said here.

The American and Indies fleet was less than one third the size of the Japanese armada protecting some 60 transports which was attacked in the Sea of Java, he said, but despite the unequal contest the Japanese fleet suffered a severe blow.

The attack upon the line of transports, covered by submarines, failed, however, and an important part of the Allied fleet was lost.

"After vigorous defence for 12 days, the issue was decided. Against four-fold superiority on land and 10 fold in the air, the struggle became desperate," he said.

Gerbrandy said the defeat in the Indies for the Netherlands was "more serious because the occupation of Yugo...l is much more destructive than it was in Europe."

Italy Expects Invasion

Possibilities Of United States-British Offensive Discussed In Newspapers

Stockholm, Sweden.—Italian newspapers are discussing the possibility of United States-British offensive against Italy, the Rome correspondent of the Stockholm Tidningen reported here.

The Allied plan, according to the Fascist press, is to gain control of the Mediterranean and pave the way for a direct assault on Germany. The correspondent said Italy is taking precautions against such a move.

Mounting War Costs

Britain's Expenditures Of £14,500,000 Daily Has To Be Increased

London.—Introducing a supplementary vote of credit for £250,000,000 (£1,112,000,000) for war needs Sir Kingsley Wood, chancellor of the exchequer, told the House of Commons that Britain's expenditures were 2½ times greater than two years ago

He said expenditures for war needs are £14,500,000 daily and would rise a further rise in the next few weeks

The total government expenditure was approximately £8,500,000 weekly from votes of credit, of which the fighting services took £6,000,000 weekly nearly £9,700,000 each day, he said

"We have left far behind the highest amount of expenditure in the last war and our requirements continue to increase," he said

To Mobilize Full Strength Of Axis For Spring Drive

Berne Germany's mobilization of the entire Axis manpower for a gigantic spring offensive now is in full swing, reports received here from various parts of Europe indicate

In Germany itself almost all men able to carry arms are already in the army, but the recent visit of Field Marshal Keitel to Hungary and Slovakia is beginning to bear results in the form of approximately 1 500 000 fresh troops.

Up to the present these two allies had supp..ed only a handful of soldiers for the Russian campaign Slovakia had furnished about 27,000 and Hungary not more than one or two divisions

In Hungary, notices have just been posted mobilizing all men up to 46 years of age

Slovakia, with a population of 3,500,000, has been told she must furnish 100 000 men

Italy has been called upon to deliver many more troops than she has yet sent to the eastern front, and these are quickly as possible Rome reports mention a figure of 1,000,000 but this is unverified

Rumania already has about 1,000,000 men in the field, her maximum capacity It is not known whether Bulgaria will declare war on Russia and send forces to aid in the campaign

Men of German blood are being mobilized in the occupied countries All Germans between 20 and 42 in the Gerlsberg-Lorraine province of French Lorraine have been ordered to register before March 21 German leaders in Luxembourg have ordered all Germans to be military service and the company will mobilize to the Reichswerke Hermann Goering at Stalingrad, and the company will have its headquarters in Toronto

Work railroads, under way on the Stalingrad front have been speeded up and extension of the plants that will be needed Mr Howe said in a statement that it is expected that production will begin before the end of 1943 and that when the plants are completed the aircraft output will be at 24 000 long tons per year.

The minister said the synthetic rubber plants will relieve the shortage, so far as the Dominion is concerned

Explosives of the synthetic rubber will be earmarked for war purposes he said "This means of course, that the civilian will have to do without a number of articles of rubber that are made from natural rubber, but it will not affect essential needs and, in any event we will have to get along with reclaimed rubber wherever possible

Prince Rupert May Be Supply Base For Alaska

Ottawa.—Qualified Ottawa sources indicate that the port of Prince Rupert on the west coast will become an important supply base for the defence of Alaska against the serious possibility of Jap attacks

Public attention has been focussed for the past few days on the decision to begin construction of the Alaska highway as a defence measure. However, experts in Ottawa and Washington have regarded Prince Rupert as the outlet through which will pour men, foodstuffs and munitions to Alaska

The use of Prince Rupert as a main supply base would involve ocean transport But troop and munitions ships would be subject to danger of submarine attack for less than half the trip to Alaska Sources in Ottawa say the submarines could operate in only about five miles of the water involved

The Ottawa sources say soldiers and supplies sent transported by the route will be disembarked at an unspecified Alaskan port From this point they will be transported to Fairbanks Alaska by rail

Troop transports could ship out of the large and well-equipped harbor of Prince Rupert and along the British Columbia coast behind a protecting screen of islands These islands are situated in waters where it would be impossible for submarines to operate

Ottawa observers offer three reasons for the importance of Prince Rupert as a base They are

1 Tanks road even if completed this year will be only a "pioneer" highway, capable of carrying only six tons or 10 3 per cent of the volume of a normal highway Sufficient supplies to equip Alaskan garrisons would not be moved across it—or so these quarters say

2 Alternative ports Seattle and Vancouver are 750 miles farther by sea from Alaska and most of the additional distance is exposed to submarines

3. Prince Rupert already possesses adequate port facilities for the traffic and has good rail connections

Synthetic Rubber Plant

Government Owned Corporation To Produce Rubber In Canada

Ottawa Munitions Minister Howe announced that a government-owned corporation known as Polymer Corporation Ltd is being established to produce synthetic rubber in Canada

President of the new company will be C. D. Arthur, Bishop Toronto industrialist and the company will have its headquarters in Toronto

Work railroads, under way on the Stalingrad front have been speeded up and extension of the plants that will be needed Mr Howe said in a statement that it is expected that production will begin before the end of 1943 and that when the plants are completed the aircraft output will be at 24 000 long tons per year.

Warned By Japan

Australia Told That Any Resistance Will Fail In Disaster

Tokio An assertion that Australia will suffer the fate of the Netherlands East Indies if she continues to "follow at the tail of the United States" in the Pacific war was made by a spokesman for the Japanese navy today.

Describing the speculation as groundless, the spokesman said: "Australia will be in the same position as the Netherlands Indies unless she withdraws from the war and ceases to follow at the tail of the United States."

Speaking for the army, a spokesman said: "Australia will be more miserable than the Netherlands Indies unless she withdraws from the war and ceases to follow at the tail of the United States."

MORE BOOKS REQUIRED FOR TRAINING CAMPS

The new books for the use of our men in Training Camps in Canada and Newfoundland have been collected by the Canadian Postal Service.

While the seems like a lot or reading matter, it is far from filling the need and thousands more volumes are required for Camp reading rooms and libraries

Hon. William P. Mulock K.C. M.P. Postmaster General, who instituted the arrangement last Autumn, where by every Post Office in Canada would serve as a "collection depot" for books for Training Camps, again requests citizens to co-operate in providing the additional books required.

It is well known that good entertaining volumes contribute greatly, to the Camp life of our men in uniform, and are highly appreciated by them

Citizens are urged to again search their bookshelves for interesting books which would be most acceptable to the men in the Training Camps. The arrangement is confined only to books - not newspapers or magazines—and the books need not be addressed or wrapped. Simply leave them at your Post Office where the system is in effect for their distribution to Training Camps in Canada and Newfoundland.

"KILLARNEY KAPERS" ATTRACTS CROWD OF 200

Killarney Kapers, the initial dance presented by the Vermilion Starette Club, proved to be a great success Monday night. Some 200 people attended. The hall was decorated with green and white streamers. Shamrocks Irish hats, pipes and drawings of St. Pat himself.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Reid and Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Kaiser kindly consented to be patrons for this charming affair.

Prizes for the most unique dress of Mr. Dan Taylor as M.P. a pageant of dancing and novelties was enjoyed by the crowd. A number of prizes were awarded. Miss Maureen Younger, a club member, entertained during an intermission with an Irish jig, very ably executed and much enjoyed. This was followed by a charming and quite peppy tap number by Mrs. H. H. Cary. Atmosphere was added to the occasion by the condition of three well known Irish bellabs by the Vermilion High school quartet, David Harris, Don Davies, Clayton Taylor and Ted Reid. Miss Betty Kaiser was the accompanist.

The Starettes promoted this dance a financial success, the proceeds to be used for charitable and war work.

WEDDING BELLS

CRUTHERS—NASH

A quiet but interesting wedding was solemnized at the United Church manse on Saturday March 7th when Marion Nash, only daughter of Mrs. F. Nash, was united in marriage to Russell George Cruthers, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Cruthers of the Wildmere district. The Rev. L. G. Siebe officiated. Both bride and groom were popular members of the younger set in town and country.

The bride was charming in a rose-pink crepe dress with hat and accessories in a shade of wine. Following the ceremony a shower was held in the Wildmere school where the happy young couple received many handsome and useful gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Cruthers left on Saturday morning for the east where Russell is employed with the R.C.A.F. at Scoudoac, N.B.

OBITUARY

AT REST

At the family home in Dewberry, Alberta, on March 11, 1942, Mrs. W.E. Smith was called to rest, after a long life of usefulness and kindly activities.

Mrs. Smith was born at Small Heath, Birmingham, England, on February 5th, 1866 and came to Canada with her husband and family in 1906 and with true pioneer courage, made a new home on the prairie, three miles west of Dewberry from which she always spread kindly help and cheerfulness. All her life being spent in Christian service, the Light has not gone out, but is only dimmed by the brilliance of the dawn of the New Day.

Left to mourn her loss are her husband Mr. W. E. Smith, one son, Frank of Dewberry and three daughters, Mrs. J. L. Shrigley, Vermilion; Mrs. C. W. MacDonald, Lashburn; Mrs. V. C. Stubbins, Conway; and many grandchildren. There is also one niece, Mrs. W. Porter of Dewberry, one sister in Edmonton, a brother in B.C. two sisters in Australia, and one brother in England.

The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. T. Harthorne of the United church, at Dewberry, with friends and neighbors of the community joining to pay tribute to the memory of her who has gone "Home". Interment took place in the Dewberry cemetery.

C. G. I. T. NOTES

On March 21 and 22 we are to have a visit from our Girls' Work Secretary for Alberta, Miss Carscadden. She will meet with the girls at 4 p.m. on Saturday, also address the Church school and the evening service in the United church.

One of the happiest things about C.G.I.T. in Alberta is that every girl feels itself part of a big Provincial family, imagine belonging to a family of 1700 girls! This is the number in our Province, and girls and leaders are proud to belong to a movement which tries to give girls a working knowledge of real Christian Citizenship.

Our Secretary may be called the head of this family, but we all help to enjoy meeting her, and she wants to meet you.

Army Train Here For Two Hours, April 11

Residents of Vermilion and district will gather in first hand knowledge as to what equipment is being provided for Canada's Army, when the Canadian Army train goes on display here from 2.30 to 4.30 p.m. on Saturday, April 11th.

The train is made up of 16 coaches, including two flat cars, and the coaches are painted in the colors of the four Canadians Divisions now overseas, red, blue, French grey and khaki.

Lt. Col. J. E. McKenna, M.C., of Montreal, is the Officer Commanding the train, which carries more than three million dollars worth of army equipment. This vast array of equipment represents the tools of war which Canada is now manufacturing in large quantities.

Lt. Col. McKenna has under him a selected personnel of three officers and sixty other ranks in charge of the various exhibits. Among these are three men from Alberta, Sgt. W. Blaire of Three Hills, Tpr. M.S. Crisen of Medicine Hat and Pte. J. C. Mitchell of Lesser. Two other men were sent from the Canadian Army Training Centre at Calgary as members of the train staff, but their home are in British Columbia.

MIXED BONSPIEL OFF TO A GOOD START

With a turn in the weather no time was lost in getting a mixed bonspiel under way at the curling rink and seventeen quartets consisting of two ladies and gents, are battling it out for the honors in this annual event. It is expected that the finals will be played this Thursday night. Prizes for the events were placed by Gordon K. Low, provincial treasurer, in doing just that. In spite of early warnings that the curling season was over, the interest in collecting income taxes has, numbers of willing payees are filling returns and forwarding remittances to the provincial office. It means unnecessary work for all concerned, including the return of the money to the taxpayer, said the minister. The advice is once again given: Alberta is NOT collecting income tax on 1941 earnings, and will collect no more for the duration of the war. 1941 taxes are payable to the Dominion, as are subsequent wartime income taxes.

C.N.R. REPORTED PLANNING TO FINANCE VERMILION OIL DEVELOPMENT

Details Unknown Here to Date

The recent announcement from Ottawa contained in daily newspapers that the Canadian National Railways were planning to finance considerable drilling in the Vermilion oil field this year, aroused great interest here but any details or what the plans might be, are at present unknown to operators in the field, as far as the Standard could learn since the story first came out this week. It is possible though that more will be known very shortly as W. P. Thorne, president of Vermilion Consolidated Oils and T. Hamilton, local field manager for the company, who have been in Ottawa, Montreal, Toronto and other points in the east for the past month and a half, are expected home this week end.

CITIZENS GET TAX NOTICES

Rate Down Two Mills

Vermilion citizens have by this time, all received their 1942 tax notices, and probably will note with some feeling of gratification that the mill rate is down 2, being 43 as compared to 45 for 1941. In this connection it might be noted that the 43 mill rate of 1942 compares with 54 in 1937. A steady downward revision having been accomplished since that time.

Details on the tax statement show that the town requires $12,372.60 to operate for the year, the school district $20,396, hospital district gets $2376, while $960 is collected for the government social service.

Payment of taxes may be made monthly, quarterly; or, if you happen to be in the fortunate class that does not have to worry about taxes, you can give a long list of monthly accounts you can pay your taxes all in one lump sum.

ALBERTA MOTOR CAR ACCIDENT REPORT

There were 3,193 motor vehicle accidents in this province in which the damage to property exceeded $25, in the fiscal year which ended March 31, 1941, according to a report of the provincial secretary's department which has been tabled in the legislature.

In the previous year, there were 6,254 motor vehicle accidents but in the last year of these posterity claim age in each was less than $25.

In the 1940-41 fiscal year there were 58 fatal motor accidents in Alberta compared with 82 in 1940, 72 in 1939, 55 in 1938 and 58 in 1937.

During the period covered by the report, 10 persons were sent to gaol for being intoxicated while in charge of a motor vehicle and 62 were fined $25 or less for reckless driving or other charges which involved a motor vehicle.

Officials of the Alberta Motor Association state that the figures on the number of motor accidents again stress the need of maintaining the compulsion in this province in order about safer driving on the streets and highways

NEW BOWLING ALLEYS OPEN WEDNESDAY

Entire First Day's Proceeds Donated to Red Cross

Manager George Grushy announces that the new Vermilion bowling alleys will be opened on Wednesday April 1 and that the entire proceeds of the first day will be donated to the Red Cross. During the alterations and opening the Red Cross W.A. will serve tea in the fine new Bowladrome.

Equipment in this recreation centre consists of two brand new alleys, new balls and all accessories for playing five or ten pins. Bowling is recognized as a healthy vigorous exercise and the opening of the alleys will meet a consistent demand of Vermilion people for this type of game.

HON. W. A. FALLOW VISITOR TO VERMILION

Hon. W. A. Fallow, accompanied by Deputy Minister H. H. N. Mackinnon and N. W. MacPherson, executive assistant of highways, were visitors in Vermilion on Monday evening and Tuesday, when they met a delegation in a tour of inspection of highways.

The ministers visited Vermilion, Lloydminster but would visit various parts of the province before declaring the allocation of highway appropriations under the 1942 budget, the approximately one million dollars included in the estimates for new construction of main and district highways.

The high school program twas in charge of teachers and parents held in the school on Monday night when grading in 9 and 10 was discussed. Reports to parents came in on the day and the question was passed asking that parents assist absolutely in special responsibility in the matter of duty and suggestions were made. The meeting was well attended by parents and a fine response to the invitation to the great work of the society.

Many thanks to the Vermilion Women's Institute for their donation of five lovely quilts

PLAN REAL SALVAGE CAMPAIGN FOR VERMILION AND DISTRICT

Permanent Depot and Manager

Plans are now underway for a real salvage campaign for Vermilion and district. A campaign that will start within the next fortnight and continue for the duration of the war. Preliminary arrangements are being made by the town council but a general meeting will be held at an early date and a specific salvage organization set up. It is hoped to secure a large building in town for a salvage depot and to place a man in charge who will be available to handle deliveries made at any time of the day.

Mr. Edward C. Fisher, organizer of the National Salvage campaign for Alberta, was in town on Monday, and addressed the meeting in the Memorial hall on Monday night. This meeting was advertised by the town crier but it was not known then if the organizer would be here.

Mr. Fisher laid the audience of some thirty-six people, just what materials were needed. Those included metals of all kinds, paper, cardboard of all kinds, rags and old clothing, bones and glass. All of these could be disposed of, but all

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

Lord Woolton, minister of food, said that "the war in the Pacific has affected meat supplies" and advised Britons to "learn how to cook vegetables and serve them in a manner which people like."

Lord Croft, parliamentary secretary for the war office, told Britons they must "stamp out fretful querulous criticism" of the empire's armed forces because that is simply playing the enemy's game."

Anti-aircraft fire of the Polish destroyer Kujawiak was so accurate it held off three German bombers, hitting two of them, and enabled a convoy to come though an enemy attack

The United States navy is gambling $2,410,000 on the possibility of salvaging the burned former French liner Normandie from its Hudson river mothbed

A reduction of about one-fourth in Britain's clothes ration starting June 1—from 66 coupons a year to a rate slightly over 51—has been announced

The British Columbia government will construct a bomb-proof vault costing $22,000 in which to store departmental documents that are irreplaceable.

SO YOU'RE GOING TO DO A PLAY!

Plots, fee properties, costuming and advertising, should be prepared early in the plan, and done thoroughly. Costumes must be correct to the period as well as furniture, and adapt it into a definite pattern.

Fine

For a one act play the list is not very long or intricate usually, but for a three act play if the list is not prepared for you, begin early in rehearsals to compile a detailed list. Plan it something like this. "Ladies in Retirement"

Miss Creed, Act 1—Black wool dress, black petticoat, black wool cape, grey ulster hat, black buttons, black bag, black gloves, elastic boots. Act 11—Black silk stripped dress, white cotton apron, black brush coat, cameo pin, purple bonnet, beige gloves.

Publicity Programme

If a daily paper is issued daily and if your play has a snappy title "Penny Wise", "Ladies in Retirement" you might persuade the shopkeepers to use those names in their ads, i.e.: "Better be penny wise than penny foolish when buying your groceries this week." "Ladies in Retirement never know the value of advertising", etc. If the store issues bulletins telling of the specials for the week or so, and overlook that opportunity of going into every door. Write-ups telling of the author, the location of the play and some descriptive of the new thing, is of interest. Another article might tell of the number in the cast and one or two of the most important incidents in the play always leaving the end unsolved. Radio stations now in their daily broadcast have a time for such community advertisements at no charge. Leave no stone unturned in advertising.

Selling Of Tickets

Sometimes a number of casts do not approve of selling tickets. They feel the director time if they spend all the time necessary to produce a good show they have done their share and selling of tickets should be done by someone else. That may be, but one must make know from the first rehearsals that it is their duty to sell ten tickets. They are selling themselves to their friends and admirers, and it is their duty to help put over the show if they are satisfied with the play they are doing.

Next week we'll talk about the speech angle of the play, pointing out the usual pitfalls and how to get around them. So seeing you here next week Mary Elbert Burgess, Box 226, Regina, Sask. 3456

MICKIE SAYS—

The Individual Citizen's Army

A Weekly Column About This And That In The Canadian Army.

By Alan Maurice Irwin

"Form fours right!" Wrong They don't form fours any more. But you know that didn't you? You have seen columns of soldiers marching in threes

You have seen mechanized troops rumbling along the roads in a variety of khaki coloured vehicles of strange shapes and sizes.

But you still wonder what the Individual Citizen's Army does in place of the old parade-ground stuff of. "Form fours"; "At the halt, on the left—"; "Pick up that step in the rear rank, there". "Fix bayonets"; you know the sort of thing

Well even though they don't "form fours" any more there is still a certain amount of parade ground work to be done It's something like crawling before you walk.

And in this Army of ours by the time you walk you really walk.

Let's take it in stages—from civilian clothes to specialized soldier.

There are long phases of training for the mechanized specialist. Phase One is basic training which is common to all arms and services This teaches the new soldier to accustom himself to Army life, trains him in marching and discipline and the use of a number of weapons. Phase Two, to which men are posted if their tests show them to have possibilities as mechanical specialists is carried out in Technical Schools and prepares them for Phase Three, specialized advanced courses carried out at the Canadian Army Trades School, from which highly competent wood and metal-workers, machinists, blacksmiths, welders—and a dozen other types of craftsmen are graduated.

Phase Three many men are posted direct to units to be repair and maintenance men, driver-mechanics etc. Last in the ladder of training is Phase Four, the finishing school for top-notch mechanics known as Armament artificers, instrument-makers and men in such bracketts whose highly technical qualifications fit them for the work of the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps.

We have discussed Ordnance before in these columns but Ordnance has so many ramifications that we will probably discuss it again many times before the picture of the Individual Citizen's Army is complete.

In addition to procurement and storage and practically everything that comes under the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps operates repair and replacement units of varying types from those according to where the work has to be done One unit makes repairs under fire, carrying its workshop there, welding sets, etc right up to the damaged vehicles or guns that have to be fixed up. You'd be surprised to see what can be done by the thoroughly trained men with the proper equipment right out in the battle of a field

Other units, larger and more fully equipped, are ready to handle jobs that require more time. These, of course, are based at greater distances from the front to permit full-scale repair and recovery jobs to be carried out efficiently

"Do you mean to say they make mechanics out of ordinary recruits?" You might ask. Well the answer to that one is yes. It isn't as strange as it sounds. You're not forgetting, are you, that most youngsters nowadays can take the engine of their father's car down, overhaul it and get it up again. And as many a boy of high school age knows more about radio than Marconi operators did a few years ago.

Out of material like that you can turn out a finished mechanic in a few months' time. Just as you can with former motor mechanics, garage-men and automobile factory machinists, many of whom have already joined the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps.

In its various phases the trades training programme teaches more than 100 trades. This is what you might call a double-barrelled job. Right now those schools and training centres are supplying specialists for War.

But when the war is successfully concluded there will come the question of rehabilitation. That's the other barrel!

The young men who are now being trained for war are, actually, being paid while they train for peace. This Army is not going to loose thousands of untrained young men upon industry when peace is signed—it is going to make available skilled tradesmen who can confidently take their places at bench and lathe and take up in civilian life the job of recovering and repair they learned in the Individual Citizen's Army.

Hon. Vincent Massey Warns Against "Magnificent" Of The Mind

High Commissioner Vincent Massey, warning against what he called "magnificent" of the mind, told the Royal Empire Society in London that now is the time for a mental offensive.

In this war we started with a simple faith in fixed defences," the Canadian High Commissioner said. "The Maginot Line stands as a silent, abject monument to a battle lost and an illusion lost with it.

"Yet we are always in danger of something I venture to call Maginotism of the mind mental inertia and a passive attitude—a posture which, like that said fortress line in France, can be outflanked. Our ideas must match the momentum and thrust of our modern weapons in the field."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

THE TRANSFIGURED CHRIST MEETS HUMAN NEED

Golden text: And there was a voice from the cloud, saying, This is my beloved Son: hear him. Luke 9:35.

Lesson: Matthew 17:1-20; Mark 9: 2-29; Luke 9:28-42a.

Devotional reading: John 12:20-28.

Explanations And Comments

On the Mount of Transfiguration. Luke 9:[illegible] And it came to pass about eight days after these sayings. Dr. A. B. Bruce reminds us that the Gospel historians are not wont to be so careful in their indication of time, and their minute accuracy here signifies in effect: "While the foregoing communications and discourses concerning the cross were fresh in the thought of all, the wondrous events we are now to relate took place." It came to pass that Jesus, taking with him his three favored disciples went up into the mountain to pray. If was a beautiful thought that even Jesus craved the presence and sympathy of those whom he loved. And as he was praying, the fashion of his countenance was altered this face did shine as the sun. Matthew's and his raiment became white and dazzling. Even the face of Moses altered after he had been in communion with God on the mount, and we can easily understand what after hours spent in prayer Jesus would be exalted in spirit and a new light would shine from his face, his whole aspect would be changed.

"I take the Transfiguration to be a great lesson on prayer, not to urge that more and more it should enter into our life. It is difficult. It will not be accomplished without a strenuous effort to shake ourselves free of the clinging material things, but it is worth far more than all the efforts we can make. We are living as if this world were all, and often as if there were no God, and I believe that the constant habit of prayer would alter that. It would introduce us to a larger life, would not change our circumstances, but it might change our spirit. It would lead us to live beyond our circumstances, which do change, to the grave and abiding facts of life, through the mists to the everlasting Hills." (Dr. Alexander Brown).

"The Transfiguration is really best understood as a mystic experience of self-detachment and self-forgetfulness which Jesus actually went through soon after the decisive disclosure to the disciples of what lay in store for Him. The whole story is told from the point of view of the disciples. which emphasizes its influence upon them, its true character, as Luke hints, lies in its being a record of the inner life of Jesus." (A. B. Davie).

Herd On Bird Life

Oil From Ships Sunk By Enemy Taking Heavy Toll

Oil from tankers and other craft sunk in naval warfare in the Atlantic is taking its toll of North American bird life, according to the seat coast migratory bird officer of the Department of Mines and Resources.

Observers along the coast report that increasing numbers of water-fowl and sea birds are being washed ashore dead or in dying condition. The oil from crashed vessels or submarines comes to the surface and floats for days in calm patches or slicks that are sometimes over a mile area The birds alight on the oil-calmed water and once their plumage becomes clogged with oil they are unable to fly and have to drift helplessly until cold or starvation brings death.

CHAPTER XIV.

Tamar faced a perfect day, but for the thoughts of what the evening might bring. A late day, with time for talk and play of memories and exciting predictions of the future. Christopher Sande, under Good Host conversation, smoker of good tobacco a man with a way!

It was over too quickly. Tamar were falling The big trees with their beautiful foliage of rich, glowing shade Aristotle crossed within the line of their vision driving a flock of turkeys toward the distant barn lot.

"It's unbelievable. Shadwell is a storybook, and you a Southern belle of long ago. Sitting there with your pipe on the edge of the lawn seat. He waved a gesturing arm toward the panorama of the clipped hedges, the velvet terrace, the steps boy holding the hit-ting ring.

"Tulip trees and magnolia blossoms. Cherokee rose and orioles, mocking birds and towhees; haying, hoeing and flying fences, and——" he broke off sharply. "Listen!"

Tamar leaned forward The sharp explosion meant only one thing. Another shot of dynamite had been set off at the Cricket Hill.

Christopher broke the silence with a deep laugh. "It's incredible! The Randolph ancestors must have turned over in the old burying plot to hear that sound.

Tamar stood up. He had spoken her language just a moment ago, and now the modern implement of gold mining had intruded upon his words. Christopher rose, too.

"It's been a grand day." He was one of her hands, and said softly. "One that I'll always remember."

Tamar felt her hand tremble She withdrew it hurriedly, and hoped that he had not noticed.

"It's time to dress. Ranny and Selby will be here in a short time." she smiled at him.

"And I'm slower than usual, too May I take your arm, please?"

She walked with him slowly across the stone floor of the verandah As they entered the cool, wide hall they heard Phoebe's voice supplanting:

"Dry bones gonna rise again ——"

"Dry bones gonna go when you Light goes out."

Dry bones gonna rise again ——"

Christopher looked down in one of the chairs. I'll let Phoebe and Aristotle help me up the stairs." he said

"Ridin' a bump-back mule Lawd,

"Ridin' a bump-back mule," sang old Phoebe, indifferently mixing her songs tonight.

Tamar laughed with him as the rich voice floated out

"Run darkey run patter-roll ketch yo'.

Run, darkey run, patter-roll ketch yo'.

Jump the fence and run through de pasture

White man runs, but darkey run faster."

Tamar said: "We're going to have beaten biscuits. I can always tell

She has a rhythmic beat that she used for the patter-roll song, come on, and I'll show you!"

They pushed the door open a crack to see Phoebe standing, big wooden spoon moving in circles in time with her words, "run darkey, run, de patter-roll ketch yo'. White dear up to black elbows, big eyes rolling, white teeth flashing and body swaying.

Tamar closed the door softly, and, laying her fingers over her lips, cautioned him: "Don't ever let her know that you overheard her. And she'll get the conjure man after you."

They tiptoed back to the seat in the entrance. "Shadwell is a dear rather, some night, when there's a moon, we'll go down to the woods on the banks of the creek and watch them at the meetin' house."

Christopher caught up one of her hands "It's a date," he said.

The screen door at the side entrance slammed and she jumped. Aristotle, eyes unaccustomed to the dimness of the hall, could not see them, but ambled on toward the kitchen.

"—de patter-roll will ketch"—Aristotle! Did you take off yo' shc..s? A-rinchin, right in on his clean floo' what I mopped!"

"I'll run on up now. Call Aristotle when you need him." Tamar said, hurrying toward the stairs. Her heart was behaving strangely.

In her room Tamar looked unanimously at her reflection in the full-length mirror. Then she picked up her hand-mirror and eyed herself critically Warm color lighted her cheeks, red lips parted, blue eyes shining. Ciceless! Every one will know, she told herself. Plunging her love for him like this! But how could she hide it? She wanted to sing, and she wanted to cry at the same time.

The sun, which used to be just a sun, was now a glorious ball of dazzling the western sky with crimson rays of deckle-edged gold. In the distance she heard the lowing of cows and the clacking of gourds which Madcap whinnied and suddenly galloped across the hard ground to the pasture.

Tamar stared in disbelief. That was a tear on her hand. Why should she cry about Christopher Sande? She brushed it off quickly and walked deliberately to her closet.

Her one good white formal had given place to a row of pretty dresses. As she had bought them, she named to herself, why? Where could she possibly go to wear them?

But she had known all along that she was buying for evening wear when she might dress for Christopher Sande.

White moire, green shoulder strap red roses Sweetheart neck and fitted basque wide, stiffly flaring skirt Tamar considered the picture in the remembered. Black and shining curls piled high cheeks faintly flushed crimson lips parted, those eyes deeply blue. Yes, when she might dress for Christopher Sande.

Down the stairs with head held proudly.

Ranzamie Todd sat in the window seat of the library vantage point where he could watch her entrance. "Christopher, Miss Tamar, come in the dark eager eyes studying Tamar Hello Ranny It's nice that you could come for dinner." They moved together down the long hallway.

Ranny, shoulders taller than her escort, smiled down at her. "You're the highest quality of most mistaken girl I've met in a long time. Christopher, I've got every wealth it needed. I make a A University so for 11 with a dot after it—Phi Beta Kappa. And I'm the best lengthiest. Small pot-belly and bald patches I'll be by the time I'm thirty."

Both men and all women turned from ecking while the conversation shifted from golf to politics, to the latest developments from Europe and to personal appreciation of the delicious dinner that proves the gourmet ability of the girl in the kitchen.

Is Your Liver Poisoning You?

Are you sick and tired out every morning—always constipated — can't get without pep and distress? Your liver is poisoning your system — poisoning it! Health may be the result!

If your liver is the largest organ in your body and more important to your health. It supplies energy to muscles, tissues and glands. Unhealthy, your body lacks this energy and becomes underweight, pale, sickly looking. Again your liver pours out bile to digest food. If bile is not pouring into the proper quantities, food may sour in your stomach, gas may form and cause pressure and indigestion. Or undigested food may poison you. You become constipated, stomach and kidneys can't work properly. The whole system is affected and you feel "rotten," headachy, backachy, dizzy, tired out—a ready prey for sickness and disease!

The wonder of it is you are never sick, and have won prompter relief than these scientific well known Carter's Little Liver Tablets. The liver is toned up, the other organs functions normally and lasting good health results. Today "Improved Formula" Carter's Little Liver Tablets are in larger yellow liver tablets. Shadwell for this long. "Good evening, Mr. Sande. I'm sorry that you were injured."

"Thanks. Nice to see you, Mr. Todd." Christopher Sande held out his left hand. "Other circumstances might have made the accident less enjoyable! But Miss Randolph has very pleasantly laid the hospitality of Shadwell at my feet. If you know what that means."

"Yes. Oh, yes, I do know what that means." Ranny assured him, and Tamar thought, oh, dear! There they go again! And Ranny thought: The ego of the brute. Why shouldn't I know Shadwell's hospitality?

What kind of conversational channels must she guide them safely into? She made an attempt: "Do tell Mr. Todd about your new amalgamation mill, Christopher."

"I've been out at Cricket Hill, Tam, and your father took me all through the building and showed me the equipment that is going to be installed next week. It really is quite an affair, isn't it?" he asked her.

Mr. Sande has missed some of the later details——" If there was a shading of the tone used on the word Mr. Sande, Ranny displayed no evidence of having done it purposely

Ransome sprang to his feet. "There's Selby. I'm sorry I didn't know that she was coming. I'd certainly have asked for her. I'll just run out and tell her that I'll take her home so she can send the car back

"They are having lonely people" Sande murmured as the two came in presently together.

Tamar looked at them quickly. Ransome and Selby? What had never thought about them in that way; Ranny certainly seemed to be intent upon Selby's every word.

"Selby, I've been wanting to talk with you about ——" he broke off abruptly as Tamar and Christopher came. Tamar led the room with cocktails

Ransome stole a quick glance at Christopher Sande The man was positively basking in the attention that he was receiving. Selby didn't want to kick the leather ottoman viciously. What could Tamar see in the man?

Gardening

Keep Them Growing

The secret of high-quality, tender vegetables is quick, unchecked growth and freshness. In the case of carrots, beets, beans peas and such things growing quickly and steadily from start to finish is necessary for tenderness. To do it, authorities advise plenty of moisture at planting where possible until there are three leaves developed. Then keep the ground the quick steady growth the plants need. Water thoroughly and make sure that no time is lost between picking and the table. Most vegetables lose their tenderness rapid-ly when stored. Down the stairs with head held proudly.

MANY TOPICS AT BOARD OF TRADE MEETING

A variety of topics of interest to the town and district were discussed at the board of trade meeting on Monday among them being the use of the V.S.A. buildings. In this connection it was decided to write several letters to see if some action can be stirred up. The army train, which will be due on Saturday April 11th, will very likely prove a big attraction and arrangements for its reception will probably be in the hands of a joint committee under the direction of the Canadian Legion. The organization of a salvage committee and campaign was also noted.

The next meeting of the board of trade will be on Monday March 30 at 12.10 in the Elks hall. A large turnout of business men farmers and citizens should attend this and every meeting of the board. It is an organization which, with the help of everyone, can be a great factor in the prosperity of the town. Some profits not to attend, merely sit back and criticize, but are willing to cash in on whatever results are forthcoming to the town from the board's endeavors. Usually a small minority turn in and do the best they can, despite all obstacles. Everyone is welcome at every meeting, and remember—the next one will be held every Monday; the Elks hall at 12 to noon.

WILDMERE WINKS

We are indeed sorry to hear that Alex Garnett, Basewood, and Jimmie Nash of town are both ill with pneumonia in the hospital. We wish them a quick recovery, also to Mr. George Webb who is in the hospital too.

How many listened to the talk given by Mr. Howe Monday night on the scrap iron and rubber shortage. He gave us to understand that when our present tires were worn out we were through as far as getting other, were concerned. As a matter of belief used for hot water bottles or fan-wear we may not be able to get even those next year. But it will help the war we can do without and keep our chins up too.

Wonder what is causing all the brilliant sun rays like spring? They were very bright on Saturday afternoon again. Last time cold weather followed in their wake.

Pte. Earl Graham of the Ordnance Corps, has been shifted to our south-ern city. His family will continue to reside in Edmonton.

R. Gilbolme returned home early day after working the past two months in the Parliament Bldgs. in Edmonton. On Sunday Elsie Gilbolme of the Army Corp stationed in central Manitoba and who is recovering from pneumonia and mumps got three days leave so came home too. She goes back Tuesday.

Mr and Mrs. Kenneth Isley and daughter Donna who have spent the winter in Manitou, returned to their home in Tribune on Saturday last. Mr. and Mrs Bob Martin looked after their farm while they were away and have now moved to Mrs T. Riley's home for the present.

A good crowd turned out to curl on Saturday, but old man cold weather was against them as the ice was all covered with water. They tried hard to curl but it was no use finally. Those who came out enjoyed themselves though as we all like a little chilly weather though as we usually do, and like winter. Curlers have been used right through with very little trouble.

Mrs. A. B. Thomas arrived from Regina on Tuesday and is visiting her daughter Mrs. H. H. Lewis and family for a few weeks.

Mrs. C. W. Lewis, Miss A. Long and Chris Thomson and family were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Wolters on Sunday March 15th the occasion being little Irene's third birthday. All enjoyed a very pleasant time.

Brenda Lewis was home for a visit the first of the week but has now returned to the south to finish her work.

Arthur Lewis has joined the colors and is now stationed at Camrose.

Mr and Mrs J. W. Lemon and Mrs M. Webber called for a short visit with Grandma Wolters on sunday. They called in to see Grandma Lewis the same afternoon.

Mr and Mrs Kenneth Stone and Donna returned to their farm last week after being away in Manitoba all winter.

Clarence Lemon and Billy Lewis celebrated their birthdays on the 22nd March 22

TOLLAND

March was a most springlike month until the 21st which was supposed to be the first day of spring but the cold winds sprung up that day and made it seem more like winter. We don't usually complain about a little chilly weather though as we usually do like winter. Cars have been used right through with very little trouble.

SALVAGE —

Vermilion and adjoining districts are now being organized for a real salvage campaign which will last for the duration of the war. During this coming week committees will be appointed and soon all citizens will be urged to ransack their farm yards, garages, basements, cubby holes, back yards and attics for waste materials which may then be turned to account in the production of munitions and war time supplies. Turn waste into use is the object of the Dominion-wide salvage drive and the Vermilion district must do its part.

Unfortunately the so-called tin can is not among the articles wanted, no way having been found to make use of that ubiquitous nuisance. With this exception though, almost every thing the ordinary family dumps in the garbage can is on the list of acceptables. Metals of all kinds, paper such as old magazines, newspapers and even paper cereal, bones, bottles, old clothes, rags, and many other articles are included.

It can truthfully be said that salvage has not yet been taken very seriously in Vermilion, chiefly because of lack of knowledge of the project and of markets for the salvage. These flaws have now been ironed out and within a week or two Vermilion and district will have a salvage drive in full swing that will last for the duration of the war.

Salvaging is important to war effort and right now tons of war materials are being made from scrap collected from Canadian homes such as yours and mine and behind the salvage campaign, carry on the good work—every day, of every week. Help win this war at your own back door!

Seed Seed for Germination To Calgary

Many farmers are losing valuable time in getting their seed germinated because they are forwarding samples to the Field Crops Branch, Edmonton, instead of to the Plant Products Div., Department of Agriculture, Calgary. Seed, on which a germination test is desired, should be sent to the Plant Products Division, Department of Agriculture, Calgary.

There is a fee of 75c per sample for this service and the quantity of grain required is at least one pound of wheat, oats or barley.

PHYSICAL TRAINING CLASS TO PRESENT VARIETY SHOW

The boys' and girls' classes are presenting a physical training variety show on Friday evening March 27th in the Masonic Hall. The program beginning at 8.30 will include the activities carried on all winter in the P.T. classes. After the program a dance will be held. The members of the classes are busy selling tickets and everyone approached is asked to buy to help along this good work. The evening will be an enjoyable one.

WEATHER TURNS —

March 21, last Saturday, supposed to mark the first day of spring, was a beautiful day, but it signalled a change back to winter, as Sunday was cold and blizzardy while the temperature slipped to 4-below during the night, almost an unheard of thing this winter. The weather has since been bright but the thermometers haven't worked their way above the freezing point since last Saturday.

PROVINCE-WIDE ESSAY CONTEST BEING SPONSORED

Open to All Students of Grades 10, 11 and 12

A province-wide essay contest on "Some Reasons Why I Refuse to Consume Alcoholic Beverages" is being sponsored by the Associated Temperance Forces of Alberta and is open to all students in Alberta of Grades 10, 11 and 12.

Students in the Vermilion district should send their entries to the Associated Temperance Forces of Alberta, 713 Tegler Bldg., Edmonton.

The first prize will be twenty-five dollars, second, fifteen, third, ten, fourth, six, and fifth four dollars.

Rules of contest as follows:

Factual material from any source may be used.

Each essay submitted must be accompanied by a statement from the school principal that the construction and style is the students own effort.

Essay to contain not less than six hundred words or more than twelve hundred.

Judging shall be based upon the following rules: Factual material, 70 points; Style 15 and construction 15.

All essays must be in hands of the judges by May 1st.

Judges decision will be final.

A committee of three judges shall be chosen within each of the eight districts, who shall judge the essays and send on to the head office the best ten essays from their respective districts, where another committee of three judges shall be appointed to pass final decision and award the prizes accordingly).

NEW CREDIT UNIONS

Incorporation of two new Alberta credit unions in January brought to 49 the number of such savings and loan co-operatives in the province. The new unions are Northern Telephone, composed of certain Alberta Government Telephones employees in the Edmonton area and East Coulee, a credit union of the community type.

Assets of Alberta credit unions at the end of January were placed at $189,562.10, compared with $181,194.48 at the end or December , 1941. ... new loans made to members for provident purposes since inception of the movement is $545,119.43, compared with the December total of $538,691.13. There are now 4,781 active members of credit unions in the province.

Preliminary study prior to formal application for charter is being given to credit union principles by varied groups in various parts of the province. Among these are civic and civil servants, teachers, parishioners, community workers and others having a common bond of interest. Officials of the credit union branch, department of trade and industry, report that 21 groups appear to be definitely forming into credit unions. More than 250 contacts with interested persons were made during the month through correspondence and interviews.

BOWTELL BULLETIN

The last meeting of the Day Gros was held at the home of Mrs. Harrison Gross on at Mrs. Gross' request the tasks were tied to the latter's home. 12"Bombers were present with Mrs. Gross as a visitor. The bright quilt made by Mrs. Bedford and Mrs. Harrison is all finished and tickets are now being sold with proceeds for war purposes. The next meeting is to be held at Mrs. Kovaluk's and hostess will be served by the hostess at Mrs. Kovaluk.

Miss T. Walsh and Georgie Lund are hospital patients but latest reports are that they are both doing nicely.

Grandma McGinnis has now returned home after spending two months with her daughter Mrs. Gross.

Norman McClellan Re-Elected As Reeve

The statutory meeting of the M. D. of Vermilion Valley was held Saturday March 21. Those present were Crs. Gordon, McClellan, Shepherd, McPhee, Lord and Kent.

The meeting was opened by the R.O. Mr. W.R. Simonds. His report showed that Mr. Kent was elected in Div. 6 and that H. A. Waterfield was elected to the relay hospital. He then called for nominations for Reeve. On motion of Cr. Lord, Norman McClellan was appointed reeve for 1942. Reeve McClellan then took the chair.

Cr. David McPhee was appointed Dep. Reeve for the first half of 1942.

The Reeve or Dep. Reeve and Sec.-Treas. were appointed to transact all banking business for 1942. Farquhar, Johnstone & Company were appointed auditors for 1942 with a request that a check up be made in July and October. A request for a review of Township 53-6 (referring to the 8% of that Township to be included with Township 51-6-4. The usual fees to Councillors for attendance at meetings was read. There was no change in these figures except

POST WAR REHABILITATION

Resolution of the same earlier resolutions adopted by the Legislature was that calling upon the federal authorities to "guarantee loan, share plans for post-war reconstruction and rehabilitation." The resolution introduced by C. E. Gerhart, Coronation, seconded by C. Mr. Speakman's amendment would have endorsed what he termed the principles underlying the present legislation announced from Ottawa

Lieut.-Governor May Have Term of Office Extended

Term of Hon. J. C. Bowen as Lieutenant Governor of Alberta is drawing to a close. He was appointed for five years on March 22, 1937, succeeding Col. P.C.H. Primrose, who died in office. Press dispatches come indicating reports that the present Governor may have his term extended, but no official information in this effect has yet been received at the Governor's office.

Everyone housebroke is now busy with preparations for the Easter holidays, both family and school. The first two classes are the most important and are beginning to show in our prairie gardens. For no reason, there is nothing to equal Alyssum and Lobelia. They are compact and low growing and need either alone or together. Of the former, Carpet of Snow is the best and of the latter, Crystal Palace dwarf deep blue and Mrs. Clib is. It has a distinct purple tint. Another good edging plant is the double Dwarf Bedding, known in the catalogues as Bellis Perennis. In either white or rose it is easy to grow and although treated as an annual, is a true perennial. These can be alternated with the plainy French marigold to make a fine display.

All the foregoing are treated as hardy annuals although it is well not to plant out the lobelia too early. There are some fine border plants such as dwarf nasturtiums. Removed the compact variety with its wide range of color decoration, blue cup is very good but I understand the new variety, midget blue is better, being more compact.

"Flowers To Plant"

An enjoyable gardener approached me the other day and asked, "I never know which variety of flowers to select in the spring", so proudly here goes for an article dealing with just that subject.

We will deal with that all important class of flowers first, viz, the annuals, or to be more explicit, the flowers that are sown in the spring produce flowers, then seed and die in the fall. They are divided into three classes, hardy, half hardy, and tender. The first two classes are the most important and are beginning to show in our prairie gardens. For no reason, there is nothing to equal Alyssum and Lobelia. They are compact and low growing and need either alone or together. Of the former, Carpet of Snow is the best and of the latter, Crystal Palace dwarf deep blue and Mrs. Clib is. It has a distinct purple tint. NOTICE OF MANPOWER REGISTRATION

At the request of the Honourable Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labour, and the Secretary of Order-in-Council under the War Measures Act, the Unemployment Insurance Commission is registering all persons in industries coming within the scope of the Unemployment Insurance Act, 1940.

It is mandatory that the Registration Cards now being supplied to employers be completed for ALL employees, insured and non-insured, and forwarded to the Local Office of the Commission by March 31st.

This Is An Important War Undertaking

The skills and training of every worker in Canada must be known in order that they may be used to the best advantage. This is the first step towards complete registration of man-power.

Renew Unemployment Insurance Books Before April 1

To avoid duplication of effort, the above registration is being combined with the renewal of Unemployment Insurance Books.

A supply of new books will be mailed promptly on receipt at your local Employment and Claims Office, of completed registration forms and the old books stamped for the last pay period in March.

For details consult the Commission's Local Office without delay.

LOST THEIR SUGAR

Tipped off that large quantities of sugar had been delivered during the rationing period to Japanese residents of Hillcrest, Vancouver Island the British Columbia Provincial police visited the home of Mr. Masaiti Kazou and Takeuki Yoshiki. They found two unopened 100 pound sacks of sugar in the one place and one unopened 100-pound sack in the other—all above the "house rationing" allowance.

After conferring with the Regional Representative of the W. P. and T. Board, the police handed all three sacks to the custodian of alien enemy property, for confiscation. Both of the offenders are to be moved out of the coast district, together with the Japanese chair who supplied them

THE JOB MUST BE DONE
- Let's Do It!

As Winston Churchill said: "We can beat the life out of the Savage Nazis."

We can't beat them unless we have more and better weapons.

And the only way to get more and better weapons is to raise the money to pay for them.

Other than by taxation, the only way to raise money is for Canada to borrow it. The only way for Canada to borrow enough is for EVERYONE to lend.

Equine Encephalomyelitis

(Issued by Alberta Dept. of Agric.)

Sentence of death hangs over thousands of valuable horses in Alberta today. Equine Encephalomyelitis may strike suddenly and reach epidemic proportions. Not since 1925 has the danger been so great. In 1928, due to the extensive use of "chick" vaccine, the disease was kept under control But in 1940 there were sufficient cases to cause the provincial authorities to issue a warning that the annual threat is still present over wide-spread areas. Should conditions be favorable to an outbreak this year the disease will spread on a large scale.

There is one proven way to protect horses from this silent killer. It is by vaccinating with "chick" vaccine. The protection is highly effective and it is the most satisfactory agent known to produce immunity.

Vaccinate horses early in the season, preferably before the commencement of spring work. When possible keep horses at rest for twenty-four hours after vaccination, and vaccinate young colts a few days after birth. Never vaccinate in any spot subject to rubbing or friction by saddle or harness.

It is important that vaccination be performed by a competent person—a registered vet., or a man trained by a veterinarian. Should the owner wish to vaccinate his own horses he is warned to take every antiseptic precaution.

Horse owners of Alberta face a real responsibility in the matter of vaccination. First of all there is danger of human infection. It is now generally accepted that Equine Encephalomyelitis may infect humans. It is obvious, in the light of this fact, that vaccination of horses will first of all assist in the safeguarding of public health, and secondly protect the owner's investment in horseflesh.

Another important aspect of horse vaccination is that of national economy. In these critical times it is possible that horses may suddenly be required on a large scale for purposes of national defense or the nation's war effort, and the preservation of existing stocks is therefore an imperative

Vaccinate early with "chick" vaccine and keep the silent killer in abeyance. Protect investment, human life and the nation's wealth by immunizing your horses in the manner recommended by all competent authorities. "Chick" vaccine is the horse owner's first line of defense against the onslaught of this disease.

Hollywood recently paid another tribute—to Cecil B. deMille on the event of his thirtieth anniversary as a motion picture director. Among this veteran's direction no better drama-hour is offered to the listening audience than the outstanding Lux Radio Theatre. It's the highlight of everyone's Monday evening, and for and unfortunate are those who miss its true entertainment value.

Elmer Davies, creator of that pixieish comedy — Charlie McCarthy — and his buddy cousin, Mortimer Snerd, is emerging in a new role as a patron of the arts. Dergon is lending financial support to a city-modelled centre in Hollywood, with an output which is acclaimed the finest in the country by inspectors who are now unable to import European wave. One of the first works created by the Dergon creative centre was a William Tell group of Charlie and Mortimer—with Snerd on the receiving end.

THE WORLD OF WHAT

By H. G. L. Strange
Director, Research Department, Searle Grain Co., Ltd.

Prairie farmers, it is evident, are anxious and willing to increase their flax acreage to assist Canada in securing more oil for war purposes.

Flax intended for seed should be cleaned for germination. The seed should not be treated with Formaldehyde but pith a mercurial dust, either Ceresan or Leytosan, following the manufacturer's directions most carefully.

The new Royal flax, or the variety Dilam, are suitable for Saskatchewan and Manitoba; Red Wing for Alberta; seeding at from 25 to 40 pounds to the acre. Flax should not be seeded on stubble, but only on summerfallow that is reasonably free from weeds. The University of Saskatchewan obtained good results sowing flax and wheat together on the same field, using one half a bushel of flax and half a bushel of wheat, or three pecks of wheat and one peck of flax.

Combination sowing must be as shallow as possible, as the flax can be seeded separately and shallow immediately after the wheat. Flax for seed must be well cleaned from weed seeds. An ordinary fanning mill, with the proper screens, will make a good job of cleaning flax provided the rate of cleaning is slowed down, and the machine is kept absolutely level.

Registered or Certified seeds are the best, because relative freedom from weed seeds, high germination and the best yields are ensured.

Following factors have tended to raise price: Crop prospects in Continental Europe continue to be unfavorable — Spain's 1941 wheat crop has been revised downward — Heavy supplies of American and Canadian wheat are going to Mexico—Navigation on the Great Lakes is expected to open much earlier this season.

Following factors have tended to lower price: The United Kingdom plans to increase still further production of bread grains—Unfavorable war news from the Pacific would mean has unsettled North American markets—North American and Argentine supplies of wheat and corn are of record proportion.

ISLAND HILL

St. Patrick's Day will linger long in the memory of those who attended the very successful and original dance held at the hall on Monday night. Artists within a radius of fifteen miles were represented and some were camefrom as far afield as Calgary and Edmonton. The Victory orchestra, a new organization which made its debut at the hall, dispensed music that was highly enjoyed by all. Fred Gould of Islay is in charge and has every right to be proud of his new aggregation.

A dainty lunch was served by Mrs. McCambridge and Mrs. Kinney. A pleasing interlude was the singing of Corporal McCambridge. Miss Mary McCambridge, E. Phillips, Dick McDaniel and Bart Harmon. A special word of thanks is due Joe McCann bridge, Pat and Willie Brady who worked hard to clear the snow away to enable cars to reach the hall. The hall committee wish to convey their very best thanks to Al Searle and Thos Mitz for giving permission to make a road through their land to bring found impassible to clear the road. Everyone came to Willies Dance. Mrs. McDaniel looked after the dough and Mr. Sweeney made a very capable M. C.

Next dance at the hall will be held Friday April 17th. Full particulars will be advertised in the Standard.

Corporal McCambridge who came from Calgary and Pat Dynes from Edmonton especially to attend the dance told us they take a very active part in soccer football. They were, as many of our readers know, very successful players of Island Hill club. Pat Dynes was accompanied by Mrs. Dynes and baby and his sister Miss Dynes.

Spring must be here — Crows and robbers have appeared.

Independence For India

In a radio address a few months ago, the Right Hon. Winston Churchill declared that we would withstand the enemy, "even though he hammered at the gates of India." This was a dramatic phrase, and it is likely that at that time a large portion of the audience thought of it more as a fine piece of oratory than as an ominous warning of what lay ahead. Since then we have gone to war with Japan, and one by one the Empire's defences in the Far East have fallen, until now its aggressor is indeed close to the very gates of India. At the same time, a crisis has arisen in the long-standing demands of the people of India for Dominion status. These demands have been very closely considered by the British Government, and a plan for complete self-government after the war is now being submitted to the leaders of those factions which are most urgent in their stand for immediate independence.

• • • •

A Divided People

The great impediment in the way of self-government for India lies in the divided political life of the country. Powerful groups, notably the Sikhs, the Moslems, and the Indian States ruled by native princes, have not agreed among themselves as to the conduct of an independent state, and while this dissension exists, there is danger that a serious internal struggle would follow the creation of a self-governing parliament. Even Indian leaders themselves express small hope that any degree of unity can be reached within the country. At the same time the British Government insists that in granting Dominion status to India, it must see that none of its pledges to minority groups and the depressed classes, are broken. In this connection Mr. Churchill recently stated: 'In order to clothe these general declarations with precision, and to convince all classes, race and creeds in India of our sincere resolve, the War Cabinet have agreed unitedly upon conclusions for present and future action which, if accepted by India as a whole, would avoid the alternative dangers. Either that resistance of a powerful minority might impose an indefinite veto upon the wishes of the majority, or that a majority decision might be taken which would be resisted to a point destructive of internal harmony and fatal to the setting up of a New Constitution."

• • • •

Will Submit Proposals

The fact that Sir Stafford Cripps was chosen to take the proposals to India, shows the sincerity of the British Government in its desire to reach an understanding on the problem. Sir Stafford's fine work as ambassador to Russia during the period of strained relations with that country were of the most delicate nature, and later, during the critical months after Russia's entry into the war, has made him one of the most outstanding figures in British public life today. As Lord of the Privy Seal, he has a high seat in responsible office in the British Government, and it is a tribute to the people of India that he was sent to discuss their problems, and present Britain's offers to them. Mr. Churchill has said that India is one of the bases from which counter-attacks in the war in the Pacific will be launched. The people of India have already shown a fine spirit in supporting their country's war effort. They are being asked now, not only by the British Government, but by all the other people of the Empire, to carry out the appeal made to them by Lord Linlithgow, their viceroy, "to close ranks and stand shoulder to shoulder against the aggressor." The Empire at large will follow with the deepest interest the delicate mission that has been entrusted to Sir Stafford Cripps and it is to be hoped that some satisfactory solution may be found whereby the different factions may be able to meet on common ground. At this critical period in the war a united India with its teeming millions would prove an important factor in deciding the issues of the war.

Equine Encephalomyelitis

A Short History Of The Disease Written By Dr. J. S. Peters, B.V.S., Veterinary Pathologist

Although the history of equine encephalomyelitis is well known to many, it is well perhaps to review the matter and mention some of the more recent findings in connection with the disease that stock owners may fully appreciate not only the economic side, but the newer aspect, that pertaining to public health.

Sleeping sickness of horses in Saskatchewan was first recognized as such in 1935 when a fairly extensive outbreak occurred. In 1936, few cases appeared, but in 1937, a second and more extensive epidemic occurred, followed in 1938 by one that was so severe that some 15,000 horses were lost.

It was extremely difficult at first to control the disease since there was no suitable immunizing agent available. In 1938, however, Chick Embryo vaccine was introduced, which we have found to be almost 100% effective in fact it is quite safe to state that a horse properly vaccinated against the disease certainly will not contract the disease. In spite of this fact, only a few are under the practice of preventive medicine. Unfortunately the opportunity has not been grasped, with the result that cases have developed annually. Because the disease could perhaps have been completely controlled had vaccine been used more freely.

After the extensive outbreak of 1938, stock owners generally alarmed, with the result that, in the spring of 1939, about 450 000 horses were vaccinated in the Province of Saskatchewan. Although the value of this program had any bearing on the incidence of the disease that year, it is true that very few cases occurred, and those which did were confined to non-vaccinated animals. Because of the freedom from the disease in 1939, it was thought by some less interest in vaccination in the spring of 1940. Consequently, many horses were not given protection. Luck was again with us that year, and, although the disease appeared throughout the Province, there was nothing approaching epidemic.

Because of comparative freedom from the disease for two years, many were of the opinion that further vaccination was unnecessary and very little was done in the spring of 1941. With amazing suddenness, however, an outbreak appeared in the middle of June cases being recognized in widely distant parts of the Province at the same time. Since manufacturing concerns anticipated another large spring vaccination, large stocks were on hand early in the year; when the outbreak occurred most of this vaccine was out-dated and of no value. Owing to an extensive outbreak in the United States, American companies were unable to send further shipments of new vaccine and, because of this, there was an acute shortage throughout western Canada. That as many horses as possible be protected, the Department of Veterinary Science at the University of Saskatchewan increased production and distributed sufficient vaccine to keep the outbreak fairly well under control. This was accomplished with a great deal of difficulty and much sacrifice on the part of the staff of the Department who worked long hours throughout the season.

That such an unfortunate situation may not arise this year, I strongly advise stock owners to vaccinate their animals in April or May; do not wait until an outbreak occurs. The loss by death of one or two horses is very much greater than the necessary outlay for the protection of a balanced stud, or for the purchase of a bottle of serum to treat one developed case. In many instances the loss to farmers walled until the disease actually appeared in their district, and many until it appeared in their own stables before they acted. It should be realized that horses may yet be necessary for the carrying on of our agricultural pursuits; mechanical power may be seriously difficult to obtain and the consumption of fuel may be further curtailed at any time. Therefore, horses for the operation of truck and tractor power may be in the very near future conditions that seems to be economically sound to protect every available horse. Generally should work horses be vaccinated as well since they may be absolutely essential in the future to work on the farm, or to take the place of delivery trucks in the city, in the very shortly may be of the road entirety.

During the years encephalomyelitis was common among horses in Saskatchewan physicians reported an increasing number of cases of encephalitis in man, and the question arose as to whether or not there was any relationship between the two infections. In 1938, the year the disease was so prevalent in horses, some 60 cases were recognized in man, and, during the following year, we isolated the equine virus from three human cases. Just prior to this discovery, workers in the United States also found that man was susceptible to the Eastern type of the horse virus. Although it was definitely shown that man could contract the horse disease and, as a result, people had to unify died in Saskatchewan little interest was taken in the matter until last year when the most extensive human epidemic ever recorded occurred in the northern States, Manitoba and Saskatchewan. During the course of this outbreak, we were successful in isolating the virus or germ from two cases, and later proved by blood tests that the entire outbreak was due to the same germ as equine encephalomyelitis. In Saskatchewan alone, 500 persons contracted the disease; eight per cent of these died.

To state that horses were responsible for the human epidemic would be unwise because of our limited knowledge of how the human infection occurs. It is true, however, that the elimination of this disease in the horse—undoubtedly a virus reservoir when infected—appears to be sound practice, and this can only be done by vaccinating each year. No one can predict what may happen in the future in regard to human or equine outbreaks, but, the behavior of the horse disease is any criterion we must not neglect the human disease will never occur.

There are a number of points in connection with the spring and fall outbreaks that are very similar. For example, when the equine disease first appeared in Saskatchewan, it undoubtedly travelled from the northern United States to Manitoba and then in the southern part of Saskatchewan. After several outbreaks, it appeared that the virus had become established in our Province and had lived over the winter in it. This has also suggested in the fact that the 1938 and 1941 epidemics were up in all parts of the Province at the same time and definitely pointed to a winter infection. The first human outbreak commenced in the extreme south and travelled northward as did the equine fall outbreak. Last season, however, much more territory was covered, cases being recognized as far north as Saskatoon. If this virus is unstable after the development of virus this season, we may, therefore, expect another human outbreak which may be much more serious than any in the past. Although, as I have already mentioned, we have no definite proof that mosquitoes are responsible for these epidemics, we do know that a sick horse is a constant source of danger to those coming in contact with him, and that it is unsafe for persons to become infected when treating and handling diseased animals.

Encephalomyelitis is strictly a seasonal disease occurring during the fly season and, because of this, many workers are of the opinion that it is carried by insects. Mosquitoes have been proven capable of transferring the disease from sick to healthy experimental animals, and it seems quite probable that they are vectors in the field. Even if this be true, I am quite convinced that they are just as dangerous for the carrying of virus, as the disease is very often extremely prevalent in seasons and areas where mosquitoes are few or absent. Last year, for example, in the northern part of Saskatchewan, there were very few mosquitoes, but the disease appeared equally as prevalent as in the south of there mosquitoes were very numerous. Again, the human epidemic, although it was more widely spread northward out of the mosquito belt, started and continued to do so until late fall. It appears, however, that wherever possible, mosquitoes should be controlled and every precaution taken to protect animals and people from all biting insects.

I am aware that in many districts there are insufficient veterinary surgeons to undertake the vaccinating of horses; in these parts it will be necessary for farmers to do their own. That this may be done, rather than calling the local "horse Man" who through his careless methods may carry the disease from farm to another, I suggest the following procedure:

1. Secure a 10 cc hypodermic syringe equipped with two needles, this may be purchased at almost any local drug store. Immerse the syringe and the needles in boiling water for twenty minutes before using them.

2. Clip and thoroughly cleanse with rubbing alcohol a small area of the horse's neck half way between the shoulder and the head.

3. Attach a needle to the syringe; insert it through the rubber cap on the bottle containing the vaccine and draw the contents into the syringe.

4. With the left hand, hold out the skin of the prepared area of the horse's neck; introduce the needle beneath the skin and inject the vaccine.

5. Remove the needle; with clean gauze, saturated with rubbing alcohol, cleanse the point of injection, and the prepared area of the neck again.

6. After using the needle, place it in a small vessel, such as an egg cup, containing rubbing alcohol where it should remain until required again for the next operation.

7. Blow the rubbing alcohol out of the needle before using it again; this can be done best by (a) pulling the plunger of the syringe half way up (b) attaching the needle, and (c) blowing out the alcohol.

8. Be sure to handle the needle always by the base, not by the point, so as not to contaminate the part to be introduced beneath the skin.

9. Chick vaccine must be kept at ice box temperature (from 32 to 40 degrees F.) until preparations for using it are completed; it loses its effectiveness quickly when kept at higher temperatures.

It should be understood that the vaccine supply may be limited because there will be but three sources of supply for Canada this year—the Lederle Company, New York, the Cutter Company, California; and the Department of Veterinary Science, University of Saskatchewan, Saskatoon. The Department of Veterinary Science has already prepared considerable quantities and will continue to do so until the demand is taken care of. These vaccines may be bought at drug stores and other stores that handle drug supplies.

Inventory Will Be Taken Of Man Power In Canada

Vancouver.—Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, federal minister of labor, told Canadians of the governments plan for further mobilization of Canada's man and woman power commencing April 1.

Under the plan, Mr. Mitchell said, the government would obtain a "manpower inventory" of more than 5,000,000 workers throughout the country.

This inventory, he said, would be taken through the unemployment insurance commission and employers, starting April 1, in order to keep the records up to date, those workers coming within the purview of the unemployment insurance act, would be asked to register. At the same time, he said, employers who are not in favorable because of high earnings or other reasons, will also be asked to register.

"I assure you there will be no effort spared to make the plan effective," Mr. Mitchell said. "All have been asking for total war effort—these of every political party, every section of our country. Mr. Ilsley has been asking for full use of man power—may I say—well, you are going to get it."

"There will be, I am afraid, some features of it which may be difficult and disagreeable; things we will not like. However, we are now convinced that while ire plan must go through, it will be made as free from objectionable and compulsory features as possible."

Mr. Mitchell said that when his department completed the task of registration, completes its task, it will have "what might be described as a manpower inventory of well over 3,000,000 workers.

"It is a stock-taking of Canada's available man-power—and that is my main power to include woman-power—to find its numbers, its skill, its adaptability, and its availability for different lines of work.

"The war has made it necessary to develop huge industries, many of which require skilled workers. The man-power inventory will discover whether or not there are skilled workers still available to be employed or utilized to help along in war industries. It will show how many men are engaged in what might be called essential industries and how many are still working in undertakings which could be curtailed after the war. It will; in a word furnish a real basis for the development of an efficient, speedy, and active war effort which will bring maximum results.

"Given an accurate manpower inventory it is progressive plan to follow, and after full consultation with those who will be affected, undertake the task of re-allocating labor to the available man and woman-power where the full effect of their efforts can be brought to bear on the task of that ruthless man in Berlin and all his fellow criminals."

Mr Mitchell said that the federal government, to which the basis for its "man-power inventory" had decided to combine registration of workers coming within the scope of the Unemployment Insurance Act, with a similar registration of those not insured through the nature of their occupations, or other reasons, if they work for the same employer Thus, he said unnecessary effort and duplication would be avoided

Problem For Japan

Nazis Wonder Whether Arms Lately Won Can Be Held

Berne -The German newspaper Koelnische Zeitung has raised the question whether Japan would be able to cope with a huge transport problem resulting from the occupation of so many widely-scattered territories.

Now that many areas have been won, the paper said, the whole problem of safeguarding, protecting, fishing bases and exploiting the resources of the islands is one of transport

"Whether Japan can keep economically what she got by fighting," the paper said, "depends upon whether she is able to construct a sufficient merchant fleet in time to maintain communications between the motherland and the Pacific territories"

Alaska Highway Will Become Part Of Canadian Highway System

Ottawa.—After the war the Alaska highway in Canada will become part of the Canadian highway system subject to the understanding that there shall be no discriminatory conditions as between Canadian and United States civilian traffic, notes exchanged by Ottawa and Washington revealed.

The notes were issued by Prime Minister Mackenzie King who announced March 6 that the Canadian government had approved a United States offer to undertake the building of the highway from Fort St. John, B.C., to Alaska.

American army engineers and soldiers now are at Dawson Creek, B.C., undertaking preliminary work before the actual start on construction operations.

A Canadian note, dated March 18, set forth it was understood that the United States would carry out the necessary surveys for which preliminary arrangements had already been made. Construction of a pioneer road by U.S. engineer troops for surveys and initial construction would also be undertaken.

The United States will also arrange for completion of the highway under contracts made by the U.S. public roads administration and Canada will have the option of acceptance of all contracts in the shortest possible time without regard to whether the contractors are Canadian or American.

The United States will maintain the highway until the end of the war and for six months thereafter unless the Canadian government prefers to assume responsibility for the maintenance of the Canadian section at an earlier date.

Difficult Task Faces McArthur In Australia

Washington.—Gen. MacArthur is facing an extremely formidable task in directing the Battle for Australia, military experts here declared in cautioning against a wave of false optimism.

The odds, they pointed out, are still heavy in the enemy's favor, however much the United Nations may have been heartened by arrival of the first ground troops and air force units in considerable strength or by MacArthur's dramatic shift to the supreme command of United Nations forces in Australia.

In all analyses of the situation, the military authorities would venture was that the Japanese would be in for the fiercest campaign of the war. They expected it to smash Australia as they have smashed Singapore and the Netherlands Indies.

The prospect is that the enemy will risk the campaign If the Japanese do not attempt it, or if they fail, the United States and Britain have the great island continent "Down Under" remains in the hands of the British Nations as the southern jumping-off point for a major offensive once sufficient men and material have been assembled.

If MacArthur can hold Australia for such a day, the experts said, the British, British, American and Netherlands fighting men serving in his command have a long and costly job ahead, with plenty of reverses to match the success they may win.

The strategy the task calls for goes well with MacArthur's military background. It is the strategy of a defensive offensive striking out as hard and as often as possible at the enemy. The Australians already have put it into effect, hammering away savagely from the air at the Japanese Stockholds in nearby islands to keep potential invading forces off balance.

For the undertaking, MacArthur has many advantages he did not possess in the Philippines, and probably as many disadvantages.

Going To Ontario

Defence Of Australia

Thinks Japanese Will Be Able To Overrun Large Areas

Winnipeg .The former Canadian assistant trade commissioner to Australia, R. P. Bower, predicts that large areas of Australia will be overrun by the Japanese before Allied defenders can throw the invader out.

Bower says Australia will be invaded in the near future. But he points out that Australia can and will be defended with great success in a great many places.

The former commissioner says many points in Australia are natural defence position—better even than Tobruk in Libya. He says if Allied forces are concentrated in these areas —rather than spread over the entire country—Australia can be easily defended until the eventual defeat of the Japs.

Casualty Lists

Will Be Announced In U.S. As Government Policy

Washington.—The number of facts and figures issued a comprehensive statement of the United States government's policy on war secrecy, including an announcement that casualty lists will be made public

The statement also promulgated that "the war production board will publish at frequent intervals a production report which will enable the public to judge whether the production program is progressing satisfactorily or not."

Gas Rationing For Yukon And Northern Area Not Necessary

Ottawa — The Yukon and the Northwest Territories will be exempt from gasoline rationing it was announced by Ministries Minister Howe

Mr. Howe said total sales in these areas are small in quantity the expense administration machinery which would be necessary in applying the rationing system.

War Supplies From Here Are Fairly Allocated

Ottawa The external affairs department said that Canada has been meeting the import requirements of all the United Nations "as fast as goods comes off the production lines and shipping space becomes available"

The departmental statement was issued in answer to a Sydney Daily Telegraph editorial criticizing that prices were necessarily based. The board's order has now made allowance for these conditions but in no manner their readjustment upward permitted to exceed five per cent

"There has been no general increase in the price of farm machinery or parts since the basic period, beyond February Britain received 47 times as much goods from Canada as did Australia, and that although the British figures included Empire aid they were nonetheless staggering. In this connection the external affairs department said

"The annual export figures quoted in this (Daily Telegraph) article are no guide to the countries in which Canadian exports are ultimately used because goods consigned to one destination are frequently diverted to another while en route to meet the shifting exigencies of the general war situation

"In particular, goods consigned from Canada to the United Kingdom and the United States have been made available by those countries wherever the need for them was greatest

Naturally statistics of these diversions and of actual deliveries into war theatres of essential supplies are not made public

Earlier Munitions Minister Howe said Canada's output of war material for Allied nations is allocated by Britain

"The Daily Telegraph and Canada's February export figures will be the response he for the allocation of Canada's war output has lost his sense of values

"The position is simply that Canada as a member of the British commonwealth of nations has given the first time in three years that the duty value on apples has been lowered

"The order made necessary by the shortage of apples for home consumption because of increased export demand, will mean a reduction in duty of 50 cents a bushel

Farm Machinery Prices To Have Small Increase

Ottawa.—The wartime prices and trade board announced at has permitted farm machinery companies in Canada to make minor adjustments in their prices for certain types of machinery, but has not allowed adjustment upward, to the full extent of the increases put into effect in the United States for similar machines.

Increases in the United States for these machines have ranged from two to 17 per cent but the maximum increase allowed in Canada by a recent order of the board is limited to five per cent

Most Canadian companies had made price adjustments before the basic period for ceiling prices was set at Sept. 15 to Oct. 11, 1941, and no further adjustments can be made by these companies in respect of lines on which such adjustments had been made said H H Bloom administrator of farm machinery

However, a number of companies had not been able to make their adjustments before the ceiling period was fixed These were mostly importing companies held up in their adjustments because Washington had not yet dealt with their applications for adjustment in their U.S. prices. Through their Canadian prices were necessarily based. The board's order has now made allowance for these conditions but in no manner their readjustment upward permitted to exceed five per cent

C. G. I. T. NOTES

We all know that C.G.I.T. stands for Canadian Girls in Training. It might also stand for Chinese Girls in Training. It was formed in Trinidad, our letters would be T.G.I.T.

Have you learned to read yet? inquires a friend of a Hindu girl who goes to school in India. "Yes," she answers proudly. "At our school girls are able to do so many interesting things as boys. Before the white missionaries came, only the boys went to school."

Girls of India welcome opportunities.

"Let's go for a walk in the bamboo grove," suggests a girl from Five chow, China. "We can talk about how to amuse our younger brothers and sisters." A Chinese girl bears a great deal of responsibility in her home. "Wawa" camp fire" says an African girl. Camps in Africa are much like ours in Alberta. At camp they learn to face lion anger and snakes! "Don't forget the T.G.I.T. Conference at Easter," warns a Trinidad girl. "Perhaps we will hear more about the Canadian girls who sent us letters and parcels last year."

Girls all over the world have similar interests. They hear many of the same problems and difficulties. "Girls in Training," whatever their country, are learning to rook the best; to say and to believe

"To live is to face life, eager and unafraid.

To refuse none of its challenges.

To evade none of its responsibilities.

To so forth daily with a joy and thanksgiving.

Welcoming all opportunities with both hands."

CONSERVE WASTE MATERIALS

The residents of the town and district of Vermilion are asked from now on to conserve waste materials, especially steel, bones, rags (cleaned), newspapers, magazines, waste paper, tinfoil, rubber, fat. In fact all is born or destroy anything that can be salvaged. Newspapers and magazines should be carefully folded and kept as clean as possible. Full particulars will be announced later when the Salvage Corps is completely organized and a depot provided to receive these waste materials.

DANCE TO AID BENEFIT FUND

Under Auspices of Vermilion Elks and Hockey Boys

The Vermilion Juvenile Hockey club recently played a benefit game and turned the proceeds of $42 into a trust fund for the purchase of an artificial foot for young Bill Hunter. It will be remembered that 16-year-old Bill lost his foot in a shooting accident while hunting last fall. While $42 is a handsome start some $125 is all is needed and to give the fund a further boost the Elks aided by the Hockey club, are sponsoring a Easter day night dance on March 25th, all proceeds of which will be donated to the trust fund. Trustees of the fund are Stan Waidenberger and Hiram Benton. Admission to the dance is only 25c and every person is now is asked to buy a ticket, regardless of whether you intend going to the dance or not. With very little effort on the part of everyone Bill can have a new foot fitted very soon—help a little—it only takes little drops of water to make a mighty ocean . . . and $125 can soon be raised if everyone buys a ticket or two for this dance. 48-b

Our Home Town Boys are with us for a frolicking half hour at a board now time Wednesday afternoons at 2.30 on CJCA. So all you fortunate souls who hold holiday on Wednesday's at 2 be glad to know you can hail home with the Boys and their rollicking entertainment.

TOWN WILL ENTERTAIN SOLDIERS OF ARMY TRAIN

A local committee under the chairmanship of Mayor Morrison has completed arrangements for the extension of a welcome to the officers and men who will visit Vermilion on Saturday, April 11th, with the Canadian Army train.

The train is one of fifteen cars in which is displayed modern equipment used by the Canadian Army Active; on its tour of Canada it will arrive at Vermilion during the morning of April 11th, and will be open to the public from 2.30 to 4.30 in the afternoon, at which time demonstrations will be given for the benefit of those who desire to see the equipment.

The committee has arranged for the decoration of the station and the armories and all business houses and residents are asked to make a prominent display of flags for the day.

The Canadian Legion executive is co-operating in the entertainment of the guests and Lieut. Gen. E. Garland, O.C. of the Vermilion and Vegreville detachments of the Alberta Dragoons is also active with the committee.

During the afternoon and evening the soldiers will have access to the armories which will be equipped for the occasion with table tennis tables, card boards and other games; coffee and doughnuts will be served there to the men of the train and it is suggested that a dance will be held at the Elks hall in the evening, when the men will be guests. Lunch will be served on conclusion of the dance.

Residents of men now serving in the forces are especially invited to view the train and to learn something of the equipment which is in active use by their men.

It is expected that all parts of the district will be represented in the gathering and it is desired to make it clear that the demonstrations will be held between 2.30 and 4.30 in the afternoon; the train will remain overnight in Vermilion, from which point it goes to Vegreville.

BENEFIT FUND NOW TOTALS $118.25

The benefit fund being raised by the hockey team for the purchase of an artificial foot for Bill Hunter has now amounted to $118.25, sufficient for this worthy purpose. The fund was computed by the dance last Saturday night sponsored by the local Elks Lodge. A detailed statement of the dance finances was given the Standard by Stan Waldenberger, as follows: 216 people at the dance; 200 tickets were sold amounting to $67.50; further $10.75 taken at the door, making a grand total of $78.25; expenses were only $10.25 as no charge was made for the use of the Elks hall, leaving $68 net.

The total of the fund is made up as follows:

Benefit hockey game	$42.25
Elks benefit dance	68.00
Stagette club donation	10.00
Grand Total	$118.25

COUNTRY SCHOOL CHILDREN AT UNION RAISE MONEY FOR WAR SERVICE

Mr. A. Millis, secretary of the Union S.D. handed over to Mr. Jas. B. Robson this week, the sum of $61.00 for war purposes. This sum was raised by means of a play presented by the pupils and children of Union at the Union school when the proceeds were $22.40. The play was again presented in the Lintion school where $18.20 was raised.

The proceeds of this worthy and commendable effort have now been forwarded to the War Services fund.

P. T. DISPLAY BY VERMILION CLASSES

A varied and interesting display by the members of the physical training classes, carried out under the township Provincial Youth Training plan during the past winter, was given in the Masonic hall on Friday evening last week. Programatic exercises by both girls and boys, tumbling, dancing, spring board and horse work were apply demonstrated and really opened the eyes of the audience in what the teachers Miss Eleanor Dunmeide and Mr. Leonard Harper have been accomplishing with their classes.

The physical training classes are held during the winter months under the Dominion-Provincial Youth Training plan. The town provides the local classes with the arena gymnasium which has proved an excellent place for the healthful training.

FARMERS ADVISED TO GROW FLAX

Valuable for Oil Content

Board of Trade Hears Interesting Talk by D. A. Andrew, Dist. Agriculturist

D. A. Andrew, district agriculturist, gave a short but very interesting talk at the board of trade luncheon on Monday on the subject of growing flax in this area. Mr. Andrew's remarks were briefly, along the following lines:

Canada uses approximately 15,000,000 lbs. of flax annually, entirely for linseed oil for edible oils (vegetable shortening, salad oils etc.) 114 million lbs. are used to produce soapy oil for use in the manufacture of soap. This latter product is a very important ingredient of explosives and much in demand now. 20 million lbs. go into the paint and varnish trade and now are urgently needed in the manufacture of most items for painting guns, tanks, ships etc. Canada has been importing annually between 200 and 250 million lbs. of vegetable oils. 50 million lbs. of which came from the Orient and the Pacific Islands. This source is of course now shut off. The only crop available to grow in 1942 for oil production is Flax which has a minimum fixed price of $2.25 per bushel. Further, last year Canada imported 6,412,000 bushels of flax. This year we require 20 million bushels or approximately three times that amount.

Flax requires clean land not subject to blowing and on such land should prove a profitable crop with which to replace wheat.

TO COMPLETE HIGHWAYS IN THE SPRING

New 22 Miles of Road Between Vermilion and Lloydminster

CALLS VERMILION GRAVEL PIT "GOLD MINE"

Completion of a 22-mile link on the Jasper highway, between Vermilion and Lloydminster, will be one of the first road projects undertaken this spring, Hon W. A. Fallow, minister of public works announced last week in Edmonton.

The minister accompanied by H. H.K. Mackenzie, deputy minister, and N. W. Macpherson, commissioner of highways had just returned from an inspectl a of roads east of the city to the Saskatchewan border.

Speaking at the work seen at the city, Mr Fallow said that last year two main highways had been built to 15 miles east of Vermilion.

On the side near Saskatchewan, new highway had also been constructed from Lloydminster west to Blackfoot. The last a stretch or 22 miles to link up the two sections and this will be completed this season.

The result will be a brand new road from Vermilion to Lloydminster, six and one-half miles shorter than the present highway of some 45 miles, said the minister. Work will start as soon as frost is out of the ground and grading will follow the grading as rapidly as possible.

Mr. Fallow also declared a "gold mine" in the form of a large gravel deposit has been located in the Vermilion district, which will make a substantial reduction in the cost of road building.

INTERESTING MEETING HELD BY A. F. U. AT CHATSWORTH SCHOOL

Many Topics Discussed

A very interesting meeting of the Chatsworth local A.F.U. was held in the Chatsworth school on March 28. The attendance was good and many matters were discussed.

The first motion of interest was that made by G. Martin that the local have the help influence in [illegible] a drought bonus for the south half of [illegible]

This was followed by a report by the Secretary on the speech of the premier delegate at the Farmers Mass meeting on March 21st. SO YOU'RE GOING TO DO A PLAY!

By Lucy Lee

As the play progresses the speech of the various members of the cast should be checked very carefully. Of course the odd word which is not part of your daily vocabulary has by this time been looked up in the dictionary, and the correct pronunciation ascertained. It may be necessary to make a practice of using this new word every day to get accustomed to it so that it will not be a hurdle every time you meet it. But it is the little every day words I wish to discuss; these little words we never think about until someone draws them to our attention, and which makes our w'ves headd distainctly at the back of my hall.

For instance, how often do you hear Mary an' Joe for Mary and Joe. Or he'sr me for he hold me. The of mas for old man Have you noticed how many people swallow the endings of thei words She was singin', where was he goin', he was runnin' to the street. Ask you any Dutchman if he ooz to leave thee quickly. Do you have trouble when you come to the 'ee's in "met te"" Do you not often aside the one word right into the other when saying hot dog, fresh fish fresh fried fish, fast time a big black bug a big black bear, sister susie sews shirts for soldiers a cup of Cadbury's cocoa, etc.

Commended Remade

Or do you notice the consonantal sound missed in the middle of words, like this Febuay (Februar) y, government (gover Nment), libry for library, particulr for paiticular, suprise, recmend for reco Gnize. How do you hear folks add a better time. Arrof for arrow, drownfed for drowned, con't for once. Or have you heard consonantal sounds inserted thus inTERdace for interface, hunDERful for hundred, childREn for children, or do you recognize this Wesgage" for wes- sage" or "Ameg- the prade" for do you see the parade." I im gonna gount for I'm going to go out. Or have you an acquaintance insert a vowel like this fil'm for film, family for there, pl'easure for peasure, umbil'ville for umbrella, etc.

Vowels

Or do we omit vowels in our enthusiasme Dis'rest for dis'Drest family for family or very for ev'ry. Have you looked up the following recently of 17 yes, on 18th inst. etc.

Next week we'll change the subject. If you are writing for further information enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope for reply Mary Ellen Burgess Box 326 Regina Book Shop.

Help Locate Targets

Refugees From Occupied Countries Supply British Ministry With Maps

Thousands of foreign guide-books, maps, technical periodicals, directories and other reference works no longer obtainable through usual prewar channels are pouring into the ministry of economic warfare which uses them to fix potential targets in Nazi-occupied territory.

A ministry official discussing results of an appeal for the materials said that thanks to the devotion of some foreign reference book the whereabouts of a certain vital factory in Nazi-occupied Europe have been settled. "The book provided the missing link in a long chain of evidence," he said. "For some time we had been trying to locate the position."

The mother of a dead Royal Air Force pilot sent her son's collection of foreign maps with an accompanying note which said that if they helped to drive bombs on German objectives she would feel her boy's death has been avenged.

Refugees from occupied territories have sent hundreds of guide-books, maps and journals with pictures of factories and other key sites.

LEAGUE of CANADA presents TOPICS of VITAL INTEREST

PASTEURIZED MILK

To the half truths and misconceptions about raw and pasteurized milk, Frank Chamberlain replies with a factual article in Health, the official magazine of the Health League of Canada.

"Since Ontario pasteurized its milk by law," states Mr. Chamberlain, "there has been a striking reduction in the incidence of disease known to be connected with raw milk."

Mr. Chamberlain quotes Dr. Alan Brown, physician-in-chief of the Hospital for Sick Children, as saying: "Scientific pasteurization absolutely prevents the 15 to 30 per cent. of bone, gland and other forms of tuberculosis in children which is of bovine origin, and in addition prevents all milk-borne epidemics. The prevention of these conditions alone would save many lives, numerous cripples and much money for the taxpayer each year."

Besides tuberculosis, unpasteurized milk spreads such epidemics as Typhoid, Paratyphoid, Scarlet Fever and Septic Sore Throat. The writer cites the instance of a Toronto septic sore throat, an epidemic which where an outbreak of 10,000 cases was traced to one raw milk supply.

"Children should oppose pasteurization because it supposedly damages milk, destroying calcium and vitamins—but it doesn't," he adds," he writes. He denies any truth to such statements. Pasteurization does not alter the protein content of milk. Vitamin C, which prevents scurvy, is said to be reduced slightly by pasteurization. Vitamin D which prevents rickets—is not affected at all. "But, Mr Chamberlain points out, "the raw cow's urine is not enough of either vitamin C or D in cows milk to supply the needs of the growing infant and all babies should be given orange juice to supply the deficiency in Vitamin C and cod liver oil to supply the necessary Vitamin D."

The one spot in the human body where blood vessels are said to be transparent is the back of the eye.

Robot Sentries

Are Used To Guard War Production Plant In U.S.

Robot sentries are guarding miles of wire fencing enclosing many of the United States war production plants, the Du Pont Company disclosed. Six months of tests have proved the new sentry system the most efficient yet devised, the company said, with the robots "hearing" a person's whisper or the snip of a wire-cutter and passing these warning sounds instantly to a watchman at his post and to a central guard station inside the plant.

Welcome The Chance

People Of Canada Glad To Conform To Government Order

It ashy seem odd that there is almost no criticism of these measures (government restrictions), that in fact the public seem to welcome them. The explanation is, of course, that the people welcome the chance to make some direct and personal contribution to the war effort, however small, and realize that the inconvenience which they are put weigh mighty little in the balance when against them are put the slaughter and destruction wrought upon so many countries just as anxious as this one to maintain their freedom.—Ottawa Journal.

CHRIST AND LIFE AFTER DEATH (EASTER)

Golden text: Thanks be to God, who giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ. 1 Corinthians 15: 57.

Lesson: Mark 12:24-27; 1 Corinthians 15.50-58.

Devotional reading: 1 Corinthians 15:43-49.

A Captious Question in Regard to the Resurrection. Mark 12:18-27. After the attempt of the Pharisees and Herodians to "entangle him in his talk" by means of their question concerning tribute to Cesar had failed, the Sadducees next sought to confound and humiliate Jesus. Sadducees held there was no resurrection, neither angel nor spirit. Luke tells us in Acts 23:8. Suppose, now, they said to Jesus, that a woman married seven brothers in succession, whose wife shall she be in the resurrection? Instead of treating their question as unworthy an answer, Jesus based upon it a lofty lesson. He is not for this cause that ye err," he courteously replied, "that ye know not the Scriptures, nor the power of God? For when they shall rise from the dead, they neither marry, nor are given in marriage, but are as angels which are in heaven.

Again Jesus won a victory over his enemies and again the people marveled. "Men laid their traps and tried to catch him in words, but even in the midst of them and never was entrapped. The intellectual athletes of his time tried to floor him, but never did. His enemies did their best to upset him, but they never could."

"We also are constrained to confess that a mind so far Judaic would so partly and naturally elude all traps, baffle all sophistry, and as extraordinary as of his foes that he spoke God's truths without fear, and with unrivaled equality of superb intellectuality." (William A. Grist).

The Resurrection of the Dead, 1 Corinthians 15 50-58. Such a spiritual body as Paul has been speaking about (verses 35-49) is absolutely necessary in the kingdom of God. Human nature in its habitation of flesh and blood cannot take possession of the Kingdom of God; nor can corruption take possession of incorruption. Corruption of earthly bodies is inevitable, but the spiritual life revealed in them is not subject to the hereafter

Paul attempts to describe the transformation of the living and the dead that will take place on the great day of the Lord when the trumpet will sound. Evidently he thought that day might come within his lifetime. "Behold, I tell you a mystery," he exclaims. The true meaning of the word 'mystery,' we know, is not something that puzzles and perplexes one; rather it is an open secret waiting to be discovered. (I Th. 4:16; Mt 24 31, Rev 11:15).

CHAPTER XV.

Ransome wondered what the other guests would think if he did what his heart dictated. Now, he thought grimly glancing down the whiteness of the linen, the sparkling of the glass and silver—now would be a good time Just in between the last course and the coffee.

If the stories he had heard of old Knox Randolph were true, then he had his example before him. The eyes studied the young man in the portrait before him. Strong, handsome features, arrogant and proud, blue eyes like Tam's, jutting black brows Delicate embroidery of a humorous line on the sensitive, well-shaped lips at throat. Tight knee breeches and elegant boots

Knox Randolph poured over the turf of the downs and won the derby and Tamar Ellery The story went that he did not stop at the Judge's box for his winnings, but swept up to the crowd of young men and women. Reaching out his hand he said, "I've accepted the challenge of my rival and will be married an hour later right here at Shadwell

Rumor thought, if he had his horse "Tamar" would be ready to be easy enough' "I'm sorry, what is it, Selby" he was caught in the stream of conversation once more.

And thus the evening went. He must talk and he must listen whether he wanted to or not. And Christopher Randolph remained traditionally cold hearted heart by the light of Tam's eyes It made a cold, hard, aching feeling in Ransome's chest.

He was glad when dinner was over, and the evening half through

They returned to the living room, and went from there to the terrace, to sit on the shadowed lawn bathed in moonlight. Now and then a car passed on the highway, with its radio drifting back soft dance music. Ransome stirred restlessly. What a gorgeous night to waste on Christopher Randa and Selby.

The next day Tamar watched Sands leave to go back to his hotel in the little town of Tahlahneka. It left the other hours barren and empty.

The summer months were drifting by, she realized with a start one day. In the weeks since the dinner, she had seen Ransome Todd but a few times. And on these occasions they had been dancing at the Rotatas. She and Christopher had gone two or three times each week to the night club.

Her days were filled with thoughts of the last date with him, and with anticipation of the next. Occasionally, she went on her own. Madcap to the mine became the sound of the dynamite blasts no longer frightened the animal.

Today Tamar paused by the meadow fence and waited for Madcap to gallop up to the bars. Aristotle stood by with the saddle ready to put on the pretty animal.

"Ridin' yeah to de Cricket Hill?" Aristotle asked, tightening the cinch Tamar drew on her green suede riding gloves. She stood straight and slender in her jodhpurs, wide silk shirt open low at her throat, a boy's cap with long peak shading her eyes, and trying to control her thick curls. "I'm, Aristotle. Tell Phoebe please, to go ahead and have lunch. I may be late getting back. Tell her that I'll be going down over to Selby's from the Cricket Hill.

As she walked Madcap down the lane, Tamar wondered if he would remember to tell Phoebe. She felt just a trifle conscience-stricken to be going on the home front this morning, for she had thought there was an almost imperceptible change in her mother when she took the breakfast tray to her.

As she rode along on the shoulder of the highway, keeping Madcap off the hard surface, she worried about the expression she had caught on Dr. Forrester's face the last time she had talked with him concerning her mother's condition.

But in the past two weeks, Marie Randolph had even eat at the table a fast table with them a few times. Dr. Forrester had not mentioned the subject to her, and she had not asked him. Now, she realized, he had avoided a direct answer. Was her mother's strength too frail for her to undergo a major operation. Or did the doctor think it was unnecessary? Even a thought sandaled her. Her hand leaped to her lips as though to keep the thought from speaking itself Could he be too late?

As coldness crept over her, Tamar urged Madcap forward suddenly. She passed the turning off point from the highway to the mine at a swift gallop, and headed straight on into Tahlahneka The town was deserted at this hour of the day in the morning Only a straggling shopper or two, glancing indifferently at the windows

Tamar headed Madcap to the hotel hitching post that stood near the new bank building She flew up the wooden steps to the doctor's office Miss Carey looked up in astonishment as Tamar burst in at the door.

"Is Dr. Forrester here?" She isn't wores?" Miss Carey asked

"I don't think so Is the doctor in?"

Tamar heard the shuffling steps in the inner office and the kindly old doctor put his head in the middle of the door. "Looking for me, Tam?" Come on in."

Her blue eyes bored into the doctor who had not only brought her into the world, but also had seen her through measles, whooping cough, lung cough and malaria and knew her almost as well as her parents

"Please tell me the truth, Uncle Doc," the voice demanded. "Why aren't you going to operate on mother?" A direct question that would accept no hedging this time

"Now, see here, Tam——"

In that moment Tamar knew the truth. There was no need to perform an operation that would be of no benefit to her mother It would only serve to lessen the number of her days. She spoke no word, and the doctor's voice had foundered into silence.

Tamar came out of the dim recesses of the hall into the glaring whiteness of the hot sun. She must not let her mother know that she had learned about this. Life at Shadwell was on as usual.

Tamar wanted desperately to gallop back home to throw herself into her mother's arms, but that was denied her.

Instead, she turned Madcap into the side road leading up to the Cricket Hill. Before she reached the mine, however, she turned the mare once more; this time up an old wagon track which led to her favorite picnic site. The weeds had grown up on both sides of the roads, and stood, rank and dusty.

A hard aching lump was in her throat, and she needed to cry to dissolve the painfully numb feeling that held her. She tied Madcap to a small sapling and sat down on a fallen log. It was difficult to imagine life without her mother.

When the tears came they left Tamar a crumpled heap, washing out the pain in her heart, the throat, and the pain in her heart. Her face was streaked and her eyes swollen.

After a while she walked slowly up the river bank to a clump of small persimmon trees, and taking off her clothes, dived off the steep bank into the river. The cool water laved her velvety skin, and she swam in graceful strokes down stream, drifting idly with the current.

After her swim she sat down on the log again and let the breeze dry her skin.

"In a flash Tamar was off the log and running toward her clothes. Some one was coming along the old trail She wondered who it coul.d be.

Tamar was still buttoning her shirt when she heard a man's voice: "Hello there! Has one been over here. It would be the perfect place.

I think."

Major Towne's voice answered: "It's mine, Randolph. It's too late to save it. We can't afford to take any chances."

Tamar gasped. Major Towne! Instantly she remembered her first impression of distrust for the man.

Tamar's heart beat quickly. In some inexplicable way she had stumbled onto something of great importance. If only Madcap wouldn't give her away now. She moved over on the log and crouched down out of sight.

The man's voice came nearer. "It's a big black car, and the man with him she had seen in the office at the Cricket Hill. He was one of their own workmen.

"The most important thing, of course, is to work everything out carefully, timing it to accurate precision, so there can be no slip-up. If we should fail this time, it would never do to try again.

The younger man laughed, and Tamar shuddered. There was something sinister in that laugh, cold and calculating. "There won't be a slip-up, Major, for I've decided not to use my own men. Sands and Wilson—I've gone so far as to hire some really tough birds, you know the ones that pulled the last deal. They'll get here in a couple of weeks or so."

The Major looked about hastily "Hope it's dry. You don't know but what trees have ears."

"I never want to go through an experience like that again. I'll be glad to spread the harvest that much longer Randolph had even met at the opening of the season is secured by sowing fairly small seed. Timothy requires early a medium and a We rarely sow it will continue to produce profitably for fresh vegetables for weeks longer than usual.

Nurserv stock—shrubbery, fruit trees and vines—should be planted as soon as the soil can be worked. If this is impossible or inconvenient the plant roots should be temporarily heeled in with moist earth or planted at once in a well manured dark cellar and roots kept moist

Processed Eggs

Canadian Shipments To Britain Will Be In Powder Form.

Much of western Canada's huge egg production is being processed in Carleton lots for shipment to Great Britain in powder form. A drying plant is being operated at Winnipeg and has already processed a considerable volume of eggs from the three prairies provinces.

Five such drying plants are now in operation in Canada and the first shipment of egg powder has been made to the United Kingdom

According to western officials of the poultry industry, practically all future shipments of eggs from Canada to the Motherland will be in the nature of powder.

Principal object of processing eggs for overseas is to conserve ocean shipping space A case of eggs weighs about 60 pounds, officials state, while the same eggs in powder form and packed in a tin weigh only about 12 pounds.

As egg production is now double that of a year ago, officials feel confident that a steady flow of egg powder will be maintained to Britain from western provinces.

Gardening

Layouts

For flowers, lawns and shrubs about the average house, landscape gardeners prefer the informal, balanced planting This is especially desirable where space is limited as it tends to soften the lines, right fences lines and to add an air of spaciousness even to a 50-foot lot. In the informal garden, the central portion of the ground is entirely in grass Around the edges of this will be grouped beds of perennial flowers, shrubs, leading up to shrubs and vines along the walls or fence boundaries

In the garden of experts advocate screening off a portion by planting a hedge or informal shrubbery at one point, or using a trellis for vines so that the whole garden will not be entirely visible from the street or from adjoining property. This will add further to that air of spaciousness and also provide a secluded corner for the family to sit, sewing or sandbox or, possibly, a seat or trellis-covered lunch.

Vegetable Groups

Vegetables are roughly divided into three planting groups—hardy, semi-hardy and tender. Among the first are spinach, all sorts of lettuce, radish and garden peas. A little frost will not hurt these.

Second planted vegetables will be carrots, beets, turnips, potatoes and similar things These will resist a light attack of cold. Tender vegetables include corn, melons, cucumbers and tomatoes. These may be grained by planting these before danger of frost is over

Of course vegetables it is advisable to make at least three sowings a year, at 4 week intervals, to spread the harvest that much longer

Soil for the garden should be well manured, spaded and burned. Shallow cultivation is best, and also frequent hoeing to keep the weeds down.

Poultry Notes

Crop Rotation

A suitable rotation of crops is of major importance in the control of disease parasites. A change of species of weeds while other crops are wholly ineffective Wild oats for example, are eradicated in the first three years in hay or pasture A vigorous stand of alfalfa for two or three years eliminates Canada thistle and perennial sow thistle Hoed crops, if perfectly worked are eliminating crops. Grain, on the other hand encourages the growth of weeds

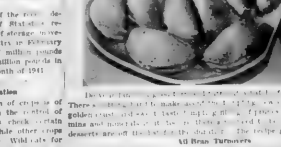
Poultry

Has Been Notably Heavy In Canada Since War Started

Never before have the people of Canada been such a ready market for poultry meat as they have recently, the Agriculture Department stated to-day in a review by the department from dealers in dressed poultry in all parts of Canada are to the effect that the demand for large supplies of all kinds, particularly chickens, has been notably heavy Due to the shortage of meat in the matter of poultry on farms in the past year as a result of the large orders for Overseas shipments, the trade in the industry of Food more birds have been marketed and now there are large stocks of high quality poultry on hand

As an indication of the increased demand for poultry meat, it reports that the out-of-storage movement of dressed poultry in February of this year was 2.7 million pounds compared with 1.4 million pounds in the corresponding month of 1941

EASY TO TURN OUT ARE ALL-BRAN TURNOVERS



There's nothing quite like home-baked turnovers with golden crusts and such a tasty, tempting filling. Prunes and dates are delicious, and you'll find that all-bran makes them extra-nutritious. Kellogg's All-Bran Turnovers demand a generous amount of fruit filling. The recipe goes like this:

All Bran Turnovers

½ cup All Bran
½ cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening
Roll All Bran until fine and add flour and salt. Cut in shortening. Add water a little at a time until enough is added to hold together Roll out on lightly floured board and cut out eight inch circles. Put one tablespoonful of cooked prunes on each round place a spoonful of chopped prunes which have been only partially drained. Put a dot of butter on top of prunes. Moisten edge of dough Fold other half over to cover prunes and crimp down edges using a fork or pastry crimper Brush with milk and place on a greased baking sheet Bake in hot oven 425 degrees F. for 12 to 15 minutes Serve hot with prune sauce

Prune Sauce

1 cup sweetened juice from prunes ¼ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon corn starch 3 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ teaspoon grated lemon rind

Add juice gradually to corn starch stirring until smooth Add salt and cook until thick and clear Stir in lemon juice and rind and serve hot on turnovers

Boards Made Of Glass Fibres Are Substitute For Cork

A new raw material, glass boards, made of glass fibres finer than any human hair, has been announced by the Owens-Corning Fibreglass Corporation New York

These glass boards are intended as substitutes for cork, which comes from Spain and Portugal and is getting short The new glass may not make good bottle corks but it will replace cork for cold refrigerator insulation and for roof insulation.

The glass fibres are pressed by machinery into the shape of boards one to two inches thick a foot wide and three feet long The glass is finally coated with asphalt to make it impervious to water

Advantages claimed for glass boards rats and mice will not gnaw them bugs won't crawl in because they don't like glass, they won't rot or decay in any way because fungi can't live on glass

Crop Production Programme for the PRAIRIE PROVINCES, 1942

Canada's War Requirements Call for:

A production of wheat limited to what can be sold in the domestic and export markets during the crop year 1942-43.

An unlimited production of coarse grains for live stock feeding to produce . . . . the Animal Products and Fats needed in the Domestic Market. . . . . the Bacon, Dairy Products and Eggs Wanted by Britain.

A greatly increased production of Flaxseed to meet Vegetable Oil Needs of Canada and the United States in view of War Developments.

GRAIN MARKETING POLICY

WHEAT—Delivery to remain limited; Price to be increased.

Authorized deliveries: 280 million bu. from Western Canada as compared with 256 million bu. authorized from all Canada last year. This 280 million bu. is believed all that can be marketed in the 1942-43 crop year, and the expected carryover of low million bu at July 31, 1943, will constitute an adequate war reserve. Individual deliveries will again be determined on a quota basis.

Price: The initial price for deliveries in 1942-43 under authorized quotas will be 90 cents per bu., basis No. 1 Northern in store Port William Port Arthur or Vancouver. This 20 cents price increase plus higher authorized deliveries considerably enhances the wheat outlook for 1942-43 as compared with that of 1941-42. (Note: Higher delivery price of wheat not to affect the price of bread in Canada.)

COARSE GRAINS—Unlimited production.

Acreage bonuses: See adjoining column

Price Floors: To safeguard the position of farmers who increase their production of barley and oats.

a. A minimum price is established for barley at 60 cents basis No 2 C W 6-Row in store Port William Port Arthur.

b. A minimum price is established for oats at 45 cents basis No. 2 C W. in store Port William Port Arthur. In connection with barley and oat prices, the Canadian Wheat Board is empowered to carry out the policy.

FLAXSEED—Unlimited production.

Price: A fixed price is established for flaxseed at $2.25 basis No. 1 C W. in store Fort William Port Arthur. Canadian Wheat Board empowered to purchase and handle all flaxseed delivered by producers in Canada during the crop year 1942-43.

WHEAT-ACREAGE REDUCTION POLICY

LIMITED WHEAT ACREAGE

Since but 280 million bu. wheat can be delivered in the 1942-43 crop year, regardless of how good the crop may be, only about 20 or 21 million acres should be sown to wheat in 1942 or about what was sown in 1941.

PAYMENTS FOR ACREAGE DIVERSION

It is contemplated that $2 per acre will be paid on land taken out of wheat and other unwanted crops or seeded to barley, oats, flax, rye, peas, corn, clover, grasses, or millet. These payments are designed to assist farmers who co-operate in the wheat-acreage reduction programme and to encourage the production of coarse grains and other live stock feeds.

The above payments are to be based on the number of acres by which the farmer reduces his wheat acreage in 1942 as compared with the basic acreage in 1941. To obtain the payments the farmer must sow to coarse grains or if grasses, or annual summerfallow, areas in excess of the basic 1940 acreages sown to these crops or left in summer-fallow.

The crop production programme in western Canada is intended to provide the maximum quantities of agricultural products most vital to war needs and at the same time preserve a balance in production that will permit successful farm practice in the Prairie Provinces.

P.F.A.A. AMENDMENT

It is proposed to amend the Prairie Farm Assistance Act by removing the price restriction of eighty cents per bushel, but the determination on a emergency year under the Act.

ALBERTA SETS UP TOURIST ADVISORY BOARD

EDMONTON—Announcing the set up of a tourist trade advisory board, Hon. E. C. Manning, Welfare Minister said that E. C. Gould, director of the Provincial Publicity and Travel bureau as chairman; with R. A. Gordon, vice-president of the A.M.A., H. G. Love Calgary Rotary executive, Mayor D. H. Elton of Lethbridge, Major J. A. Wood superintendent of Jasper Park and Charles Trasmuse-deer, Calgary herdsman as members. "The men selected are all intimately familiar with the tourist industry and their advice will be valuable to the government," said the Minister. He added that in view of the current situation, it was essential to co-ordinate the efforts of all concerned with tourism. It will be so called that one pan and a province-wide organization might end the idea of setting up such an advisory body.

63rd CREDIT UNION CHARTERED IN ALBERTA

Alberta has recently chartered the 63rd credit union to be organized in the province and a survey of the movement shows a wide diversity of groups is represented. Of the 63 unions, six are of the parish type organized within a church congregation, seven are of the urban community type, organized among neighborhood residents, eighteen are of the rural community type, and seven are of the vocational type. Among these latter are civic, provincial and dominion public servants in various branches of work newspapermen, sugar makers, packing plant workers, telephone workmen, railwaymen and grain trade employees. Indications are that many more groups will be organized during the forthcoming year, and that formation and incorporation of a province-wide central body will be profitably follow.

WILLING TO CO-OPERATE ON ANY PROBLEM

The provincial government is willing to enter into an agreement or co-operation with B.C. in any plan to evacuate Japanese from the coast province to the interior, Premier Aberhart, but lacking details it was impossible to make any commitment. The matter referred to a Legislative resolution passed at the recent session which urged that Japs brought to Alberta be held under federal supervision and removed at the end of the war

NEW ROAD AT VERMILION

Returning from an inspection tour of the provincial highway system, the Hon. W.A. Fallow announced that a 23-mile link on the Jasper highway between Vermilion and Lloydminster will be completed early in the season. The new project will bring a road between Vermilion and Lloydminster 8 and one half miles shorter and much better than the existing road. He also said that a new gravel pit found near Vermilion will prove valuable in reducing construction costs. The minister and his deputy are making at national loans to determine work for the ensuing season.

NO DETAILS ON OIL PLAN

Although there have been reports that the Canadian National Railways have extensive development in the Vermilion oil field, the provincial government has no official word on the matter. The was made clear by Hon. N.E. Tanner, minister of lands and mines, when queried this week. Federal engineers have obtained some information, but the department is aware of no other development to date.

PLANT MORE COARSE GRAINS

Alberta farmers were again urged by Hon. D. B. MacMillan, agriculture minister, to increase coarse grain acreage during the present crop year in a statement issued Thursday. Oat, barley prices for these grains are "reasonable", he said, but pointed out that the real price is obtained through conversion of the products into meat, dairy or poultry commodities. The statement reveals that where barley is fed to hogs that sell for in excess a pound live weight the barley so fed makes a return of $1.50 to 90 cents a bushel on the farm. This is on the farm, with no freight or elevator charges deducted," he said.

ALBERTA MANUFACTURERS ARE ASSISTED BY B.C. BOARD

Outlining assistance given to Alberta manufacturers through provincial activities of the Social Credit Board and the Interim program, Floyd M. Baker addressed the present legislature. He declared expansion of certain factories was directly attributed by the owners to the enhanced demand for Alberta goods created by the interim program. "Production in these factories has risen, the number of employees from 86 to 112 a certain months and others had enlarged factories, employed many more work ers to cope with the new demand. "People say this is the official statement that has helped the poor manufacturer", said Mr. Baker.

Flowers to Plant

In choosing asters, it is more a question of the type desired, all of which are usually illustrated in the catalog. They are all subject to that terrible disease that some years nearly wipes them out. I am alluding to that disease known as the wilting which deforms both flowers and foliage. The best know of any certain preventative or cure, but will resist and variation and keeping the plants in robust health certainly helps. The variety the least subject to the disease is Queen of the Market. It blooms quite early and can be relied on to supply a mass of bloom.

Next in importance come the snapdragons, very hardy and easy to grow. I prefer the intermediate or Majestic type to the tall ones. They are most suited to the prairies and have a better range of colors. A packet of mixed Majestic, or bank of separate colors, invariably repay any trouble taken with them.

The calendula has come to the fore again in recent years and new variation of giant proportion, and new types have made this easily grown annual a valuable contribution to our borders. The varieties such as Chrysanthis. Orange shaggy, Radio, are outstanding, each being of a different type. Another good one is Orange Fantasy, a crested variety of a copper orange color, edged mahogany. Large clumps of Clarkia are always outstanding in the garden and seem better in one color. I always think the effect is spoiled when Clarkia is mixed. Salmon queen is one of the best and very double. Illumination is another good one, also Clarkia orange and rose. Clarkia does not take kindly to transplanting, therefore it should be sown where it is to bloom, but sow thinly or thin out severely when quite young.

Next week I shall continue this article and hope to have a good line up in time for seed buying.

Sixteen Years Ago To-day

Interesting News Gleaned From the Files of the Vermilion Standard
16 YEARS AGO TODAY — 1926

Mathew Onanes passed away at the family home in the Allandale district on March 26th in his 76th year.

C. L. Whitby was elected president of the Golf club. Mrs. J. Dodington vice-president and Dr. Scott secretary. The executive was F. C. Long, R. Cochrane, J. Dodington and Miss Keith.

Born: To Mr. and Mrs. P. Napier at the Vermilion hospital, a daughter, Jean Melville.

The weather has been colder this past week than was experienced all winter. The mercury has gone to zero for several nights in a row.

Thirty-two Years Ago Today

An example of the rate of increase of crop acreage in this district can be gauged from the fact that a party who had 25 acres to crop last year has prepared for seed this spring 100 acres, 50 or which are to be seeded to wheat. Though the weather is bright and clear it has turned somewhat cooler. Farmers need not be overanxious about wheat seeding, several in the Islay district have commenced seeding and though others are ready it is deemed advisable to hold off for awhile longer. April 10th is early enough.

TURKEY HILL TID-BITS

oo oo oo

On March 17th a very successful masquerade dance was staged at Turkey Hill with the largest crowd turning out this district has seen for some time. The costumes were many, varied and exceptionally good, and it was quite a problem for the three judges to choose the winners. Prizes finally were given to Mrs. Logan for best dressed lady, Incian Maiden, and best dressed gent to Dick Chrisp as an Indian. Ladies' comic went to Mrs. Irene Chrisp as a clown and the best gents' comic to Roy Gordon as a fat nigger woman. Best dressed boy was won by Jimmy Logan as Philip Martin and best dressed girl by Eva Osborn as a fairy.

Another enjoyable event took place on March 24 when Mrs. Noonan entertained friends at a card party in the school. Eight tables of whist were played and prizes were won by Bob Wilson, men's first, while Mrs. Dutton and Mrs. Davis cut for ladies' first, Mrs. Dutton won. Consolations went to Dorothy Osborn and Clive Jones. Mrs. Noonan served a sumptuous lunch, assisted by some of her neighbors, after which High, Low, Jack and Game was played until the wee sma' hours.

We understand Jimmy Powell, Jack Schaumleffe and Harvey Rankin received their notice to be prepared to be called soon for military service.

We are sorry to report Mrs. Osborn has been on the sick list the past few days, but trust she will be "as good as new" by the time these notes appear in print.

Quite a few Turkey Hill-ites were at the play and dance held at Union on the 20th. They all report an evening well spent as the play was very good and the dance also.

Miss Lillian Dugan, who works at Miss McGillivary's suffered a painful accident on the way to the play at Union when the closed-in cutter she was riding in, struck a rock and upset, throwing Miss Dugan against the stove. Some of her legs are quite badly cut and the other badly burned. She is now able to get around again.

CONSERVE WASTE MATERIALS

The residents of the town and district of Vermilion are asked from now on to conserve scrap metals, especially steel, bones, rags (cleaned), newspapers, magazines, waste paper, old clothes, in fact not to burn or destroy anything that can be salvaged. Newspapers and magazines should be manually folded and kept as clean as possible. Full particulars will be announced later when the Salvage Corps is completely organized and a depot provided to receive these waste materials.

RED CROSS CALENDAR

All meetings mentioned below will be held in the Memorial hall, Vermilion.

Saturday, April 18 at 3 p.m. All members and workers of Auxiliaries cordially invited.

Monday, May 18 at 8 p.m. Executive meeting.

Monday, June 15 at 8 p. m. General meeting.

SEEDTIME AND HARVEST
IN N.W. Canada
The Empire Overseas
North-West Line Elevators Association

The Empire's Granary

Canada, in normal times imported, on the average, 250 million pounds of vegetable oils. The principal oil of edible oils for vegetable shortening, and large quantities of non-edible oils for the manufacture of soap. The Far East contributed cocoanut, palm and palm kernel, peanut, castor and soybean, while from the Mediterranean area we obtained olive oil for both soap and edible purposes. Smaller quantities of chinawood and perilla were obtained from China and Japan for the paint industry. The spread of the war in recent months has cut off the source of supply of over 60 per cent of our vegetable oils.

Flaxseed is the only oil-producing crop at present grown extensively in Canada, which can be used as a substitute. While it is not quite as good for soap or edible purposes it can be diverted to uses which would not be practical in normal periods.

The flax crop in Canada has increased materially in recent years reaching a production of about 6½ million bushels in 1941. However, in 1942, it is estimated that we could use 20 million bushels if it were available. While it would be beyond the capacity of our manufacturing plants to handle a crop of this volume, we must bear in mind that as these sources of supply of vegetable oils are cut off from us, as they beyond the reach of our allies, the United States and Britain. While defence industries are stupendous, continue to expand, larger quantities of flaxseed will be required for paints, for their protection, and as supplies of vegetable oils diminish, larger quantities of linseed oil may be diverted to other uses than paint.

National Auxiliary Services

The government has found it necessary to decide upon a change of policy in the matter of financing the requirements of such national auxiliary services organizations as the Canadian Legion, the Knights of Columbus The Salvation Army the Y.M.C.A. the Y.W.C.A. and The Navy League of Canada. Up to the present these national auxiliary services organizations, with the exception of The Navy League of Canada, have obtained the funds necessary for them to carry on their auxiliary services of a recreational and off-duty nature to the members of the armed forces of Canada at home and abroad through national appeals for funds to the public of Canada. Prior to 1941 these organizations carried on separate public appeals, but in March 1941, they united in a joint public appeal. Their objective was set at $5 500 000, but this objective was exceeded and approximately $7,000,000 was received from the Canadian public. These funds were held by the Canadian War Services Fund Incorporated and released from time to time to the organizations as required.

It had been agreed that The Navy League of Canada should join with the other national auxiliary services organizations in a joint public appeal for funds to be made in the spring of this year, at a date to be announced.

It had also been planned that the Canadian Red Cross Society should join in this united public appeal with the above mentioned national auxiliary services organizations. Consideration was also being given to the claims of other organizations for leave to join in this appeal

A Heavy Budget

The total budgets of all these organizations were estimated at from seventeen to twenty million dollars. In order to permit such a public appeal the government would have had to stand aside for a considerable period of time and leave the field clear for the national public appeal of these organizations. This would have involved, among other considerations the interruption of the government's appeal for funds through the sale of war savings certificates.

The heavy financial demands upon the government for the efficient prosecution of the war and the necessity for conserving to the utmost degree, during fiscal year for war purposes made it necessary for the government to give careful reconsideration to the plans for the joint public appeal for funds which had been proposed for the spring of this year. It has been decided to finance from the public Treasury the requirements of the Canadian Legion, the Knights of Columbus, The Salvation Army, the Y.M.C.A. and the Y.W.C.A. for auxiliary services to the members of the armed forces of Canada, at home and abroad in military establishments in camp or barrack areas in Canada, special defence areas as designated by the Director of Auxiliary Services and the National War Charities Funds Advisory Board, Newfoundland and Overseas. The hostel operations of The Navy League of Canada for the men of the Navy and the Mercantile Marine will also be included. There will therefore be no public appeal for funds this year by the above mentioned six organizations.

* * * *

Only One Appeal

Similar Action is, however, not possible in respect of the activities of the Canadian Red Cross Society. This organization must continue to be of a voluntary nature in order to maintain its international character and its convention obligations. It is different in its nature from the national auxiliary services organizations above referred to and its requirements cannot be met in the same way. There will therefore be a national drive for funds by the Canadian Red Cross Society during the late spring of this year at a date to be announced later. This public appeal for funds will be for the purpose of enabling the Canadian Red Cross Society to discharge its functions as an instrument of mercy in time of war

It is estimated that the amount which the Canadian Red Cross Society will seek from the public in its next public appeal will be for more than $5,000,000. This appeal for funds will run concurrently with the government a programme of financial appeals. It is felt that it can do so without any great interference with such programme, in view of the fact that a much less amount will be sought from the public than if a joint public appeal, including the amounts required by the national auxiliary services organizations were held

Have No Illusions

Peoples Of Far East Know What Jap Domination Means

Japan may be able to find a few Quislings in the Philippines, Malaya and elsewhere in the Far East; but these Quislings will not be able to rally many natives to the support of Japan's so-called co-prosperity sphere The peoples of the Far East who have been subjected to British imperialism Dutch imperialism, French imperialism or the American brand as practiced in the Philippines, may not be enthusiastically pro-British, pro-French, pro-Dutch, or pro-American; but certainly they are not pro-Japanese. They have no illusions concerning the beneficence of Jap domination They have seen Japanese imperialism at work in Korea and in Manchukuo; and they want no part of it.

They know that Jap dominance means complete degradation and virtual enslavement of the native population, as it has in Korea; that it means obliteration of all native culture, customs and language; that it means Japanese merchants take over all business; that all government jobs will con be held by Japanese; that land will be filched by Japanese; that where a native has a government job his pay will be less than that of a Jap doing the same work. The people of the Far East have seen the Jap machine at work in Korea. They know how the Jap police force operates in occupied lands; they know its story of torture, of floggings with bamboo canes, and of the indignities suffered by women and children. They know that in Seoul alone in March, 1919, more than 1,000 Koreans were killed in the cause of an anti-Jap demonstration.

The Asia-for-Asiatics movement has a tremendous appeal to the minds of the peoples of the Far East—but not in the Jap version of it. They know that the Jap who talks of Japan is concerned Asia for the Asiatics means Asia for Japan Chicago Daily News.

Praise For Churchill

British Prime Minister Never Given Enough Credit, Thought Is Himself

The War Worker, organ of the Canadian Federation of Labor, says Winston Churchill is blue-blood. He's one of those lucky fellows—always has been—with enough cash to live on in enjoyment and enough brains to enjoy life. He needn't have done a tap.

Yet he's the world's greatest war worker—and producer. Why?

Because he's got eye, mind, heart and soul fixed on one goal—victory. There's nothing he won't do, no sacrifice he won't make, to get there. Which means he's man enough to put country before self. He's proved that, many times.

Who wanted to quit as head of the Admiralty so that he could fight with a naval brigade in Belgium during the last year?

Who stepped down from the British Cabinet when his Prime Minister told him public opinion demanded it?

Who warned that Hitler was in earnest while Britain slept, and risked being boycotted for ever by the appeasers who were running the country?

Who reached over the heads of all the Tories to shake the hand of Ernest Bevin and give him a cabinet seat?

Who took upon himself, without consulting Parliament, to tell the world Russia is our ally" a few hours after Hitler turned the blitzkrieg eastward"

Who has turned out unpopular cabinet colleagues, shifted generals, kicked overbuilt deep-rooted Army and Navy tradition?

Churchill.

Look at his record. Never has he refused to fade out when his country's interest demanded it, and never has he tried to snatch a cabinet job when his personal interest might have resided in Churchill" Say there's one individual who doesn't give a hoot for Churchill That's the man himself

The Individual Citizen's Army

A Weekly Column About This And That In The Canadian Army.

By Alan Hooter Irwin

All you old soldiers know what "pozzy" is but how many of you can tell us where the word came from? Eh? You can't, can you? Well, I know about it is that "pozzy" is jam in the Army. That is to say jam is "pozzy" in the Mess Room but when you come to another Army phrase—one of derision, applied to someone who seems to be asking quite a lot, it remains "jam." The phrase: "What do you want, jam on it?"

All this isn't so far beside the point as it may seem. By the time a man says "shove the pozzy down here," he's a soldier.

Mind you he didn't get to be a soldier by learning Army slang but by the time he is a soldier he has learned many a new name for commonplace objects.

He doesn't know just when he becomes a soldier. I doubt if any of his officers could tell you either. But somewhere, accident or gradually he civilian at battle-dress changes into a soldier in uniform.

Of course he takes the first step in the direction of becoming a soldier when he enters the recruiting office and volunteers to serve his King and Country. But that is only the metamorphosis in a stendy progression.

Enlisting is really quite a simple procedure. And this time it is even better handled than it was when I was in the wing racket. Nowadays you can walk into a recruiting office, give particulars of yourself; get a medical examination including the X-ray, that would cost you ten dollars in civilian life; and report right away to a District Depot where you are outfitted with uniform and equipment.

At th District Depot new recruits get their first taste of Army life. They are taught how to wear their uniforms and equipment, how to march correctly, how to salute in manner in public, who to salute and when, and the rudiments of military training.

Their stay at the District Depot is made as short as possible—it is realized that a man who has volunteers for service anywhere is anxious to get down to the business of learning to fight as soon as he can.

By the same token it is realized that when he gets to a Basic Training Centre he may very recruit doesn't want to seem too awkward—hence the instruction in soldierly conduct and bearing and Canadian Army traditions.

At the Basic Training Centre training begins. Each day the new recruit learns something. It is no longer a dreary round of: squad drill without arms; squad drill with rifles and arms; squad drill with arms; platoon drill; company drill—ad infinitum. There is drill, of course. There has to be if men are going to mold a group of men into a team. But drill is interspersed with instruction in the use of the rifle and bayonet, the light machine-gun, the two-inch mortar There are lectures and entertainments. Competitions enliven Army life and put a zest into the work that must be done.

Good food—and lots of it—builds up the place of the fat worked off by good exercise—and lots of it—and by the time the recruit ends his basic training he has become a soldier.

There is still lots for him to learn —that comes when he goes on to an Advanced Training Centre but by the time he gets there he is a soldier. He looks forward to the new things to be learned with interest and enthusiasm—there are new tricks of the soldiering trade to be picked up. Civilian life is behind him. Ahead there is a duty to be fulfilled and far ahead of that again that strange existence a soldier finds hard to understand—civilian life.

Two Million Acres Should Be Sown In Prairies This Year

Flaxseed production of 20,000,000 bushels in 1942, compared with 5,472,000 bushels last year, is being aimed at by the Dominion Government, Agriculture Minister Gardiner said.

He said the program is being encouraged because normal sources of imported vegetables oils have been cut off by war in the Pacific.

To provide the total production sought, at least 2,000,000 acres should be sown to flax in 1942. The five-year average acreage in 1936-40 was 311,180 for the prairie provinces, the area of main production and where the bulk of the increased output of 1942 will be found.

Goods actually made in Germany but shipped to Central and South America as of Swiss manufacture have been seized in Bermuda, it was disclosed in supreme court.

Sir Roger Hall, a prize court official, explained that the goods seized—484 musical instruments and 33 cases of clocks—had first been sent to the small Swiss town of Chiasso, near the Italian border and ultimately put on a ship which sailed from Lisbon, Portugal, and called at Hamilton, Bermuda.

Russian Army In Race Against Spring Thaws

Moscow.—The Red army, in a race against spring thaws and aided by night-striking Russian guerillas, was reported to be newly threatening the approaches to Smolensk, 230 miles southwest of Moscow, a key German defence point which the Nazis captured last August.

The highly organized guerilla bands were said to have killed 4,000 Germans during January and February —long before the regular Soviet army had reached that section in the big winter counter-offensive.

The Soviet air force also destroyed or damaged several German tanks, armored cars, 41 trucks loaded with war materials, and several gun emplacements, and wrecked three locomotives and 10 railway cars, a supplementary communique said.

This announcement also told of the recapture of another inhabited locality on the central front where "hundreds of enemy dead were left on the field."

Massive increases in German aerial strength and multiplying Nazi counter-attacks on the Soviet front, both in some instances, superior German strength, were reported in Red army dispatches from many sectors of the front.

More than 100 planes, raiders and defenders, battled in aerial battle over the increasingly important Arctic base of Murmansk, it was disclosed. The Germans lost 11 out of 40 planes in this attack and caused no damage a Murmansk despatch said.

From other sectors, increase the increase in German planes was noted. In one case, they outnumbered the Russians 27 to three.

The many Soviet counter-attacks, notably on the Kalinin front, north west of Moscow and in the Donets basin, were described by the Communist newspaper Pravda as an "active defence" which has not wrested the initiative from the Red army.

German despatches spoke of "the continuing thaw" in parts of the Russian battle front. They also discovered a heavy Soviet attack on Oshatak. German spearhead garrison 100 miles west of Moscow, which the Russians have surrounded. The German claimed the attack was thrown back after hand-to-hand fighting. Repeated Red army attacks also were acknowledged in the Lake Ilmen sector, Staraya Russa and in the Donets basin.

A new approach to the second front theme was provided by J. V. Yermashev, well-known Soviet press commentman, with an article in the Moscow News of Kuibyshev demanding that Britain "immediately" Say they're in a relatively short time," Yermashev said. "Were Hitler to win a major victory on the eastern front, the other anti-Hitlerite major powers would be in deadly peril.

Every day is precious in this phase of the war, the article said, and "Hitler must be compelled to scatter his forces by being attacked on all sides."

ESSENTIAL WORK

Newspapers To Be Regarded As A Necessary Service

Ottawa Elliott M. Little, director of national selective service, said that he agreed with Labor Minister Mitchell that newspapers and news associations should be regarded as an essential service and nothing should be done to deprive them of qualified persons to ensure their efficient publication.

Mr Mitchell, at a press conference following announcement of the national selective service regulations, said newspapers should be looked on absolutely as an essential service in Canada.

"I agree with Mr. Mitchell that newspapers are essential services, and nothing will be done to deprive them of the necessary qualified persons to ensure that efficient publication," Mr. Little said.

"Of course, if a newspaper has more employees than are required, steps would be taken to deal with such a situation

On the other hand, if newspapers needed more help we would be grateful pathetic to transferring men from non-essential work if such we did be feasible"

Warning Given Of Critical Days That Lie Ahead

Ottawa, — Creation of two new divisions for the active "reserve" for coastal defence, a "marked increase" in aerial forces for operations in Canada, and unlimited plans for naval expansion were announced by Prime Minister Mackenzie King in a war review.

Mr. King warned there is no knowledge in possession of the government to indicate other than a "critical year" but he expressed confidence in ultimate victory for the free nations.

These coastal defences are "either completed or in process of completion," the prime minister said, but he added "complete safety" defences may be we can never be sure of preventing the enemy from attempting some form of attack."

Mr. King preceded his prepared speech with comments on postwar reconstruction measures which are before parliament and said it was "conceivable" that introduction of such measures might lead people to think the government had knocked' leading it to believe an early termination of the war was possible.

"I wish emphatically to dispel any possible impression of that kind," he said. "At no time since the commencement of the war has the international situation for the free countries of the world as it is at present.

"It would be little short of a miracle if the war terminated within what some would describe as a short time . . .

"I have not any doubt that if this year goes by successfully, as I believe it will, with the increased production of munitions and the increased power that will be brought to bear on the eastern front, the united nations, ultimately the free nations will triumph.

"I believe they will. But before that moment is reached there is going to be a vastly different world than we have known in the past and I believe even vastly different from the world as we know it at present.

"That being the case I hope no impression will exist anywhere, either in this house or in this country, that the government entertains other than the most serious views of the very critical situation that exists in the world today."

Conservative House Leader Hanson, who followed Mr King, said he hoped the people of Canada would heed the prime minister's words

"I am afraid that even right down to the minds of the people of Canada are not awake to the perils of the international situation," he said.

The Canadian people, irrespective of class, race or creed, must get behind any and every effort that it is possible to make to win the war."

NEW SUGAR ORDER

Affecting The Use And Distribution For Industry And Households

Ottawa.—The wartime prices and trade board announced new orders affecting the use of sugar both in households and industry to distribute "most effectively the available supplies and to allocate the quick energy-producing food in accordance with the urgency of need."

The orders also provide that some exemptions from the rationing plan which became effective Feb. 16, and also add some new restrictions.

Manufacturers of condensed milk are exempted from the rationing order because milk can be shipped more easily to the Allied battlefronts in condensed form.

These orders also provide that seamen on merchant vessels and sail water fishermen when they are afloat, as well as workers in isolated contractors' camps, will be allowed more than the regular sugar ration of three-quarters of a pound a week.

India Defence Against Danger Of Jap Attack

Japan's seizure of the Andaman islands within 500 miles of Calcutta emphasizes the danger of an early invasion of India or at least air and sea attacks against her coasts

The threat finds Britain well prepared to meet an invasion from the west through the famed Khyber pass but little is known of her defences in the east, where she must meet the Japanese surge

For years Britain has spent funds fortifying the wild northwestern frontier with heavy guns hidden in the cliffs, pillboxes and miles of deep trenches

But along the 1 600-mile eastern coast line there are no known fixed fortifications of strength for such great ports as Calcutta and Madras and the large but strategic port of Chittagong in the north which might be used to supply China and Burma.

The only point of known strength is Ceylon, off the southeast coast, where the naval base of Trincomalee is situated

The strength of this point, 800 miles from Port Blair in the Andamans, may prove a major factor in the Japanese Britain is known to have spent considerable money there in recent years quietly.

It has repair facilities for light cruisers and small vessels and fuel storage facilities, and probably is about equal in importance to the fallen Netherlands naval base of Surabaya in Java.

Vice-Admiral Sir Geoffrey Layton, who left Singapore to organize Britain's naval defence of the Far East, has been made commander of land, air and sea forces in Ceylon, an island of 25 000 square miles and 5-odd million population and has already begun to remove unnecessary civilians. Lt Gen Sir Henry Pownall, former chief of staff in Malaya and Imperial board, has been named commander of the army there.

India's light fleet of corvettes, patrol vessels and mine sweepers may have been reinforced.

India's great river systems of the Ganges and Brahmaputra in the north might afford formidable obstacles to a land advance, but Gen Sir Archibald Wavell has announced that he would fight a war of movement not position.

Britain is reported to have forces of regular troops on the country, and there are "hundreds" of Indian officers trained completely

Britain Expects Increased Attacks Against Supply Lines To Russia

London Increasing attacks by German air naval and land forces against Britain s supply lines to Russia with the coming of longer summer days were predicted by authoritative British circles

They said U-boat attacks already had been stepped up in the Caribbean and off the east coast of United States and declared Britain was giving the United States all help possible in fighting the submarine menace there

These sources said the Germans had gained considerable success" in the Western Atlantic but said this was due largely to the lack of such a system if convoys escorts and anti-submarine patrols was organized for

They said that with British and United States major war on the job the U-boat fail to obtain the German attacks the supply line across the North Atlantic during the winter

Importance Of Middle East For The Allied Cause

London.—The "Middle East appears to Britain's second Front for 1942.

There will be a continental invasion some time in the future but in the great battles of this year the main strength of the embattled empire is likely to be required in the Middle East, Burma and along the Allies' maritime communications

Great hazards and difficulties of equipment, training and supply face any Allied force intending on the heavily armed centres of German western Europe

These considerations were reached after two weeks of investigating the possibilities of a successful invasion this winter

Information on all of the circumstances was collected from conversations with officers of the three fighting services experts in their national affairs and Allied military chiefs

Agitation for a second front is mounting. Public comment indicates that the people have not grasped yet it that any military attempt since the the attack of the war

Even after a second front appears certain to be established during the Russian front as they would if they landed in northern France sources recently quoted. It was revealed recently that an entire German air fleet was sent to support Rommel's army.

The Times recently outlined British strategy for 1942 in an editorial which declared the "grand pattern" of the Allied war effort was taking shape.

This pattern, according to the Times, is: "While Russia boldly confronts the weight of German land power on the continent, Great Britain must guard her own and Russian interests in communications and must hold the crucial Middle East bridge and the Indian bridgehead

Many military men emphasize that a British landing on the continent would not divert sufficient troops from the Russian front to make any difference there They are confident the Red army will check the German offensive in the spring

The paper said that industry raised the fund known as the Adolf Hitler Spende do Deutschen Wirtschaft from concealed taxes on wages

Described in a private banking account it supplements Hitler's total income of between $21 000 000 and $30,000 000 annually from the Ramin Verlag the biggest German publishing organization which controls two-thirds of the German newspapers and much of the book publishing business the paper said. TREAT YOUR SEED

Damage producing fungi which live on a hemp boll or seeing crop plant will become active whether clean seed is planted in disease infested soil or whether diseased seed is planted in clean soil

During the past three years the Dominion Laboratory of Plant Pathology at the University of Alberta has purified out a number of experiments using infected seeds and infected seed, and have tried to ascertain the effectiveness of treating the seed, with a mercury dust, to prevent disease The process known as treating all seed samples with an approved mercury dust was demonstrated. Covered smuts were controlled and damage arising from root rotting fungi carried on the seed, was definitely reduced. Moreover the vigor of the seedlings in general increased

It is to be noted, however, that even treatment or clean seed cannot noticeably prevent disease growth in severely infested soil

From these experiments as well as from field observations it is quite evident that treatment of seed with an approved mercury dust is a sound practice

FARMERS' INCOME HIGHER IN 1941

Farmers cash income from the sale of farm products in 1941 was 18.5 per cent greater than in 1940, and the highest for any year since 1929, states the latest issue of the Current Review of Agricultural Conditions in Canada. Increased production and better prices for livestock and animal products have brought income from these sources to the highest levels on record. Although the income from field crops was the highest for any year since 1929 with the exception of 1930, the wheat situation continues to depress farm income in the Prairie Provinces where the average level from 1926 to 1939. C. G. I. T. NOTES

"As a Canadian Girl in Training—it is my purpose to serve others." Instead of always saying, "How can we have a good time?" do we sometimes say "What can we do for somebody?" It takes awhile to get to that place, but that is our aim

Today, more than ever before, we are thinking of girls in other lands, to whom the sound of aeroplanes means disaster or even death; of those who suffer from cold and hunger because their homes have been destroyed. To girls we can do little for them; being so far away and having so little to give. Let us not forget to be thankful that we are living in Canada, and that we have so far escaped the horrors of war. Even though we can't do some big act of service for those far away, we can show our thankfulness by doing our bit here and now. In no trouble because we can't have a new Easter hat, or all the sugar we want? An Arab'an proverb says, "I complained bee.se I had no shoes until I saw a man who had no feet."

Let us show our thankfulness by just being happy.

"Happy is the girl who is teachable, for she shall enter into the fullest possible living."

Happy is the girl who is truly sorry for wrongdoing, for she shall have the strength to do right.

Happy is the girl who is sympathetic, for sympathy and love will come back to her."

Happy are the girls who live in Canada today.

VITAMIN B BREAD

By the middle of April the new Vitamin B (Canada Approved) bread and flour will be available all over Canada. Creamy rather than white in color the new flour will contain more Vitamin B and iron than the enormous white flour. The flavor will be the same.

Vitamin B combats mental depression, loss of appetite and irritability. Vitamin B flour and bread have been in use in England since the early days of the war. So beneficial has it been to the health of the people, that Lord Woolton, British Food Controller, has issued an order prohibiting after 2nd May the sale of white bread and cakes unless those contain at the least 78 per cent of Vitamin B flour. The Consumer Representative of the W.P. and T. Board headed by Miss Byrne Hope Sanders is helping in the movement to make Vitamin B (Canada Approved) bread and flour available to Canadians.

WILDMERE WINKS

From the looks of things old Marsh is going out as quietly as it came in. It's been a very slow month outside on a few cold days and a small storm. Four years ago now we were snowbound in great style, snow was piled high everywhere after a three-day blizzard. All that moisture would look good this spring

On Wednesday, March 25th a crowd gathered to finish the spiel when the ice was again very good. Trevis Hardisty was the first to take the rink skipped by Bill Smith was first and Adam Smith took second. It took us all the way around the rink to finish up all the games but everyone had a real fine time.

We are sorry to report that Mr. and Mrs. R. Gilmore and family are going to leave our midst and move to Churhill, Alta. No better friends or neighbors could we have had in our midst and what is our loss is Churchill's gain. The family moved to Beaverood in 1929 coming from England. All we can say is we will miss them very much as neighbors and in the many other affairs they were always so willing to give a helping hand with We wish them all good luck, health and prosperity in their new home. One by one the neighbors are leaving Beaverood and seeking new homesites. That makes six families from that district in a little over a year.

Miss Mary Sander and Yvonne Mourand of Triangle were week end guests on the home of Mrs. Smith Cpl. Norman Smith of Edmonton also spent the week end at his home, returning early Monday to his duties.

Willie Gerard of Edmonton, Sgt. A.F. returned to the city after spending the past two weeks at his home here on furlough.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gibson and baby Mary, attended the play and dance held at the Canton school Friday night last and spent Saturday with Mrs. Gibson's parents Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Pord of Tofield.

A large crowd turned out to the curling club's amateur hour and dance last Friday even though there were many other dances the same evening. Numerous items such as songs etc were given. Everyone enjoyed it all very much. Little Myrna Carlson and first prize, singing very nicely "The Lights of London Shine Again" a big song for such a wee girlie; Mrs. H Walters took second. Lunch was served and then dancing enjoyed for a few hours. George Love was M.C. The evening wound up the curling year. Curling has been a boon to us all this winter, making the season one of sport and sociability which otherwise would have been a very quiet year n.

Ships from Russia Reach Britain with Cargoes of Raw Materials

The British Foreign Minister, Mr. Anthony Eden, recently announced that ships sent to Russia loaded with aeroplanes and tanks from Britain were returning filled with cargoes of raw materials. Russia is also sending her own vessels to Britain for the first time since the outbreak of war, and in this picture a Soviet cargo steamer is seen at a British port being lit cargo or timber unloaded

ST. MARY'S CHURCH AT CLANDONALD TO CELEBRATE 14th ANNIVERSARY

St. Mary's church, Clandonald, will next Sunday celebrate the 14th anniversary of its dedication when services of Thanksgiving to Almighty God will be held.

Although the administrations of the Church have been dispensed in the district for more than thirty years the present church has stood at Clandonald only since 1928. At that time the late Parish church was burned in town Wetaskiwin and a similar building from Campbell Lake added to it. The restored church was dedicated on Low Sunday (April 15th) 1928 by the Venerable G. A. Heverold, then Archdeacon of Edmonton North.

Shortly after the dedication a Vicarage was erected and the village became the headquarters of the Clandonald Mission, the first incumbent of which was the Rev. R. H. Goodge.

Since that time the Parish church, with its associated parishes of Lavoisville and Irmiwville and its daughter Mission at Derwent and Goddess Lake has continued to flourish. The services on Sunday will be conducted (weather permitting) by the present Archdeacon of Edmonton North, the Ven. W. Leversedge, and the Rev. F. A. Peake who has been curate in charge of the Mission since June.

CREDIT UNION SUPERVISOR TO ADDRESS MEETING

Mr. C. A. Denney, Supervisor of Credit Unions for Alberta, will address a public meeting in the Memorial hall, Vermilion, on Tuesday, April 14th at 2 p.m.

A great deal of interest is being evidenced in the establishment of a Credit Union at this point and this meeting will provide a wonderful opportunity to learn about the organization, as well as the benefits of such a venture.

The public and you are cordially invited to attend. Silver collection to defray expenses will be received.

A regular Saturday night dance in the Elks Hall this week end, April 11. Dancing 9 to 12. Admission 25c.

ISLAY HEN GOES ON WAR PRODUCTION

Lays Perfect Egg Within an Egg

Here is one for Ripley — A New Hampshire breed of laying hen on the farm of Mrs. George Nicholson of Islay, has gone patriotic and in an endeavor to produce more eggs for Britain laid a huge egg which contained in its outer shell, not only double yokes but another perfect egg

This egg measured 9 inches around the ends and 7½ inches around the centre. When broken open it proved to be not only a double yoker, but contained as well a complete egg, shell and all, of normal size. The big shell was patched together and is now on view at the Standard office.

The Canadian Army Train - It's Purpose

On Saturday, April 11, the Canadian Army Train now touring Canada will be in Vermilion. The purpose behind it is to bring home in a forceful way to the men and women of this dominion the inevitably tremendous cost of war by letting them see at close range the instruments of war as used by Canadian soldiers.

It is important fundamentally that the public should understand that this train is not sent out for entertainment purposes. It is not a "circus" train; it is not indeed merely an exhibition of Army weapons.

It carries a message of personal significance to young men who will one day be soldiers. From the train they may learn at first hand something of the equipment they will later expect to use. Perhaps this train may assist them toward that special branch of the Army they will eventually enter.

Victory Loan and War Savings Campaigns have told Canadians of the need of loaning their own money for the purchase of tanks, planes, guns and ships. On this train they may see for themselves a representative selection at some of the very things for which they so generously parted with their hard-earned dollars. Some communities are familiar with a variety of instruments of war; many are not. The Army Train therefore is fulfilling a dual and highly essential service in bringing almost to their very doors a demonstration of weapons and munitions; and it is showing the people of Canada the fine workmanship carried out by Canadians in Canadian factories.

The families of soldiers and of young men who may one day be soldiers may here see for themselves the fine types of equipment with which our men are outfitted for battle.

It is of the utmost importance that as many people as possible, in every community the Army Train can visit, should make it their duty to carefully study everything it contains. A visit to the train will give every Canadian citizen a clear realization of the necessarily enormous cost of modern warfare, an impression that will be taken to the public at large.

15 Cars Of War Materials On Display In Vermilion From 2:30 to 4:30 April 11

Includes Big Guns and Tanks on Flat Cars

More than $5,000,000 worth of army equipment, representative of the tanks our whole Canada is now producing and manufacturing in large quantities, is displayed in the ten exhibition cars of the Canadian Army train which will be at Vermilion on Saturday, April 11 from 2.30 p.m. to 4.30 p.m. for inspection by all interested.

The train is made up of fifteen coaches, including two flat cars. The first flat car behind the engine is one of the four Canadian Divisions now overseas; red, blue, French gray and maroon.

Officer Commanding the train is Lieut.-Col. J. E. McKenna, M.C. of Montreal, and under him is a selected personnel of five officers and other ranks representative of all parts of Canada. The train will make a transcontinental tour and will cover more than 15,000 miles.

Purpose of the Canadian Army train is to bring the army to the public and the public to the army; to show the public the many and intricate weapons that are needed to fight modern war and to impress upon the public the great need of such tools of war; to interest prospective recruits in joining one of the several branches of the army

The train itself should be particularly interesting to the mothers and fathers of sons who are now on active service by giving them numerous ideas of the type of materials with which their loved ones are equipped.

Activity in the Oil Field

Drilling activity in picking up and on Wednesday R.W.S. Drilling operated in their surface pipe on the Acme No. 3 well.

Jasper Drillers are busy on Hunter 11 while the North-West Drillers located some 11 miles west on stony Creek, are down 180 feet.

General Drillers have moved their portable rotary rig to Brudeheim in which district they will work for the next month or so. Jasper No 1 have also sent one of their big drilling rigs to Pouce Coupe where they will sink a deep test well.

Now equipment in the field now is huge affair and is brought in by com[illegible] by G.H. Hollingsworth.

Figures now on hand show that six Vermilion wells produced during the month of February a total of 3,797 bbls. as all Top producer was still the old Discovery well, Vermilion Con. No. 2 with 641 barrels, but Acme No. 2 with 626 barrels was only 15 barrels. Prize wells—Acme No. 2 stands up now as a producer with one barrel for February

Public Notice

MOTORISTS are asked to be good enough not to park their cars Saturday afternoon on the Station grounds west of the C.N.R. Cafe in order to give the people ample room to look the train over and move about. This courtesy will be greatly appreciated.

VERMILION SQUADRON NEEDS FORTY MEN

Capt. Kelly of 19th Alberta Dragoons Guest Speaker at Board of Trade Luncheon

Capt. E. W. Kelly of the 19th Alberta Dragoons from Edmonton was the guest speaker at the board of trade meeting on Monday. He stayed Monday and Tuesday in Vermilion on duties connected with "C" squadron of the Dragoons here and also to formulate plans for a recruiting campaign to bring the reserve militia up to full strength.

In his short talk Capt. Kelly pointed out the history of Canada's reserve army and stated that while they had been footballed around considerably since the outbreak of war, they now had a definite position to fill in Canada's war effort. A real necessity has arisen for a home guard since the success of the Japanese offensive in the Pacific and more every home needs a trained soldier. Consequently the reserve militia is being recruited to strength and in new lines. Vermilion and district are needed here immediately to commence training. Three may be single men from 17 to 19 years of age married men from 19 to 25 years of age and married or single from 25 to 50. For the time being single men from 19 to 25 can also join. Recruits will be expected to spend two evenings a week training and pay is received for the time of drill. Recruits should also plan on spending two weeks at military camp this summer. Sufficient equipment is now on hand to make the training interesting and instructive.

Captain Kelly had a Bren machine gun with him and demonstrated the weapon to interested members of the Board following the meeting.

40 Men Needed at Once—$4 from "C" Squadron Now On Active Service

Vermilion's "C" squadron of the 19th Alberta Dragoons needs 40 men at once to fill the ranks of the unit to full strength. Any man interested may obtain full particulars by applying at the armories on Monday night, 7 p.m. hours, sharp, or to Capt. Gilbert Garland or Squadron Sergeant Major Jack English.

Up to the present time the role of the reserve has been to supply partially trained men to the active army. From Vermilion squadron have gone no less than 54 men to the various services Now an appeal is being made to these remaining here to fill up the ranks for home defense service

BLAZE DESTROYS TOWN LANDMARK

Dunsmor Building Razed

Another Vermilion landmark was destroyed early Thursday morning when fire practically consumed the old one-storey frame structure located on Main street between the Memorial hall and Rowe and Spencer's garage Fortunately there is vacant property on either side and the night was also very calm so the danger of spreading was nil. The building was enveloped in flames when discovered at 3.15 a.m. and the dry lumber made a brilliant blaze until the water from two lines of hose hit it and it doused very quickly.

The building was unused and was probably the only empty building or any kind in the town. The last occupant which was the Cabinet Works moved out last fall. Origin of the fire is unknown Firemen judge that it started on the exterior of the building from the back on the east side

Bob Dunsmore well known old timer of the town who now resides at West Dunsmor BC erected the building away back in 1906. He used it as a land office and implement agency carrying on these lines of business in conjunction with the late J. H. Foster. It was later put to a variety of uses including millinery shop, garage auto wreckage, cabinet works etc.

Value on the building was in the neighborhood of $1000

MEETING TO FORM SALVAGE CORPS HERE

Elsewhere appears a notice calling a meeting on Wednesday evening of next week in the Legion hall to complete the organization of the Salvage Corps committee. A portion of the C.N.R. freight shed has been made available as a depot and one of the matters that will come before the committee will be the appointment of a manager. An appeal is again made to all and sundry to conserve rubber, scrap metals, paper, salvage grease, bones, steel, etc. so that when the depot is opened those waste materials can be received and turned into use for war purposes in one form or another. Help win the war by turning waste into use

Freedom Of Speech

Free speech is one of the privileges which we are fighting today to maintain. Criticism of the government has had an unquestioned place in the development of our social system, but we are at war with nations in which government as we know it does not exist, and where the mandates of one group dominate the whole country. Those who do not think in agreement with this group either die, or live their lives within the walls of a concentration camp. All of us know something of the methods of the Gestapo, so evil and cunning that distrust grows among friends and even among members of the same family circle.

In comparison, freedom of speech, together with other privileges which belong to our way of life should, and in most cases have, become things which we value now even more than we did in the days before the whole democratic system was in deadly peril. However, ever since the outbreak of this war, there has been an element of the public and the press in all the free countries, which has abused the men who are in high office, and unduly criticised or belittled the war effort. Because of the necessity of keeping information from the enemy, the government, or the leaders concerned are often unable to defend their acts, but valuable time, which is needed for urgent matters, may have to be devoted to rectifying impressions caused by malicious rumors.

* * *

Impeding War Effort

This is a total war, and there are laws in all the democratic countries against anything which interferes with the prosecution of the war. In England this law has already been invoked against certain newspapers which have failed to heed warnings that they must cease to print articles calculated to undermine the morale of the people and destroy their faith in the government. For some time there has been a group in the British parliament, made up, it has been said, of disgruntled office-seekers, which has been trying to create dissension. Mr. Churchill has recently dealt with two political disturbances within parliament and there has been indignation in many quarters, at the time and attention he has had to devote to these matters, when there is so much of vital importance to the war to employ his entire energies. Lady Astor, one of the most severe critics of the government in normal times, has appealed to parliament to forget petty differences and support the Prime Minister in this critical period of our history.

* * *

President Roosevelt recently made an appeal in the same vein, when he stated at a press conference that malicious stories, founded on rumor had created false impressions which it had taken a great deal of his time to correct. The president ironically quoted the historian Livy, to show that in this respect we are not different from the people who in 180 B.C caused their leaders to deplore the trouble that resulted by ill-informed or irresponsible critics.

* * *

Let Us Be Silent

Constructive criticism and helpful suggestion has, and always will have, its place in our system, but malicious accusations and petty politics should be forgotten for the duration of the war, and we should all unite in the common purpose of defeating the enemy. Major-General F. F. Worthington a great Canadian soldier, who has returned from England to command a new armoured division, said in a recent interview that this is a people's war and that we must have "a great national faith in liberty, and maintain it." Continuing, he said: "We criticise democracy, but who is responsible? We can't go back to where we were. We must go ahead. If I live through this war and come back I intend to take an interest in public affairs. Now it is everybody's business."

To have faith in our cause we must not be divided by doubts and small controversies. An intelligent interest in all public affairs is itself reveals the lack of foundation for many of the rumors we hear, and gives us an understanding of the great problems which we must face as a united people.

Doing Her Share

A woman who works on the staff of a London canteen decided she would take a course in a Government engineering training centre. She rises at 4.30 a.m., cycles several miles to catch a train to the engineering shop.

"Really, Jane?" she said. "He stands at a lathe all day and then must have been very quiet. I didn't even hear him come in."

She says her husband and her sons are in the Services and she does not want to feel out of the way.

Safe For The Night

On her way to bed the maid looked into her employer's room.

"The master's locked up for the night, ma'am," she said.

Her employer looked puzzled.

"Really, Jane?" she said. "He stands at a table all day and then must have been very quiet. I didn't even hear him come in."

"No hasn't, ma'am," exclaimed Jane. "The police station have just phoned."

The Individual Citizen's Army

A Weekly Column About This And That In The Canadian Army.

By Alan Maurice Irwin

"We love our sergeants!" Do you remember the rest of the words that we sang to the jingle marchs in the old war? The song ended on a derisive note. But it was all good fun and while we may not sing them, we have loved our sergeants we certainly got along well with them.

The "Colonel Blimps" have long been quoted as saying that "the N.C.O. is the backbone of the Army." I have a sneaking suspicion that they didn't say it when they were young officers, though.

Just who forms the backbone of the army is, and probably always will be a moot point. Certainly it is a point that has no particular significance in an Army staffed by young officers who have been N.C.O.'s themselves not so very long ago.

What is more important is—where do N.C.O.'s come from? Who picks them? How does he pick? What qualifications must a N.C.O. have to become a non-commissioned officer?

Let's go at those questions backwards. Actually it isn't backward. It's the right way because the first step in making a N.C.O. is to find a man with the qualifications that fit him for promotion.

The first requisite is the intangible quality of leadership. What is leadership? A dozen different dictionaries will give you a dozen different definitions. It isn't backward. A leader is one who is instinctively given the respect and liking of his fellows, who can lead men, who can organize, direct and carry out an undertaking involving the co-operation of men.

You find them at all ages running sand-lot ball games, hockey teams and all sorts of organizations. They are the type of young fellows who in this sort of thing for the joy of it, or for some civic reason—as the "boss" type.

Well, that's the sort of fellow from whom you pick potential N.C.O.'s. And, the answer to the question "who picks?", is—every N.C.O., or officer who is on his toes. That is to say he "picks them" to the extent of passing along his observations to the Commanding Officer or his unit.

The average young soldier, working hard on his job, sometimes feels that promotion is hard to attain. It is, but he will probably be surprised to learn that there are probably more people on the lookout for N.C.O. material than there are looking for promotion. This army of ours today specializes in leadership. It is completed, down to the last private, of men who are trained to be capable of handling any situation without looking to higher quarters for guidance, if they find themselves on their own.

All training, therefore tends to prepare the modern soldier to accept responsibility and every commanding officer is constantly on the look-out for men capable of doing so.

There are no courses for N.C.O. qualification as such. No man in the active army goes to school definitely to qualify as a Corporal or a Sergeant. But as many likely men as possible are sent to special courses at all Advanced Training Centres, Small Arms Schools and the Junior Leaders Battalion.

They may be privates, they may be officers, they may be sergeants when they attend courses — as very many do — I was taken into a classroom in which officers, N.C.O.'s and privates were all paying attention to the same lecture.

This was a course in which they were teaching instructors to teach. That's one of the reasons why you never hear an instructor parroting the words in the book—the way you used to.

And that's where N.C.O.'s come from in the man's army. And it's where officers come from, too.

In other words the Individual Citizen's Army is examined and guided by men who know their stuff, by men who show themselves in their everyday life to be capable, in some specialised instruction, of leading.

A good N.C.O today still barks out his orders, but he barks them with the crisp authority of the man who knows what he is doing. Better still his orders are obeyed with greater alacrity because his men know that he knows his stuff—and know that when they know as much as he does they're first "dog's head leg" waiting for them.

"Dog's head leg"? A N.C.O's stripe. At least that's what we called them The new army calls them "hooks."

A tarpon is a marine fish and a noted fighter.

Concentrated Food

Pemmican Is Now From Raw Fuel Of Lifeboat Equipment

Eskimos and trappers of the Canadian far northland who ate their dried strips of various meats or pemmicin, have passed on the idea of of this highly concentrated form of food to save shipwrecked sailors from hunger.

All lifeboats in Britain's merchant navy are now equipped with nourishing compact foods, among them this concentrated mixture of beef extracts of high caloric value. It is, of course, a much more scientific product than the pemmican of Fitzmore Cooper, being a beef extract with a high fat content.

Each man is supplied with 16 ounces of it, enough for one day's flight. One third of an ounce, taken with other concentrated foods now forming part of the equipment in ships' lifeboats, will make a meal for one man, and special measuring spoons are supplied with each tin. The extract is spread on the new type of ship's biscuits.

Great explorers of the past have carried this highly concentrated food on their expeditions. Supplies of it were sent north with Nansen and Shackleton and Scott; it was used by the Mount Everest climbers and the British airmen who made the first attempt to fly around the world, as well as in the 1932 Greenland expedition, the Washburn Alaskan expedition in 1936, the British Columbia Arctic expedition, the British Graham Land expedition and the British Everest expedition.

The new pemmican is also being widely used by Britain's Allies, and is being issued lavishly to troops with a very large wartime demand.

Flavor Will Be Same

Vitamin "B" Flour Designed To Preserve Quality Of The Diet

Introduced to remedy Vitamin B deficiency in the nation's diet, the widely heralded new vitamin B white flour, Canada approved, has made its appearance on the Canadian market.

Containing several times more vitamin B and more iron than the customary white flour, products made from the new flour will not be different in flavor, food experts state. Creamy rather than white in color, and designed to improve the quality of the diet without affecting the cost, its introduction is felt to be a vital step toward remedying the disturbing paradox of dietary lack in B vitamins in this greatest of all wheat-growing countries.

Mental depression, lack of morale, fatigue and irritability, steadily fifth columnists in our war society, are said to be attributable in large measure to deficiency of the B vitamins.

Refused To Worry

Thomas A. Edison Always Confident His Experiments Would Succeed

Patience in his work and as unfailing confidence in the ultimate success of his goal, were two keynotes by Thomas A. Edison singularly free from worry.

Once he associate had to report to the inventor, in rapid succession, three failures of experiments which involved enormous expenditures of money and labor. At each report the inventor only smiled sympathetically and went on with his business.

Finally, the associate, worn and worried from his failures, cried out, "Why don't you worry about it, Mr. Edison?"

"Why should I?" replied the inventor with a grin. "You are worrying enough for the two of us."—Christian Science Monitor.

Red Cross Campaign

Organization Now Appealing To The Public For $9,000,000

After a lapse of nearly two years the Canadian Red Cross Society will appeal to the public for $9,000,000, the greater portion of which will be used this year, and for the duration of the war, for the providing of food parcels each week, to all British, Dominion and Colonial, and Canadian prisoners of war, which at the present time amounts to approximately 32,000, and which number is expected by the Red Cross, to be advanced shortly to a very much higher figure, and not yet determined.

Saskatchewan has been asked to raise $360,000 of this amount, but it is hoped and expected that the Prairie headquarters in Regina that this amount will be far exceeded. The campaign officially opens May 26, and the Federal Government has asked that the campaign date close May 31st.

Following national economy of metal and paper, there will be no adult badges or buttons this year. The canvassers' receipts of one dollar or more is our Saskatchewan proof of adult membership. To save, paper, postage and office work, there will be no extra membership card. Receipts must give receipts for every cash donation for over small. Receipts should be carefully preserved by donors for 1942 income tax exemptions. There will be a little expense in the line of advertising as possible. We trust all will agree with these limitations of publicity, as determined by the Saskatchewan Red Cross Advisory Committee.

As some branches canvassed for membership amongst their officers and workers in the early months of fall, these will be considered good for 1942.

Red Cross branches, of which there are now in Saskatchewan, 983, as compared with 350 at the opening of the war, have provided an excellent income during 1941 and thus far this year from lunch counters. The committee and all officers of the Saskatchewan Division are highly appreciative of the splendid overtime done through this practice and it is hoped they will continue.

Several Plans Used

To Prevent Or Break Up Ice Formation On Planes

In British aviation circles a concerted attack has long been going on to overcome the effects of icing. Ice formation can occur in the carburetor, airscrews, wings and tailplane. Ice in the carburetor is overcome by careful designing and by feeding the mechanisms with preheated air. The airscrews are fitted with a device for spraying onto the blades a liquid which prevents or destroys the ice formation. The wings and tailplanes are equipped with rubber casings which are caused to pulsate by air pressure, thus breaking up the ice as it occurs. Another system, used by the Germans keeps up the temperature of the leading edge of the wing by conducting through it the hot exhaust gases from the engines.—Brandon Sun.

Canada To Have Voice On Joint Munitions Board

Ottawa.—Canada will have direct representation upon the munitions assignment boards in Washington and London although organization of these bodies is not yet fully completed, it was learned on good authority.

These joint assignment boards will direct the distribution of the pooled production of United Nations' war industries. Canada, as one of the greatest producers, will be directly represented on whichever board the country's production is pooled with, or on both, it is understood.

A joint production board also may be created in the near future, possibly headed by Lord Beaverbrook, who now is in United States, it is reported here.

In the face of rapidly increasing organization of joint resources of the United Nations, such as the Pacific council in the United States which had its second meeting recently in Washington, Prime Minister Mackenzie King let it be known what this country's attitude has been.

Through an official spokesman, the prime minister advised newspapermen here that the government, while making sure that Canada is afforded the fullest facilities for presenting this country's viewpoint at all international deliberations, will not use or attempt to seek representation on international bodies merely as a matter of right.

But, where matters specifically concerning the Dominion are before such international bodies, the government has insisted on representation, the spokesman said.

Otherwise the feeling has been that no attempt should be made to embarrass other governments or to make demands which might lead to overlooking international war committees, with the possible result that their usefulness would be impaired.

In the earlier days of the Pacific councils, first set up in London and now duplicated in Washington, Canada took the stand that it was mainly concerned with South Pacific matters and this course has been generally interested. No pressure was exerted for Canadian representation. Mr. King made this plain in a House of Commons speech recently.

Now that it is apparent the council will take in the whole Pacific area and its membership has been extended to Australia, New Zealand, the Netherlands, China and Canada, as well as the United Kingdom and the United States, Canada may be more vitally concerned.

ARMED GUARDSMEN

Assigned To Practically All U.S. Ore Freighters On Great Lakes

Cleveland, O.—Armed coast guardsmen are being placed on virtually all United States ore freighters plying the Great Lakes.

The guards district headquarters announced the principally as a precaution against sabotage a detail of two to four men under a petty officer would be assigned to each vessel, moving through the Detroit, St. Clair and St. Mary's rivers, Lake St. Clair, and the Sault Ste Marie (Mich.) locks and harbors.

The nearly 300 freighters normally haul from upper lake ports to lower 80 per cent. of the iron ore consumed in the United States.

BONUS REFUSED

Government Has Rejected Request Of Retired Civil Servants

Ottawa —Renewed applications on behalf of some 6,000 superannuated civil servants for the cost-of-living bonus have been definitely rejected by the government, it was learned.

For several months there have been repeated requests to the government for a bonus for pensioned former government employees, but without success

Recent representations by the Dominion Association of Superannuated Civil Servants resulted in the definite decision by the government that no bonuses would be paid

Work On Railways

Berne —Eighty thousand German women, 90,000 foreign civilians and 20,000 prisoners, have been put to work on German railways to fill the gaps caused by the call of skilled workers to military service, said reports from Germany

London.—The Rome radio reported that after a three-hour Italian cabinet meeting a reduction in bread rations was announced.

A WAR ARSENAL

Malcolm Macdonald Describes Part Canada Is Playing

London.—Malcolm Macdonald, United Kingdom high commissioner in Canada, painted a glowing picture for the British press of Canada as one of the most important arsenals, bordens, mints and manpower pools for the Allied war effort.

In a prepared statement, which he read to newspapermen before answering a barrage of questions about the Dominion, the high commissioner described the part Canada is playing in the production of munitions, ships and food, and told of her financial contribution to Britain and of the growing strength of the army, navy and air force.

During the last few months, he said, Canada had borne her share of defeats and disappointments but the people were wholly prepared to take bad news with the good and were only concerned with getting on with the war.

"They are eager to play their part in every way they can to promote harmonious and efficient comradeship in arms among the United Nations," he said. "Canadians are proud to be fighting side by side with us, and their only anxiety is that they shall go on increasing their effort until we are all victorious."

Nazis Planning For A Big Push On Crimea Front

London.—Hitler is moving 100 fresh divisions into Russia for a big push in the south, debating the best forces out of the Crimea on his flank and acquire a springboard for striking through the oil of the Caucasus, qualified informants believe.

A responsible foreign source said his advices from a number of listening posts "seem to make it clear that the Nazis are preparing to mount another of spectacular offensives hinging somewhere around Orel and extending south to Sevastopol to clear the railroad lines they need if they are ever to shake hands with the Japanese in Persia or the Indian ocean.

It is apparent, this informant added, that the Germans "are going to exploit fully if they can the locations of the winter front like Orel, Kursk, Kharkov and Tangarog—to mention only those in the south where it seems the Nazi attacks are to develop first, since they have been moving fresh troops to the Crimea lately."

It was estimated that the Germans have about 150 divisions 2,700,000 men) on the Russian front apart from the fresh divisions (1,500,000 men) now being moved into position.

The best information this foreign source said, was that the Germans originally would be able to put nearly 4,500,000 men into the 1942 Russian campaign against an estimated 7,000,000 Russians.

The report of this mounting German onslaught coincided with a Moscow radio broadcast announcement that the Russians had recaptured an important strategic point in the Leningrad area, and were holding the initiative in the Smolensk, Vyazma and Kalinin sectors.

Military observers intimated that the recaptured point in the Leningrad region might be Schlusselburg, just east of Leningrad on Lake Ladoga—an important rail connection.

One account said 13,000 troop trains have moved eastward since January 1.

A majority of these reinforcements were said to be behind the lines now awaiting the start of the Nazi spring offensive.

Moscow The Germans have sacrificed 48,000 men in repeated efforts to capture Sevastopol in the Crimea, and now the Russians have launched their own counter-offensive there, Tass said in a Sevastopol despatch.

For 150 days Tass pointed out, Sevastopol has resisted Germany's strongest attacks, all the while maintaining regular contact by sea with the Soviet Black sea fleet.

STOP HOARDING

Should Not Purchase Anything Beyond Immediate Needs

Toronto.—Canada's wartime prices and trade board will "crack down hard" on hoarders, Chairman Donald Gordon, of Ottawa, warned in an interview here.

Hoarders, incidentally, was defined by Mr. Gordon as "any person who buys anything—and I mean anything—beyond his immediate needs."

Although that would have been considered a drastic definition six months ago, it wasn't now, he added, "because the war has speeded up, the lags are at our throats and we are taxing many materials which were abundant six months ago."

Questioned about simplifications in multiple brands of various commodities in line with reduction of bread types, he said "simplification in beer and cigarettes and other types of that kind will follow."

Dealing With Saboteurs

Ottawa.—Tips from the public are an important aid to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in their anti-sabotage work, even if many of them are false lead, Commissioner S. T. Wood said. "We are willing to put our men to work and run down any lead that looks promising," he said. "Even if one in a hundred leads to the real thing then our work is worthwhile."

GUERILLA UNITS

Could Be Used To Strengthen Canada's Home Guard

Windsor, Ont.—Canada and the United States should lose no time in training guerilla units to strengthen their home guard, Bert Levy, of Windsor, lecturer on guerilla warfare, said in an interview here

Guerilla units drawn from veterans of the First Great War, would include thousands of regulars from overseas service, he said Author of a book on guerilla warfare, Levy worked with Thomas Winteringham, founder of the Osterley school for the British home guard, in training guerilla detachments Both men are veterans guerilla fighters of the Spanish civil war

Levy is on leave from his work in Britain to lecture in Canada and the United States

The British army is ready and capable of opening a second front on the continent and the British home guard has been trained and equipped to make a successful invasion of Britain impossible, he said The British people were aware of this and were clamoring for a second front

Call Of Category "B" Men May Be Resumed

Ottawa Calling up of category "B" men under the National Resources Mobilization Act may be resumed, it is understood here

For the past year only category "A" men have been called for compulsory military training and subsequent home service but prior to that men in both category "B" and category "C" were subject to call for a time

If the decision to resume the calling of "B" category men is taken and suggestions along that line have been considered several hundred men who have been called up for medical examination and rejected as not measuring up to the "A" standard may be recalled

Altogether, since the compulsory system went into effect in 1940, some 120,000 men have been called up and accepted by the army as physically fit This total, of course, includes a large number of "30-day men," those called up for 30 days training in the first few months of operation of the compulsory plan They were permitted to return to civilian life on completion of their short training period but were enrolled in the reserve army.

A number have been recalled since for further training and then service in Canada for the duration of the war

Category "B" men it is understood are fully satisfactory for all home defence duties in the army but are not considered suitable for overseas service Much the need for more men to fill up the 4th division which is to be mobilized along with the 7th for home defence and the purchase of some lower category men in the call-up would make more men available for active service to the divisions while the

PRESSURE ON VICHY

Predict That Changes May Be Made In The Government

London.—Informed circles in London expressed the view that the Vichy government has been put "on the spot" by internal differences and external pressure.

From the fog of Axis-inspired reports clouding the true purpose of Laval to power Informed British quarters take a serious but cautious view of these reports which they consider may be part of the German scheme to impose pressure on Petain's government

However they believe the Germans have been finding it hard to be independent for their liking and that they would be pleased to have in a high position as scheming and astute adventurer whose Nazi leanings are well known

These sources cite among examples of Vichy independence which have angered the Germans the failure of the Riom trial to place the guilt for starting the war on France

Of less importance, because promises can be broken Petain's assurances to the United States that he would not surrender the French fleet or the island of Madagascar to the Axis still is believed to have annoyed the Nazis

Laval whom Petain dismissed last December is known to have been playing his cards carefully and to have been carrying on a great deal of personal propaganda since then Both he and Admiral Darlan, Petain's present deputy, are classed as traitors by non-Axis observers, but Laval is considered more to be feared because he is more astute

Farm Workers Not Exempted From Service

Ottawa —Labor Minister Mitchell said in a statement that essential farm workers may be granted indefinite postponement of, but not exemption from, military service under the government's new national selective service plan

Mr. Mitchell's statement, issued through the labor department, said there appeared to be widespread misinterpretation of the regulations in this regard in a few localities

He said there appeared to be "an erroneous impression that all farmers were 'frozen' on the land from now on"

Under the new orders, the statement said, a man of military age who was chiefly employed on the land on May 26 is placed in a preferential position but he is not automatically excused from anything March 23, 1942 is the effective date of this particular provision

A farm worker who receives notice to report for military service or medical examination must still answer that notice Mr Mitchell emphasized The man called must comply with it in writing The divisional registrar who sent out the notice as was the case before the new regulations were introduced

Now however instead of actually undertaking military training, the Militia and Defence Act may be treated as registrar for an indefinite postponement on the grounds that his farm work is essential to maintain production. He need not prove that claim but it may be challenged

The labor minister's statement added that unless the total war service board is convinced that the man is not an essential worker in agriculture, it should grant a postponement until further notice

While this postponement may be granted, fathers required to be the initial notice to report still makes the farmer, as any other man abilities called, liable to penal'es under the law

ISLAY AIRMAN ON SHETLAND ISLANDS GETS VERMILION PARCEL

Sends His Thanks

At least one of the parcels sent overseas on Christmas cheer found its way to the lonely Shetland Islands off the north coast of Scotland. The parcel reached there on February 24 and the acknowledgement was received by Mayor Morrison last week. It reads as follows:

Feb. 24, 1942.

Mr. J.W.G. Morrison,
Mayor of Vermilion.
Dear Sir:

I received today the parcel sent to me by the people of Vermilion and district for which I wish to thank you very much. As I am stationed at an isolated station in the Shetland Islands parcels are greatly appreciated.

The parcel coming as it has the last week in February reminds me of the good times I have had at the Vermilion bonspiel in years past and I hope you will remember me to some of the old curlers there.

Thanking you again and hoping you will convey my thanks to the other people who so kindly helped in sending to. I remain

Yours sincerely,

FALLOW TO TALK

ROADS IN OTTAWA

Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, left for Ottawa Saturday night to take up a number of departmental matters, particularly investing road construction in this province.

The minister was accompanied by George A. Cush, chairman of the provincial marketing board.

There was no announcement from the government as to the purpose of the minister's trip, but it was learned that he will return shortly to his office here.

Some speculation was as to whether the trip might involve Alberta road building in the north to link with the U.S. highway to Alaska or the recent report from Ottawa that new road construction in the provinces will be limited this year to military roads or highways of concrete surfacing. —Edmonton Journal.

THE EXPLOIT WHICH WON A NEW ZEALANDER THE V.C.

During the British fighting in Greece, a German armored column containing armored cars, 3-in. guns, 5-in. mortars and two 6-in. guns concentrated on a large force of British and New Zealand troops. The order in retreat was given to the Allied forces but Sergt. John Daniel Hinton shouted "To hell with this who'll come with me?" run in within several yards of the nearest gun, which fired but missed him. He hurled two grenades which completely wiped out the crew, then went in with his bayonet, as despatch riders say, "Mission accomplished by other New Zealanders. The enemy retreated into two houses, where they were held until over whelming forces of the enemy and his tan fell with a bullet wound in the stomach and was taken prisoner.

Seed Treatment for Flax with Low Germination

Dr. J. E. Machacek, Dominion Rust Research Laboratory, Winnipeg, has been conducting extensive investigations on the effect of seed treatment on the percentage germination of flax. At his request we gave him parts of all flax samples sent in for North-West Line Elevators Association's laboratory for germination up to the middle of February; in all, 94 samples. These samples, besides being germinated in the regular way in our laboratory, were planted in soil at the Dominion Rust Research Laboratory. Duplicate lots of seed treated with a mercurial dust and duplicate lots of untreated seed were made. The results are interesting and very important.

Our own tests resulted in an average germination of 66.8%. Dr. Machacek's "tests" gave an averaged 69.8%, and the "untreated" only 53.7%. Our tests gave higher germination percentages than Dr Machacek's, but the treated seed in the latter were in soil and were exposed, as usual, to factors placed in germination chambers.

In the soil tests, seed treatment increased the average germination from 53.7% to 70.9%—a striking result. Treatment with an organo mercury dust at the rate of 1½ ounces per bushel was recommended for all except three samples, and even in these, treatment increased germination somewhat.

It must not, of course, be considered that seed treatment will improve poor germinability of all flax seed. Every year the Seed Branch of the Line Elevators' laboratories finds similar results. Recently Mr. Machacek and the results sent to the farmer

MINNEVILLE HITS

Here we are again, folks, after hibernating for the winter.

The Junior Red Cross at Watson school presented an interesting and well prepared programme on the evening of March 30. It was a nice night and nearly all Hindville turned out for an evening's enjoyment. After the concert a basaar was held. Nearly all the articles sold, including pieces of hardware made by the school children. The evening was topped off by lunch. The children were well rewarded for their work, with total receipts $16.42.

Harry Whitlock now has the "Da after a two days stay in Vermilion. Well, Harry, we suppose you'll be glad when the roads dry up so that you won't be almost buried alive when you go out in your limousine.

John Leslie, who has been working for Watson's, has gone to work for Potters. Where is your next stop, Johnnie?

Joyce and Doreen Whitlock have gone to Vermilion to spend the Easter holidays with their aunt.

At last Mrs. C. Young has received her new stove. Due to road conditions it was held up in Vermilion, but now that she has it we expect to small zone very tasty cooking as we pass on the road.

All ladies who play bridge or whist are cordially invited to a Red Cross party on Wednesday afternoon April 22nd. Particulars will appear later. 50-2x

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By M. G. L. Stirrup
Director, Research Department, Searle Grain Co., Ltd.

The Government plans and proposals for the guidance of the farmers of the West are now issued. The plans are founded upon the undoubted fact that Britain is short of certain kinds of foodstuffs, and that Canada is short of oil.

In principle, therefore, the policy of the Government is to endeavor to have more acreage sown to wheat—how can there is a large surplus on hand and to have as much acreage as possible devoted to the production of flax to produce oil, and to coarse grains which can be fed to livestock, to produce bacon, butter, milk and eggs, which animal products the British sorely need. The Government policy is not intended to take top land out of production but many farmers can best help Britain and Canada's war effort by putting every possible acre into production that can be done possible into flax and coarse grains.

Needless to point out each person's land will produce the utmost quantity and quality or any grain crop—farmers will take care to "sow good seed." Likewise it will be important that the quality of crops and the judgment as the use of some Registered and Certified seed, if possible selected on individual merit.

Following factors have tended to raise price: Crop prospects in Australia are terrible in Argentina, severe weather and war conditions in U. S. shipments of wheat and flour continue to be large. Needless to say that Russia will require large additional quantities of wheat.

Following factors have tended to lower price: Generous rains have fallen recently in Argentina—if winter wheat crop estimates are realized Argentina will be a large exporter. Experts—Foreign crop experts predict world wheat supplies available for use next in 1942 will be the highest on record.

LETTERS

Letters were read from L. C. Smith and Corona Typewriter Co., Verm ilion School Dist. No. 23, Waterman-Waterbury Co., Provincial Dept. of Public Works, and Alberta Teachers' Assoc.

Trustee Andrew: that a letter sent by the Secretary to the B.P.O.E. No. 121 thanking them for the donation of $15.67 for the Athletic Fund of the Vermilion Public School. Cd

This was reported by Principal Pa t Shaw with the information that Grade 7 and 8 plays had netted $15.00, which had been added to the Dramatic fund.

Trustee Taylor: that the accounts as submitted be paid, having been verified. Cd.

Trustee Andrew: that this meeting now adjourn, to meet at the call of the chair. Carried.

MODERN EQUIPMENT WINS THE DAY

THAT the prodigious task of providing the food necessity for an Empire at war can be undertaken by Canadian agriculture with less man-power than ever before is due to the high degree of mechanization of the farm which had been reached before the outbreak of war.

Massey-Harris leadership in the developing and building of such labor-saving equipment for the farm is recognized throughout the world, and has resulted in an enviable reputation for this great Canadian Company wherever grain is grown.
